New York interests, closely allied with the same men who control the Havana, Mexico City, Rio de Janeiro and other West Indian, Central and South American electric traction and lighting properties, have completed financial arrangements in Europe for the construction and operation of street railways in Bahia, one of the principal cities of Brazil, the population being 250,000. A lighting monopoly has been taken over and extensive water-power rights have also been acquired. The development of the Bahia projects will entail an expenditure of nearly $10,000,000.

The Bahia Tramway, Light & Power Co. will carry out the work. It has been incorporated under the laws of Maine with a capital of $3,500,000 in common stock; $7,500,000 5% 50-year first mortgage bonds are also authorized. An issue of $3,500,000 of these bonds has just been made in the London and Brussels markets. These bonds have been floated at 90½% and are redeemable at par. The New Yorkers interested include Percival Farquhar, No. 80 Broadway; William Lanman Bull, of Edward Street & Co., No. 17 Nassau St., and F. S. Pearson, of No. 25 Broad St.

The company has purchased the Carris Electricos Tramway undertaking, operating lines in the business portion of Bahia, along the water-front, wharves and warehouses, and through the shopping centre to the suburb of Itagipe. The concession runs until 1973, and is exclusive for about a mile on each side of its lines. The road now in operation is 15 miles long, but the line will be extended some 25 miles. The franchise confers the right to carry freight as well as passengers.

Control has also been acquired of the Compagnie d'Eclairage de Bahia, a Belgian capitalized concern, which holds the exclusive right to manufacture and sell gas and to distribute electric light in the city and suburbs until 1950.

Boston Elevated Ry.—Cash Requirements.—The "Boston News Bureau" of April 20 gives the following particulars regarding the company's probable cash requirements as disclosed at the hearing before the Massachusetts Railroad Commission on April 18 regarding the issue of $8,000,000 additional stock and $5,800,000 new bonds (V. 84, p. 930).

Probable Cost of East Cambridge Extension and Subway, $12,900,000.

An additional statement shows that $6,895,344 cash would be required for the above outlay even if the $2,091,900 premium received from the sale of stocks and bonds and held on deposit were applied thereto. This estimate is made on the assumption that the elevated structure does not go beyond Forest Hills Square. If it does, $1,500,000 would have to be added to the above, making a total of $8,395,344 new cash required plus the use of all premium funds on deposit. Compare V. 84, p. 930.

[The foregoing tables, &c., have been officially revised and pronounced correct.—Ed.]

Authorized.—The shareholders on April 30 voted to increase the authorized capital stock from $15,000,000 to $23,000,000 and the authorized bonded debt from $11,000,000 to $16,800,000, for the purposes stated in V. 84, p. 930.

California Midland (Electric) RR.—Bonds Authorized.—The stockholders on April 25 authorized a mortgage to secure an issue of $3,000,000 5% 40-year gold bonds. Compare V. 84, p. 693.

Chicago Lake Shore & Eastern Ry.—New Stock for Bonds.—This company, whose entire capital stock and bonded debt is owned by the Illinois Steel Co., recently increased its capital stock from $250,000 to $2,760,000 for the purpose of retiring, dollar for dollar, $2,510,000 of its $4,620,000 bonded debt, viz., $1,200,000 5% 20-year bonds, due Mar. 1 1917 and the $1,310,000 5% 20-year equipment bonds due July 1 1917. Compare "Railway & Industrial" Section of July 1905.—V. 67, p. 483.

Chicago Southern Ry.—Abstract of Further Provisions of Syndicate Agreement.—The agreement made April 15 1907 between John R. Walsh, John N. Faithorn and Orville E. Babcock as syndicate managers and the subscribers to the fund of $2,500,000 for financing the company's requirements, contains various essential particulars not covered in the brief statement published last week. The main facts of interest to the public are condensed as follows:

Whereas, the company has outstanding $4,000,000 2-year 5% gold bond notes maturing July 1 1907, and has executed a mortgage dated July 1 1906, to secure an issue of 5% gold bonds of $5,500,000, $4,000,000 of which are to be used to refund said outstanding $4,000,000 2-year gold notes, and the remaining $1,500,000 to complete its line of railway; and whereas the company proposes also to issue $1,000,000 6% debentures dated April 1 1907, payable on or before ten years after date, for its general corporate purposes; and whereas the company is the owner of a right of way from a point on the State line between Indiana and Illinois in Edgar County, Ill., to a point at or near Chicago Heights, Cook County, Ill., a distance of upwards of 100 miles, and has completed the grading of said line and has built the necessary bridges thereon, and has laid the rail thereon, with the exception of about 38 miles of rail, and it is desired to raise $2,500,000 for the following purposes, to wit: $1,500,000 to complete the railway and for general corporate purposes under said trust deed dated July 1 1906 (including, it is said, the purchase of $500,000 worth of equipment—Ed.); and $1,000,000 to pay off the floating debt and for interest and discounts.

Now, therefore, in consideration of the premises, the parties hereto agree:

(1) The subscribers agree to purchase $1,500,000 of the 1st mortgage 5% gold bonds of the Chicago Southern Ry. Co.; also $1,000,000 of its 6% debentures at the price of $2,500,000, said money to be paid to the First Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, Ill., as trustee, at such times as may be required by the syndicate managers, provided that not more than $1,000,000 shall be payable prior to April 30 1907, not more than $500,000 additional prior to May 25 1907, not more than $500,000 additional prior to June 25 1907, not more than $250,000 additional prior to July 25 1907 and not more than $250,000 additional prior to Aug. 25 1907.

(2) Upon payment of any installments hereunder, the subscribers shall receive subscription certificates.

(3) The syndicate managers shall deliver to said trust company the $1,000,000 6% debentures and also $1,500,000 of said 5% gold bonds dated July 1 1906 for distribution under the terms hereof.

(4) Said syndicate managers shall, as soon as practicable after the capital stock of the Southern Indiana Ry. Co. shall have been released from the lien of said collateral gold notes dated July 1 1905, deliver to said Trust Company $1,000,000 of 4% preferred stock of the Southern Indiana Ry. Co., cumulative after Jan. 1 1908 (the entire issue of such preferred stock to be limited to $1,000,000); also $2,500,000 par value of the common stock of that company (the entire issue of such common stock to be limited to the amount of $10,000,000); such preferred and common stock ($1,000,000 and $2,500,000 respectively) to be distributable to the subscribers hereto as bonus, as more fully set forth in paragraph 5 hereof.

(5) The syndicate managers shall have authority to use $1,000,000 of said $2,500,000 common stock, or so much as shall seem advisable, to aid in refunding said $4,000,000 collateral gold notes due July 1 1907.

On Sept. 1 1907, or as soon thereafter as practicable, said trust company shall make distribution of the bonds and of the preferred and common stock which may then be in its hands, by delivering for each $5,000 of subscription certificates surrendered:

$3,000 of 5% gold bonds of Chicago Southern Ry Co., dated July 1 1906 with coupons due Jan. 1 and July 1 1907, detached;

$2,000 6% debentures of that company, with coupons due Oct. 1 1907, detached;

$2,000 preferred stock of the Southern Indiana Ry. Co.; and

$5,000 common stock of Southern Indiana Ry. Co. (or in the event that a portion of said common stock shall have been used in refunding said collateral gold notes due July 1 1907, then each subscriber shall receive his proper pro rata proportion of the common stock still remaining in the hands of the Trust Company).

This agreement shall not become operative unless and until the entire amount of $2,500,000 shall have been subscribed hereto.—V. 84, p. 995, 930.

Chicago & Southern Traction Co.—Mortgage Filed.—This company, which recently changed hands, has filed a mortgage dated Jan. 1 to the Western Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, as trustee, covering all its electric railway now or hereafter constructed in the counties of Cook, Will and Kankakee in the State of Illinois, to secure an issue of $5,000,000 30-year 5% bonds, of which, it is said, some $2,500,000 will be issued in the near future for the development of the system. —V. 84, p. 995.

Chicago Union Traction Co.—Deposits Asked.—A committee consisting of Cyrus McCormick, Thomas Templeton, Charles W. Ware and John F. Bass on May 1 called for deposits of the outstanding stock of the Chicago West Division Ry. ($249,400) and of the West Chicago City Ry. ($624,900) in the hands of the public with the Chicago Title & Trust Co. under the terms of the recent ordinance.—V. 84, p. 995, 930.

Chicago West Division Ry.—Deposits Asked.—See Chicago Union Traction Co. above.—V. 83, p. 1228.

Cincinnati Traction Co.—New Secretary.—Walter A. Draper has been elected Secretary to succeed S. C. Cooper, who resigned.—V. 80, p. 2219.

Coney Island & Brooklyn RR.—No Dividend.—The directors, it is reported, have decided not to declare a dividend for the last quarter, in order to provide necessary funds for improvements, if it is found that the proceeds of the new stock issue of $1,500,000 are not ample for the purpose. Dividend record:

Consolidated Railway, Connecticut.—Merger.—See New York New Haven & Hartford RR. below.—V. 84, p. 995, 507.

Deepwater Ry.—Merger.—The stockholders voted on April 22 to merge the road with the Tidewater Ry. The consolidated company will be known as the Virginian Ry. Compare V. 84, p. 694, 626.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—J. Rogers Maxwell May Be a Director.—J. Rogers Maxwell, it is commonly reported, will be made a member of the Board of Managers at the annual meeting on May 14. Interests identified with the First National Bank of New York were recently reported as being large purchasers of the stock and it has been suggested that George F. Baker, President of that institution, might also enter the D.& H. board. E.H.Harriman, it appears, also holds a block of the stock as an investment.—V. 84, p. 931.

Denver & Rio Grande RR.—Litigation.—See Wasatch & Jordan Valley RR. below.—V. 84, p. 507.

Detroit River Tunnel Co.—Bond Issue.—This subsidiary of the Michigan Central RR. has filed a mortgage to the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, to secure its $15,000,000 bonds, to be guaranteed by the Mich. Cent.

Lease.—The agreement made between the Detroit River Tunnel Co. and the Michigan Central RR. Co., dated Dec. 19 1906, whereby the Tunnel Company leased to the railroad company for a term of 999 years from the 1st January 1907 its entire undertaking, was on April 6 sanctioned by the Governor of Canada in Council.—V. 82, p. 1156.

Detroit United Ry.—Injunction.—Judge Swan in the United States Court at Detroit on April 25 granted a temporary injunction restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance passed by the Council several weeks ago, providing for 20 second service on several of the main lines during the rush hours.

The ordinance, which is designed to prevent overcrowding, is declared by the company to be unreasonable and unconstitutional, and its enforcement, it is claimed, would necessitate an expenditure of many millions of dollars for extra equipment and greatly increase the cost of operation.

Decision.—The Supreme Court of Michigan, by a majority vote of five judges, on May 1 handed down a decision holding that the city of Detroit cannot lay street railway tracks to be leased by an operating corporation.

The City Council in 1905 ordered the Department of Public Works to lay tracks on several streets and appropriated $10,000 to begin work, presumably with a view of competing with the Detroit United Ry. The Supreme Court upholds the writ granted by the Wayne Circuit Court. The decision, it is thought, may have some bearing on the renewal of franchises and operation of lines now in dispute.—V. 84, p. 450, 387.

Gainesville Electric Railway & Light Co.—Change of Name.—This Texas corporation has filed a certificate changing its name to the Gainesville Traction Co. Compare V. 83, p. 495.

Gainesville Traction Co.—New Name.—See Gainesville Electric Ry. & Light Co. above.

Galveston-Houston Electric Railway.—New Enterprise for Stone & Webster Interests.—This company was incorporated under the laws of Texas on Apr. 17 with $3,000,000 capital stock in shares of $100 each (no bonds at present) to build an electric railway between Galveston and Houston, a distance of about 50 miles. The company is backed by Stone & Webster of Boston who already control and operate the local trolley systems in Galveston, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, El Paso, etc. Construction, it is said, will begin at once. The directors are:

M. M. Phinney, Dallas; David Daly, Houston; C. R. Wharton, Houston; W. B. Chew, Houston; Jesse H. Jones, Houston; William A. Wilson, Houston; Jesse A. Baker Jr., Houston.

Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.—Listed in London.—The London Stock Exchange has granted a special settling day and quotation. Interim scrip certificates for £1,000,000 4% debenture stock (see V. 84, p. 570).

Status of Enterprise.—See report of Grand Trunk Railway under "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.—V. 84, p. 570.

Havana Central RR.—Change in Control—Offer for Stock and Bonds.—Speyer & Co. of thic city announce by advertisement on another page that they are prepared to receive deposits of the common capital stock and first mortgage 5% bonds of this company pursuant to the plan announced, as follows, by J. Henry Schroder & Co of London for the sale of the same to the United Railways of the Havana and Regla Warehouses, Limited (see also that company below):

The proposal provides that when and as soon as, within the period fixed for the deposit of securities thereunder, or any extension thereof, there shall be deposited with the depositary or sub-depositaries, 10,000 shares of such common stock and $3,850,000 of said bonds, then the proposal shall become immediately operative.

The United Company is to give in exchange for each $100 of the common Stock of the Central Company exchanged £7 4s. 4d. (being $35 at 4 85) in deferred ordinary stock of the United Company, and for each $1,000 first mortgage bond of the Central Company £206 3s. 9d. (being $1,000 at 4 85) in 4 % debentures of the United Company, and also £4 2s. 6d. in cash, being the equivalent of interest at the rate of 4 % per annum for six months ending 30th April 1907, thereon; and inasmuch as the dates for the payment of interest on the debentures will be 1st January and 1st July in each year, the further sum of £1 7s. 6d. in cash will also be paid as the equivalent of interest from May 1st to 30th June 1907. First mortgage bonds must carry the coupon maturing May 1st, 1907, and all subsequent coupons.

The deferred ordinary stock of the United Co., which is to given in exchange for the common stock of the Central Co., will be part of an issue to be made amounting in the aggregate to not more than £600,000. After 8 % has been paid in any year on the ordinary stock of the United Co., the deferred ordinary stock will be entitled, out of the remaining profits available for dividend for the same year, to a like dividend, and any surplus profits available for dividend will be distributed pro rata between the ordinary and deferred ordinary stocks. When the two classes of stock have received dividends of 8 % for two consecutive years, the deferred ordinary stock will become ordinary stock for all purposes.

The 4 % debentures of the United Co., which are to be given in exchange for the first mortgage 5 % bonds of the Central Co., will be part of an issue to be made, amounting in the aggregate to not more than £2,070,000; interest will be payable half-yearly at the rate of 4 % per annum in Jan. and July of each year, and will run as from the 1st of July 1907. These debentures will be issued in denominations of £20, £100, £500 and £1,000, and will be in bearer form, but may be registered at the option of the holder. They will be payable on May 1st 1955 but will be redeemable at par by the company at any time on six months' notice. The debentures, constituting a direct obligation of the United Co., will be specifically charged on the first mortgage 5 % bonds and common stock of the Central Co. exchanged under this plan, and a deed of trust will be executed by the company in favor of the trustees accordingly.

Deposits of securities will be received until 3 p. m. 31st of May, 1907, at the office of the depositary, J. Henry Schroder & Co., No. 145 Leadenhall Street, London, England; and with the sub-depositaries, Speyer & Co., 24 and 26 Pine St., New York, and at the Royal Bank of Canada at Montreal, Canada, and at Havana, Cuba. The proposal is conditional upon its approval by shareholders of the United Company, as provided therein.—V. 83, p. 435.

New England Investment & Security Co.—Guaranty.—The "Boston News Bureau" has the following, but a telegram from the N. Y. N. H. & H. RR. Co., while not denying it does not confirm it:

At the present time the 4 % dividends on the preferred stock are guaranteed by the Consolidated Railway Co. and are further protected by a three-party agreement between the New England Investment & Security Co., the Consolidated Railway Co. and the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. President Mellen of the last-named company states that all of the preferred stock which will issue subsequent to the merger of the Consolidated Ry. with the New Haven will bear the guaranty of the New Haven RR. as to principal and interest.—V. 84, p. 996, 570.

New York Central & Hudson River RR.—Quarterly.—Results for three months ending March 31 were:

It is understood that the earnings for the current quarter ending June 30 are expected to make a very favorable showing.—V. 84, p. 931, 926, 872.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Amendment of Charter—Merger of Consolidated Ry.—The shareholders will meet May 31 to accept the amendment to the charter contained in a resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut, approved March 26 1907, and when such amendment shall have become operative, to act upon a proposition to merge this corporation with and in The Consolidated Railway Co., a majority of whose capital stock is owned by this company, and consolidate and make common stock therewith under the name of "The New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co.," with a capital stock equal to the combined capital stocks of the two merged and consolidated corporations, each share of stock in each of said corporations becoming a share of stock in the consolidated corporation.

The recent merger of the Consolidated Railway Co. and the New England Navigation Co., we learn, was effected through the purchase of the property of the latter by the Railway Co. The balance sheet of the Navigation Co. on Dec. 31 1906, as filed in Massachusetts, it is stated, showed:

Assets: Real estate, vessels, &c., $9,207,938; merchandise, $188,969; cash and debts receivable, $5,755,502; total, $15,242,408.
Liabilities: Capital stock, $5,000,000; accounts payable, $1,377,524; debenture bonds, $6,755,000; surplus, $2,089,884; total, $15,242,408.

(Compare properties owned, &c., in V. 79, p. 2750; V. 81, p. 1853; V. 83, p. 821; V. 84, p. 752.) The New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co. on June 30 1906 owned $2,500,000 4% debentures of the Navigation Co. due Jan. 1 1955 (see "Marketable Securities," V. 83, p. 812); also directly or indirectly the entire capital stock, the railroad's own holding being, per balance sheet of June 30 last, $1,500,000, though at organization the capital stock, we were informed, was to be $3,150,000.

Exchange of Consolidated Ry. Debentures.—A press report from New Haven says:

It is officially stated that out of about $21,500,000 of the Consolidated Railway Co.'s debenture 4% bonds, about $12,000,000 have already been exchanged for New York New Haven & Hartford RR. stock under the option which is allowed by the latter corporation. The debenture bonds thus going into the treasury of the steam corporation will not be re-issued and will be destroyed after the merger of the steam and trolley corporations goes into effect on the first day of June.

Guaranty.—See New England Investment & Security Co. above.—V. 84, p. 996, 931.

Norfolk & Western Ry.—Important Improvement Work.—The "Railroad Gazette" of New York in its issues of March 15 and April 26 published two illustrated articles of its series regarding the improvement work which this company has in progress.—V. 84, p. 221.

Northwestern Pacific RR.—Bond Issue Approved.—The shareholders on Apr. 29 ratified the proposed mortgage for $35,000,000.—V. 84, p. 694, 272.

Pennsylvania RR.—Called Bonds.—Sunbury Hazleton & Wilkesbarre Ry. first mortgage Series A bonds of 1878 to the amount of $19,500 have been called and will be redeemed at par and interest on May 31 by the Fidelity Trust Co. of Philadelphia.—V. 84, p. 932, 868.

Phoenix & Eastern RR.—Sale and Proposed Extension.—The Southern Pacific has acquired this road from the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe. The road runs from Phoenix, Arizona, east to Winkelman, about 100 miles, and will be extended east to Globe, where it will join the Gila Valley Globe & Northern and at Bowie connect with the Southern Pacific.

The completion of the line which the Atchison is constructing from Phoenix westward to join its own line again at Bengal, Cal., will afford a low-grade line which will be of considerable importance to both the Southern Pacific and Atchison, and will be used by them jointly. The line of the Atchison running west from Bengal for about 100 miles meets the Southern Pacific at Mojave, at which point the trains of the latter road can be switched back on their own line.—V. 77, p. 90.

Rapid Transit in New York City.—Engineer's Estimate of Cost of Lexington Avenue Subway.—Last week Chairman Theodore P. Shonts, in connection with his letter published in full in the New York "Times" of Apr. 26 giving the company's reasons for not bidding on the Lexington Avenue contract, furnished a statement signed by the various engineers employed by the company, setting forth on the basis of five-car locals and eight-car expresses (and not according to the ten-car basis set forth in the form of contract) as follows:

To construct a four-track railway northerly from connection with the present Subway near Forty-first Street and Park Avenue via Lexington Avenue to the Harlem River, and thence a two-track railway to 156th Street, in the Bronx, and a four-track railway southerly from a connection with the present Subway near Forty-Second Street and Broadway, via Seventh Avenue and West Broadway to the Battery, in accordance with the contracts, plans and specifications of the Rapid Transit Commission, will cost $56,200,000
Easements 2,500,000
Terminals 1,300,000
Interest during construction 4,000,000
..... $64,000,000
Equipment 24,000,000
Total $88,000,000

This, it is said, was divided on the basis of $22,161,752 for the lower half of the Seventh Ave. route and $29,780,064 for the upper half of the Lexington Avenue route, with 7% added as interest on investment for construction.—V. 84, p. 997.

St. Louis Iron Mountain & Southern Ry.—New Equipment Trusts Offered.—Bioren & Co., Philadelphia, are offering $3,660,000 equipment trust 5% gold bonds at prices to yield a return of 5¼%. The bonds mature $366,000 each year from June 1 1908 to June 1 1917.

Bonds dated June 1 1907; interest payable March quarterly. Denomination, $1,000. Mercantile Trust Co. of New York, trustee. These bonds are a direct obligation of the railway company and are further secured by 4,590 box cars (80,000 pounds capacity) costing $4,065,300, towards which the railway company pays in cash $405,300. Title to the equipment remains in the trustee until all of the bonds have been paid. The bonds are offered at prices to yield the investor 5¼%.—V. 84, p. 627

Upon the completion of the syndicate underwriting, the Southern Indiana Railway Co., it is stated, will own the following stocks in other corporations, being in each case the entire issue:

$1,500,000 capital stock of the Chicago Southern Ry. Co.
$50,000 of the Southern Indiana Express Co.
$5,000,000 capital stock of the Southern Indiana Coal Co., which latter company owns $900,000 of the Indiana Southern Coal Co (being 60% of the entire issue).

During the year ended July 1 1906 the Southern Indiana Ry. Co. earned $590,000 net (see report V. 83, p. 1289), and the syndicate is quoted as saying: "The company's traffic is constantly increasing and will be greatly enlarged by the completion of the Chicago Southern Ry. Moreover, by reason of the recent change in car rentals from 25 to 50 cents a day, the net earnings of the Southern Indiana for the current year will be increased $150,000, independent of increased traffic."—V. 84, p. 997.

Compare V. 84, p. 804.

Traverse City Leelanau & Manistique RR.—Foreclosure Sale.—At the foreclosure sale in Leland, Mich., on April 17, this property, recently operated by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Ry., owner of one-fourth of the bonds, was bid in by the receiver, the Union Trust Co., Detroit, for $339,229 38. The sale was the result of a decree in chancery made by the Leelanau County Circuit Court Feb. 18.—V. 82, p. 1103.

Union Pacific RR.—Rumor of Holding Company for Securities Owned.—It is said that before the Chicago & Alton hearing a plan was under consideration for the organization of a holding company to take over the securities in other roads, including Southern Pacific, Illinois Central, Baltimore & Ohio, &c., which have been acquired by Union Pacific. This plan, or suggestion of a plan, is supposed to have been indefinitely postponed for various reasons, but rumors of its renewal have been current this week, prompting the "Evening Sun" on Thursday to say:

The story of the holding company that had started the upward movement could not be traced any further than to the suspicions and surmisings of brokers who saw in such a measure a relief for the railroad from the threatened action by the Inter-State Commerce Commission and the courts.—V. 84, p. 932, 694.

United Railways of the Havana & Regla Warehouses, Limited.—Acquisitions—Debenture Stock Offered.—This company has made a proposition to the stock and bondholders of the Havana Central RR., as stated under the heading of that company above. In connection with this acquisition £800,000 of an issue of £2,824,100 5% irredeemable debenture stock (1906) was recently offered for subscription in London at £106 per £100 by J. Henry Schroder & Co., who in an advertisement say:

This company's lines have been recently augmented by the acquisition of the Cardenas & Jucaro Ry. as from Jan. 1 1906, and of the Matanzas Ry. as from July 1 1906, so that the combined undertaking now includes 641 miles of railway. The undertaking is situated in the most important and central part of the Island of Cuba and is in communication with other railways extending through the whole Island. In order to handle the increasing traffic, large extensions and improvements at Havana were at first contemplated, but by arrangements now being made with the Havana Central RR. Co., a considerable amount of this outlay will be avoided.

These arrangements have been facilitated through the purchase by the United Railways of the Havana of $2,250,000 5% bonds and $4,112,500 stock of the Havana Central Company, and the stock now offered has been issued to meet the above-mentioned purchases and to provide moneys required in connection with these arrangements.

The Havana Central RR. Co. is an American corporation with an issued capital of $10,000,000 of 5% bonds and $8,162,500 stock. Its lines, which are operated electrically, have only recently been opened for traffic, and therefore no returns are yet available. It has now two lines in operation, one from Havana to Guines and another from Havana to Guanajay. It also owns a large and well-equipped pier, with warehouse accommodation, known as Paula Wharf, an electric power station capable of supplying power and lighting to the whole of Havana and its suburbs, and a complete system of workshops equipped with machinery of the most modern type. It also owns a system of ferryboats which cross the bay to Regla and an electric tram line in connection therewith to Guanabacoa.

The net revenues of the three systems now forming the United Railways of the Havana, taken together for their respective financial years of 1906, were £499,520
The annual amount required to pay the interest on all the debenture issues of the company, including the present issue, will be £231,500

The gross receipts of the three systems during the period from July 1 1905 to March 31 1906 were £820,241, while the gross receipts for the same period of the present financial year were £910,811, an increase of £90,570.

The £2,824,100 debenture stock, of which the amount now offered forms part, is secured by first charges: (a) for £1,374,100 upon the company's Cardenas system; (b) for £650,000 upon the company's Matanzas system; (c) for £800,000 upon bonds and stock of the Havana Central RR. The stock is also charged upon the company's United System, subject to the existing charges thereon. Under the regulations of the company the amount of all its debenture debts combined may not exceed the amount of the share capital for the time being issued, or agreed to be issued.

[In November 1906 the ordinary capital was increased from £2,540,000 to £3,810,000 by the distribution of 50% of full paid stock as a dividend to the common shareholders; and was further authorized to be increased to £4,760,000, £912,750 of the latter increase being issuable, along with £608,500 debenture stock, in payment for the entire capital stock of the Matanzas Ry. Upon completion of the purchase of the Matanzas road the outstanding capitalization was to be as follows: Ordinary stock, £4,760,000; 5% cumulative pref. stock, £700,000; 5% irredeemable debenture stock "A," £380,000; consolidated irredeemable 5% debenture stock, £1,425,900; irredeemable 5% debenture stock (1906), £2,021,100. The ordinary shares in 1905 received in cash dividends aggregating 10% and in 1906 (in June and October) cash dividends to a total of 8½%. See earnings, &c., in editorial in "London Statist" of Sept. 1 1906. Ed.]

Wasatch & Jordan Valley RR.—Judgment.—A judgment for $1,808,272 was entered in the Supreme Court in this city on Apr. 26 against the company in favor of Russell Sage Raphael of Bayonne, N. J.

The road, which ran from Bingham to Alta, Utah, 34 miles (then 3-foot gauge) was sold at Sheriff's sale in spring of 1881, under foreclosure of the first mortgage for $1,000,000 (under which $884,000 7% gold bonds were issued) and was acquired by the Den. & Rio Grande Western Ry., since succeeded by the Rio Grande Western Ry. Of the road, the portion from Wasatch to Alta, 7.8 miles, is not now in operation. There were, it is said, also $1,000,000 second debentures authorized, of which $800,000 were sold. The judgment was obtained on $680,000 of the second debentures purchased by Nathan Raphael, father of the plaintiff, the original judgment having been secured in the United States Circuit Court on March 28 1906. The proceedings are based on an alleged defect in the foreclosure suit under the first mortgage, the holders of the second mortgage or the trustee of the latter not having been names therein as defendants. Joseph Martin of 220 Broadway, New York, is attorney for the plaintiffs.—V. 83, p. 273.

Aetna Portland Cement Co., Detroit.—Controversy—Receiver.—Lawson F. Becker of Fenton, Mich., who in August last was appointed receiver on application of minority bondholders who own $80,000 of the $400,000 bonds, on April 16 took possession of the Fenton plant.

The company in 1903 became successor to the Detroit Portland Cement Co. (V. 80, p. 2347), its capital stock being $2,000,000, the Detroit Co. selling its assets subject to the $400,000 outstanding bonds. In a controversy between the majority and minority bondholders as to whether six months' default in interest occurring Dec. 1 1905 was proper or not, a receiver was appointed in Aug. 1906. An appeal was taken and a bond to stay the receivership was given pending the appeal. The results of the business for 1906, it is stated, were so satisfactory that the majority bondholders determined to waive the default in principal occurring through failure to pay the interest, and therefore withdrew the appeal and allowed the receiver to go into possession. In due course the interest will be paid and the receiver discharged.

Alexandria (Ind.) Electric Light & Power Co.—Sale May 18.—The foreclosure sale, it is stated, has been set for May 18.—V. 83, p. 891.

The company does not object to an examination of the records since 1904.

Amendment of Charter.—The stockholders on April 29 approved the amendments of the charter referred to last week on page 998.

The meeting of the stockholders of the American Ice to vote on amendments of its charter, to permit it to engage in additional lines of business, has been adjourned to May 13. Particulars are withheld, but it is stated that the amendments are designed to enable it to keep its teams and other property in active use throughout the year and so avoid loss in what have heretofore been unprofitable months of the company s business.—V. 84, p. 998, 933.

Baltimore (Md.) Electric Power Co.—Consolidation.—Meetings of the shareholders of this company and its ally, the Maryland Telephone & Telegraph Co., are advertised to take place May 4 to consider a proposed consolidation of the companies. There is good authority for the following:

The companies, when consolidated, will be known as the Baltimore Electric Company. It is proposed that the capital stock shall be $3,750,000 and that about $1,250,000 of the new stock shall be preferred. The authorized bond issue will be $7,500,000, or the same amount as the two companies now have. The companies are controlled by Baltimore and Philadelphia capitalists. The Maryland Telephone Co. has many thousands of subscribers, while the Electric company, which began business in Aug. 1905, has had a rapid growth and has twice had to enlarge its electrical plant and now seeks to enlarge it again.—V. 84, p. 998.

Brooklyn Union Gas Co.—Favorable Decision.—The Court of Appeals on Wednesday affirmed the decision of the lower courts denying the motion of the city to inspect the company's books with a view of ascertaining the cost of production, in an action brought by the company against the city to recover payment for gas furnished between Jan. 7 1903 and March 16 1904. The cost of the manufacture of gas is held to be immaterial in the case, the maximum rate having been fixed by the Legislature. Compare V. 82, p. 1103.—V. 83, p. 1231.

Gross earnings.....$83,677 | Ann.Int.on$350,000 1st M.5s..$17,500
Net earnings (after taxes)...$36,527 | Surplus earnings.....$19,027

The company is earning over twice its fixed charges and it is believed that the earnings will continue to show a steady and satisfactory increase.—V. 84, p. 806.

Central & South American Telegraph Co.—Stock Dividend—Text of Annual Report.—The comparative statement of earnings and balance sheet for the calendar years 1905 and 1906 was given in the "Chronicle" of Apr. 6, p. 801. In the printed report, dated Mar. 26, now at hand, President Scrysmer announces the intention of the management to call a meeting (to be held May 14) for the purpose of voting upon a proposition to increase the limit of capital stock issue from $8,000,000 to $12,000,000, the plan being to issue $2,000,000 of the new stock as a 25% dividend to capitalize earnings expended for additions, etc. The report says:

It will be observed that your company earned a surplus of $475,573 (after dividends) for the year ending Dec. 31 1906. The increase of net earnings for the current quarter shows $48,500 over the corresponding period of last year. There is every reason to expect a continuance of this growth of traffic, which if maintained points to a possible surplus for the present year of about $700,000.

The contract for manufacturing and laying the direct cable between New York and Colon, Isthmus of Panama, via Cuba, which has been concluded in agreement with the Mexican Telegraph Co., has been awarded to the Telegraph Construction & Maint. Co., Ld., and there is no reason to doubt that the cable will be completed and in operation by the date specified, viz, Aug. 1 next. The establishment of this additional cable will greatly increase your company's capacity for handling its traffic and facilitate the prompt transmission of our American and European—South American messages. Satisfactory arrangements have been made with the United States Government for the establishment of stations on Government territory at Guantanamo, Cuba, and on the Isthmus of Panama. Arrangements have also been made for a lease of Government wires between Panama and Colon until such time as your company can construct its own line across the Isthmus, authority for which has already been obtained from the United States Government.

At a meeting of the board of directors held this day, the officers of your company were authorized to arrange for increasing the capital stock of your company from $8,000,000 to $12,000,000; the object of such increase is two-fold: (1) To capitalize earnings expended for the duplicate Valparaiso—Iquique—Chorillos cable, and other betterments and concessions acquired by your company, which together are valued by your Directors at $2,000,000. (2) To provide for the future capitalization of the cost of the new cable between New York and Colon and other extensions and betterments.

A shareholders' meeting will be called, due notice of which will be given, at which meeting the necessary formalities will be considered for the creation of 40,000 additional shares of full-paid stock of $100 each, and the issue of 20,000 of these shares to be distributed as a dividend to shareholders of record at such time as may be determined at said meeting.—V. 84, p. 801, 805.

Chicago (Ill.) Edison Co.—Offering of Debentures.—The following bankers—

N. W. Halsey & Co., Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco.
A. B. Leach & Co., Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Boston.
Illinois Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago.
National City Bank, New York City, N. Y.

are offering at 93⅜ and interest, by advertisement on another page, at which price the investor will receive 6% on his money, the unsold portion, $1,500,000, of the issue of $5,000,000 5% 3-year gold debentures, due March 1 1910, but redeemable on any interest day at 101 and interest. The official statement made in connection with the issue, setting forth the position of the company and its securities, and the terms upon which the debentures are guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Commonwealth Electric Co., was given at considerable length in the "Chronicle" of March 23, p. 695, 696. The two corporations together practically control the central station electric light and power business of Chicago.—V. 84, p. 998.

Cleveland (Bell) Telephone Co.—Stock Ownership, etc.—See Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. below.—V. 70, p. 1252.

Columbia Gas & Electric Co., Cincinnati, Cleveland, &c.—Favorable Decision.—The Supreme Court of Ohio on April 17 in the suit of Dennis Hackett against the City of Cincinnati, the Cincinnati Gas & El. Co. and others, held valid the 25-year franchise to the Cinn. Gas & Electric Co. granted in Dec. 1905 by the City Council and Board of Public Service, to supply natural gas. Compare item under caption Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co., V. 82, p. 102. President A. S. White is quoted as saying:

"The pipe line to connect our fields with Cincinnati will be of the most modern construction. The distance is 140 miles. We will begin work as soon as possible, and push it as rapidly as the requirements of careful construction will permit. This 20-inch main will extend direct from our West Virginia field to Cincinnati, so that this city will get the full benefit of the pressure there, and not be at the tail end of a system of connections with intervening cities. I believe the gas will be in the homes of Cincinnati in less than a year. If the pipes were laid we could furnish gas to-morrow, as we have wells capable of supplying 100,000,000 cubic feet, and territory estimated able to furnish three times that quantity.—See V 84, p. 696.

Consolidated Gas Co., New York.—Decision.—See Long Acre Electric Light & Power Co. below.—V. 84, p. 573, 223.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light & Power Co. of Baltimore.—Earnings.—N. W. Harris & Co. and Emanuel Parker & Co., who are offering on a basis to yield 5% on the investment, blocks of the underlying first consolidated mortgage 4½% gold bonds of the United Electric Light & Power Co. due May 1 1929 ($4,500,000 authorized; amount outstanding $4,243,000; $257,000 reserved to retire bonds of constituent companies largely provided for by sinking fund), furnish the following:

Copper Range Consolidated Co.—Increase of Stock.—The stockholders voted on May 1 to increase the authorized stock from $38,500,000 to $40,000,000. Of the new stock, $1,000,000 (unless $750,000 cash is paid) will be used to acquire the Globe tract of 1,280 acres now under option, which expires in April 1908, from the John Stanton estate, the remaining stock to be issued as required.

Suit Settled.—A settlement has been made in the suit against Albert C. Burrage, growing out of the purchase of the Tri-Mountain Mining Co. in August 1903. Of the indebtedness of the Tri-Mountain Co. at the time of sale, $540,000, it was claimed, remained unpaid, in violation of the agreement of Aug. 25 1903.—V. 84, p. 510, 223.

No bonds will be received after May 15 1907. Compare V. 82, p. 931.

Detroit Portland Cement Co.—Successor Company.—See Aetna Portland Cement Co. above.—V. 80, p. 2347.

Diamond Match Co., Chicago.—Annual Meeting—Purchase Approved.—The shareholders at the annual meeting on May 1 formally approved the proposed purchase of California timber lands, lumber plant, &c. (described in the recent annual report, (V. 84, p. 747) for $1,500,000.

The Sierra Lumber Co., with plant at Red Bluff, on the Sacramento River, is, according to the "San Francisco Chronicle" of April 5, the concern whose books were being examined with a view to purchase. The official appraisal since received at Chicago was very favorable. The plans for financing the acquisition have not been announced and it is thought may be deferred for the present; at last accounts they were not fully determined upon.

No Reason for Dividend Reduction.—At the aforesaid meeting President Barber, it is reported, said: "Business is so good that no dividend reduction is necessary. Option on 93,000 acres of timber land will be exercised. February was a record month for sales."

At the annual meeting a year ago a committee was appointed to secure an expert examination of the company's books and property values in order to determine whether the existing dividend rate is excessive. The balance sheet of Dec. 31 1906, as determined by the Audit Company of New York, it is announced, is identical with that furnished by the company (V. 84, p. 747), while the latter's charges for replacements, repairs and depreciation are also approved.—V. 84, p. 747, 341.

Diamond Rubber Co., Akron, O.—Increase of Capital Stock.—This company on April 20 filed a certificate of increase of capital stock from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, all of one class, par of shares $100. There was recently outstanding $3,500,000 stock, to which there has now been added $1,000,000 paid for at par and $500,000 issued as a stock dividend. No bonds or mortgage.—V. 84, p. 696.

Edison Electric Illuminating Co. of Boston.—Auction Sale of Stock May 8th.—Treasurer Thomas K. Cummins gives notice by advertisement that, pursuant to an order of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners, dated Feb. 20 1907, and conformably to law, the directors will offer for sale, at public auction, at the office of Francis Henshaw & Co., No. 97 Milk Street, Boston, on May 8 1907, at twelve o'clock noon, 10,902 shares of the increased capital stock.—V. 84, p. 870, 934.

The usual quarterly dividend of 1½% is payable May 10.—V. 83, p. 754.

Equitable Illuminating Gas Light Co. of Philadelphia.—Output.—The statement of gas sold in the city of Philadelphia for the quarter ending March 31, as filed with the city authorities, compares as follows:

Fergus Falls (Minn.) Water Works.—Bonds Called.—This company has called for redemption all its bonds secured by mortgage of 1896, and the same will be paid on or before Oct. 1 at par and interest, at the office of the Union Safe Deposit and Trust Co., Portland, Me.

Fulton Coal Co., Philadelphia.—Offer for Minority Stock.—An exchange says:

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. ("Reading Company" subsidiary), which owns 63,537 of the 71,219 shares comprising the capital stock of the Fulton Coal Co., has made an offer to buy the 7,682 outstanding minority shares at $2 05 per share. The par value of the stock was $5 per share, and since July 1899 the profits arising from royalties have been devoted to paying a pro rata proportion of each share of the outstanding capital stock. The payments thus made have amounted to $2 95 per share, and the Coal & Iron Co. proposes anticipating the remaining $2 05 due on the stock by purchasing it outright and secure entire ownership of the property.—V. 83, p. 821.

International Pneumatic Tube Co., Philadelphia.—Merger—Proposition to Bondholders.—This company, incorporated under the laws of Maine in January last with $2,500,000 preferred and $10,000,000 common stock in shares of $50 each (no bonds), offers by advertisement to the holders of the outstanding first mortgage bonds of the Pneumatic Transit Co. of Philadelphia (V. 82, p. 1105; V. 81, p. 617), of which it claims to have acquired a majority, to give in exchange for the same before May 15 its 6% preferred stock (cumulative after July 1 1909) in exchange for these bonds at $1,050 per bond. The advertisement says:

The company having acquired the majority stock holdings of the (1) Pneumatic Transit Co., Philadelphia, (2) Batcheller Pneumatic Tube Co., (3) The Pearsall Pneumatic Tube & Power Co. of New York, (4) the Batcheller Pneumatic Dispatch Manufacturing Co. of Pennsylvania, and having arranged to acquire a majority of the stock of (5) the British & Foreign Pneumatic Tube Syndicate (Ltd.) of London, and also of the (6) Pneumatic Transit Co.'s bonds, hereby offers to the holders of the remaining said bonds of the Pneumatic Transit Co. the same terms upon which it will acquire the majority, namely its 6% preferred stock (cumulative after July 1 1909), at par, in exchange for these bonds at $1,050 per bond, the object being to retire all bonded debt of the company, so as to have nothing ahead of the preferred stock, upon (the proceeds of) which construction of all new extensions is now being carried on in Philadelphia. Any further information desired may be obtained at our local offices, 1038 Ridge Avenue, Philadelphia. M. Balth Riffo (at last accounts Secretary of the Pneumatic Transit Co.) is Secretary of the new company.

Juniata Water & Water Power Co., Huntingdon, Pa.—Increase of Indebtedness.—The holders will meet at the office in Philadelphia on June 5 to vote upon increasing the indebtedness from $750,000 to $1,250,000. Contracts were let in February last for the construction of Dam No. 2, with power-house, &c., to be built at the lower end of the Gap. Dam No. 1, about completed, being located on Juniata River, three miles above Huntingdon. "Iron Age" of March said:

The new power plant of the Juniata Hydro-Electric Co. on the Juniata River near Warrior Ridge Station, Pa., will furnish light and power to railroads and industrial plants throughout the Juniata Valley, with transmission lines and distributing stations extending from Altoona to Lewiston. A second hydraulic plant is located at lower end of the gap. The two contain nine turbines of 1,000 h. p. each, directly connected with 500 k. w. alternators. An emergency steam-driven plant consists of four Curtis steam turbine units aggregating 4,500 h. p. Other power plants are contemplated with total output of 20,000 h. p. The total construction cost will be about $2,500,000. Compare V. 83, p. 1593, 972.

Lanston Monotype Machine Co.—Report—Dividends.—This company began the payment of dividends in April 1906, and during the fiscal year ending Feb. 28 1907 made two semi-annual distributions of 2% each, together amounting to $198,516, the same rate being continued by a semi-annual payment on April 15 1907. For the fiscal year 1905-06 no dividends were paid, but $125,000 was transferred to "contingent account." The annual report for 1906-07 was given in last week's issue (p. 994), showing the operations for the last two fiscal periods, but through a printer's blunder the figures for the "contingent account" appeared a line too low, falling opposite the dividend payment and leaving the preceding line blank.—V. 84, p. 991.

Long-Bell Lumber Co. of Kansas City.—New Stock, &c.—A certificate was filed in Missouri on April 13, reporting an increase in the capital stock from $1,250,000 to $10,000,000 (one-half of the increase being "full paid"), and showing: "Assets, $12,300,000; liabilities, $1,900,000." The increase in the paid-up capital stock was made from the company's surplus; or, in other words, was in the nature of a stock dividend of 350%; none of the new stock has been sold. The outstanding capital stock is now $5,625,000 and the surplus is $1,875,000; total, $7,500,000. R. A. Long is Pres. and Gen. Mgr.; C. B. Sweet, V.-Pres. and Asst. Gen. Mgr., and F. J. Bannister, Secy. and Treas. Office in the R. A. Long Building, 10th and Grand Avs., Kansas City. Compare V. 81, p. 214; V. 82, p. 990, 933.

Long Acre Electric Light & Power Co.—Favorable Decision.—The Court of Appeals of New York on Tuesday affirmed the decisions of the lower courts, which granted a peremptory mandamus to compel the Consolidated Telegraph & Electrical Subway Co. to permit the Long Acre Co. to use its conduits for a cable in a certain portion of its subway. Compare V. 84, p. 224.

Plans.—The following is pronounced correct:

The company owns a power house and electric plant at 42d Street and 10th Avenue. Under its charter it is restricted in its lighting area to the district lying between 33d and 59th streets and Fifth Avenue and North River, but will at once file amendments of its charter with the Secretary of State, giving it the right to operate throughout Manhattan and Bronx Boroughs. Fourteen city lots at 120th Street and Harlem River have been purchased and the construction of a large power house will be begun at once, which will eventually have a capacity of 200,000 horse power, from the proceeds of the $1,000,000 bonds (V. 84, p. 511) which have been sold. Within less than three months, it is claimed, the company will begin furnishing electric light in the district that can be supplied from the 42d Street plant at about half the prices now charged.

It is also proposed to enter the telephone field. Negotiations are on foot with the Atlantic Telephone Co. (V. 81, p. 1851), which has for a long time been seeking an entrance into the city, and with the Home Telephone Co., having $50,000,000 authorized stock, which operates in Pennsylvania and the West, and is said to be especially strong at Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

Several minor utilities in which electricity is employed, such as furnishing power for manufacturing purposes and for operating electric cabs and motors will, it is stated, also be taken up by the Long Acre Co. or the Manhattan Transit Co. These will be cheapened so as to make them more available to the general public than before.

New President.—Edgar Van Etten has, it is announced, accepted the presidency, having resigned as Vice-President of the New York Central & Hudson River RR. in charge of the Boston & Albany.—V. 84, p. 511, 394.

Manhattan Transit Co.—Favorable Decision.—See Long Acre Electric Light & Power Co. above.—V. 84, p. 224.

Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co., Baltimore.—New Securities Authorized.—The shareholders at the meeting on April 29 duly approved the issue of the new securities, stock and bonds, called for by plan in V. 84, p. 752, 999.

Milwaukee Independent Telephone Co.—Change in Name.—On April 24 the Milwaukee Telephone Co. filed a certificate changing its name to the Milwaukee Independent Telephone Co. and increasing the number of directors from three to twenty-one. The Automatic Telephone Co., Milwaukee, on the same date filed a certificate decreasing its capital. Compare V. 83, p. 1415.

Montgomery (Ala.) Light & Power Co.—See Montgomery Light & Water Power Co. below.—V. 79, p. 2646.

Montgomery (Ala.) Light & Water Power Co.—Bonds Offered—Status.—Cramp, Mitchell & Shober, Philadelphia, and Eglinton, Hammond & Andrews, New York City, have recently been placing a block of this company's first consolidated gold 5% bonds at 85 and interest. Interest payable Jan. 1 and July 1 in New York City. The company was incorporated in New Jersey Nov. 20 1902 and acquired the property of the Montgomery Water Power Co., Montgomery Light Co. and Mutual Light & Power Co., comprising the Mont. Light & Power Co. (V. 79, p. 2646). Owns in fee gas, electric and water-power plants at Montgomery.

ABSTRACT OF LETTER FROM VICE-PRES. HENRY L. DOHERTY, DATED NEW YORK, MARCH 28 1907.

These bonds are dated Jan. 1 1903 and mature Jan. 1 1943. They may be paid off at any time upon proper notice at 105 and accrued interest.

Reserved to retire 1st M. Water Power bonds due July 1929 (V. 74, p. 1311)	$575,000
Reserved to retire Light & Power Co. bonds due Sept. 1 1947	300,000
Reserved to retire company's 6% notes due April 1908	230,000
Reserved for future requirements	1,145,000
Issued and outstanding	750,000

[Denomination of $2,950,000 of issue, $1,000e*; of $50,000, $100e*.—Ed.]

This company has full-paid (common) stock of $2,000,000 (par $100).

The mortgage securing the consolidated bonds is made to the Trust Co. of America, New York City, Trustee, and is secured on all property and franchises now owned or hereafter acquired, including the water-power generating station of approximately 4,000 K.W. capacity, located on the Tallapoosa River, the dam, reservoir, flood rights, transmission lines and private right-of-way 200 feet wide to the city, 30 miles distant; also an auxiliary steam generating plant in the city of 2,000 h.p. capacity; distributing station, gas plant, pole lines, conduits, &c. The entire city, except Highland Park, has been piped for gas. The extension would not require more than 1½ miles of mains. We now have in use 31.85 miles of mains. The gas business is remarkably undeveloped. Much educational work has been done, and pronounced increases in sales should be realized from this time on; the gross earnings from the gas department for year ending Feb. 28 1907 showed but 20.7% of the total.

An outlay of not to exceed $10,000 will increase the capacity of the water power plant by 900 K.W. For the majority of the year the flowage of the river would permit of a development of a great excess of power. The company has a good steam plant of 2,000 h.p. capacity as an auxiliary, but it has not been necessary to run this auxiliary plant more than about three hours per day during the low-water period of September and October. The increase to the power plant, the installation of a storage battery and other extensive improvements were completed about Aug. 1 1906 and the plant can now take on a large amount of additional business without much increase in the investment. These increases in earnings show that existing competition from a small steam electric plant located in the city is a factor of small present importance, which is rapidly becoming negligible. Many new power contracts have been taken and the motors ordered, and before summer a marked increase in gross earnings will result without any material increase in expenses. New business in sight amounts to about 3,000 K.W. The larger electrical contracts include that of the Montgomery Traction Co., running for 15 years from Feb. 1 1903, at 1½ cents per K.W.H., from which we have received in the past six months about $4,000 per month; also a contract with the city running to 1914, under which there are 400 arc lamps now in commission at $51 per lamp per annum, and 300 16 c.p. incandescent lights at 75 cents each per month. We also have contracts with cotton mills, railroad repair shops, &c. Our offices are located in a new and attractive building.

Operations for Year Ending Feb. 28 1907.

Net earnings after taxes	$158,974	Surplus	$58,173

Our electric franchise is unlimited in point of time and our gas franchise runs to 1954. Both franchises are satisfactory in every way. Montgomery is growing rapidly and well-informed residents now estimate the population at nearly 60,000. They maintain that the city will have a population of 100,000 in 1910. The company is in good standing with the people and, with the normal growth of the city, our net earnings should increase for the next three years at the rate of $24,000 per year. We expect even better results.—V. 84, p. 999, 871.

New York & South Brooklyn Ferry & Steam Transportation Co.—Deficiency Judgment.—This company's property having been sold to the city, the first and second mortgage bonds have been or are to be paid in full and the capital stock has been wiped out by a deficiency judgment of $90,000.—V. 83, p. 1174.

Nipe Bay Co.—Proposed Sale.—See United Fruit Co. below.—V. 84, p. 752.

Northern Coal & Coke Co. of Kentucky.—Sale of Senator Camden's Holdings.—C. W. Watson, the President of the Consolidation Coal Co. of Maryland, and associates, including Mr. Wheelwright, the Vice-President of the Consolidation Coal Co., have purchased the holdings of Senator J. N. Camden in the $2,500,000 stock of the Northern Coal & Coke Co., but neither the Consolidation Coal Co. nor the Fairmont Coal Co., it is stated authoritatively, have any interest in or connection with the purchase referred to.

Mr. Watson has succeeded Senator Camden as President and the board of directors has been changed to include Spriggs D. Camden of Parkersburg, W. Va., J. C. C. Mayo of Kentucky, George A. Band and R. A. Drayfuss of Chicago, John G. Williams of Duluth, R. R. Govin of H. B. Hollins & Co., New York, and C. W. Watson of Baltimore. Extensive development work is proposed. The friends of the Eastern Kentucky Coal Lands Corporation (V. 82, p. 631), it is understood, contend that the title of their corporation underlies that of the Northern Company on a considerable acreage. See V. 81, p. 1496.

Northwestern (Bell) Telephone Exchange.—Stock Ownership, etc.—See Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. below.—V. 83, p. 497.

Ohio & Indiana Consolidated Natural & Illuminating Gas Co.—Minority Protective Committee—Injunction.—The opposition to the Wallace reorganization plan (V. 84, p. 871) by minority bondholders of the constituent companies has resulted this week in the following action:

At a meeting of the minority security holders held on Tuesday representing, it is reported, about $1,000,000 of the $7,350,000 bonds of the constituent companies, it was decided to appoint a protective committee to be named by James Talcott, Chairman of the meeting. Fault is found with the amount of common stock ($2,250,000) which the plan allots to the stockholders of the parent company who subscribe to the bonds (about $400,000) that are to be sold for cash. Deposits of the bonds of the dissenting holders are being received by the Carnegie Trust Co. The Audit Co. of New York has been employed to inspect the books of the various companies, access to which, it is stated, has been denied.

Justice O'Gorman in the Supreme Court in this city on Wednesday heard argument on a motion to continue the temporary injunction granted on April 26 on application of Mr. Talcott, who holds a block of Logansport & Wabash Valley bonds and the affidavit of Herbert L. Satterlee, another bondholder, restraining the carrying out of the reorganization plan.—V. 84, p. 871.

Osceola Consolidated Mining Co.—Injunction.—Judge Knappen in the United States Circuit Court at Grand Rapids, Mich., has granted a temporary injunction in the suit brought by President A. S. Bigelow, restraining the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. from voting the stock recently acquired by it. The annual meeting has been adjourned from time to time on account of the litigation, the last adjournment being until May 6. The decision is based on a possible violation of the Federal anti-trust laws, the Court not expressing any opinion on the merits.—V. 84, p. 452.

Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.—New President, &c.—Secretary Frank G. Ryan has been elected President, succeeding the late Theodore D. Buhl. The other officers are now: Vice-President, David C. Whitney; Treasurer, George Hargreaves; Secretary and General Manager, Ernest G. Swift.

There was a report in Detroit last December that the directors would on Dec. 29 "declare an extra dividend of 9%, making 20% on the capital stock" from the earnings of the year. A Detroit authority, however, favored us with the following: "The extra dividend expected was not declared, and the regular dividend was continued. Reports showed large net profits; fund for old employees founded." Compare V. 82, p. 284.

Pennsylvania Furnace Co.—Dissolution.—The stockholders at a meeting held at Philadelphia on April 26 voted to dissolve the corporation and to distribute the cash held in the treasury, amounting to about $200,000, the result of a sale of the property. The "Philadelphia News Bureau" of April 27 says:

All the assets have been converted into cash, and as there are 19,000 shares, stockholders will derive a dividend in liquidation of about $10 per share after the payment of counsel fees and all expenses.—V. 80, p. 226.

Pennsylvania Steel Co.—Report.—The results for three years past compare as follows:

Constituent Operating Companies.

Cal. Year—	Net Earnings.	Other Income.	Fixed Charges.	Depreciation.	Bal., surplus for Div., &c.
1906	$5,462,983	$505,468	$821,843	$1,513,371	$3,633,237

1904	2,572,476	187,805	792,761	732,008	1,235,512

The dividends paid by the parent company (7% on its preferred stock) called for only $1,155,000 yearly, while its miscellaneous expenses were only $33,248 in 1906.—V. 84, p. 453, 163.

Pittsburgh (Pa.) Oil & Gas Co.—Earnings.—For the fiscal years ending March 31:

Fiscal Year	1906-07	1905-06
Gross earnings	$1,435,240	$1,208,905	Inc. $226,335
Expenses and interest	823,783	886,780	Dec. 62,997
Net	$611,457	$322,125	Inc. $289,332

The increase in investments for the year was $361,284, against $538,189 in 1905-06, and the decrease in indebtedness was $260,173, against an increase in 1905-06 of $461,292.—V. 84, p. 274.

Regal Shoe Co., Whitman, Mass.—Preferred Stock Offered.—Swartwout & Appenzellar, New York, are offering at par ($100 per share) $1,000,000 7% preferred stock, preferred both as to assets and liabilities; dividends payable quarterly, Jan. 1, &c. Total capitalization, all "full paid" $2,500,000 pref. stock and $2,500,000 common. Total sales in 1906 1,117,281 pairs of shoes. A circular says:

"The average net earnings per annum for 1904, 1905 and 1906 were $218,117. The results for the first quarter of 1907 indicate that net earnings this year will be over $350,000. These earnings will be largely increased next year, when the company has its additional manufacturing facilities."

The following information was furnished early in the year:

This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maine Jan. 18 and took over the assets and liabilities of Regal Shoe Co., Inc., incorporated under the laws of New York, Regal Shoe Co., incorporated under the laws of New York, and Regal Shoe Co. of Massachusetts.

For the purpose of increasing its working capital, enlarging its manufacturing facilities and operating new stores and agencies, the company hereby offers to the public $1,500,000 of its 7% preferred stock. This stock is not used to liquidate any indebtedness.

The corporation owns and operates at Whitman, Mass., a large and completely equipped factory devoted exclusively to the making of fine shoes; with box factory, shoe dressing laboratories, power, heat and light plant, and a chain of retail stores from London to San Francisco, all free and unencumbered; no mortgages, no bonds. Eleven additional acres of land were purchased on Feb. 9 1907 and new buildings will be located thereon. The floor area of the present plant is 159,095 square feet. The additions will give the factories a total floor area of 307,784 square feet, and will double the present manufacturing, warehouse and shipping capacity.

The charter and by-laws provide: "No mortgage or other lien shall be placed upon any of the property of the company without the consent of holders of a majority in interest of the preferred stock of the company."

The Regal Shoe Co. was started in September 1893. The original investment of $1,500 has grown into a business, the tangible assets and goodwill of which are worth more than $5,000,000. In New York City, where retail shoe competition is keenest, $32,000 worth of Regal shoes have been sold to individual purchasers in one day for cash. In San Francisco one Regal shoe store sells $250,000 worth each year. On Dec. 31 1906 we had on file 7,369 applications for agencies from merchants in all parts of the country, and up to the present time, on account of manufacturing limitations, only forty could be accepted. The few exclusive agencies we have been able to supply show an increase in volume of business for the year 1906 over 1905 of 129%. The Regal business has shown an annual average increase of 49½% each year of its existence, selling only through its own exclusive stores and a few established agencies. And yet, to-day, with our 122 stores and agencies, located in 84 of the largest cities of the United States, we are reaching only one-fifth of the population of the United States.

The principle of the company has always been to sell its product from maker to purchaser direct on the basis that it is better to make five sales at an average profit of 7% on each than one sale at 25%. We have turned some stocks twelve times a year. See "World's Work," November issue, 1902; "System," September and October issues, 1905; "National Magazine," November issue, 1903, and "McClure's Magazine," April issue, 1897.

The men who have made this business successful will remain in the active management of it. This is assured because they hold all the common stock. "They are not selling out." The officers are: President, Leonard C. Bliss; Secretary, Charles H. Cross; Treasurer and Managing Director, Elmer J. Bliss. Executive offices, 109 Summer St., Boston.

Sedalia (Mo.) Water & Light Co.—Reorganization Notice.—The committee, consisting of Herbert C. Warren, Charles F. Street and H. M. Knapp, with Victor Cumberson, Secretary, 44 Wall St., New York City, gives notice:

The property formerly covered by the first mortgage bonds has been purchased by the undersigned as a committee representing a large majority of the bonds. If you desire to participate in the reorganization, it will be necessary for you to deposit your bonds with the Knickerbocker Trust Co., 66 Broadway. No bonds will be received after May 15 1907.—V. 83, p. 1596.

Southern States Land Co.—Called Bonds.—Eleven first mortgage bonds were payable on May 1 at $512 50 per bond, with accrued interest, at Knickerbocker Trust Co., New York.—V. 83, p. 1040.

Southwestern (Bell) Telegraph & Telephone Co.—Stock Ownership, etc.—See Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. below.—V. 82, p. 632.

Susquehanna Iron & Steel Co.—Sale May 31.—The court at Lancaster, Pa., on April 27 authorized the receivers to sell the property at auction on May 31 at Columbia, Pa., the upset price to be $400,000 in excess of the $300,000 first mortgage 5-year 6s authorized in Nov. 1901 (V. 73, p. 1064).

A reorganization plan was submitted last October (V. 83, p. 895), but fell through for lack of financial backing. In Jan. 1907 a stockholders' committee was formed, with James G. Lindsay of Philadelphia as Chairman, and presented a plan that provides for leaving the capital stock unchanged at $1,500,000 and calls for the sale of $750,000 new 6% bonds to retire the $270,000 existing bonds and $210,000 other indebtedness and to afford about $270,000 for working capital. The stockholders are understood to have subscribed about $400,000 of these bonds, and Mr. Lindsay expresses the hope that by the time of the sale the committee may be in a position to bid in the property. The other members of the committee are: James A. Longstreet, Philadelphia; George M. Davis, Lansford, Pa.; and Henry Clay, Philadelphia; Walter P. Shipley, Horace Keesey, J. W. Stacey, Archibald James and Alfred C. Bruner.—V. 83, p. 1596.

Syracuse (N. Y.) Light & Power Co.—Stock Deposited.—Over 90% of the stock of the Syracuse Lighting Co., it is stated, has been deposited with the Colonial Trust Co. of New York under the recent offer, including, it is said, nearly the entire amount of common stock and about 90% of the preferred. Further deposits, it is understood, will be received for the present.—V. 84, p. 936.

Tennessee Coal, Iron & RR.—Proprietary Syndicate.—The following is understood to be authoritative:

Exception is taken to the intimations that the intention of John W. and Charles G. Gates to retire from active business will disorganize the so-called pool in the stock. It is contended that there is really no pool in the usual acceptation of the term in Wall Street. The control rests with what might with more propriety be designated as a proprietary syndicate, of which the elder Gates is a member, his stock, like that of all the other members, being paid for. When the syndicate, which is composed of a number of very rich men, was in process of formation, Charles G. Gates asked for a participation on account of his father, who was then in Texas, and requested that time should be given for consideration of details. The outcome was that the former head of the American Steel & Wire became one of the proprietors of the Tennessee company. Gates & Co. never had charge of the syndicate arrangements and the stock was never in charge of the firm. Such of it as was not kept in the strong boxes of holders friendly to the syndicate was placed with a house on the other side of Broadway, where it remains to-day, and is likely to remain until the plans for which it was accumulated are carried out. John W. Gates has expressed no desire to be relieved of his participation in the syndicate, and if he did, it is asserted, some of the other members would be both able and willing to negotiate with him for his holdings.—V. 84, p. 993, 275.

Union Oil Co. of California.—Dividend Increase.—A monthly dividend of $1 per share, payable May 20, has been declared, contrasting with 75 cents previously paid. The dividends on the Union Provident and United Petroleum stocks are now $1 and $1 84 a month, respectively. Compare V. 84, p. 1000.

United Copper Co.—Date for Opening of Transfer Books.—We have received the following from the company's office:

Our letter of April 24 1907 advised you that the preferred stock transfer books would re-open at 10 a. m. on May 16 1907. This is an error, and you will kindly note that the preferred stock books will re-open at 10 a. m. May 15 1907.—V. 84, p. 1001, 756.

United Fruit Co.—Proposition to Purchase Nipe Bay Co.—President A. W. Preston has issued a circular calling a meeting of the stockholders for May 29 to vote on a proposition to purchase $3,500,000 of the $3,502,500 common stock of the Nipe Bay Co. (compare V. 84, p. 752; V. 82, p. 1382). The circular, dated April 27, says in substance:

It has seemed to the management, in view of the proximity of the Nipe Bay Co.'s plantation and the practical identity of the conditions under which sugar can be produced by the two properties, that it would be an advantage to the United Fruit Co. to secure the control of the property of the Nipe Bay Co. Under the plan proposed the two properties taken together are expected to yield a sugar production of 160,000,000 pounds for the year commencing Jan. 1 1908, and as a result of further expenditures on the Nipe property, not to exceed $2,000,000 in amount, a production for the year 1909 of 250,000,000 pounds of sugar, which it is believed will afford the United Fruit Co. a very profitable source of income. The funds for the additional expenditure are to be raised by $2,000,000 Nipe debentures.

The Nipe Bay Co. has sold $2,750,000 6% 3-year mortgage notes, and it is proposed that these shall remain outstanding. For the purpose of reimbursing the Nipe Co. for money expended on construction not represented by the proceeds of these mortgage notes or of its issues of stock, the Nipe Bay Co. proposes to authorize the issue of $1,600,000 6% 10-year debentures, subject to call at any time after three years on 60 days' notice at 103 and accrued interest, and to deliver these debentures to the United Fruit Co., in consideration whereof the latter company agrees to reimburse the Nipe Co. for the sum thus expended on its property, not exceeding $1,500,000.

The $3,500,000 common stock of the Nipe Co. is to be acquired by offering to the holders 45% in Nipe debentures. The $1,575,000 Nipe debentures thus to be delivered to the Nipe common stockholders by the United Fruit Co. are part of this $1,600,000 6% 10-year debentures. [The additional $2,000,000 of these debentures, making the $3,600,000 referred to in the next paragraph, will, we are informed, be reserved for furure issue to provide for additional construction requirements.—Ed.]

When this transaction has been completed the United Fruit Co. will own all the common stock of the Nipe Bay Co. and $25,000 Nipe debentures. The outstanding securities of the Nipe Bay Co. will then consist of $2,750,000 6% mortgage notes (V. 82, p. 1382), $3,600,000 6% 10-year debentures and $2,000,000 in preferred stock, entitled to a preference in liquidation over the common stock, but having no voting power, and entitled to 7% non-cumulative dividends until 5% dividends are paid on the common stock, when it is entitled to share pro rata with the common stock up to not exceeding a total of 10% dividends on the preferred stock. The securities to be issued by the United Fruit Co. for the purchase will consist of $1,600,000 5% serial debentures payable in annual installments during the years 1909 to 1918 inclusive, and it will have in its treasury $3,500,000 of the common stock of the Nipe Bay Co.

The property of the Nipe Bay Co. comprises a tract of approximately 130,000 acres of land adjoining the shore of Nipe Bay, Cuba. About 90,000 acres of the land are suitable for cane cultivation, 12,000 have been planted and are now producing cane and 10,000 acres additional have been cleared and are in various stages of cultivation. Thirty miles of standard-gauge railway, laid with 60-lb. steel, traverse the property, and a modern sugar factory, capable of treating 3,500 tons a day, has been in operation since Jan. 19 1907, and has produced thus far this season 72,000 bags of sugar of 320 lbs. each, which is slightly in excess of the quantity produced at the United Fruit Co.'s mill at Banes for the corresponding period of last year.

The Nipe Bay Co. has already expended approximately $6,000,000 (not counting the cost of 130,000 acres of land above referred to) for the mill, wharf, buildings, cane planting, railway, rolling stock and other equipment and improvements on the property.

It is estimated that the sugar output of the Nipe property upon the completion of the mill as above stated, and beginning with January 1909, will be at the rate of 160,000,000 lbs. of sugar per annum, from which it is calculated that an average profit of at least $1,200,000 will be derived. This sum will be sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges on the outstanding obligations of the Nipe Co. and the full 10% dividend on its outstanding preferred stock, and leave a balance of $439,000, which will suffice to pay the interest on the United Fruit Co. debentures issued on account of the purchase, and retire the principal amount of these debentures, so that at the end of 11 years the United Fruit Co. will have acquired the property of the Nipe Bay Co. without cost to the Fruit Co. and subject only to the sums represented by the present mortgage indebtedness of $2,750,000 and the $2,000,000 of preferred stock.

[Lee, Higginson & Co., under date of Boston, April 30, have written a letter stating quite fully their reasons for favoring the aforesaid proposition; this letter has been printed for distribution.]—V. 84, p. 755, 630.

United Gas Improvement Co. of Philadelphia.—Results in Philadelphia.—See Equitable Illuminating Gas Light of Philadelphia above.—V. 84, p. 936, 395.

United States Express Co.—Official Circular—No Surplus Available for Distribution—Increase in Dividends Inadvisable.—President Thomas C. Platt has issued a circular letter to the stockholders in which he states that the company is not in a position to make any distribution of surplus or increase in the dividend rate as suggested in the circular letter of April 17 1907, signed by A. L. Banister and Samuel S. Hatt. The circular says in part:

To correct any erroneous impression, the present management makes the following statement: The real estate and other assets of the company do not together amount to more than its nominal shares, $10,000,000; the company has no surplus over this amount available for distribution. The following reasons have deterred directors from increasing dividends.

The company is not a corporation, but a voluntary association in which every shareholder is personally liable for the company's obligations. It has been the aim of the directors to accumulate a fund sufficient to protect stockholders against personal liability. The directors have been led to this conclusion especially by the obligations assumed in contracts with railroad corporations which require the company to pay the railroads a certain guar anteed percentage of gross express earnings. These railroad guaranties now outstanding under contract amount to more than $25,000,000.

The risk involved in carrying millions of money, especially under contract with the Government, makes it desirable to have a large surplus fund.

The increased payments to railroads, higher labor costs and advance in prices of supplies have kept net earnings down to 5% of the present gross receipts. In 1906 the company paid the railroads $1,661,000 more than in 1904, and it paid for labor in 1906 $860,000 more than in 1904, while the increase in earnings over 1906 was but $1,552,000.

Hostile legislation has decreased and must continue to decrease the company's receipts by affecting rates. In 12 of the 26 States in which it does business, laws have been passed in the last three months enlarging the powers of the railroad commissions. One State arbitrarily reduced all express rates 25% after Jan. 1 1907. A reduction in State rates generally means a reduction in inter-State rates. Over 200 bills adverse to express companies have been introduced in legislatures in the last three months. In the last two years 10 States have by statute increased express company taxes.—V. 83, p. 163, 277.

United States Leather Co.—Injunction Continued.—Vice-Chancellor Emery on April 29 handed down a decision in the suit of James B. Colgate and other holders of the preferred stock granting the application for a continuance of the injunction preventing the merger with the Central Leather Co. pending the trial of the action. The meeting of the stockholders of the United States Leather Co. to approve the consolidation has been adjourned from time to time because of the injunction. Compare V. 84, p. 161, 105. The Court says:

The consolidation, as it now seems to me, works a dissolution—otherwise than by "liquidation"—and is therefore a contingency not contemplated by the terms of the express contract of preference evidenced by the amended organization and stock certificates, which contemplated only a payment in cash "on liquidation." A general rule sometimes applied in determining the relative rights of shareholders to the assets in cases not covered by the articles of certificates is the one applied in commercial partnership, viz.: that the rights of all shareholders, whether preferred or common, in the assets are proportionate to the amount of capital paid in on each. And if this rule be applied, then before it can be determined how far the agreement unfairly or inequitably interferes with the rights of the preferred stockholder, by discrimination in favor of the common stockholder, this relative amount paid in by each class must be ascertained. If the common stock was based on good-will, and the preferred stock, as required by the statute at the time of its issue, was based on the value of the property conveyed, it may be fairly determined that nothing was paid in on the common stock, and in that event the preferred stockholders in a division on the basis of capital paid in may be entitled to more than the amount now assigned to them.—V. 84, p. 505, 107.

United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Co., Boston—New Director.—John W. Weeks of Hornblower & Weeks has been elected a director to succeed the late E. C. Swift.

Reduction of Dividends by Subsidiary.—The United States Metals Refining Co., one of the subsidary companies, has reduced its dividend from 12% to 6%. The "Boston News Bureau" says:

This company, as the successor to the De Lamar Refining Co., controls a refinery of a capacity of 144,000,000 lbs. per annum at Chrome, N. J. It is a highly prosperous company, capitalized for $4,000,000, with $3,100,000 outstanding, of which the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Co. owns two-thirds and New York affiliated interests the balance. It has been paying 12% dividends per annum, but as the money could be used to better advantage in the treasury of the subsidiary company than in the treasury of the parent company, the dividend has been reduced from 12% to 6%.—V. 84, p. 107.

United States Sugar & Land Co., Colorado Springs, Colo.—New Stock.—At the annual meeting on Apr. 9 the shareholders voted to increase the authorized issue of capital stock from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000, divided equally into common and 7% cumulative preferred stock. Compare V. 83, p. 384. Chairman J. D. Hawkins under date of Colorado Springs, April 26, writes:

After this increase the amount available for company purposes was $1,885,000, par value of preferred stock and an equal amount of common stock. This preferred stock has been offered to all shareholders of record on May 1 at $95 per share, with a bonus of 50% common stock. The company will utilize the funds thus received for enlarging its sugar factory, placing improvements upon its land and for working capital. The directors are as follows: J. D. Hawkins, Chairman of Executive Committee; C. M. MacNeill, President; R. P. Davie, Vice-President; O. H. Shoup, Secretary; C. M. MacNeill, J. R. McKinnie, Spencer Penrose, C. C. Hamlin. The Treasurer and General Manager is F. A. Gillespie.—V. 83, p. 384.

Vulcan Detinning Co.—Report.—The report for the year ending March 31 1907 shows a surplus—after deducting depreciation and betterments also dividends of 5½% ($77,500) on the preferred stock—amounting to $20,366. This compares with a surplus of $35,479 in the preceding year, when dividends of 7% ($105,000) were paid. The total surplus on March 31 1907 was $373,793, against $353,427 on March 31 1906.—V. 83, p. 1234.

These notes are secured by $12,000,000 Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. collateral trust 5% bonds due 1937, deposited with the Old Colony Trust Co., Boston, trustees. A circular says in substance:

The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. owns about 76% of the preferred stock and 57% of the common stock of the Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. and in addition owns directly about the following amounts of capital stock of the operating companies. Compare V. 82, p. 699.

16¾% of Wisconsin Telephone Co.	18% of Northwestern Telephone Exchange Co.

The income of the Western Telephone & Telegraph Co. for the year ending Jan. 31 1907 was $1,821,754; interest on the funded debt and taxes, $505,000, leaving balance applicable to interest on notes and dividends on stocks $1,316,754.—Compare V. 84, p. 630.

The collateral trust issue of 1902 also covers $1,065,000 of the $2,000,000 stock of the Postal Telegraph & Cable Co. of Texas and over $9,300,000 of the $10,000,000 bonds of the old Erie Telegraph & Telephone Co., an additional amount thereof being in the sinking fund, leaving only $134,500 in the hands of the public.—V. 84, p. 630.

Estabrook & Co. have agreed in writing that their original offer of $155 15 per share will stand, with the pro rata share of each stockholder in the company's losses deducted therefrom, such deduction to be arrived at by a joint audit of the books.—V. 84 p. 512.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has shown greater activity during the week at rising prices. The advance was mainly due to unfavorable weather at the South, particularly the low temperatures in the Southwest, reports that a good deal of replanting will have to be done on both sides of the Mississippi River, and finally agressive manipulation at the expense of the shorts in near months not only here but also in New Orleans and Liverpool. There has been rather more interest shown in the speculation by the outside public and on some days the business done by commission houses was the largest for a long period. Liverpool and New Orleans houses have bought here freely and so have houses in Wall Street and others with Western and Southern connections. It is said, too, that the bull party here includes some pretty well known figures in the financial district, a rumor which, whether true or not, has not been without its influence as seeming to some at least to explain the resisting power of the market at times of late when the speculation has lagged. In any case bulls have been noticeably more aggressive of late, favored as they have been by persistent reports of a backward season, especially in Texas and elsewhere in the Southwest, the necessity of replanting which may further retard the season, the activity and firmness in Liverpool and the even greater strength shown by the market in New Orleans, where on Wednesday the July option advanced 44 points. There is an impression that a considerable short interest exists in Liverpool in the May-June delivery and in July at New York and New Orleans, though the heavy covering during the week makes it clear enough that this interest is not so large as it was recently. Little or no attention is now paid to the May option, which was recently the centre of attraction. July is the great feature and it is worthy of remark that although recently it was at a discount of about 40 points under October, it sold even with that month on Thursday, a fact which of itself bears rather striking testimony to the urgency of the demand. Moreover, the spot markets have been firm, though Liverpool's spot sales, after prolonged activity, have fallen off. The exports have been large, while the receipts at the ports have been comparatively small and trade reports have, in the main, been favorable. To-day there was a decline owing to liquidation of July supposedly for leading bulls, and a certain feeling of nervousness growing out of the injunction proceedings instituted against the Exchange by Mr. Theodore H. Price, who alleges certain irregularities in the matter of classification, etc. The next-crop options were the least depressed as the weather and crop reports were more or less unfavorable. Cotton on the spot has been officially reported quiet. Middling closed at 11.55c., showing an advance for the week of 25 points.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—Classification Suit.—Papers were served yesterday in an injunction suit brought by Mr. Theodore H. Price against the New York Cotton Exchange and the members of the Classification Committee of the Exchange. The complaint contained numerous allegations tending to show that cotton has been improperly classed by the Classification Committee. A temporary injunction was granted by Justice Bischoff of the Supreme Court which enjoined the New York Cotton Exchange, its officers, agents and employees, and the Classification Committee, from classifying or certifying certain descriptions of cotton.

The effect of this injunction would have been to force those desiring to secure cotton to obtain it from the holders of the cotton already classified; but at midnight the counsel of the Cotton Exchange secured from Justice Bischoff a modification of his order so that the injunction does not go into effect unless after a hearinga permanent injunction is granted.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday Night, May 3, 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have been firm and in some instances higher. At the mills most grades have been advanced owing to the rise in wheat and the reports of crop damage. In the local market advances, as heretofore, have been largely nominal, trading having continued on a very restricted scale and being mostly of a jobbing character. Buyers and sellers are further apart than ever. Export trade has remained dull. Stocks have fallen to a low stage, the total figures being 41,200 packages against 76,900 a month ago and 103,400 at this time last year. Corn meal has been quiet but firmer. Rye flour has been dull and steady.

Wheat speculation has broadened out into something like its old-time activity, attended at times with no little excitement and quite a pronounced advance. The rise has been predicted for the most part on bad crop and weather reports, particularly from the Southwest. Bugs, cold weather and drought have been the chief complaints there. Insects have continued their ravages, the temperatures have been unseasonably low with frequent frosts, and although some rain has fallen over a quite a large area of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, as well as Texas, the precipitation is said to have been insufficient in such important States as Kansas and Nebraska. Moreover, the weather has been very cold and backward at the Northwest, both in the American States and Canada, and seeding has thereby been considerably delayed. The export demand has greatly increased, and, with rapidly rising English and Continental markets has been no unimportant source of strength during the week. The outside public seem to be taking more interest in the speculation both here and at Chicago, and large operators have to all appearance assumed the agressive on the bull side. There has been some talk, too, of cold, unseasonable weather in Russia delaying seeding. Official British reports confirm recent advices of damage in the Punjab. The weather has been too cold for favorable growth in England, France and Italy, and though the outlook in those countries is nevertheless in the main favorable, supplies are smaller. In Germany, the weather has been so cold and unseasonable as to check growth and supplies are small and prices strong. Heavy floods are reported in Hungary and 25% of the winter wheat in Roumania has, it is stated, been winter killed. Even in European and Asiatic Turkey the outlook, according to Liverpool reports, is unfavorable. In a word, it so happens that over a considerable portion of the globe the wheat crop prospects seem to be, for the time being at least, somewhat dubious, and the fact is not unnaturally reflected in rising prices in the world's markets. To-day prices advanced early on cold weather and active buying, but later declined on heavy liquidation, more favorable crop reports and predictions of warmer weather.

Indian corn futures advanced early in the week owing to sympathy with the rise in wheat, commission house buying and covering of shorts. The weather was too cold for planting, and the receipts continued light, and no increase in the movement is expected for some weeks. Supplies of contract grade at Chicago are still relatively small, and this fact continues to act at a deterrent on short sales. The cash market has been firm with a moderate demand, partly for export. On the rise, however, heavy liquidations occurred in futures and prices reacted. Reports indicate that a good deal of plowing for the new crop has been done. To-day prices advanced early on cold weather and covering, but reacted later on liquidation and a setback in wheat.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have advanced sharply. New high records have been established. The speculation has been active and excited. Leading bulls have acted aggressively against the short interest and there has been heavy covering. The unfavorable weather and crop reports have had not a little effect. The cash market has been strong with a good shipping demand at the West. Deliveries on May contracts at Chicago on May 1 were promptly stopped, and freight room has been engaged by the bull party for the purpose of shipping oats received on deliveries. The receipts have been light. To-day prices were irregular, May was weak on liquidation, while new-crop months were firmer on unfavorable crop reports.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Division of the United States Weather Bureau, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the weather in the various States for the week ending April 29, summarizing them as follows:

Throughout the week ending April 29 1907 the weather was abnormally cold and unfavorable in all districts between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi River and also in the upper Lake region. Over most of the area east of the Mississippi the fore part of the week was also cold and unfavorable, but the latter part was mild and favorable. The Pacific Coast States experienced a week of mild, dry weather, which was generally beneficial. The line of freezing temperature was much farther north than in the preceding week in the Rocky Mountain and Atlantic Coast districts, but only slightly farther north in the central valleys. Light to killing frosts occurred in northern and western Texas and light frosts in the northern portions of the central Gulf States. Very heavy rains occurred on the central Gulf Coast. A large part of the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys needing moisture has received plentiful rainfall for present needs. Severe local storms occurred in portions of the Middle and South Atlantic and west Gulf States. Snow fell in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, in depths ranging from 1 inch to 12 inches, and there was considerable snow on the ground in the upper Michigan Peninsula at the close of the week.

The statement of the movement of breadstuffs to market as indicated below are prepared by us from figures collected by the New York Produce Exchange. The receipts at Western lake and river ports for the week ending last Saturday and since Aug. 1 for each of the last three years, have been:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, May 3 1907.

Results for the month of April show that business at first hand has been of moderate extent in volume, but that, with few exceptions, prices have either been fully maintained in the cotton goods division or advanced. The exception to this is found, as noted in previous reports, in heavy brown goods in the export grades, in the cotton yarn division and in distant deliveries of print cloth yarn gray goods. Jobbers quite generally report a material increase in their turn-over, both in quantity and in value, compared with April a year ago, and that in spite of the fact that during nearly the whole of the month the weather has been unfavorable to seasonable trading. Retailers have probably felt the weather influence, but the full effect of this may not be seen until the present month develops. Business this week has, as a rule, been of quite moderate dimensions in a regular way at both first and second hands, but the general tone continues strong, with ready supplies quite as difficult to secure in most directions as heretofore. The woolen goods division has shown no change of any moment in any department and, on the whole, continues quiet. A large auction sale of carpet rugs was a feature this week, and although competition was considerable, the prices realized averaged low. This week there have been some complaints of collections not being quite up to the mark, but there is nothing in this connection of a nature to cause any anxiety, and, considering lately prevailing financial conditions, the dry goods trade as a whole has met its obligations in quite satisfactory shape.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 27 were 1,534 packages, valued at $122,407, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

New York to April 27.	1907—Week.	1907—Since Jan. 1.	1906—Week.	1906—Since Jan. 1.

Other countries	370	13,035	579	5,190

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $4,837,193 in 1907, against $6,219,133 in 1906.

COTTON GOODS.—The chief feature in this division during the past week has been an advance of generally ½c. in shirting prints to the basis of 6c. for the standard American shirtings. Regular print cloths are also being marked up 1-16 to 4 9-16c., but this advance so far is more or less nominal, no actual business being done thereat. At the same time, manufacturers will not consider orders for delivery for next month and later on any lower basis, and for the most distant deliveries are asking 4⅝c. There has been a fair demand for odd goods for near deliveries on fully print cloth basis. The tendency in converted goods generally is upwards and kid-finished cambrics are occasionally 1-16 to ⅛c. higher. The market for heavy brown cottons continues irregular and still easy for the export grades. Light-weight sheetings and drills, however, are firm. All descriptions of coarse, colored cottons continue strongly held. Bleached muslins are, as before, selling at value and a fair number of orders have been booked on that basis. Ginghams in all grades are strong but without quotable change in price. Cotton knit goods are in limited supply for prompt delivery and manufacturers are asking advanced prices for the new season's business.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The orders coming to hand this week have not maintained the improvement indicated by last week's moderate increase. It is evident that the weather is telling against retail distribution of spring garments, whilst it is too late to help the sale of heavy-weights. Both in the local market and those visited by salesmen on the road the re-ordering of men's wear fabrics has been indifferent and the aggregate results unsatisfactory in most directions. At the same time, stocks in first hands are not such as to cause any particular anxiety, manufacturers having, the majority of them, regulated their production with judgment. The condition of the heavy-weight division naturally is telling upon the disposition of manufacturers with regard to the new light-weight season and the openings in this are slow. So far as can be seen, prices are likely to be maintained, although an occasional line of serges is available somewhat below last year's quotation. The overcoatings business is of restricted extent and without other special features. Woolen and worsted dress goods have been in quite steady request, with occasional instances of sellers whose business up to date has not met their expectations submitting to rather low prices. The new season in carpets will be opened next week, and, in view of this week's auction sale of rugs, this is awaited with considerable interest.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Orders for imported woolen and worsted dress goods have presented no particular feature this week, and men's wear fabrics have been quiet throughout. A moderate business has been done in silks and ribbons at generally full prices. It is difficult to secure linens for immediate delivery, but considerable orders are being placed in both household and dress linens for next season. Considerable supplies of burlaps arriving have been quickly distributed at full prices and the market remains very firm here and relatively lower than abroad.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The political outlook, at least so far as the Republican Party is concerned, has the current week, according to present appearances, passed out of its foggy surroundings into a much clearer atmosphere. The most important announcement along these lines is that Senator Foraker and his Ohio followers have announced themselves as in favor of Mr. Taft; that the Republican leaders of Ohio would be called together at Columbus May 15, and that they expected a unanimous declaration on that occasion in favor of Mr. Taft as the party's choice in that State for the Presidential nomination.

This looks as if it substantially settled the question as to who will be the candidate named at the general national convention of the party. There was no one in the country except Senator Foraker who could have put up a formidable opposition to Mr. Taft; with Mr. Foraker's withdrawal the way seems to be clear for the choice of Mr. Taft as the candidate, and presumably clear as to his election. He is a man whom every one respects, and no opposition can be made to him except on the ground that he is the heir to the place appointed by the present ruling President and his designated representative of the policies he will have been foremost in advancing during nearly eight years when his present term expires. This action has a hopeful aspect, as it scatters some hitherto disturbing doubts. There can be no question hereafter as to an impending third term; that danger is wholly removed. What is also highly important is that Mr. Taft is an extremely able, many-sided man of sound judgment. He is not controlled by pride of opinion, petty prejudices nor by a hysterical temperament. If time should prove that any of the recently enacted laws are working industrial mischief, he will not hesitate to urge remedial legislation, notwithstanding he wears Mr. Roosevelt's mantle.

Another incident, which ostensibly is expected to help the same tendency of the Republican Party towards consolidation, has been the practical withdrawal of the Senatorial opposition in the New York State Senate to Governor Hughes's Public Utilities bill. The exact shape this issue has now taken cannot be fully understood or the effect of the change be reckoned with until the Utilities measure is passed and signed; up to that time we can hardly know what we are discussing. There has been a large opposition within the Republican Party in the Senate to leading features of the proposed measure, and on questions of vital importance, involving principles of great moment, principles which we cannot believe have been or can be shaken off in a night. The public, as we have said, will have to wait until the measure has been passed, and until its purport is known before a correct judgment can be reached. If the bill when enacted accords with the desires of the Governor as heretofore expressed, we shall be greatly disappointed in the utter surrender of the Senatorial opposition; it evidently was based on sound principle and should not have been abandoned.

Absolute efficiency can only be attained when all power is lodged in one man. The nearer a corporation or a government gets to that position, the more nearly it comes to reaching a state of relief from many sorts of friction met with in the operation of a statute. That is by no means saying that the one-man power is desirable. Such a situation would be in keeping with Russian ways, but is by no means as a rule compatible with our own institutions. The old town meeting is what political arrangements in the United States grew out of, and though not perhaps suitable as an exact sample to copy for present use, it is a kind of arrangement that does not breed autocracy. Governor Hughes consequently must not be surprised if conservative circles are earnestly opposed to having his Utilities bill so worded as to give him absolute power to appoint and remove commissioners. No doubt it would be easier for the Governor to execute the measure if it were in the form he wishes; and as Mr. Hughes is honest, and will be guided only by good motives, so far as his judgment is faultless, no one questions the intent. On the other hand, it should be kept in mind that equally good motives and not captious opposition has been moving those who desire to have the appointment and removal power limited to the Senate's approval. We cannot forget that long usage in such cases is the safer precedent to follow. Much the same sort of reasoning leads to the conclusion with reference to the court-review provision of the same bill. Nor are these all the objectionable provisions in his bill.

A favorable development of the week in textile circles has been the wage adjustment agreement entered into between the representatives of the operatives and the Manufacturers' Association at Fall River. It marks quite a distinct departure from the methods employed in adjusting wage differences between mill owners and employees in recent years. Strikes, or threats of strikes, lock-outs, long periods of idleness and ultimate considerable loss to the wage-earners have been the usual accompaniment of most struggles for more pay. But now we have the adoption of a scale, acceptable alike to stockholder and workman, without any particular antecedent friction. The new agreement, which goes into effect May 27th, and is binding upon both parties for a period of six months, practically assures an advance of 10% in wages to the cotton mill operatives in Fall River. Under it an adjustment is to be made each half-year, the last Monday in May and November respectively, the basis of which is to be the average margin between cotton and cloth the preceding six months.

The prosperous condition of affairs in the cotton-manufacturing industry of Fall River, and the willingness of mill owners to have their employees share in the present prosperity, made the reaching of the agreement a comparatively easy matter. Not only have the operations of the mills shown excellent financial results for some little time past, but the outlook for the future is considered bright. The quarterly distributions to stockholders in the form of dividends have been very satisfactory for many recent periods, and particularly so in 1907, the average rate for the first quarter having been 2½% and for the second quarter about 2¼%, or 4.70% for the half-year. For the corresponding half-year of 1906 shareholders received on the average only 3.26% and in 1905 but a little over 1% (1.15%). In fact, not since 1900, when the six months' dividend payments reached 4.44%, has there been such a favorable showing. It is also worthy of mention that all reports agree in stating that the mills generally have made earnings substantially in excess of dividends.

The financial surroundings have been of interest the current week. On Monday there were somewhat confident expectations that gold would soon be shipped hence to Paris as an arbitration operation. Such expectations were based upon the low rate of 25 francs 14½ centimes for exchange at Paris on London, upon the advance in short sterling at New York on the British capital to 4 8655 and also upon the rise in the price of gold bars in the London bullion market to 77 shillings 9¾ pence per ounce, the latter indicating active competition between the Banks of England and of France, as was the case in the previous week, for the metal from South Africa which was offered in the market on that day. Though computations showed that there would be no profit to American shippers in exporting gold to Paris, even if the factors above noted should remain unchanged, it was regarded as probable that if the requirements of the Bank of France or of French bankers for gold were sufficiently urgent, inducements might be offered to American bankers—in the form of an allowance of interest on the metal while it was in transit—which would so far eliminate the time-cost of the operation as to enable a cable transfer on London to be drawn for the reimbursement of the exporters.

On Tuesday there was an unexpected reversal in exchange conditions which deranged all calculations of possible exports of gold, at least at present. Exchange at Paris on London advanced 1½ centimes and sight sterling and cables at New York on the British capital became weak, and on the following day much lower rates for these classes of sterling were recorded. One reason for the decline in our exchange market was the offering of bills against a matured installment of corporation notes which had been negotiated in Paris some weeks ago. It was suggested that the rise in exchange at the French capital on London was due to the transfer to the latter centre of the credit resulting from the above-mentioned note negotiation; this suggestion seems to be reasonable, for by Wednesday exchange at Paris on London declined ½ centime.

The abrupt changes in the factors of exchange at New York and at Paris on London which have occurred this week seem to show a need for caution on the part of any bankers who may be inclined to undertake gold exports as an arbitration operation. Unless they can have the assurance of the elimination of the time-cost, either through the allowance of interest on the gold or otherwise, exports of the metal as an arbitration operation will be hazardous. A movement of the metal hence to Paris appears to depend upon the urgency of the Bank o rance's requirements. If these can be satisfied a he or inary way—that is to say, through regular exch ng transactions—the Bank may be disposed to pay moderate premium on the gold it seeks to procure at London, without offering inducements to American bankers to forward the metal from New York. Should, however, the price of gold be much further advanced at the British capital before the French demand shall have been satisfied, it may be a question of cost whether to draw the gold from London or to attract it from New York. It has so happened, however, that instead of a further advance in gold, the price dropped yesterday (Friday) ¼ of a penny, indicating less resistance to the efforts of the Bank of France to the procurement of the metal that will be offered on Monday instead of greater resistance.

Other than the foregoing and an increased sensitiveness in money, nothing of a financial nature had any special influence on the movement of Wall Street affairs until Thursday. Then the early market, which had been almost stagnant, became notable for declines in the Metropolitan Company and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, &c., said to be due to a belief that the Public Utilities bill in its present shape would affect harmfully these and other local properties. It was not till between 2 and 3 o'clock of that day that the details were made public of the stock and bonds to be issued by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, the particulars with regard to which will be found in our "Investment and Railroad Intelligence" department. The character of these announcements differed materially from what had been anticipated by investors and dealers, and were followed by a severe decline in Union Pacific and Southern Pacific securities. Up to that time the security market had been very quiet, much like the previous week. Indeed, operators at the Exchange, as a result of the persistent absence of any outside demand for stocks, had turned their attention to taking chances in the breadstuffs and cotton markets. This was quite natural. With literally nothing doing in stocks, and no signs of a better situation in the near future in that direction, at a moment, too, when no little doubt attends the outcome of crops in both the United States and Europe, the field for the operator, buying and selling commodities, was certainly more inviting where activity prevailed than struggling with the prolonged dulness of the security market.

The report on the condition of the winter-grain crops May 1, issued by the Agricultrual Department yesterday, indicates, as expected, a considerable deterioration during the month as a result of the decidedly adverse weather. In fact, the condition of winter wheat is placed at only 82.9, which compares with 89.9 on April 1 this year, 91 on May 1 1906 and 92 on May 1 1905. In some of the more important wheat-producing States the contrast between this year and last is very marked, the condition in Kansas May 1 this year being given at 82, against 87 last year; California, 79 against 89; Ohio, 77 against 94; Indiana, 74 against 94; and Oklahoma 72 against 93. It is found that the percentage of abandoned acreage, as a result of the damage by insects as well as the weather, is quite large, the area remaining in cultivation on May 1 being reported at about 28,132,000 acres, as compared with 31,665,000 acres sown last fall, or a loss of 3,533,000 acres—over 11%.

The above represents, of course, the condition of the crops at the close of April. Since the first of May however, there has been, according to the United States Weather Bureau, a continuation of unfavorable conditions over most of the country. The bulletin for the week ending Monday last (May 6) reported abnormally cold weather quite general, with temperatures much below freezing in many sections and heavy frost over northern districts, and light to heavy frosts as far south as Northwestern Texas. What further deterioration has occurred remains for time to determine.

It is interesting to note in this connection that latest advices from Europe indicate, on the whole, a rather unsatisfactory cereal crop situation. But, as bearing upon the demand for our cereals the coming season, advices from Argentina attract more attention. Although not as yet a great producer of cereals, Argentina is steadily gaining prominence, especially in the corn markets. The news from that country, therefore, to the effect that the injury to the corn crop is even greater than hitherto believed, is important. The general impression is now stated to be that from the area under corn (which has been greatly extended during recent years) the actual yield this season will not much, if at all exceed, one-third of a bumper crop. As last year users of corn in Europe largely increased their takings of Argentina corn at the expense of our export trade in that cereal, the importance of this news, if true, becomes apparent.

Self-inspection is often recommended as a good rule for the individual. Why would it not be an equally good rule for our various State legislatures? Instead of copying one another in their haste to put crude and ill-considered legislation on the statute books, would it not be better to make an investigation and determine whether the laws already in force are proving beneficial? We must credit our law-makers with good motives even when they act in response to some whimsical impulse or the unreasoning dictates of popular clamor. First and last we must assume that it is their desire to promote the public weal. They obviously imagine they are acting to that end when they co-operate in the effort to create new laws. Yet the statute books of every State are already overloaded with much harmful legislation, some of it vicious in character and all of it mischievous in its tendency and operation. Many of these objectionable laws no attempt is ever made to enforce, because their baneful character is so obvious or because public sentiment would not endorse efforts to make them efficacious. Still others are being scrupulously executed without any one paying particular attention to the injury they are working to the community. Instead, therefore, of joining in the movement to add to the volume of legislation, is it not quite possible that more glory and more advantage could be gained by repealing or modifying existing laws? We all have a deep interest, whether we live in one State or another, in seeing that in the general progress and advance our own particular community shall not suffer. It is obviously short-sighted and unwise if we handicap and retard our home development to gratify a feeling of spite against capital or against moneyed interests or large corporations, or yet because we want to be in the fashion and join in a general crusade against these various agencies so essential to the welfare and progress of the whole community.

Why not, therefore, make a study of existing laws with the view to seeing if they are so framed as to allow growth and development to go on unhindered and give the fullest freedom to individual action and initiative consistent with the common good. Governor Guild of Massachusetts made a suggestion of this kind recently. He recommended the establishment of an unpaid commission to consider the upbuilding of the commerce and industry of that State. About ten days ago President Lucius Tuttle of the Boston & Maine Railroad was before the Joint Committee on Ways and Means of the Massachusetts Legislature speaking in favor of the proposition. Mr. Tuttle made some interesting and significant remarks anent the state of things existing in that Commonwealth today. He pointed out that if the people of the State wish Massachusetts capital to be invested in Massachusetts industries, the laws must be so framed as to induce such investment. The present laws and system of doing business are not such as to tempt investors. For example, if an existing railroad wishes to build a branch which will cost $2,000,000, the stock for the improvement must be issued at the market price, which may be $165, but a new company could be formed for a subscription for the line and issue its stock at $100 per share. In this way the stockholders of the new corporation could receive 7% while stockholders of an existing railroad for the same investment could receive only about 4%. A commission for the study of the subject, he argued, would be a good thing, especially if it led to the re-framing of the laws which are now driving Massachusetts capital out of the State. A railroad which is incorporated in another State may come into the Commonwealth and buy stocks of Massachusetts corporations, but a railroad incorporated in Massachusetts cannot do so. Her restrictive laws hold returns on many investments down to about the same return which could be had in a savings bank, and most people, he observes, prefer the savings bank—a statement, of course, that cannot be controverted. The case of Massachusetts is by no means an isolated one. Many other States also have harmful laws in operation, and where such statutes do not exist the legislatures, out of a mistaken zeal, are engaged in attempts to create the same. Why not now change our tactics by emulating our legislative brethren when they are engaged in beneficial moves rather than in questionable ones? Is not the suggestion worth careful consideration? At all events, we are certain that much good would result if the fact were recognized that, for the general prosperity, what is needed is, not more legislation but less legislation.

There are indications at last that iron production in the United States is to expand in some measure in the near future, and this is an encouraging feature —not that the output has not all along been extremely large, but that for some time production has been practically stationary at a moment when there appeared to be no limit to the consumptive demand. The "Iron Age" of this city has the present week made public its usual monthly statistics, and they show that in April, a thirty-day month, the output of the coke and anthracite furnaces was 2,216,568 tons, against 2,226,457 tons in the thirty-one days of March. In other words, with one day less, the output for April was almost as large as that for March. However, these figures do not give an adequate idea of the extent to which production has actually begun to increase. The "Age" points out that while 14 coke furnaces were "blown in" last month and only 4 were "blown out," making a net gain of 10, a number of these began operations in the latter part of April so that they did not contribute greatly to the product of that month. It appears that on May 1 the 323 furnaces in blast at that time had a capacity of 523,912 tons, while the 313 furnaces in operation on April 1 had a capacity of only 497,756 tons. Hence, on May 1 the capacity was over 26,000 tons per week larger than on April 1, an increase at the rate of almost 1½ million tons a year. Furthermore, since the beginning of May, three more furnaces of large capacity have become active and these will add 6,000 tons additional to the weekly capacity. Our contemporary points out a noteworthy fact, namely that the increase in output and in capacity is almost entirely due to the works of the steel furnaces. These made in April 1,446,788 tons as compared with 1,424,827 tons in March. That the steel works are enlarging their output of pig iron cannot be deemed strange, for it is these same steel works that are in most urgent need of pig iron for conversion into steel, so as to satisfy the steadily increasing demand for the latter; for it is indisputable that up to the present time the consumption of steel is being maintained at the highest totals ever reached, notwithstanding the adverse developments which have occurred in a number of directions.

Under the name of the Morganfield & Atlanta Railroad the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has built 28 miles of road from Providence to Morganfield, which began operation on Saturday last. At the opening celebration, Mr. J. H. Ellis, Secretary of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, delivered an address on "Railway Stock and Stockholders" in which he dealt at length with the present wave of hostile legislation against railroad interests. It was a felicitous occasion for dealing with the subject. Local residents were rejoicing over the boon of railroad facilities, so long denied to them, and hence were in a position to appreciate the value of railroad connection with the outside world and the importance of throwing no obstacles in the way of other communities obtaining the same advantages. Mr. Ellis gave some interesting facts with reference to the early history of the Louisville & Nashville which we have not space to repeat here. But what he said concerning the spirit of antagonism towards railroads will appeal to a wide constituency. He points out that it is not alone the interests of stockholders that are threatened by intrusive legislation of this kind. For if serious reductions in rates are successfully enforced the consequent reduced income of the railroads must result in diminishing expenditures and so the whole thing will react on the public. The average railroad manager desires but two things—first to give the patrons of his railroad the very best service in the power of his company, at the lowest possible rates, and, second, to so operate the property intrusted to him that the stockholders, who are his principals, shall receive a fair return upon their investment. The average railroad man is honest; he willingly wrongs no one and he is a good citizen.

Coming to the matter of "watered" stock, Mr. Ellis says that if one were to judge solely by one case of some notoriety, there is ground for complaint. But the trouble lies in the easy way in which perfectly legitimate and lawful increases of capital stock are by non-reflecting people lumped with really reprehensible transactions, such as have lately been so prominently before the public. The capital of the Louisville & Nashville has been increased from $3,000,000 to $60,000,000 without there being one drop of so-called water in it at any time. He well says that there is a vast deal of nonsense talked about watered stock. There are at least two conditions under which capital stock may be prudently and lawfully increased. First, when for any length of time the profits from the business have been withheld from the stockholders and appropriated to betterments and additions to the capital property. In such a case the stockholders rightfully add to the divisional value of the property by increasing the stock and distributing the increase proportionately among themselves. Second, when the management and directors of the company believe it to the interest of the stockholders to make extensions, improvements or additions to the property for the payment of which the stockholders have not contributed, then the stock may and obviously should be increased and the stockholders be required proportionately to take and pay for the increased stock. And yet both of these processes are almost uniformly among some people and by some newspapers denounced as wrongful, and worse.

No doubt there is excessive capitalization among some railroads. But is it so hideous a thing as we are asked to believe? It is not criminal. It is not something done secretly and in the dark. It must necessarily be public and known to every one. Inflated securities are justly measured where values are fixed and no one is deceived. Nor has over-capitalization the remotest connection with the adjustment of railroad rates. They who talk of shippers and the travelling public being burdened with extortionate rates that the railroads may pay dividends on excessive capitalization are ignorantly associating two entirely separate and independent things. With any given schedule of rates, a railroad, however prudently operated, can earn but a certain sum from a given volume of traffic, and what matters it if that sum be 3% on $100,000,000 or 6% on $50,000,000. Even supposing a railroad to be so capitalized as to preclude, under ordinary conditions, the paying of anything to its stockholders, will it mend matters by throwing around it such legal or illegal restraints as to render it forever impossible to do so? Mr. Ellis urges that there is grave inconsistency in the position of some notable persons and in the minds of many thousands of people on the railroad question; for while uttering all manner of intemperate things about possible or impossible evils, they propose for enactment laws which will deprive the railroads of the means of correcting them. This is undoubtedly the correct view to take and it is to be hoped that in time the fact can be clearly impressed upon the public mind.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week unofficial or open market rates were ¼ of 1% lower at London, steady at Paris and ⅜ of 1% higher at Berlin and at Frankfort.

The striking feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was the decrease in the surplus reserve by $5,522,150, to $6,824,625. This was due to a loss of $1,918,000 in cash and to an increase of $3,604,150 in reserve requirements. Loans were expanded by $16,902,700 and deposits were augmented by $14,116,600; about $7,000,000 of the increase in loans and in deposits resulted from the inclusion in the statement of the returns of the Fourteenth Street Bank, which was admitted to membership in the Clearing House last week. The bank statement of this week should reflect, among other items, the transfer hence to San Francisco of $2,000,000 and also considerable absorptions of cash from the banks through Sub-Treasury operations.

The indications of an unfavorable bank statement this week as the result of the above-noted withdrawals of cash and also of the apparently speedy termination of redemptions of 4% bonds of 1907—such redemptions having already amounted to $24,462,700, out of the $25,000,000 called for surrender for this purpose—contributed to the development of a firmer tone for money on call and likewise for loans for short fixed periods. This improvement in the tone for time loans induced more liberal offerings after the middle of the week, but there was no recession in rates; it is noteworthy that the bulk of the offerings came from Western banks. It was reported that unusually low quotations had been made for choice commercial paper, but these rates could not be verified; there was, however, an increase in the demand.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 3% and at 2%, averaging about 2¾%; banks and trust companies quoted 2½% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 3% and at 2½% with the bulk of the business at 2¾%. On Tuesday transactions were at 2¾% and at 2½% with the majority at 2¾%. On Wednesday loans were at 3% and at 2% with the bulk of the business at 2½%. On Thursday transactions were at 3% and at 2% with the majority at 2¾%. On Friday loans were at 3% and at 2½% with the bulk of the business at 3%. Time contracts on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were quoted at 3¾% for thirty and 4% for ninety days; 4¼% for four to five, 4½% for six and 5¼% for nine to twelve months; the rates for the longer maturities, however, represent loans for moderate amounts. Expectations of large borrowings by railroads caused a decline in corporation notes. Commercial paper was in demand chiefly by local and Eastern houses; rates were 5½% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 5½% for choice and 5½@6% for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 4%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 3⅛%. The open market rate at Paris is 3¼% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4⅜@4½%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank lost £172,882 bullion during the week and held £35,585,092 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to the heavy movement to the interior of Great Britain, which, with the exports, exceeded the large purchases in the open market. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £813,000 (of which £9,000 from Australia, £5,000 from Germany and £799,000 bought in the open market); exports, £303,000 (of which £32,000 to Paris, £200,000 to Constantinople and £71,000 to various countries), and shipments of £683,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was active this week with a strong tone on Monday, when the highest rates of the year were recorded. There was a sharp fall on the following day, succeeded by a feverish movement, and the market was generally lower to the close. Monday's advance in exchange was due to a good demand for remittance and to a scarcity of bills. Expectations of shipments of gold hence to Paris, as an arbitration operation, seemed to be entertained by some of the speculators in the market, and there appeared to be some basis for such expectations in the low rate for exchange at Paris on London. The tone remained strong during Monday, but on the following day it grew easier, because of a relaxation in the demand for remittance, and in the afternoon liberal offerings of bills against an installment of corporation notes which had been negotiated at Paris resulted in a sharp decline that encouraged speculative selling, and the market was weak until just before the close, when covering of short sales brought about a partial reaction. On Wednesday the tone was again weak and it was then chiefly influenced by a light inquiry for remittance and by further speculative selling. As was the case on the previous day, the sales were covered late in the afternoon and the market was steadier at the close; there was a quotation of 4 86 for sight when the tone was weakest, but no transactions were reported at this rate. On Thursday the market was less active and irregular, growing firmer on Friday because of a demand for Saturday's steamer. The speculative operations in exchange this week were almost wholly conducted by brokers who were inclined to sell, whenever the opportunity of higher rates offered, in the expectation of covering their sales when the market yielded to pressure. In some cases such expectations were realized, but in others the transactions resulted in a loss. The fluctuations in the rates for exchange at Paris on London contributed to activity in francs, and business was in fairly large volume. Commodity bills were in only moderate supply. It is regarded as likely that if there shall be serious detention of ocean steamers at this port, because of the labor troubles, shipments will be effected at other points.

Nominal quotations for sterling exchange were 4 84@4 84½ for sixty-day and 4 87 for sight. The market was quiet though firm on Saturday of last week, and, compared with the previous day, rates for long were 10 points higher at 4 8360@4 8370, for short 15 points at 4 8650@4 8660 and for cables 10 points at 4 8685@4 8695. On Monday long closed 5 points lower at 4 8360@4 8365, short 5 points at 4 8650@4 8655, and cables 5 points at 4 8680@4 8690. On Tuesday, though the market was feverish and weak during the day, there was a partial recovery by the close, when long was 5 points lower at 4 8355@4 8365, short 15 points at 4 8630@4 8635 and cables 10 points at 4 8670@4 8675. On Wednesday long closed 35 points lower at 4 8320@4 8325, short 15 points at 4 8615@4 8620, and cables 25 points at 4 8645@4 8650. On Thursday long recovered 25 points to 4 8340@4 8350, short declined 5 points to 4 8610@4 8620, and cables were unchanged. The market was steady on Friday with long unchanged and short and cables 10 points higher.

PROSPERITY AND INTERNATIONAL PEACE.

Readers of the European press will have noticed that the recent visits of the King of England to his Continental neighbors are receiving their full share of public attention. It would be strange if they did not. Whatever may theoretically be argued regarding the restriction on royal prerogative, notably in England, the fact has become increasingly important that much could be accomplished in the way of international good feeling through personal and friendly conferences of rulers. In the case of England and France this was notably true; the Anglo-French convention of 1904 being a rather direct sequel of the royal visit to Paris. The recent appearance of King Edward in Spain has similarly led to renewal of friendly assurances on the side of both countries, and the importance of this "rapprochement" may perhaps be measured by comparison with the outburst and continuance of Spanish ill-will against England at the time Lord Salisbury, after our Spanish War, made his exceedingly untactful speech about "dying nations."

It is not our purpose in this article, however, to dwell particularly on the opportunities of royalty for encouraging international good feeling, but to point out the extent to which any machinery, diplomatic or otherwise, which can be employed with a view of rendering war less easy, less probable, and, when it comes, less destructive, is just now instinctively grasped by the community as a whole. It has been learned by long experience that applause of the benefits of peace is of little consequence when restricted to utterances made during profound peace. The instant one of the usual causes of war had arisen and international ill-will had been stimulated and encouraged by the famliar arts, it would be found that people who a few months before were arguing against war as a civilized proceeding would be either foremost among those demanding immediate hostilities, or, at all events, would have concluded that silence was the only prudent policy. Realizing this familiar fact, and with it the fact that consequences of international war are certain now-a-days to be far more serious than in any previous stage in the world's history, the problem has been practically taken in hand with the hopes of binding the hands of possible belligerents, first, through individual treaties; next, through such general restrictions of old-time warfare as will limit its dangers to civilization.

We do not know a stronger instance of the economic absurdities into which even the more humane view of international collisions is bound to lead the world than the disposition lately made of the London proposal for a Channel tunnel. This proposition, brought before Parliament with assurances of the requisite capital, and with engineers' guaranty of its practicability, was rejected almost instantaneously by the Government. Nobody argued that such a project would not add greatly to the comfort of passengers, or that it would not probably lead the way to far more rapid and economical interchange of commodities between England and the Continent. The whole reason for the peremptory veto on the scheme was that a French army might suddenly appear some fine day on English soil, emerging from the Channel tunnel. Looked upon from the American point of view, there was something grotesque about the entire incident; yet it must be said, not only that the best men in the British Government shared in the opposition to the scheme, but that the most intelligent English newspapers gave their unqualified approval to the rejection of the tunnel proposition.

We imagine this unanimity to be the expression of English apprehensive feeling regarding possible developments of modern warfare. For ourselves, however, we scarcely imagine that the end of possible awkward situations will come with rejection of the scheme of a Channel tunnel. A striking article in the "Monthly Review" of London takes up, in a spirit of all seriousness, the discussion of the future possibilities of war as governed by the course of invention for aerial navigation. The writer, an expert in the art so far as yet developed, and both a believer and an enthusiast regarding its possibilities, deals without hesitation with what he regards as the probable nature of warfare conducted through such a medium. This is his pleasant picture—drawn, let the reader again be reminded, with entire seriousness and conviction:

"There will be all sorts of novel chemical compounds, fierce explosives and mixtures for suffocating, burning, pulverizing and annihilating the victim. The airship will devastate our cities, arsenals and dock-yards. She will smash up our forts, camps and battle-ships, and will threaten alike our protected forts and our most sheltered inland towns. As soon as this is fairly realized there will be a hurrying to and fro for means of defense, whilst all the time the airship will go ahead, being tested, altered and improved, first taking part in one war and then another, and advancing towards perfection by hard-won steps. . . . .

"There will be nothing to prevent a determined enemy making a night raid on London. . . . It will bring home to the most sheltered the grim realities of war. One can imagine our well-fed English citizen, free from conscription and ignorant of invasion, pausing a moment in his bellicose agitation and glancing apprehensively upwards at a passing shadow. By day and by night he will be in danger. The whole country-side will experience the agonizing suspense of a beleagured city."

No doubt it will be answered either that this whole idea is grotesque, or that when the occasion arises, this formidable peril to modern industry and civilization will be dealt with jointly by the nations. Nothing is more probable; the question, for instance, of dropping explosives from balloons has already come before the Hague. Yet, humane and optimistic Americans may possibly remember that the two propositions in the International Conference of 1899, prohibiting the throwing of explosives from balloons, and forbidding belligerents to fill shells with asphyxiating gases, were opposed by no less distinguished a delegate than Captain Mahan, and on the interesting ground that prohibition of these pleasing devices might logically be extended to the submarine torpedo boat—which, we were to infer, the naval interests were determined to preserve. This incident might be passed over without comment, except in so far as it shows the absolute need for pressure on the coming Hague Conference to defend and assert the common interests of civilization. We may be sure that the professional ideas and interests of the navy, that the feelings inspired by international suspicion and jealousy, will have abundant hearing in private and in public. Financial, industrial and commercial interests should not fail to keep up discussion, from their own point of view, between now and the date when the Conference assembles. As preliminary to the further restriction of warfare in the interests of humanity, such incidents as the royal visits, making, as they do, for proper attitude on the part of the public toward the proposed reforms, may be of great importance.

PHILADELPHIA RAPID TRANSIT SITUATION.

If the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company hereafter shows the same energy in transporting the people of Philadelphia that it has displayed in urging the passage of legislation which it deems to be advantageous to its own interests and those of the public, the problem of rapid transit in that city has already been solved. Co-operating with the management of the Rapid Transit Company is a body of representative business men and the united efforts of the two interests have resulted in achievements which bid fair to promote the welfare of the community as well as that of the company which has a monopoly of the passenger railway business in the Quaker City. The Philadelphia situation is of general interest because it is quite in contrast with the methods which have been adopted in some other cities, notably Cleveland and Chicago, where opposition and antagonism on the part of citizens to the plans and wishes of the managements of the traction companies have resulted in delaying improvements and for a time at least in defeating the very ends which the people desired most to attain.

As a result of the general anti-corporation spirit which spread all over the United States during the past two years, there developed among many of the citizens of Philadelphia an animosity towards the Rapid Transit Company which gained such headway that the officers and directors of the company realized that the credit of the company was being adversely affected. They determined to grapple with the dilemma and effect a cure at whatever cost. The purpose, however, apparently was to work a permanent cure and not merely afford temporary relief. That the credit of the company had been hurt was evident from the fact that the syndicate which had bought $10,000,000 of the company's 4% bonds was unable to market them. It is stated that only $2,000,000 of the issue was disposed of to the public; the remaining $8,000,000 was apportioned among the members of the syndicate.

Under these circumstances it was impossible for the company to sell more bonds to bankers in order to provide funds needed to carry to completion work which was well under way. The remarkable feature about the ill-temper on the part of the public is that it reached a crisis at the very time that the Rapid Transit Company was making extraordinary efforts to provide better accommodations for the people of Philadelphia by providing an elevated road and a subway at a very large outlay, the expenditures for improvements during the past year having been ten millions of dollars.

Aside from the stringency of the money market and the temper of the public above noted, there was just one other factor which entered into the financial problem and helped to deter the bankers from buying any more bonds of the Rapid Transit Company. This obstacle is a cloud, possibly no larger than a man's hand, but a cloud, nevertheless, upon the perpetuity of the franchises of the company and all of its subsidiary companies. Fifty years ago there was passed in Philadelphia an ordinance providing that in all franchises for passenger railways which might thereafter be granted by the City of Philadelphia, the city reserved the right to terminate the franchise and acquire the property of the street railway company by the payment therefor of an amount equal to the cost of construction. No move has ever been made on the part of the city to avail itself of the right reserved by the ordinance of 1857, but the fact that such a right exists leaves the way open for a disruption of the whole Rapid Transit combination.

Moreover, this possibility appeared all the more dangerous because a number of the stocks of the underlying companies are not full paid, and whenever there is any agitation on the subject of municipal ownership of the passenger railways, investors in the stocks which are not full paid are greatly disturbed, and on account of their timidity the market value of such shares at times suffers a serious decline. A single illustration will suffice to show how agitations and consequent fear on the part of investors affect values. Just before the recent crisis was reached shares of the Union Traction Company were selling around $63, the par value being $50. During the recent discussion this stock declined $9 per share, or 18%. On this issue dividends on a sliding scale up to 6%, or $3, per share per annum are guaranteed by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, which is the present operating company for the system of 550 miles. It happens, however, that while the par value is $50 per share, there has been paid in on each share only $17 50. As there are 600,000 shares, the par value of the issue upon which dividends are guaranteed is $30,000,000, but the amount paid in is only $10,500,000, leaving $19,500,000 of uncalled capital. When the dividend reaches 6%, as it will in a comparatively short period, the yield of $3 per share will be equal to over 17% upon the amount paid in. On account of this peculiar situation the reader may readily understand why any agitation which has for its purpose the disruption of the combination of street railways causes a depression in the market value of the partially paid stocks and it may be just as clearly seen why it is greatly to the advantage of the investors to have the cloud removed and the perpetual feature of the franchises established beyond all doubt.

To exchange this indefinite situation for one which is fixed, the management of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company has expressed its willingness to make some sweeping concessions to the city of Philadelphia. The concessions are so great that a stranger would not comprehend why they are made without an explanation similar to that which has been set forth above. In consideration that the franchises of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company and those of all of its underlying companies be made perpetual, and the ordinance of 1857 nullified and repealed, the Rapid Transit Company agrees to limit the cumulative dividend upon its shares to 6% from January 1 1907 upon the capital actually paid in, and to share equally with the city in the distribution of all surplus earnings above the amount required to meet such cumulative dividends. The company agrees further to set aside a sum monthly for a sinking fund, the principal of which in fifty years will amount to $10,200,000, and which with the interest accumulated shall belong to the city of Philadelphia, and which shall be available for the purpose of purchasing the entire capital stock of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company at its par value. The par value of Philadelphia Rapid Transit stock is $30,000,000. There has been paid in $30 per share, or $18,000,000, upon the 600,000 shares. An installment of $5 per share is payable this month, and the company, by the terms of the agreement, promises to call the balance of $15 per share by December 31 1908. With the consent of the city additional stock and bonds may be issued, but they cannot be sold for less than par, and the proceeds must be used for extensions or betterments.

If at the expiration of fifty years the city exercises its right to purchase the property at a price equal to the par value of the stock then outstanding, and the city offers to let the property for operation to the highest bidder, the company reserves the right to bid for the same. There are many minor provisions in the proposed agreement which have been prepared with much care and appear to be just to all the parties concerned. Under the present arrangement the Rapid Transit Company is obligated to maintain 6,700,332 square yards of paving within the city of Philadelphia. In addition to this expense, which is really a tax, it pays annually for licenses and taxes $1,075,216. One bad feature of the tax upon cars is that it acts as an obstruction in the way of providing more cars. Patrons of the railways continually ask for more cars, and yet the law imposes a penalty for every additional car which the company may add to its equipment. It is now proposed to substitute a fixed sum which the company shall pay yearly in lieu of the indefinite amounts, the agreement providing that the company shall not be subject to any additional taxes except to the customary taxes upon real estate.

The city now has the right to compel the company to put its trolley wires under ground. The new agreement waives this right. It is provided that the city shall have three representatives upon the board, and that statements of earnings and expenditures shall be filed periodically with the City Comptroller, which the city shall have the right to verify by having full access to the company's books.

There appears to be nothing essentially wrong with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit system as it stands to-day. For the year ended June 30 1906 the receipts from all sources were $17,711,598. The cost of operation, including licenses, taxes and all fixed charges, was $17,407,602, showing a profit of $303,996, which was equal to 2.36% of the amount that had been paid in on the capital stock at the end of the fiscal year. There were 448,576,785 passengers carried, an increase of 45,683,540, or 11%. While the passenger receipts increased 8%, the operating expenses increased 12%. This large increase in operating expenses, the annual report explains, was due to relaying 42 miles of track with 141-pound rails, to an increase in the number of cars operated, to the additional expenses of heating cars in winter, and to a large increase in the payments for accidents.

While the agreement provides that the city shall assume no financial obligations, counsel for the company and for the committee of citizens were of the opinion that an Act of the Legislature was essential to enable the city to enter into a profit-sharing agreement with the company and a bill framed for this purpose was promptly passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. On Thursday, May 2, an ordinance was introduced in the City Councils of Philadelphia setting forth at length all the details of the agreement. It is expected that the ordinance will be passed and that the Mayor will sign it. In this manner investors are to be reassured, the credit of the Rapid Transit Company is to be restored, and the way provided for the company to give to the citizens improvements which are very much needed, and which will include an elevated road to the northeastern section of the city, now suffering perhaps more than any other part of Philadelphia for lack of adequate transportation facilities.

Unlike New York, Philadelphia is not assuming any financial responsibility to provide rapid transit, but, quite as unlike Chicago, it is manifesting a disposition not to stand in the way of private capital which is willing to take the risk of providing the much-desired improvements.

WHEN AN INTER-STATE SHIPMENT LOSES ITS INTER-STATE CHARACTER.

In these days, when both the States and the General Government are asserting jurisdiction over railroad carriers, and when each is determined to extend paternal assistance to the patrons of the road (which assistance usually consists of an order or statute for lower rates or some other action favoring the shipper at the expense of the carrier), it is important to know which jurisdiction is to control, that of the State in which the line is located or that of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Where the two conflict, obviously either one or the other must dominate. In the case of inter-State shipments it is indisputable that the authority of Congress and of the Government officials at Washington is supreme. The Federal Constitution has lodged the power over commerce among the States in the Central Government and the carrying agencies being instruments of such commerce, the United States Supreme Court has by its decisions uniformly undertaken to give effect to that provision of the fundamental law.

So long as Congress failed to assume the power vested in it by the Constitution, which was the situation prior to the enactment of the Inter-State Commerce Law in 1887, the States were free to make their own regulations; but since Congress has chosen to exercise its prerogative in that respect, its regulations and enactments alone are controlling, and the States are obliged to remain quiescent—to yield to the supreme authority—provided always the transportation is clearly inter-State in its character. If the shipment is an intra-State one, that is, in essence, is local, point of origin and destination being compassed within the same State, the State laws and regulations govern, since the authority of Congress does not extend to purely State transportation.

But what are the attributes of an inter-State shipment—what gives it its inter-State character? At first sight the answer would appear to be simple. Anything coming from without the State or passing from one State to another, clearly partakes of an inter-State movement—is in fact inter-State transportation. But there are other elements in the problem. A rather curious case arose in Texas some years since and reached the United States Supreme Court on appeal at the present term. The Supreme Court's ruling was given a few weeks ago, and according to the doctrine laid down by it, freight coming from another State after it gets started on its movement does not necessarily maintain its characteristic as inter-State commerce to the end of its journey. In the last analysis it is the contract between the consignor and the carrier, as expressed in the bill of lading, which determines the question.

The shipment, which was the subject of the controversy in the case referred to, concerned a carload of corn which originally came from Hudson, So. Dakota, and which found its point of final destination at Goldthwaite, Tex., on the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe Railway. Ordinarily the total rate on through shipments of freight carried long distances is lower than the sum of the separate charges of the different roads over which the freight is obliged to pass in reaching its destination. In this instance it happened that the consignor saw an advantage of 1½ cts. a bushel by sending the carload of grain as far as Texarkana and then availing of the low rates put in force by the Texas State Railroad Commission. A new bill of lading was issued when the carload of corn reached Texarkana. The route of the shipment was over the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Ry. to Kansas City with privilege to stop the corn at that point for inspection and transfer, and thence over the Kansas City Southern Ry. to Texarkana. The Milwaukee & St. Paul issued a bill of lading limiting its liability for loss to its own road. At Kansas City the corn was unloaded, put in sacks, and transferred to the Kansas City Southern, which issued its own bill of lading and carried the corn to Texarkana. The car was consigned to a firm in the latter city. After being held there for five days, the same car was delivered, under original seals and without breaking package, to the Texas & Pacific Ry., which carried it to Fort Worth and there delivered it to the Gulf Colorado & SantaFe Ry., by which it was transported to Goldthwaite. This was in January 1902. The last-named road having failed to observe the rates prescribed by the Texas Commission, the State of Texas in the District Court of Tarrant County on July 28 1902 recovered a judgment against it for $100 as a penalty for extortion in its charges for carrying this carload of corn from Texarkana to Goldthwaite. This judgment was sustained by both the Court of Civil Appeals and the Supreme Court of the State of Texas. Thereupon the railway company brought the case to the United States Supreme Court upon a writ of error.

The details of the transaction and the relations of the different parties to the same were somewhat involved, but the sum and substance of the case is stated in the outline furnished above. The opinion was by Justice Brewer. He pointed out that really the only question was whether between Texarkana and Goldthwaite the transportation was an inter-State shipment. If so the regulations of the State Railroad Commission did not control and the State Court erred in enforcing the penalty. If, however, it was a purely local shipment, the judgment below was right and should be sustained. He found the facts settled by the special findings of the lower Court. In the estimate of the Court the point of controlling importance was that the corn was carried from Texarkana, Tex., to Goldthwaite, Tex., upon a bill of lading which upon its face showed only a local transportation.

The argument upon the part of the Railway Company was of course that this local transportation was a continuation of a shipment from Hudson, S. D., to Texarkana, Tex., that the place from which the corn started was Hudson, S. D., and the place at which the transportation ended was Goldthwaite, Tex.; that such transportation was inter-State commerce and that its inter-State character was not affected by the various changes of title or issues of bills of lading intermediate to its departure from Hudson and its arrival at Goldthwaite. Justice Brewer says it is undoubtedly true that the character of a shipment, whether local or inter-State, is not changed by a transfer of title during the transportation. But whether it be one or the other may depend on the contract of shipment. The rights and obligations of carriers and shippers are reciprocal. The first contract of shipment in this case, according to his view and that of the Court, was from Hudson to Texarkana, and during that transportation a contract was made at Kansas City for the sale of the corn; but that did not affect the character of the shipment from Hudson to Texarkana. It was an inter-State shipment after the contract of sale as well as before. In other words, the transportation which was contracted for and which was not changed by any act of the parties, was transportation of the corn from Hudson to Texarkana.

The control over goods in process of transportation, which may be repeatedly changed by sales, is one thing, he argues; the transportation is another thing, and follows the contract of shipment until that is changed by the agreement of owner and carrier. Neither the Harroun Commission Co. nor the Hardin Grain Co. (two of the parties to the controversy) changed or offered to change the contract of shipment or the place of delivery. The Hardin Company accepted the contract of shipment theretofore made and purchased the corn to be delivered at Texarkana—that is, on the completion of the existing contract. When the Hardin Company accepted the corn at the latter point the transportation contracted for ended. The carrier was under no obligation to carry it further. It transferred the corn in obedience to the demands of the owner to the Texas & Pacific Railway Co., to be delivered by it under its contract with such owner. Whatever obligations may rest upon the carrier at the terminus of its transportation to deliver to some further carrier in obedience to the instruction of the owner, it is acting, Justice Brewer urges, not as a carrier but as a forwarder. No new arrangement having been made for transportation, the corn was delivered to the Hardin Grain Co. at Texarkana. The thought or purpose of the Hardin Co. in respect to the further disposition of the corn was a matter immaterial so far as the completed transportation was concerned.

Justice Brewer also points to the fact that the car of corn remained in Texarkana five days and that the Hardin Co. was under no obligation to ship it further. It must further be remembered, he says, that no bill of lading was issued from Texarkana to Goldthwaite until after the arrival of the corn at Texarkana and the completion of the first contract for transportation. He also lays stress on the fact that in many cases it would work the grossest injustice to a carrier if it could not rely on the contract of shipment it had made, know whether it was bound to obey the State or Federal law, or, obeying the former, find itself mulcted in penalties for not obeying the law of the other jurisdiction, simply because the shipper intended a transportation beyond that specified in the contract. He says there is no presumption that a transportation when commenced is to be continued beyond the State limits, and the carrier ought to be able to depend upon the contract which it has made and in like manner must conform to the liability imposed by that contract.

COMPETITORS IN COTTON RAISING.

As we all know, cotton cultivation in colonial possessions has been a subject of deep interest in Great Britain, France and Germany the past few years. Cotton-growing associations have been organized in all of the countries named, and extensive experiments made in Nigeria, the Soudan, and other sections of Africa thought to be suitable for the production of the staple. But the net result thus far has not been encouraging. In fact realization has fallen very far short of anticipation, for after considerable work and comparatively heavy expenditures, the world's supply has been swelled only a few thousand bales. Still it cannot be truthfully said that the interests back of the attempts to open up new sources of supply of this important raw material are discouraged, for probably the leading incentive that spurred on experimental work in cotton-raising in colonial possessions has not ceased to exist.

That leading incentive is to be found in the course of events in this country the past four or five years, and primarily in the springing into existence of organizations at the South, formed ostensibly to see that the planter got a "square deal," but with the real purpose apparently of attempting to substitute for the laws of supply and demand the dictum of a self-constituted band of leaders. Thus forcing users to pay for their cotton higher prices than conditions warranted. Coincident with the birth of these organizations, and evidently through fear of them, came the desire of manufacturers in Lancashire, elsewhere in Great Britain, and in Continental Europe, to become less dependent upon the United States for supplies of the raw material.

No appreciable augmentation in yield in Egypt could be expected until plans for proper irrigation were perfected, which would be a matter of some years. And even then the area would be comparatively limited. Furthermore, India, being a large and gradually increasing consumer of cotton, as well as a producer of it, no great addition to the volume of supplies from that source could be looked for. Moreover, Peru, Brazil, Smyrna, West Indies, &c., could be relied upon for but a decidedly limited amount of cotton annually. Attention therefore was directed to colonial possessions in Africa, with the hope that the immense tracts of virgin soil on that continent would prove adaptable to cotton. Results, however, as already indicated, have thus far been meagre; but it may be that in the years to come Africa, outside of Egypt, will reach prominence as an important producer. Yet that will not be until other work of development is more advanced and transportation facilities provided, affording easy access to the seaboard, so that crops can be expeditiously moved from the interior.

We are inclined to believe, however, that the United States's position as the most important contributor to the world's supply is measurably safe; we also think that overmuch importance is given in Europe to the influence exerted by the various organizations that have sprung up of late years in the South for the purpose of holding up the price of cotton. When any body of men attempts to set aside the laws of supply and demand, and substitute therefor their dictum, they sooner or later come to grief and lose all standing and influence. Flippant and bombastic circulars do not make prices, as all well know. It is one thing to advise that cotton be held for a certain price, and quite another to induce its being held back, or to get the price. The cotton world has quite recently had samples of such advice and knows the result. It would seem that about all that these organizations have accomplished thus far is to stir up bitter feelings in some quarters against all who are not planters who have to do with cotton. Animosity is especially strong against the various cotton exchanges—the commercial bodies that have benefited the industry in every way, and particularly in providing facilities for disposing of the crop. Furthermore, leading officials of these Southern cotton associations have not hesitated to stamp as wrong, or even worse, any information made public by the Government or individuals that disagreed with their one-sided and misleading reports. Their crowning act of folly, however, was the securing of a fraud order against the New York Cotton Exchange.

These thoughts with regard to the causes moving European cotton manufacturers to seek new sources of supply have been induced by the recently issued report for 1906 of Lord Cromer, late British Commissioner in Egypt. No one is better equipped to talk of matters relating to that country than he and what he has to say, therefore, is sure to engage attention. After pointing out that there were 1,752,473 acres under cotton last year, he remarks that the total cultivable area of Egypt is 6,387,100 acres, of which 5,339,638 acres is already under cultivation and 1,047,462 acres virgin soil. He then goes on to estimate the extent to which the cotton-growing area is capable of expansion, assuming as a preliminary that the whole of the basin lands in the Northern half of upper Egypt (now cultivated) will be brought under perennial irrigation, and that all uncultivated territory will be ultimately reclaimed. With this accomplished, he contends that land suitable for bearing cotton will extend over the whole area (6,387,100 acres) referred to above, with the exception of about 800,000 acres South of Assiout. In other words, there would be approximately 5,600,000 acres on which cotton could be raised, or three times the present area. He does not assume that all of this territory will ever be devoted to cotton but estimates that 40% of it may, and from that acreage looks for 10 million cantars (about 2 million American bales) annually. This acreage however is not expected to be reached in less than ten or fifteen years. But even now an addition of 3 million cantars to Egypt's crop (the present crop approximating about 7 million) would be welcome, as most of it is a high grade of cotton for which, as for our Sea Islands, there is pressing need.

Canvassing the entire field of cotton production, we do not find anything to encourage the thought that in the near future any considerable increase in supplies can be looked for outside of the United States. But there is nothing in this premise to cause disquietude to European consumers. The consumption of cotton has increased steadily of late and is liable to so continue; but so is the supply. New fields will undoubtedly in time become important contributors to the world's general stock, but, after all, the suppremacy of this country in production of the raw material is not now threatened, nor is it likely to seriously be, for years to come. And, finally, in the long run conditions and not dictums will govern the price of the commodity.

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY REPORT.

The annual report of the General Electric Co. (for the twelve months ending Jan. 31 1907) affords testimony at once to the industrial activity prevailing in the United States and to the marvelous growth of the business of this important company. In no department of industry has there been greater progress and advance—by reason of inventions and the application of electricity to new uses—than in the electrical field. And the General Electric Co., as the largest manufacturer in the world of electrical supplies and equipment and having the advantage of a very capable management, very naturally furnishes in its yearly statements striking evidence of the fact

The late year's increase in business measured by the value of sales was by far the largest in the company's history, noteworthy though the previous additions have been. The aggregate of these sales as represented by the amount billed to customers was no less than $60,071,883. In the previous year the amount, which then was the very largest ever reached up to that time, was $43,146,902. Thus in a single period of twelve months the addition to the yearly total has been almost $17,000,000, the ratio of increase falling but little short of 40%. We need hardly say that 40% growth in a manufacturing business in a single year means much, in more ways than one. The report tells us that sales of supplies and small apparatus, such as meters, transformers, direct and alternating motors, arc and incandescent lights, wiring devices, &c., increased 35% over the previous year, and that 40,365 stationary motors, aggregating 565,000 H.P., were sold during the twelve months.

As a matter of fact, however, the growth in the company's business, while of very exceptional magnitude in this latest year, has been noteworthy and continuous through practically the whole of its history. There was a falling off, it is true, in the fiscal year ending Jan. 31 1905, owing to the industrial reaction in the country during the fifteen to eighteen months preceding, but more than the whole of the falling off was recovered the very next year, and with that exception there has been no break in the upward movement in recent periods. In the report of the late First Vice-President, Eugene Griffin, written under date of April 1 (Mr. Griffin died April 11), it is pointed out that in the ten years from 1896-7 to 1906-7 the gross sales increased from $12,540,994 to $60,071,883, an average increase of 17% per year. He gives a little table to show that since 1900 the supply orders received alone have increased from an average of 473 per working day to 783. He also says that the very large increase in the business of the company during the past year, together with the difficulty and delay in obtaining raw materials, made it very difficult to meet the requirements of customers as to deliveries.

In the current or new fiscal year the gain appears to be proceeding at an even more remarkable rate than before. President Coffin in his portion of the remarks states that the sales for the first two months of the present fiscal year exceed those of the corresponding two months of the year under review by more than 50%. He also makes the significant announcement, writing under date of April 27, that should this growth in business continue additional capital would be required. Practically every statement in the report furnishes evidence of the need of additional capital. And yet previous additions have been large. Last December $10,828,100 new stock was offered to shareholders at par, and though shareholders had until April to pay the last installment on their subscription for this new stock, no less than $9,266,600 had been paid in on the same at the end of the fiscal year on Jan. 31 1907, leaving an unpaid balance of only a little over 1½ million dollars—$1,561,500. In the year immediately preceding $6,013,300 of new stock was issued.

If we refer to the balance sheet, we readily perceive how the company's current supplies of capital are being absorbed in various directions. With the volume of business growing so enormously, the amount tied up in current accounts very naturally is steadily increasing. Notes and accounts receivable Jan. 31 1907 were $22,863,789, besides which there were $2,922,675 of advances to affiliated companies, making $25,786,464 together. The corresponding total on Jan. 31 1906 was only $16,287,018. Thus there is an addition under this one heading alone of 9½ million dollars. Then also as business increases the stock of materials and supplies on hand also expands, and more and more money is locked up in goods in process of manufacture. Hence we find that the merchandise inventories on Jan. 31 1907 represented a total of $22,593,907, against only $16,922,291 on Jan. 31 1906. This gives a further addition of over 5½ million dollars. Moreover, the cost of work in progress stood on the books at $3,853,321 this year, against $2,496,205 last year. Altogether, therefore, the three items represent the absorption of additional capital to the extent of not far from $16,500,000. As a corollary some changes in other items in the balance sheet necessarily follow. Past annual reports have always contained the statement that the company's credit had not been used either by issuing notes, endorsing customers' paper for discount or lending its name in any way. The present report, however, shows that there is customers' paper under discount with the company's endorsement to a moderate extent—$666,607. Also we see that cash on hand, which Jan. 31 1906 was $6,356,093, for Jan. 31 1907 is of smaller proportions, being only $3,910,708.

The income statement makes a very satisfactory showing. The profits for the twelve months are reported at $8,427,842, or nearly double the call for the 8% dividends being paid, as calculated on the average amount of stock outstanding during the year. In other words, while the profits were $8,427,842, the sum paid out in dividends was only $4,344,342, leaving a balance of $4,083,500. The profits include $329,702 realized from the sale of securities in excess of the amount at which they had been carried on the books. They also include surplus net profits of $675,000 during the year of the security-holding companies and $417,586 derived from royalties, dividends, sundry profits, &c., and $114,660 for interest and discount. The profits in the ordinary way—that is, from manufacturing—for the twelve months were $6,965,288. In the previous year the profits in the ordinary way were $6,121,556, so the increase here has been after all comparatively small. As the sales for the twelve months increased from $43,146,902 to $60,071,882, the relatively slight increase in the manufacturing profits must be accepted as proof that the company is doing business at a narrower margin of profit with each succeeding year. It is to be observed, however, that $2,834,124 was charged off for depreciation of plant before arriving at the profits in 1907, as against $1,838,362 so charged off the previous year.

The conservative methods of bookkeeping always pursued by the company are still being maintained. Out of the $4,083,500 surplus remaining on the operations of the late twelve months, $999,999 was applied in writing off patent accounts on the company's books. This process of reducing the patent account has been going on for a long time, and with the latest reduction the whole of the company's patents (which must be of great value), as also franchises and goodwill, now stand on the books at the nominal sum of $1. Factory plants and machinery are also carried on the books at a very low basis of valuation. The cost of additions during the twelve months to plant, buildings and machinery was altogether $3,834,124, and of this all but $1,000,000, as already stated, was charged to the expenses. In other words, only $1,000,000 has been added to the book value of factory plants during the year. These factory plants (including all lands, buildings and machinery) are down on the books for no more than $9,000,000. But during the fourteen years from Jan. 31 1893 to Jan. 31 1907 the aggregate outlays for additions of lands, buildings and additions to and replacement of machinery (over and above all ordinary expenditures for the maintenance and repair of buildings and machinery) have aggregated no less than $23,246,496. Of the whole amount, $18,205,024 has been written off, leaving a net charge on the books of only $5,041,472. This, added to the $3,958,528 reported as the book value of the factory plants on Jan. 31 1893, makes the present total of $9,000,000.

In the merchandise inventories very conservative methods of valuation are also followed, and liberal allowances are likewise made in notes and accounts receivable for possible losses from bad debts. For instance, the notes and accounts receivable, which are entered for $25,786,464 in the accounts, have an actual face value of $27,094,348—$1,307,883 having been deducted for possible losses. In the inventories such apparatus and supplies as are in active demand are carried at the estimated factory cost; inactive or slow-selling apparatus and supplies at about 50% of the estimated factory cost, and obsolete apparatus and supplies at scrap value.

We have referred above to the growth in the company's business as evidence of the industrial activity prevailing in the United States. As a matter of fact, however, the company also does a large foreign business, and this foreign business is each year assuming larger proportions. Thus Vice-President Griffin in his remarks, after noting that during the past year turbo generators of an aggregate capacity of more than 350,000 H. P. had been sold, states that 37 Curtis turbines have been installed in Japan, and that the company has also sold Curtis turbines for installation in England, Ireland, France, Germany, South Africa, Cuba, Mexico, Canada, Brazil, New Zealand, Siam, Peru, Algeria and Spain.

—The Executive Council of the American Bankers' Association, which met at Hot Springs, Va., on the 6th and 7th inst., has decided to hold the present year's annual convention of the organization at Atlantic City, N. J., the week of September 23. The headquarters of the Association will be at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

—Senator Allds bill, regulating the enforcement of the stock transfer tax in New York State, was signed by Governor Hughes this week. The bill, which was passed by the Senate on April 24, and by the Assembly on April 29, was referred to in this department last Saturday.

—Plans to consolidate the Mercantile and Equitable trust companies of this city, which have been taken up anew since the resignation last month of Henry C. Deming as President of the Mercantile Trust, are likely to be brought to tangible shape in a very short while. It is expected that Alvin W. Krech, President of the Equitable Trust Company, will become the head of the united institution, which will probably operate under the name of the Mercantile Trust.

—The board of the Phenix National Bank, Nassau and Liberty streets, New York, this week elected Cashier Alfred N. Bull to the vice-presidency, to succeed George M. Coffin. Bert L. Haskins, former Assistant Cashier has been chosen Cashier. H. C. Hooley was also appointed Assistant Cashier. Mr. Coffin recently resigned to become President of the new Beaver National Bank, at the junction of Beaver, Pearl and Wall streets.

—William O. Douglas, the defaulting assistant loan clerk of the Trust Company of America, this city, pleaded guilty last Thursday to the three indictments of the Grand Jury for grand larceny. His accomplice, Oliver M. Dennett, was indicted on the same charge. Douglas, it is stated, will be a witness against Dennett.

—A new banking institution is being organized in this city by Hugh R. Garden, the law attorney at 34 Nassau Street. The bank is to be known as the Central Park West National Bank of New York. It will locate on the west side of Central Park, and will have a capital of $200,000. The Comptroller has approved the application to organize, which is presented by Shirley E. Johnson, John Franklin Crowell, Edward A. Heshman and Frederick A. Richardson.

—A bill introduced by Senator Saxe providing for some slight amendments to the law relating to the taxation of bank shares was passed by the New York Senate on Monday. The bill makes two changes in the existing law. First, it amends Section 24 of Chapter 908 of the Laws of 1896, as amended by Chapter 550 of the Laws of 1901, Chapter 126 of the Laws of 1902, and Chapter 267 of the Laws of 1903. This amendment relates to the tax of 1% which is assessed upon the stocks of banks and banking associations. The only change here is the addition of the following sentence at the end of Section 24: "No shares of stock of such banks and banking associations, by whomsoever held, shall be exempt from the tax hereby imposed". It has been the rule for trust companies holding bank stock to ask the City of New York to refund taxes paid on their holdings of such bank shares on the ground that the trust companies themselves pay to the State an annual tax of 1% on their shares. This course will no longer be possible under the change proposed.

A further amendment made by the bill passed in the Senate this week relates to the law governing the matter of property exempt from other State taxation, as contained in Section 202. The change here is of the same nature as the other. Following the clause saying that the owners of shares of trust companies shall not be taxed as individuals, there is added the following: "Personal property exempted from taxation by this section shall not include shares of stock of bank and banking associations taxable under the provisions of Section 24 of this Chapter."

This law, dealing with the question of tax exemption, was changed in another respect some weeks ago, when the Legislature enacted an amendment making it unnecessary for trust companies, as was formerly required, to show their receipts for State taxes (other than organization tax) to the local assessors before being declared exempt from other payments. We give herewith this law, as amended, showing in italics the new matter, and in brackets the old matter; we also incorporate therein in both italics and parentheses the further change proposed in the bill passed by the Senate this week;

AN ACT

To amend section two hundred and two of the tax law to relieve local assessors from the duty of assessing property of trust companies which is not locally taxable.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two hundred and two of chapter nine hundred and eight of the laws of eighteen hundred and ninety-six, entitled "An Act in relation to taxation, constituting chapter twenty-four of the general laws," as amended by chapter one hundred and thirty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and one, and chapter one hundred and seventy-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and two, is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 202. Exemptions from other State taxation.—The personal property of every corporation, company, association or partnership, taxable under this article, other than for an organization tax, shall be exempt from assessment and taxation upon its personal property for State purposes, if all taxes due and payable under this article have been paid thereby, [and] The personal property of every corporation taxable under section one hundred and eighty-seven-a of this article, other than for an organization tax, and as provided in chapter thirty-seven of the general laws, shall be exempt from assessment and taxation for all other purposes [if all taxes due and payable under this article have been paid thereby]. The personal property of a private or individual banker, actually employed in his business as such banker, shall be exempt from taxation for State purposes, if such private or individual banker shall have paid all taxes due and payable under this article. Such corporation and private or individual banker shall in no other respect be relieved from assessment and taxation by reason of the provisions of this article. The owner and holder of stock in an incorporated trust company liable to taxation under the provisions of this Act shall not be taxed as an individual for such stock. (Personal property exempted from taxation by this section shall not include shares of stock of banks and banking associations taxable under the provisions of section twenty-four of this chapter.)

This act shall take effect immediately.

—Charles Elliot Warren, who has been appointed Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements for the coming convention of the New York State Bankers' Association, announces that the 1907 meeting will be held on Thursday and Friday, June 27 and 28, at the Hotel Frontenac, St. Lawrence River, Thousand Islands. Mr. Warren (Cashier of the Lincoln National Bank of New York) is associated on the committee with Ledyard Cogswell, President of the New York State National Bank of Albany; David H. Pierson, Cashier of the Bank of Manhattan Company, New York, and E. O. Eldredge, Secretary of the association and Cashier of the New Amsterdam National Bank of New York City. Inasmuch as the convention will probably last over Saturday and Sunday following the dates mentioned, a number of interesting side trips will be provided. Arrangements are now being made by Mr. Warren with the Passenger Department of the New York Central RR. for a special trip rate. If a sufficient number of bankers from this city signify their intention to take space, a special train will be provided to carry the delegates and their families. Elliott C. McDougal, President of the Bank of Buffalo, at Buffalo, is President of the association.

—The Merrill Trust Company of Bangor, Maine, is one of the newer institutions in New England which is steadily increasing its business, as is evident from its statement of condition for April 27. The growth in this instance becomes the more striking when consideration is given to the fact that Bangor has a population of but 25,000, and that the company competes with six other commercial banking organizations in that city. The institution has been operating as a trust company a little less than four years, having succeeded on June 1 1903 to the business of the banking firm of Merrill & Co. Five months later, October 8 1903, it reported deposits of $284,928, which have since risen as follows: $422,370 August 22 1904; $625,102 October 28 1905; $734,179 October 23 1906; and $905,817 on April 27 1907. Within the past two years the company purchased practically the entire capital stock of the Veazie National Bank, which has some $450,000 deposits not included in any way in the trust company's statement. The latter in its latest report shows surplus of $75,000, undivided profits of $42,203, and aggregate resources of $1,230,903. One of the officials of the company expresses the opinion that the Merrill Trust now controls more strictly commercial deposits than any bank in the State of Maine outside the city of Portland.

—The Farmers' and Mechanics' National Bank of Philadelphia which celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of its organization on January 17 with a banquet, marked the centenary of its opening with an exhibition of its curios to its stockholders, depositors, out-of-town correspondents and invited guests. The bank commenced business on the first Wednesday in May 1807. The exhibition, opened on Wednesday the 8th, embraces old books, bank-note plates, letters and other documents coming into the bank's possession relating to its early history. A dividend of 3½%, clear of taxes, was declared by the directors on the 7th inst., and $50,000 was addded to the surplus, making that fund $1,200,000. Since its organization the bank has paid dividends aggregating $12,567,000. The institution has a capital of $2,000,000, and besides its surplus of $1,200,000 has undivided profits of $23,364. The deposits May 1 were $16,999,965.

—The directors of the Real Estate Title Insurance & Trust Company of Philadelphia have elected Holstein De Haven as President to succeed the late Joseph L. Caven.

—It is reported that the $200,000 new stock to be issued by the Western National Bank of Philadelphia will be offered at $120 per share of $100. The dates of payment are June 5, July 5, August 5 and September 5.

—A new State financial institution is to be established in Philadelphia under the title of the American Bank. The capital is to be $200,000 in shares of $50; the stock will be disposed of at $60, thus giving a surplus of $40,000. The bank will locate in the South Philadelphia section, in the vicinity of Passayunk Avenue and Broad Street.

—Still another financial organization in process of formation in Philadelphia is the West Park Title & Trust Company. This company is to have a capital of not less than $125,000 nor more than $250,000. The stock, par value $50, will be offered at $55 per share. The institution expects to start business about July 1. It will locate in the neighborhood of 52d Street and Lancaster Avenue.

—The proposition to reduce the capital of the Merchants' Savings & Trust Company of Pittsburgh from $500,000 to $250,000 was ratified by the stockholders on the 2d inst. It is stated that the change, which will be effected by retiring half the stock at par, $50, will be accomplished within two months.

—H. A. Johnston, heretofore an Assistant Cashier of the Lincoln National Bank of Pittsburgh, has been elected Cashier of the institution to succeed the late William R. Christian.

—A. A. McKinney, formerly Cashier of the Union National Bank of Braddock, recently taken over by the Braddock Trust Company, has been elected Cashier of the First National Bank of Braddock. George C. Watt, lately Cashier of the First National, has replaced F. W. Edwards as Vice-President of the latter institution.

—The consolidation of the Second National and Merchants' National Bank of Toledo became operative on the 1st inst., the Merchants' National being placed in voluntary liquidation on April 30. The plan to consolidate these institutions was set out in these columns February 2. The merger has been consummated under the name of the Second National, which increases its capital from $350,000 to $1,000,000. The enlarged bank has as officers: Edwin Jackson, President; C. F. Adams, T. W. Childs and T. C. Stevens, Vice-Presidents; W. C. Carr, Cashier.

—Richard P. Joy has resigned as Comptroller of the City of Detroit to take the presidency of the new National Bank of Commerce of that City, which is to begin business on June 1. —The Hamilton National Bank of Chicago is now settled in its new quarters on the ground floor of the New York Life Building, corner of La Salle and Monroe streets. This is the very heart of the financial district of Chicago, the National Bank of the Republic occupying the entire first floor of the same building, the Northern Trust Company being directly across and the National City Bank and Bank of Montreal diagonally across La Salle Street, while the Central Trust Company and Monroe National Bank are across Monroe Street, and the Borland Building on the corner is filled with prominent financial institutions. The move ought to be a good one for the Hamilton National, and its growth at the former location, 80 and 82 La Salle St., suggests the possibility of still more rapid progress at the new site. With less than a half million deposits on its opening day, April 21 1903, there has been uninterrupted extension, year by year since then, as follows: April 21 1903, $413,401.29; March 28 1904, $1,565,972.23; March 14 1905, $2,516,808.78; April 6 1906, $4,532,858.20; Jan. 26 1907, $6,155,549.42; March 22 1907, $6,321,360.32. The officers of the Hamilton National Bank are as follows: Charles B. Pike, President; J. H. Cameron, Vice-President; Henry Meyer, Cashier; Geo. H. Wilson and W. T. Perkins, Assistant Cashiers.

—Harrison B. Riley has been elected President of the Chicago Title & Trust Company of Chicago, Ill.—a post which has remained vacant since the death of Elbridge G. Kent, on May 17 1905. Mr. Riley advances from the office of Secretary to which J. A. Richardson has been elected.

Hill, Cashier and Julien H. Hill, Assistant Cashier.

—The Austin National Bank of Austin, Texas, has increased its capital from $150,000 to $300,000. The addition was the result of a dividend of 100% out of the profits declared by the directors and ratified by the stockholders at a meeting on March 16. The par value of the stock is $100 per share. The book value of the stock, after the increase, is $155. The bank was organized in June 1890 with a capital of $150,000, since which time it has earned and paid to its stockholders $346,500 in dividends, and now has a surplus and profit account of $182,098. On March 22 total deposits were $2,763,039 and the resources, $3,395,766. The officers are E. P. Wilmot, President; Walter Tips and Henry Hirshfeld, Vice-Presidents; William H. During the past twelve months dividends aggregating $60,000, declared in September 1906 and March 1907, were paid. The institution recently increased its capital from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, and now (April 24, 1907) reports capital, surplus, and profit and loss account as $3,844,097. As stated before in these columns, the additional stock is to be issued at £40 per share, payable in installments between June 4 to December 31 1907, such installments to bear interest at 5% per annum. The new shares will rank on the same basis with the existing shares from January 1 1908. With the increase of 20,000 new shares at £20 (or £400,000) and a like addition of £20 per share to reserve fund (or £400,000) the bank's financial standing will be as follows: capital £1,200,000, reserve liability of shareholders, £1,200,000; reserve fund £1,475,000; undivided profits £93,000.

—The annual report of the Deutsche Bank (head office Berlin) for the twelve months ending December 31 1906 has been issued. Including the balance of net profits for 1905, amounting to $247,790, the net profits for 1906, after writing off $617,217 from the accounts of buildings and furniture, and making due provision for all bad and doubtful accounts, were $6,939,970—representing 14.57% on the paid-up capital of $47,619,047. The turn-over of the bank in the past year amounted to $20,380,000,000 against $18,380,000,000 in 1905; the number of current deposit and other accounts open in the bank's book at its central and branch offices has increased during the past year from 139,451 to 164,494; the staff of the institution has increased from 3,693 in 1905 to 4,096 at the end of 1906. Current accounts and deposits on December 31 1906 are given as $297,796,221.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, April 27 1907.

At the beginning of the week the Imperial Bank of Germany reduced its rate of discount from 6% to 5½%, and the Bank of the Netherlands put down its rate from 5½% to 5%. On Thursday the Bank of England lowered its rate from 4½% to 4%. Notwithstanding all this, however, business upon the Stock Exchange continues utterly stagnant. Indeed, it is alleged both by brokers and jobbers that never in their memory has there been less business doing, and bankers confirm the statement, asserting that they have found it extremely difficult to employ money at the settlement this week.

As money now promises to be both plentiful and cheap for at least some months to come, people are naturally puzzling themselves as to what can be the reason of the present stagnation, and the general opinion seems to be that it is the attitude of Germany. It is observed that the Bank of France has not put down its rate, and that, in fact, money is dearer in Paris at present than it is in London. The inference generally drawn from this is that, although it is quite true that trade is exceptionally good in France—much better than it has been for years past—and although it is also true that both the Bank of France and the other banks desire to discourage speculation, yet their real object is to keep their funds well in hand lest, in her present temper, Germany might suddenly attack her western neighbor. The criticisms passed by Germany on the meeting of King Edward and the King of Italy have greatly impressed European opinion. The inference generally drawn is that Germany, finding herself in general ill-odor because of her rather hectoring conduct of late, and finding that, in consequence, she is gradually being isolated, is becoming restive, and that at any moment she may embark upon a policy of adventure. Nevertheless the best opinion does not accept this view. That there is much disquiet and even irritation in Germany because of her practical isolation is of course not to be disputed. But that Germany will engage in war or even engage in a course of conduct which may threaten war the best informed do not believe. Nobody disputes Germany's military and naval strength, and that she would be a most formidable antagonist even against a coalition is of course also accorded. Still the belief is that any unprovoked action on her part would evoke such general opposition that her Government will not venture upon it.

The general view, therefore, is that the present stagnation will not last. It is to be observed that trade all over Europe is either already good or is decidedly improving. It is only upon the Stock Exchange that there is extraordinary stagnation, and the argument is that in a little while the public will recognize that there is no danger of war, and that then they will begin to invest upon a large scale. While the Bank of England rate was at 6% or even at 5%, many people who had suffered losses because of the heavy fall in consols, British railway stocks, and other securities, preferred to place their savings on deposit with the banks rather than venture upon either investment or speculation. Now, however, that the Bank rate is down to 4% the other banks are allowing on deposit only 2½%, and therefore it is felt that depositors will soon tire of this and that we shall see before long very large and active investment.

In France business is nearly as quiet as it is in London. The French banks, moreover, have diminished the balances they are employing in London, partly because of the fall in rates here, partly because of the great improvement in trade at home and partly because they find it much more profitable to increase their balances in Germany. In Germany business on the Stock Exchange is also quiet, but trade continues good, and although the Bank rate has been put down to 5½%, still the reserve of the Bank is small, and it is doubted whether much further reduction will be made for the present. The German and Prussian loan was brought out on Thursday and has been a very great success, as was certain to be the case, for the interest it bears is 4% and the issue price was only 99. The applications, therefore, at home and from Holland, Belgium and Switzerland were very large. The applications from France and England, however, were very small. The general explanation is that in France and England the investor does not care for a security which will be paid off in five years, and that the rate of interest was not sufficiently attractive for either bankers or insurance companies, considering what a number of good securities giving nearly as high a return are obtainable.

In Russia trade is surprisingly good, in spite of the political uncertainty and the famine over so large an area of the Empire. Just at the moment there is politically a much more hopeful feeling in Western Europe respecting Russia. It is believed, rightly or wrongly, that M. Stolypin has triumphed over the Reactionaries; that he is more than ever in favor with the Emperor, and that he is gradually preparing to work along with the Constitutional Democrats and to establish a really Constitutional system. If this happens, there will be a very considerable rise in Russian bonds, and the belief in peace will be immensely strengthened.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 70 lacs, and the applications exceeded 572¾ lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 1-16d. to 1s. 4 5-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 3-32d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4⅛d. per rupee were allotted about 27% of the amounts applied for.

The following return shows the position of the Bank of England, the Bank rate of discount, the price of consols, &c., compared with the last four years.

China has been the chief element of strength, and Shanghai exchange has risen ⅛d. during the week. India has done very little and quotes 77⅛ Rs. Cash silver is now more plentiful, and in consequence of this and the forward demand for China the premium on cash is now only 1-16d. Arrivals—New York, £170,000. Shipments—Singapore (coin), £61,250; Bombay, £17,826; Colombo, £5,000; total, £84,076.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending May 4. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

Wall Street, Friday Night, May 10 1907.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Previous to the announcement late on Thursday that a large amount of new securities will soon be issued by the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific companies, very little enthusiasm had developed on the floor of the Stock Exchange during the week. The announcement was so unexpected and the amount involved so large ($111,000,000) as to be somewhat startling. It was followed by liberal and more or less urgent sales of the outstanding securities of the companies, and a sharp decline of prices throughout the list. Naturally, there was a reaction from this decline, but to-day's market has been decidedly unsettled and irregular.

Up to the time of the announcement mentioned, sentiment had been influenced chiefly by crop reports. These continued to be mostly of an unfavorable character, owing, as is well known, to the unusually backward spring, and there was a disposition to delay operations until the Government report due to-day should be given out. This shows a rating of 82.9 for winter wheat on May 1st as against 89.9 on April 1st, 91 May 1st 1905, 92.5 on May 1 1905 and 76.5 on May 1 1904.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2 to 3%. To-day's rates on call were 2½@3%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5½% for endorsements and 5½% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £172,882, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.70, against 45.21 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed April 25 at 4%. The Bank of France shows an increase of 13,375,000 francs in gold and 1,700,000 francs in silver.

Foreign Exchange.—After opening strong, with sight at the highest figures of the year, the market was irregular and feverishly declined, closing steadier. It was influenced by speculative selling, a moderate demand and a better supply of bills.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal quotations for sterling exchange were 4 84@4 84½ for sixty-day and 4 87 for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 8340@4 8350 for long, 4 8620@4 8625 for short and 4 8655@4 8660 for cables. State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $11,000 Virginia's deferred trust receipts at 20 and $5,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 95¼.

The transactions in railway and industrial bonds have been on a more limited scale than even the recent small average, and the tendency of prices has been, in sympathy with shares, towards a lower level. As usual under such conditions, the decline of convertible issues has been more marked than that of other bonds.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board include $5,000 2s, coup., 1930, at 104⅛; $2,000 3s, coup., 1908-18, at 102¼; $1,000 4s, reg., 1925, at 130, and $1,000 4s, coup., 1907, at 101½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been somewhat more active. It was dull during the early part of the week, the transactions on Wednesday aggregating less than 400,000 shares, and prices generally showed a tendency to decline. This tendency became a pronounced movement on the announcement of large new issues noted above and prices fell off sharply. Under the lead of Union Pacific, which dropped nearly 8 points, Reading declined nearly 5, and other prominent issues from 2 to 4 points within an hour. Later the market rallied and early to-day there was further recovery, but this strength was not maintained and closing prices are, in many cases, at or very near the lowest of the week.

Among the exceptional features of the week have been Delaware & Hudson, which declined 11½ points on unconfirmed rumors of a contemplated loan, and New York Central, which sold down over 6 points on its report for the first quarter of the year. North West. dropped 4 points, perhaps in sympathy

The local transportation issues and Consolidated Gas were weak on discussion of the Public Utilities bill in the State Legislature.—Interboro-Metropolitan selling at the lowest price in its history.

Federal Sugar common and preferred were conspicuous for an advance of 6 and 15 points respectively, the latter to a new high record for the year. Moreover they are the only issues traded in that close higher than last week. Smelting and Refining closes with a net loss of 5 points.

For daily volume of business see page 1103.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

West Jersey & Seashore Railroad.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President James McCrea, under date of Philadelphia, Feb. 26 1907, says in substance:

Statistics.—The tons carried increased 16.87%; tonnage mileage increased 21.28%; freight train mileage, 19.53%. The passengers carried increased 12.94%; passenger mileage increased 10.48%, and passenger train mileage increased 19.82%. The rate per ton per mile decreased 6.09% to 2.16 cents and the rate per passenger per mile increased 1.06% to 1.337 cents.

General Remarks.—The workings of the system for the year show large increases in both the freight and passenger earnings, the total increase in gross earnings being $553,878. There was, however, a decided increase in the expense of maintenance of equipment and a still greater increase in the conducting transportation expenses, the total increase in expenses being $568,186. The resulting decrease in net earnings was $14,307. In addition, there was a heavy increase in taxes, so that after providing for all liabilities, the net income was $797,648, against which were charged the regular sinking fund payment under the consolidated mortgage, and two dividends of 3% each on the capital stock, leaving a balance of $274,729 to be carried to the credit of profit and loss account. The second semi-annual dividend was paid upon the increased amount of stock resulting from the allotment of 55% made March 30 1906.

New Stock.—This allotment was for the purpose of providing a portion of the funds needed for the electrification of your road from Camden via Newfield to Atlantic City and from Newfield to Millville, and other necessary improvements and facilities. To the same end a sale was made of $1,061,000 of 4% consolidated mortgage bonds maturing July 1 1936.

Construction, &c.—The aggregate amount of construction, equipment and real estate expenditures during the year was $6,312,812, viz.:

Charges to Capital Account Aggregating $6,112,812.

Electrification, Camden (Haddon Ave.) to Atlantic City via Newfield and Newfield to Millville	$4,460,296
Connection between Atlantic City Division and Atlantic City RR. at Winslow Junction	183,174
New lines, &c., in Camden, N. J	522,780
Double-track freight line Westville to Haddonfield Junction	244,910
Miscellaneous	122,739
Electric railway and other equipment	559,719
Real estate	19,193

The charges against the extraordinary expenditure fund set aside in 1905 aggregated $200,000, of which $123,406 was spent at Camden for inspection shed and shop, changes of track and other facilities, interlocking and removal of milk facilities to Cooper's Point.

In addition we paid $14,648 as our proportion of the cost of Camden joint terminal improvements, making our total proportion to Dec. 31 1906 $1,894,500.

You will note from the foregoing statement that the construction expenditure for the year was mainly in the electrification of your railroad from Camden to Atlantic City via Newfield Junction, and from the latter point to Millville. This required an independent terminal and various other changes and improvements in Camden. As the result of these expenditures the company has one of the most completely equipped long distance electric lines in the country, but as the line could not be put in operation until Sept. 18 1906, the close of the season for heavy summer passenger traffic, and the complete service was not inaugurated until a month later, your company did not derive any material benefit from its earnings during the remaining portion of the year.

In order to divert from the electrified portion of your railroad the steam trains for seaside points, reached by the Cape May Division south and east of Sea Isle Junction, a connection was constructed between your Atlantic City Division and the Philadelphia & Reading's Atlantic City RR. at Winslow Junction, and between that railroad and your Cape May Division at Mount Pleasant.

Other important improvements, still under way, are the new freight line from Westville to Haddonfield Junction and the new overhead connecting line from Spruce St. on the Atlantic City Division, to Van Hook St., on the Cape May Division, in Camden. In connection with the electrification of the Somers' Point Branch and its use under the contract by the Atlantic City & Shore RR. Co., it was necessary to double track that branch from Pleasantville to Somers' Point, for which we shall receive a satisfactory increase in the rental.

United Railways Investment Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

The report of President Ernst Thalmann for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1906 accompanied by the income accounts of the United Railroads of San Francisco and the Philadelphia Company, singly and combined, and also the income account and balance sheet of the United Railways Investment Co., will be found in extenso in the advertising department of to-day's "Chronicle." The report of the Philadelphia Company is also given on subsequent pages of this issue.

President Thalmann, April 16 1907, says in brief:

Acquisitions.—During the year 1906 your company acquired $24,200,000 common capital stock of the Philadelphia Co., being approximately 72.8% of the outstanding common capital stock of that company. Of the stock so acquired $21,000,000 was deposited by stockholders of the common stock of the Philadelphia Co. under the plan ratified April 5 1906 (V. 82 p. 393, 510), and the shares so acquired were duly deposited under the collateral trust agreement securing our 5% "prior lien collateral trust bonds," as required by said plan (see application to list in V. 83, p. 1235).

The residue of such common capital stock, amounting to $3,200,000, was acquired later in the year, and of that amount $2,690,000 had been delivered to your company and paid for by it prior to Dec. 31 1906, and the balance, $510,000, was delivered and paid for in Jan. 1907. The purchase price of such $3,200,000 of common stock was derived finally, in part, from the sale of $2,400,000 of the additional 5% "collateral trust bonds" at 90, and the residue, amounting to over $1,000,000, was paid from the earnings and other available cash assets of the company. By reason of the issue of the additional 5% collateral trust bonds mentioned, our funded debt, which amounted Dec. 31 1906 to $15,750,000, is now $18,150,000.

The certificates for the $3,200,000 of stock of the Philadelphia Co. so acquired were duly deposited and pledged under the agreement securing the collateral trust 5% bonds, in accordance with the terms thereof, concurrently with the issue and authentication of the additional bonds.

Payment of Floating Debt—Further Requirements.—The floating debt, which amounted to $2,090,000 on Dec. 31 1906, has since been repaid from the proceeds of the additional collateral trust bonds above mentioned, and at the date of this report amounts approximately to $135,000, which will, however, again be increased presently as your directors have arranged to provide funds for the United Railroads of San Francisco towards the accruing requirements of that company for the reconstruction and improvement work in progress.

Investments.—The total book value of the investments, as shown on the balance sheet, amounted Dec. 31 1906 to $53,126,482, approximately one-half of this representing our interest in the United Railroads of San Francisco and the other half representing our interest in the common stock of the Philadelphia Co. at that date.

Controlled Companies.—During the current year the Philadelphia Co. has paid the regular dividend on its preferred stock and the usual 6% on its common stock, and all the surplus earnings above the same has been retained by that company for its corporate purposes.

Both the gross and net earnings of the United Railroads of San Francisco had shown excellent results up to April 18 1906. On that date the earthquake occurred, which resulted in a disastrous fire and involved the company in great loss, including the destruction of the cable power-houses and severe injury to the cable conduits. The company reports that it has now installed the over-head trolley system on practically all the important roads formerly operated by cable, and that over 91% of the mileage of the company is now in operation, and that they expect to place the balance of 9% in operation as rapidly as the city completes certain necessary street improvements. Between Dec. 31 1905 and March 1 1907 there had been expended in the restoration and reconstruction of its lines and plant, including improvements and betterments and the physical loss resulting from the earthquake and fire, a total of over $4,000,000. All expenditures for betterments and improvements made to March 1 1907 had been financed by said company, and its current liabilities Feb. 28 1907 did not exceed the amount usually carried by that company.

Strike.—The conditions existing in San Francisco consequent upon the earthquake also led to a strike on the lines of the railroad company, involving practically all its employees, which lasted from Aug. 26 to Sept. 5 1906. Although the strike terminated in a resumption of work on the part of the company's employees pending arbitration, it yet occasioned considerable financial loss to the company. The decision of the arbitrators established a rate of wages for a period terminating May 1 1907. Negotiations are pending to extend the adjustment [see item on a subsequent page.—Ed.]

Proposed Issue of First Preferred Stock by United Railroads of San Francisco.—In connection with plans intended to provide the United Railroads of San Francisco with moneys to be required by it in the future for construction and improvements, authority has been given by the directors of your company to vote the stock holdings of this company in the United Railroads of San Francisco in favor of a proposal to increase the capital stock of that company by the creation of an issue of $5,000,000 of first preferred stock, the same to bear interest at the rate of not less than 6% per annum, and to be cumulative. Of this issue of first preferred stock, $1,500,000 is presently issuable, and your directors have authorized a subscription thereto by your company, at par, for cash.

Earnings.—Messrs. Haskins & Sells have prepared a tabulated statement of the consolidated earnings, charges, dividends and surplus of the Philadelphia Co. and the United Railroads of San Francisco for the calendar year 1906, in part based on provisional figures.

The figures given by these tables afford a reasonable basis for the calculation of the future prospects of your company. When it is considered that in the course of the year 1906 the earnings of the United Railroads of San Francisco have been subjected to the earthquake, the resulting conflagration and all its consequences, the strike of its employees, and the consequent general demoralization, they offer a most encouraging promise for the future and justify the hope that at no distant date payment of cash dividends may be resumed. Had the Investment Co. been the owner during the entire year 1906 of the common stock of the Philadelphia Co. now held by it, and had the respective surpluses of the two companies been declared as dividends, the Investment Co. would have shown an earning power during that year of $2,821,976, which would have been equivalent to its operating expenses, interest on its outstanding obligations, and 5% dividends on the outstanding preferred stock, leaving a surplus of $1,460,968.

No cash dividends were paid during the year 1906 by the United Railroads of San Francisco.

A comparison of this statement with a similar statement of Messrs. Haskins & Sells for the year 1905 shows that the combined gross earnings for the year 1906 exceeded those for the year 1905, and after the deduction of all charges against the net earnings, the statement shows an amount for the year 1906, applicable to improvements, betterments, extensions, sinking funds, depreciation and dividends approximately the same as for the year 1905.

Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad

President A. C. Frost, Chicago, April 4 1907, writes:

In presenting the report for the year 1906, we are glad to show a substantial gain in earnings and extensive improvements made during the past year. The construction work has been of the most substantial character, involving large expenditure, which is justified by the extraordinary territory through which we operate.

The route is practically an air-line, entirely on private right-of-way not less than 100 feet wide, through the cities, as well as through the country, having a maximum of 0.4 grade and a maximum of one degree curves. All abutments and culverts are heavy concrete; all bridges, steel, built for carrying 100,000 lb. capacity cars; steel rails, 80 lb. laid on first quality white oak ties, 2 foot centers, continuous rail joints—all planned for a four-track road—two for local service and two for fast express service. The company holds most satisfactory franchises, all but four being in perpetuity. All the franchises of the Wisconsin Division are perpetual, except for the entrance into Milwaukee, which is for 30 years. The Chicago & Milwaukee Electric RR. connects Chicago with Milwaukee and 23 other cities and towns along the line—serving a population of 3,000,000, which is rapidly increasing.

Last year the company built a cut-off between Highland Park and Lake Forest, a distance of about 2 miles, thereby eliminating two bad curves and greatly reducing the time between the two cities. A number of new stations and shelters were built; the capacity of the power plant increased, and 10 large interurban cars added to our equipment. The company also made other improvements along its entire line; $200,000 was expended for permanent improvements out of our surplus.

The Wisconsin Division, as far as Racine, was placed in operation on Sept. 2 1906 and the earnings from this extension have been very gratifying. Nearly all the right-of-way from Racine to Milwaukee has been acquired and the road constructed to within 15 miles of Milwaukee. It is expected to have the road in operation to Milwaukee about Oct. 1. The Milwaukee franchise gives the company a straight entrance on its own tracks into the business center of Milwaukee, crossing all railroad tracks in that city by means of steel viaducts and steel bridges, thereby avoiding all grade crossings. The entire property is built for fast through express service between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Active construction work has begun on the United States Naval Training Station and 1,000 men will be employed there this year. $2,000,000 has already been appropriated and it is expected that a total of $5,000,000 will be expended on the property. (V. 82, p. 1099.)

On Dec. 1 1906 the company entered into a contract with the United States Express Co. for operating its express business over our lines, from which we are assured a profit of at least $25,000 for this year. We also made a contract with the Racine Stone Co., whose quarries are located three miles north of Racine, for hauling its entire product of about 1,000 cubic yards of crushed stone per day. This contract assures us a profit of $75,000 this year.

Diamond Match Co., Chicago.

(Statement Made at Annual Meeting—Committee's Report.)

At the annual meeting held in Chicago on May 1 President Barber submitted substantially the following statement (compare annual report figures in V. 84, p. 747):

Shortly after the special meeting of the stockholders, held in May 1906, an examining committee was appointed by the board, and I now submit its report:

The undersigned, appointed to employ experts to audit your books and appraise your property, respectfully report that the Audit Company of New York has submitted a report showing:

"Condition of Company as of Dec. 31 1906.

Assets—
Land, buildings, machinery, equipment, interest in California plants, lands, &c., foreign and other investments	$7,858,869

"Combined Income Account for the Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.

Repairs, replacements and depreciation on match plants	$202,788
Repairs, replacements and depreciation on California properties	111,066

Total surplus Dec. 31 1906		$1,331,916

"The Audit Company shows that it would have charged off $207,550 for depreciation of match factories, &c., and $115,375 for depreciation of the California plants. The company's aggregate charges for replacements, repairs and depreciation to match factories amounted to $202,788 and to $111,066 for similar items in respect to the California plants. Since the difference in totals was found to be so slight, the Audit Company considered the company's charges sufficient and accepted its figures. Your committee, however, calls attention to the fact that the company's statements as usually published convey the idea that no charges whatever are made against profits for depreciation or replacements.

[Signed by E. A. POTTER, GRANGER FARWELL, C. H. PALMER.]

I have no comment to make except to say that I consider the values placed by the Audit Company upon our plants, property, &c., greatly below not only the cost of replacing such plants at the present time, but in some instances even less than the first cost of construction, notwithstanding that they were built when labor and material were greatly lower than at present time. The constant effort of your management has been to maintain the property in the best possible condition, and liberal sums have been expended year by year for repairs, replacements and betterments which have been charged off direct to expense. Again, the action of the company in making heavy charges from time to time against surplus for depreciation or reduction of plant, &c., account, has tended to wipe out the loss that has been sustained in the sale of wreckage of plants that have at different times been acquired. I believe that if an appraisal had been made with less conservatism, the report would have suggested a much lower figure for patents, trade-marks, &c.

Dividends.—At the meeting of the shareholders held in May 1906 there was some discussion as to the propriety of reducing the dividend from 10 to 8%. The satisfactory results of our operations for the year 1906, however, emphatically indicated that no such action was necessary, and in view of the flattering prospects of the company, its excellent condition and increasing trade, there seems to be no occasion whatever of even so much as discussing a reduction at this time.

Acquisition.—In my report of March 1907 (V. 84, p. 747) I stated that we had taken an option on 93,000 acres of timber land in California adjacent to our present holdings, and that experts had been employed to make estimates of the value of the quantity of timber thereon. James D. Lacey & Co., who made the examination, have submitted their report, and it is so favorable that I cannot but believe that a rare opportunity has been given us. At a meeting of our board of directors held yesterday, it was resolved that the option be exercised and that the property be purchased for $1,000,000 for the timber, real estate, logging railways, equipment, fixtures, &c., and in addition thereto the lumber, merchandise and supplies at inventoried value. This acquisition is believed to be of great importance, not only because of the present as well as prospective value of the timber, but also because of our present heavy investment in permanent equipment, logging roads, sawmills, &c., in California, the life of which will obviously be extended in consequence of the largely increased amount of timber we will acquire under this option.

In my report I intimated that you might possibly be called upon to invest additional money in order to permit the company to acquire this property, and I also stated that it had been suggested that the lumber business should be segregated from the Diamond Match Co. Both of these matters have been carefully considered, and in view of the favorable outlook for business and earnings for the current year, it will not be necessary to make any unusual arrangements for financing the property, as the company is abundantly able to undertake the purchase without calling upon its shareholders, as the terms of payment are liberal. While for many reasons it would be desirable if a company were organized to take over the lumber department of the company, no move will be made in that direction at the present time, notwithstanding the expressed wish of our English associates, Bryant & May, that such a plan be pursued. As you are aware, Bryant & May are interested with us jointly in our lumber operations in California, and they have for some time been insistent that a company be organized to take over the property and that the stock of such company be divided equally between them and ourselves. As interested with us jointly in California, they will of course be invited to co-operate with us in the purchase of the property which we are now about to make; should they fail or decline to join us, we will, nevertheless, buy the property ourselves.

Outlook.—Our sales for February were the largest in the history of the company; our various plants are being taxed to the utmost and everything indicates that the year 1907 will be our banner year. The capacity of our plants is being increased and a new factory is about to be built in order that we may keep pace with the demands of the trade.—V. 84, p. 1055, 747.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

C. M. Schwab, President and Chairman of the Board, April 2 1907 writes in substance:

General Results.—From the consolidated balance sheet as of Dec. 31 1906, and profit and loss account for 1906, submitted herewith, the financial operations for the year show the following results:

Total income of the constituent companies of the corporation	$1,320 053
Deduct bond interest of constituent companies	557,304
Net income for the year	$762,749

against which have been declared dividends at the rate of 5%, or $745,400, of which three quarterly dividends were paid during 1906, and the fourth Feb. 1 1907 (May 1906, 1¾%; Aug. 1906, 1¾%; Nov. 1906, ¾%; Feb 1907, ¾%; total, 5%.—Ed.)

The following amounts were charged to accumulated surplus, not being considered properly chargeable against the earnings of the past fiscal year for reasons explained below:

Loss by earthquake and fire at Union Iron Works, San Francisco, Cal	$118,401
Loss by fire at Bethlehem Steel Co	60,000
c Share (proportionate to work remaining to be performed Jan. 1 1905) of the loss in excess of $250,000 provided in 1905, on Government cruisers contracted for by the United States Shipbuilding Co	439,093
d Balance of estimated loss on uncompleted ship contracts taken since the formation of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, Jan. 1 1905, after charging against net income proportion applicable to 1906	500,974

(c)—Certain large contracts for ships, taken but not completed by the United States Shipbuilding Co. (whose properties were purchased by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation), have proved to have been taken at a price which could only result in a loss of about $1,725,000. While it has been considered proper to charge to the operations of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation a part of this loss, proportionate to the relative amount of work done by this corporation in completing the contracts, it has been considered that, as these contracts were not taken by this corporation, no part of such loss should be deducted in arriving at the profits for the normal operations of the year, but that it should rather be provided for by appropriating for this purpose from the general surplus. The provision made at the end of 1906 covers (with that provided in 1905 and the charge to property account) the total estimated loss on these cruisers. These contracts are now about completed, and the last of these ships should be delivered about May 1907.

(d)—While no profits are included in the income given for 1906 on profitable contracts not completed and not delivered, a part (proportionate to the work done) has been taken up in this income of the estimated loss on incomplete contracts on which losses are anticipated. One contract for ships begun in 1905 now shows a probable loss. A part of this loss, proportionate to work done in 1905, is therefore charged to surplus as not applicable to 1906. There is also charged to surplus the part of the loss proportionate to work to be done after 1906 to complete all ship contracts on which a loss is now anticipated. Provision has therefore been made in these statements to cover the entire estimated loss on such contracts.

Explanation of Decrease in Income.—The decrease in income in 1906 as compared with that in 1905 has been due to a number of causes.

The largest portion of the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant was primarily adapted to the production of Government work, although also suitable for the production of certain lines of commercial work. During the past year, there has been a large decrease in the volume of orders received from the Government, and steps were taken to develop the business in commercial lines. Additional shops and mills were erected to increase the production of commercial material. The largest development was the erection of an entirely new plant, reference to which was made in our last report, for the manufacture of rails and of structural shapes by a new process to which the company has secured the exclusive American rights. The new plant, it is now expected, will become productive in July of this year. The fiscal year 1906 has as far as the income of the Bethlehem Steel Co. is concerned, been a part of the transition period, and this has been reflected in the diminished income shown. While the new mills will not reach their full normal earning capacity during the current year, it is believed that they will add materially to the income of 1907.

Profit and Loss Account of Bethlehem Steel Co. for Year ended Dec. 31 1906.

Earnings	$9,540,010	Deduct Interest Accrued

Other income	130,076	Interest on notes	3,063
Total income	$1,651,231	Total	$560,367
Surplus for the year available for dividends			$1,090,864
Less dividends to Bethlehem Steel Corporation			1,012,500

x The interest above ($45,274) on the company's first extension mortgage 5s includes the proportion of discount and the amount of interest chargeable against operations of the year.

It will be noted that even under the adverse conditions existing in 1906 and with the new plant not yet in operation, the total income of the Bethlehem Steel Co., $1,651,231, would be at a rate sufficient to pay the interest on its purchase-money mortgage 6% bonds outstanding, $444,480; and the interest on the entire $12,000,000 issue of its first mortgage extension 5% gold bonds, $600,000, leaving a surplus of $606,751, which would give a substantial margin for sinking fund on first extension mortgage bonds (which commences in 1908), interest on loans, depreciation, and towards dividends to the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, leaving further applicable to dividends the increase which is confidently anticipated in the earnings of the present plant from development of the commercial business and the entire earnings of the new plant.

Ship Yards.—The results of the operations of the ship yards have been very unsatisfactory. While repair work in these yards has been profitable, a serious loss has developed in several large ship contracts. At the time of the purchase of the shipbuilding properties by the Corporation, there were on hand a number of unprofitable ship contracts, principally Government cruisers, which have since shown a much larger loss than was anticipated. Losses have also developed on ship contracts, not yet completed, taken since the purchase of the shipbuilding properties, due largely to the unfavorable labor conditions existing at the Union Iron Works at San Francisco following the earthquake. The statement of income of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation for the year ended Dec. 31 1906, and the adjustment of its surplus and property accounts, reflect what is believed to be the entire loss to be sustained on such contracts. Future ship contracts will only be taken on an assured margin of profit, and if these cannot be obtained, the Union Iron Works Co. will devote its attention entirely to ship repair work and mining machinery.

Dividends.—As a result of the decreased earnings, your directors deemed it advisable to reduce the dividends payable Nov. 1 1906 and Feb 1 1907 to ¾ of 1%, making the total dividends declared out of the income of 1906 at the rate of 5% per annum on the preferred stock.

Orders, &c.—The total estimated value of the orders booked by the corporation during the year aggregated $16,216,570, with an estimated value of unfilled orders on hand Dec. 31 1906 of $13,300,885.

Union Iron Works Co.—This plant is situated outside the zone of the greatest destruction by the earthquake of April 18 1906, and consequently escaped with damages which, while serious, were slight compared to those suffered by property in the heart of the city. Apart, however, from the actual destruction of property, the labor situation which has followed the earthquake has seriously affected this plant.

The yard is particularly well located for securing a large volume of ship repair work and this branch of the business has been profitable, but under the unfavorable conditions obtaining during the year, only one ship has been delivered—the U. S. Cruiser "Milwaukee". The plant has under construction two cruisers for the Government, which will probably be delivered in April and May, and four other ships, one of which should be delivered during March. Progress has been made in the development of the mining machinery business, and good results are expected.

Harlan & Hollingsworth Corporation.—This plant has been placed in good condition. During the year 1906 this yard has delivered 11 vessels and 158 cars, besides boilers, engines, &c., and miscellaneous repair work. There are now on the books orders for 14 vessels and 131 cars, which will employ the capacity of the plant until the fall of 1907, mostly at a good margin of profit.

Samuel L. Moore & Sons Corporation.—This plant has been developing its general foundry and machine shop business and new lines of specialties. It is now well filled with work. The Crescent Shipyard Corporation has not been operated since the formation of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and it is intended to consolidate it with the Samuel L. Moore & Sons Corporation (the properties being adjoining).

Bethlehem Steel Company.—During the year this company has delivered $7,400,000 of its $12,000,000 first extension mortgage 5% gold bonds, to provide a fund for the construction and extensions under way.

The $1,351,000 5% bonds of the Bethlehem Iron Co. matured Feb. 1 1907 and have been paid.

The mines of the Juragua Iron Co., a subsidiary to the Bethlehem Steel Co., have been in continuous operation throughout the year. The principal work done has been in the line of development and equipment for a larger and more economical output, the attendant cost of which has been deferred as a charge against future mining operations. The ore bodies on this property, it is demonstrated, are even more extensive than anticipated at the time of the acquisition of the property.

Other Subsidiaries.—No operations are being carried on at the plants of the Eastern Shipbuilding Corporation and the Cartaret Improvement Co.

x At the Bethlehem Steel Co. a number of new departments have been put in operation during 1906, the original equipment of small tools, &c., being charged to operations, although it might properly have been considered a capital charge. Further, a large part of the work on the new plant is being built by the Bethlehem Steel Co and charged to capital account at cost, making the book value of these improvements stand at a lower figure than if purchased from a contractor who would add profit. The use of the facilities of the company for this purpose has, of course, reduced the amount of salable product and consequent profits. In view of the above, and the present physical condition of the various plants, no depreciation has been deducted for the year 1906.

Pennsylvania Steel Company (of New Jersey).

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

The report, signed by President E. C. Felton and Chairman of the Executive Committee E. B. Morris, gives, under date of May 3, the following particulars regarding the operations of the mining, manufacturing and railroad companies owned or controlled for the fiscal year 1906:

Mining Companies.—Reference was made in the last annual report to the formation, in your interest, of the Penn-Mary Coal Co. (V. 82, p. 1104) and the purchase by it of a large acreage of coking coal. This property, situated in Indiana County, Penn., was taken over on May 1 1906 and is now producing about 30,000 tons of coal monthly. It is being further developed by opening new mines and by the construction of an additional coal tipple. The scarcity of efficient labor has retarded its development considerably.

In line with the policy of increasing ore reserves, your subsidiary company, The Pennsylvania Steel Co., of Pennsylvania, purchased during 1906 6¼ additional shares in the Cornwall Ore Banks (compare V. 72, p. 1241, 1283; V. 73, p. 1364; V. 74, p. 1312; V. 76, p. 917; V. 80, p. 655) and now own a majority interest in that property. A notable addition to your supplies of iron ore has also been made by your subsidiary company, the Spanish-American Iron Co., in the discovery of an extensive deposit of iron ore which has been acquired and which will be developed as fast as circumstances permit. The development will involve the building of a railroad, with the necessary ore docks, towns, shops and mining equipment, and, if it is to be made rapidly and economically, will require to be financed independently of the current surplus earnings available for plant additions and improvements. The producing mines of the Spanish-American Iron Co., near Santiago in the Island of Cuba, made their maximum output in 1906. These mines are in excellent condition.

Manufacturing Companies.—The amount of steel produced and the value of products involved were in excess of those for any previous year; 809,000 tons of pig iron were made in 1906, as compared with 748,000 tons in 1905, and 980,000 tons of steel ingots in 1906 as compared with 847,000 tons in 1905.

At the Steelton plant of the Pennsylvania Steel Co. the 120 by product coke ovens were completed with the year 1906, were started in January 1907, and are now in full operation. The construction of a new open-hearth plant, consisting of five 75 ton furnaces, was begun in June, 1906, and will be completed about the middle of the present year. Important additions were made during the year to billet mill and slabbing mill at Steelton and to the ore and copper concentrating plants at Lebanon.

At the Sparrow's Point plant of the Maryland Steel Co. the replacing of all blowing engines at blast furnaces was finished and the remodeling and compounding of other important engines in the steel plants were well advanced during 1906. The improvements to blast furnaces have resulted in a very gratifying increase in the output of that department.

The marine department of the Maryland Steel Co. built ten vessels during 1906, and also did an amount of repair work to ships about equal to that of previous years.

Railroad Companies.—The railroad companies, owned or controlled, were successfully operated.

All Companies.—Out of the balance of profits remaining, after deducting interest charges, charges to general and special depreciation and dividends paid, your subsidiary companies have transferred $1,851,794 to their reserves for plant improvements.

The subsidiary companies expended during 1906 $2,328,591 for capital account. The principal items from which this expenditure was made were the completion of the coke oven plant and the construction of the new open hearth plant at the Steelton works of the Pennsylvania Steel Co.

Dividends to the amount of 7% have been paid during the year on your preferred stock. No dividend has been paid on your common stock.

Outlook for 1907.—The program for 1907 comprises no important expenditure at the Steelton works other than that involved in the completion of the new open hearth plant now under construction. At the Sparrow's Point plant, improvements in the handling of raw materials for blast furnaces, from ships to the blast furnace plant, are contemplated.

The most important matter now before us is the development of the new iron ore property in Cuba belonging to the Spanish American Iron Co referred to above. This is a subject of supreme importance to your company and the plans for developing the property and for financing the enterprise are now having our earnest consideration.

The business outlook for the year 1907 is good. The amount of orders booked by your subsidiary companies is in excess of any previous year. The increase in costs of labor, supplies and raw materials will, however, considerably reduce their net profits.

Bush Terminal Company.

(Report for the Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President Irving T. Bush March 12 1907 writes in substance:

Construction work was so delayed that many improvements did not produce income until the closing months of the year, and some not until early in 1907. Additions which are now producing a monthly revenue of $20,000 produced practically nothing during 1906. With this exception the business has continued upon a satisfactory basis, and a substantial increase of income for 1907 seems assured. Other construction work is under way, but will probably not become productive until 1908.

Pier No. 2, the sixth pier to be constructed by the company, was completed early in Jan. 1907, and has been leased for a term of years. The sprinkler plant, installed at an expense of nearly $500,000, was completed early in 1906, and the present rates of insurance vary from one-half to one-tenth of those formerly in force.

The ferry from the Battery to the foot of 39th St., Brooklyn, was acquired by the City Oct. 1 1906, which will be of great benefit to all commercial interests in South Brooklyn. In addition, the city has decided to undertake the development of all the vacant property on both sides of the company's plant, on the South Brooklyn water-front, and has both taken steps to acquire this property and has approved a plan for the construction of nine piers, similar in a general way to our own. This will result in making South Brooklyn the greatest steamship centre at this port. The city has also acquired a site for a wholesale market upon the water-front directly opposite the factory buildings Nos. 1 and 2, and construction work has already been begun.

Our ordinary business operations have been carried on during the past year under many disadvantages, because of the large amount of construction material it has been necessary to handle. This has interrupted our regular service, and has increased the cost of operation. These difficulties will correct themselves as soon as the plant is completed. The company is still carrying a large amount of undeveloped property, which is increasing in value, and which, when developed, will yield a large return. In view of this burden, and of the delay in construction work, it has been difficult to make a large net surplus for the year, but the condition of the plant has been well maintained; all repairs and some improvements have been charged to operating accounts; taxes and interest upon unimproved property have been paid; interest on construction bonds, amounting to $30,451, has been charged against the year's income, and a surplus of $112,055 has been earned. Our piers and loft and factory buildings are leased at fixed rentals, and contingent income is derived from the storage of merchandise, which branch of the business is never more prosperous than in so-called hard times.

Factory Building.—The loft and factory building development of this company also deserves a special word. The venture was started upon the theory that the over-crowded conditions in Manhattan, the cost of trucking from railway terminal to the manufacturer or wholesaler, and again to railway terminal, was sure to attract manufacturers and wholesalers to our fire-proof buildings, where the railroad freight car is brought directly to the shipping-room. The first building was in the nature of an experiment, and the space was offered at a moderate rental. The result, however, was that the building, although containing 300,000 square feet of floor space, was entirely rented before completion, and the second building of the same area was rented at a substantial increase in rent per square foot before it was completed. In fact, the last rentals for the second building were 50% higher than the first rentals for the first building. We feel that this development is an assured success, and that even higher rentals will be secured upon buildings constructed hereafter. [The "Iron Age" of March 14 1907 had an illustrated article regarding these factory buildings.—Ed.]

United Gas Improvement Co., Philadelphia.

President Thomas Dolan says:

Volume of Sales.—During the fiscal year ending Dec. 31 1906 the gas companies in which we are interested outside of Philadelphia, increased the volume of their sales 13 2-10%. The sales of the Philadelphia Gas Works increased 6 3-10% and the sales of the electric-light companies in which we are interested increased 15 3-10%.

Stock.—The capital stock was increased during May and June from $36,720,200 to $45,884,850. The earnings of 1906 amount to 13.49% upon the average capitalization of the year.

Lease of Kansas City Gas Co to Syndicate, Etc.—On Sept. 27 1906 there was approved by the Mayor of Kansas City, Mo., an ordinance granting to a syndicate, of which this company is a member, the right to sell natural gas for 30 years, and for that purpose to lease the holders, street mains services and meters of the Kansas City (Mo.) Gas Co. This lease has been made on a gradually increasing rental, which finally reaches an amount sufficient to pay 5% annual dividends on the capital stock of that company, in which, as you know, the United Gas Improvement Co. has a large interest. Contracts have been entered into with the Kansas Natural Gas Co. (Vol. 83, p. 821, 382; V. 84, p. 568) and the Kansas City Pipe Line Co. which insures to Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., an ample supply of gas. This settles the only franchise problem likely to confront us for 10 years.

Lease and Sale of Company's Connecticut Interests.—The property of the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. has been leased for 999 years from Aug. 1 1906, and the capital stocks of the Housatonic and New Milford Water Power companies and of the Meriden Southington & Compounce Tramway Co. have been sold to the Consolidated Railway Co., a corporation controlling all the important trolley properties of Connecticut. The New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co. owns most of the stock of the Consolidated Co. and has guaranteed the fulfillment of the conditions of the lease and payment of the principal and interest of the debentures issued to buy the stocks of the water power companies and the Meriden Southington & Compounce Tramway Co.

The rentals under the lease supplemented by the sum of $10 per share of their stock paid by the owners of the common stock to the Colonial Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, will be sufficient to pay interest and sinking fund charges, the cost of maintaining the corporate organization, and dividends at the rate of 4% per annum on the preferred and common stock of the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. (V. 84, p. 507, 390.)

Sale of Rhode Island Interests.—Simultaneously with the above transaction there were sold to the Providence Securities Co., which made payment in its 4% 50-year debenture bonds, guaranteed as to principal and interest by the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co., all of the bonds and floating debt and practically all of the capital stock of the Rhode Island Securities Co., and paid to the Providence Securities Co. cash to the amount of $10 per share of stock so sold. (See a subsequent page of this issue; also V. 84, p. 997; V. 83, p. 1525.)

Assured Income of $1,000,000 Yearly from Connecticut and Rhode Island Investments.—By these transactions we have transferred the responsibility of managing and financing these properties to the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co., and insured an income to the United Gas Improvement Co. from its investments in Connecticut and Rhode Island of $1,000,000 per annum, being 4% on securities of the par value of $25,000,000.

Acquisitions.—Since the last annual meeting we have added to the companies in which this company is interested:

The Chester Gas Co. and the Dauphin County Gas Co (V. 83, p. 495), both doing business in Pennsylvania; the South Bend & Mishawaka Gas Co. (V. 84, p. 395,) of Indiana, and the Syracuse Lighting Co of New York. (V. 84, p. 936, 629.)

Equitable Illuminating Gas Light Co. of Philadelphia.—The only other detail deserving notice is the lease of the Philadelphia Gas Works. This contract has been fulfilled in letter and spirit by your company, and will be until the end, whether that be upon the expiration of its full term, Dec. 1 1927, or by the city's exercise of her option to terminate on Dec. 31 1907. This contract was entered into with the expectation that if its operation for the first ten years resulted in better service and improved financial results to the city, the lease would be continued for its full term of 30 years. There can be no question of the accomplishment of both these results. If, however, those responsible for the administration of the city's affairs decide to terminate the lease, the substantial condition of your company will not be impaired.

The prosperity of this company is not dependent upon the Philadelphia gas lease, but upon the many interests which it possesses situate outside of Philadelphia, where the moneys payable to us upon such termination can be at least as profitably employed as here. Even though these sums should temporarily be tied up by litigation, in my opinion the dividends upon your stock will not be diminished.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Alaska Central Ry.—Construction.—President Frost confirms the following:

This company, which is building a line from Seward north via Susitua valley to the Tanana River, 450 miles has let a contract for building 25 miles and grading thereon has just been started. A contract will probably be let in June for building 30 miles additional. The company has also finished surveys for a branch from Knik, about 150 miles north of its southern terminus, east to Matanuska, 40 miles. See map on page 11 of "Railway & Industrial Section."—V. 82, p. 1495.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co.—New Bond Issue—Further Facts.—The block of about $26,000,000 5% convertible bonds offered at par to shareholders of record May 10, as stated last week (p. 1051), while coming under the $98,000,000 authorization of stock or bonds approved by the shareholders last January (V. 84, p. 269), is now officially described as "part of an authorized issue not exceeding $35,000,000 of 10-year 5% convertible gold bonds to be issued pursuant to an indenture dated May 9 1907, to be executed by the company and by the Standard Trust Co. of New York, as trustee." A circular dated May 1 says:

The bonds now offered will be convertible prior to June 1 1913, at the option of the holders, into paid-up shares of the common stock of the same par value. The bonds will be payable on June 1 1917, and will bear interest at 5% per annum, payable June 1 and Dec. 1; and both principal and interest will be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction from either principal or interest for any tax or taxes which the railway company or the trustee may be required to pay or to retain therefrom under any present or future law of the United States or of any State, Territory, county or municipality therein. They will be issued as coupon bonds, each for the principal sum of $1,000, and as registered bonds without coupons, each for the principal sum of $1,000, or $5,000, or any multiple of $5,000 that may be authorized by the board of directors. The coupon bonds will be exchangeable for registered bonds and the registered bonds for coupon bonds. The bonds may be called for redemption by the company on any interest day, at 110% of their par value and accrued interest; but when so called for redemption they may, at the option of the holders, provided the time for conversion has not expired, be converted into stock, as aforesaid, at any time before the day named for redemption.

The bond and indenture provide that the railway company will not execute any new mortgage upon any of the lines of railway owned by it on Jan. 1 1907, except by way of further security for bonds issued under mortgages executed by the railway company prior to that date, unless such new mortgage shall provide that all such convertible bonds issued and to be issued shall be included in the debt secured by such new mortgage.

Subscription warrants will be issued only for amounts of $1,000 or multiples thereof. For each fraction of a $1,000 bond in respect of which a stockholder is entitled to a subscription privilege, a fractional warrant will be issued which will not entitle the holder to subscribe but which, if presented prior to July 5 1907 with other fractional warrants in an amount aggregating $1,000, will be exchangeable for a subscription warrant for a $1,000 bond; and, if the surrendered fractional warrants include a fraction in excess of $1,000, a new fractional warrant will be issued for such fraction. The company will not buy or sell fractions, but they can be sold in the market.

The third and final installment must be paid and the warrant be returned to the company between June 5 and June 10 1908, whereupon the bonds will be delivered.

At the time of paying the first or second installment subscribers may pay the subsequent installment or installments and thereupon receive the bonds. The bonds will bear interest from June 1 or December 1 next preceding the date of delivery. Failure to pay the second or third installment when and as payable will operate as a forfeiture of all rights in respect of the subscription and any installment or installments previously paid. Subscriptions must be made at the office of the company, 5 Nassau Street.—V. 84 p. 1051, 101.

Atlantic City & Suburban Traction Co.—Receivership.—On Thursday J. L. Clawson, of Philadelphia, was appointed receiver of the company by Vice-Chancellor Leaming of New Jersey.—V. 84, p. 803, 692.

Baltimore & Ohio RR.—Called Bonds.—Thirty-eight ($38,000) Monongahela River RR. first mortgage 5% coal bonds called for redemption are payable at the office of the American Bonding Co. of Baltimore on June 1.

Acquisition.—Temporary Loan.—The company, it is understood, obtained several millions short-time money for use with cash in the treasury in the payment of the $15,140,000 4% bonds of the Chicago Terminal Transfer RR. which were redeemable on May 3 at par and interest. See Chicago Terminal Transfer RR., V. 84, p. 930, 867; V. 84, p. 569, 50.

It was currently reported that the judgment of Judge Evans levying an assessment of 25% on the stockholders generally was thereby rendered ineffective. We have the following from an authoritative source:

The decision of the Ohio Supreme Court does not affect that of Judge Evans levying an assessment of 25% against stockholders, except as to the particular persons named in the decree. According to the writer's recollection no judgment was entered by Judge Evans against these persons, their cases being pending on demurrer at the time the decision was rendered. Those involved in the decision of the Supreme Court a week ago escape liability on the ground that the statute of limitations had run before they were served with summons in the action. There has been an appeal from the judgment of Judge Evans levying an assessment of 25% upon the other stockholders, on the ground that the assessment was not large enough to pay the debts. This appeal will not be disposed of until the September term of the reviewing court. It is expected that enough will be collected to pay the claims of creditors in full. Compare V. 82, p. 803; V. 81, p. 261.

Coney Island & Brooklyn RR.—New Stock, Etc.—Stockholders of record on April 25 have the right to subscribe at par until and including May 25 for $1,000,000 new stock to the extent of 50% of their respective holdings. Subscriptions are to be paid in four installments of 25% each on July 1 and Oct. 1 1907 and Feb. 1 and May 1 1908.

Certificates of stock will not be issued until subscriptions are paid in full. The proceeds will be used for construction of the new power house, reconstruction on Coney Island Avenue and other requirements.

Concurrently with the suspension of dividends there have been rumors that Brooklyn Rapid Transit interests had been negotiating for control.—V. 84, p. 1052, 867.

Darby Media & Chester Street Railway.—Guaranteed Bonds Offered.—George B. Atlee & Co., 119 So. 4th Street, Philadelphia, who first offered to customers this company's first mortgage 4½% bonds, guaranteed, principal, and interest by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Ry. Co., have purchased a further block and offer them at 98½ and interest—at which price they yield to the investor 4.6%. A circular says:

These bonds are dated July 1 1906 and are due July 1 1936 but are callable on or after July 1 1916 at 102½ and interest. Interest payable Jan. 1 and July 1. Land Title & Trust Co. of Philadelphia, trustee. Tax free in Penna. Total authorized issue $1,500,000; outstanding $865,000. The bonds are an absolute first lien on the lines of the Phila. Morton & Swarthmore Ry. and the Media Middletown Ashton & Chester Elec. Ry. (V. 83, p. 38) which in July 1906 were merged into the Darby Media & Chester Street Railway.

The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. has leased the Darby Media & Chester Street Railway for 999 years for the following rental: $8,750 for the first year; $17,000 for second and third years; $25,500 for fourth year; $34,000 for fifth year, and $42,500 for six years and thereafter. The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. guarantees the principal and interest on the above bonds. The road operates 25 miles of track, making the debt less than $35,000 per mile.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—New Issue of Convertible Bonds Probable.—To finance the company's acquisitions of the last two or three years and to defray the cost of additions and improvements, the board of managers, it is believed, are considering the advisability of making a new issue of securities, which will probably be convertible bonds, for an aggregate amount of from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. The company's requirements, it is stated, are not pressing, and some time may elapse before a definite plan is decided upon and made public. The acquisitions of the company during the last two or three years, it is said, are in almost every instance paying their own way, in addition to acting as valuable feeders for the company's lines.—V. 81, p. 1052, 931.

Erie RR.—Quarterly.—The earnings for the quarter and nine months ending March 31 were:

Hudson Companies, New York.—Real Estate Mortgage.—This company, the construction concern for the Hudson & Manhattan (tunnel) RR. (V. 82, p. 804), has filed a $250,000 3-year 4% real estate mortgage dated Apr. 17 1907 to Edward A. Morrison, as trustee, covering No. 1279, 1281, 1283 and 1283½ Broadway, between 32d and 33d streets.—V. 81, p. 1550.

Hudson & Manhattan RR.—See Hudson Companies above.—V. 81, p. 220, 51.

Kanawha & Michigan Ry.—Equipment Bonds.—The Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. of Chicago is offering a small block of 5% equipment bonds dated Aug. 15 1905, not heretofore described. A circular says:

These bonds are part of an issue of $160,000 due serially each six months from Feb. 15 1907 to Aug. 15 1916, the $23,000 due Feb. 15 1907 having been paid. Interest payable Feb. 15 and Aug. 15. Denomination $1,000. A direct obligation of the company, secured by a car trust covering 500 drop-bottom steel coal cars, 100,000 lbs. capacity each, 20% of the cost of equipment having been paid in cash. The cars have all been delivered and accepted. (Bonds maturing Feb. 15 1908, Aug. 15 1908 and Feb. 15 1909 are offered at 99¾ and interest, 99¼ and interest and 99¼ and interest, respectively.—Ed.)—V. 84, p. 508, 51.

Low Fare Ry., Cleveland.—Franchises.—Mayor Johnson on April 27 signed the ordinance granting the company a franchise over the Central Avenue route recently abandoned by the Cleveland Electric Ry. and on May 6 one giving it the right over a number of streets now occupied by the Cleveland Electric Ry., but regarding which the franchises, it is claimed, expire in Feb. or March next. Temporary injunctions have been granted in various suits preventing the company from proceeding with construction work on the Central Avenue route. Compare V. 84, p. 995, 930.—V. 84, p. 102.

Maryland Electric Railways, Baltimore.—Underlying Bonds Resold.—Baltimore banking houses, including, it is stated, Owen Daly & Co. J. S. Wilson & Co. and the Fidelity Trust Co. have purchased from Brown Bros. & Co. their block of $750,000 of the $1,000,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds of the Baltimore & Annapolis Short Line, an underlying issue of the Maryland Electric Rys. Co. The proceeds will be used to electrify the Short Line division. Compare V. 83, p. 156, and V. 84, p. 1052.

Metropolitan West Side Elevated Ry., Chicago.—Offering of Collateral Gold Bonds of 1905.—The Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. of Chicago is offering at prices to net the investor 5¼% $400,000 5% serial gold bonds, being part of the $600,000 issue made in 1905 to refund the unpaid portion of a loan dating back to 1904; $50,000 has been redeemed. A circular says:

These bonds are part of an issue of $550,000, maturing $50,000 each six months from Oct. 1 1907 to Oct. 1 1912, both inclusive, but redeemable at 101 and interest on any interest day upon thirty days' notice. Interest payable April 1 and Oct. 1. Denomination $1,000 c*. They are secured by deposit with The Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. of first extension mortgage 4% bonds, at the rate of $75,000 bonds to each $50,000 of this issue, leaving a margin of over 20% on the value of the collateral deposited. The Metropolitan is the largest elevated system in Chicago, operating 49 miles of road (single track mileage). Its traffic is increasing very rapidly, the daily average of passengers for the month of February 1907 being 154,413, an increase of 14% over that of Feb. 1906. The company is paying dividends at the rate of 3% per annum on $9,000,000 preferred stock. In the trust agreement securing these bonds the company covenants that it will not declare or pay any dividends without first specifically setting aside and appropriating sufficient funds to pay all the bonds and coupons of this issue which may mature during the period for which said dividend is declared.—V. 84, p. 929, 804.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Listing.—The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing of $3,254,500 additional capital stock from time to time prior to July 1 1907, on official notice of exchange for Consolidated Ry. debenture certificates, making the total authorized to be listed $99,069,000

This $3,254,500 of stock is additional to the blocks of $3,745,500 and $6,750,000, authorized in 1906 to be listed for the same purpose (V. 82 p. 869; V. 83, p. 1471), and it makes the total amount of stock issued and issuable for the acquirement of the debentures of the Consolidated Ry. $13,750,000. The total authorized issue of The Consolidated Ry. debenture certificates is $38,500,000, of which there has been issued $28,500,000. New Stock Offered to Shareholders.—The board of directors on Thursday, after considering the following statement, decided to offer preferred stock to stockholders of record May 31 1907 to the extent of 15% of their holdings, common and preferred (both having the right to subscribe), which will amount to about $36,000,000. Subscriptions to be made on or before June 15, and to be payable 25% June 15,

25% July 15 and 50% Aug. 15. (Compare statement for Union Pacific RR. below.)

Estimated Statement of Earnings for Fiscal Year ending June 30 1907

Probable earnings of company for the year ending June 30 1907 approximately	$44,697,000
Fixed charges, including reserve for depreciation of rolling stock	18,929,000
Surplus over fixed and other charges	$25,768,000
Deduct dividends of 7% on preferred stock	2,769,000
Dividend of 5% on common stock	9,892,000
Surplus after payment of dividends	$13,106,000

Mr. Harriman stated that in his opinion the actual figures would show greater results rather than less.

Expenditures Uncapitalized.

At the present time the floating debt of the Southern Pacific Co. is $32,300,000, of which $14,250,000 is due Union Pacific RR. Co.

This floating debt was incurred in the following manner:

Two years ago the short-term 2-5 year 4½% bonds, amounting to $30,000,000, were paid off, and we have sold against them only $7,253,000 leaving of unsold bonds	$22,747,000
The Southern Pacific RR. Co. has retired outstanding old bonds, amounting to $12,638,000, against which they have sold refunding bonds amounting to $6,167,000, leaving unsold bonds in treasury	6,471,000
The Central Pacific Ry. Co. has paid three installments of notes due the United States Government, releasing refunding bonds of that company which are in the treasury to amount of	8,822,000
There is also in the treasury against which nothing has been sold G. H. & S. A. 2d mortgage bonds	374,000
Total capital expenditure against which nothing has been iss'd	$38,414,000

This more than accounts for the floating debt of $32,300,000.

Also the following free assets against which there has not been any issue of capital obligations:

Bonds and stocks, principally of oil companies in California	$10,947,183
Expended for the construction and acquisition of new lines, including about 991 miles of completed railway (which are unmortgaged) and on about 1,635 miles of railway on which construction is in part progressing	39,860,251
For electric railways, principally around Los Angeles and Salt Lake City	16,234,336
Rolling stock and steamships ($7,255,000, it is said, for latter)	21,854,965
Terminal real estate	13,357,464

—V. 84, p. 1053, 869.

Union Pacific RR.—Dividends Hereafter to be Paid Quarterly.—On Thursday the directors of both the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific voted that "on account of the very heavy distributions of cash required to make semi-annual payments, the payments on the stock should hereafter be made quarterly." The U. P. directors thereupon declared a quarterly dividend of 2½%, and the So. Pac. directors a quarterly distribution of 1¼%, both payable July 1.

New Securities.—The directors on Thursday also decided to call a meeting of the shareholders next June to authorize the issue of $100,000,000 of new common stock (increasing the authorized amount thereof from $196,178,700 to $296,178,700), and against $42,857,143 thereof to issue $75,000,000 convertible 4% 20-year bonds. The proceeds will be used to pay for the company's allotment of about $15,000,000 in the new stock of the Southern Pacific Co. (see that company above) and to provide for other capital requirements as below stated.

All stockholders of record at 3 p. m. May 29 1907 will be given the option to subscribe for the new convertible bonds at 90 and accrued interest to the extent of 25% of their holdings until July 10 1907; 20% of the face value of the bonds is to be paid July 10; 20% Aug. 9th, and the balance with adjustment of interest is to be paid Sept. 20 1907.

The aforesaid bonds will be dated July 1 1907; will mature in 20 years; will be convertible at any time before July 1 1917, into common stock at $175 per share; will be redeemable at the option of the company on July 1 1912, or on any semi-annual interest day thereafter at a premium of 2½%, upon 90 days notice, in which case the privilege of conversion will terminate 30 days before redemption date.

After setting aside $42,857,143 of the new common stock to be issued only in converting the $75,000,000 of convertible bonds, the balance of the new stock, $57,142,857 (as well as any amount not required in converting the bonds) must, under the law, in the first instance be offered to the stockholders, and no such offer it is stated officially is now in contemplation.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF MAY 9.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Union Pacific RR. Co., held to-day, the Chairman submitted a statement showing:

Estimated Earnings for Year ending June 30 1907.

Estimated earnings over operating expenses for year ending June 30 1907	$32,465,000
Deducting interest on funded debt	$8,645,000
Sinking fund requirements	12,000
Interest on loans	877,000
Other expenses	27,000
Will leave a surplus of approximately	$22,900,000
Add interest and dividends other than from investment securit's	$854,280
Income from investment securities	12,323,000
Rental of steamships	244,000
Total income of company, say	$36,324,000
Dividend on the preferred stock	$4,000,000
Dividend on the common stock	20,000,000
Over and above all requirements of every kind, there will remain something over	$12,000,000

Mr. Harriman stated that it was his belief that the actual returns would be greater rather than less than the estimated figures, as they had been made up on very conservative lines.

The Union Pacific RR. Co. as the holder of about 45% of the Southern Pacific Co.'s stock will have to take about $15,000,000 of the new preferred stock, which the directors of the Southern Pacific Co. to-day decided to offer to its stockholders, and that amount will be added to its present requirements, bringing them up to, say, $65,000,000. In order to provide for that, they have decided to have a meeting of the stockholders in June and ask authority for the issue of $100,000,000 of common stock, and against a portion of that stock to issue $75,000,000 of convertible bonds.

The floating debt of the Union Pacific RR. Co. was incurred for the following expenditures, which have not been capitalized:

Construction and acquisition of new lines	$29,172,000
Payments on account of the San Pedro Road	18,050,000
Steamships Manchuria and Mongolia	5,126,000
Rolling stock	9,302,000
Lands and miscellaneous real estate	2,033,000
Total	$63,683,000

The Chairman submitted a statement showing that the company owns:

Preliminary Statement of Earnings for Year 1906.—See aforesaid report.

Strike.—On Aug. 26 1906 the company's carmen, although under a wage contract having some months to run, went out on strike, claiming more wages on account of the abnormal conditions produced by the earthquake. The matter was arbitrated and the men were awarded an increase of 22½% back pay and on April 20 the company began distributing some $117,000 on this account. For the future the company offered to continue for one year the high rate of pay awarded by the arbiters, but the men, demanding practically $3 a day and an eight-hour day, on May 5 went out on strike. The sentiment of the public is with the company. Some blood has been shed and on May 9 no effort was being made to run cars in the business section.—V. 84, p. 572, 392.

United Railways & Electric Co. of Baltimore.—Bonds Resold.—See Maryland Electric Railways above.—V. 84, p. 993, 869.

Virginia Passenger & Power Co.—Separate Receiver Not Allowed.—Judge Waddill in the United States Circuit Court at Richmond on May 5 denied the application of the Metropolitan Trust Co. of New York, as trustee of the Richmond Passenger & Power debenture mortgage bonds of 1900, to file a new petition in the pending litigation.

The proposed petition requested the appointment of an additional receiver to William Northrup and Henry T. Wickham, the present receivers, the three receivers to continue to act as such until the court shall have determined what property is subject to the lien of the debenture mortgage; the discharge thereupon of the present receivers, as such, of the property, subject to the debenture mortgage and the delivery of such property to the additional receiver after accounting for all earnings derived therefrom. V. 83, p. 97.

Wabash RR.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $23,950,000 first refunding and extension 50-year 4% bonds, with power to the committee to add from time to time $140,000 additional on official notice of distribution, making the total authorized to be listed $24,090,000.

Of the aforesaid bonds, $19,090,000 were issued in exchange for debenture A and B bonds as below shown (per plan in V. 83, p. 437, 626) and the remaining $4,860,000, as a part of the $5,000,000 reserved under Sec. 1, have been issued as follows: $60,000 to defray in part the expense of carrying out said plan of exchange of debenture mortgage bonds; and $4,800,000 the company has agreed to pledge as part collateral for an issue of $6,160,000 par value of 2-year 5% gold notes to be dated May 10 1907 and to be issued in extension of a like amount of notes maturing upon that date. (V. 84, p. 869, 804.) The balance, $140,000, of said $5,000,000 of bonds are held in the treasury available for any lawful corporate purpose.

Report Premature.—Chairman of the Board E. T. Jeffery, when asked by the "Chronicle" concerning the statements that the Wabash and the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroads are to be double-tracked from Pittsburgh to Chicago within a year, and that it has also been decided to double-track the Wabash from Chicago to the Missouri River, replied: "This is all premature. Nothing contemplated this calendar year."—V. 84, p. 1053, 997.

Washington (D. C.) Railway & Electric Co.—Termination of Voting Trust.—The voting trustees give notice that the voting trust will expire June 1. Holders of stock trust certificates may obtain the stock represented thereby on and after June 1 at the office of Commercial Trust Co. of New Jersey upon surrender of trust certificates.—V. 84, p. 1054, 745.

Washington Traction Co., Springfield, Ohio.—Receivership.—On May 6 Stacey B. Rankin was appointed receiver of this company on application of the Guaranty Title & Trust Co. of Pittsburgh. A press dispatch says that "the company has not paid a cent of the $66,000 purchase money" due for the acquisition of the property in 1903 (V. 82, p. 1103).—V. 84, p. 572.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Silk Co., New York.—Increase of Stock.—This company, recently organized to bring under one management a number of silk properties, has called a meeting of its shareholders, to be held at Room 707, No. 31 Nassau St., New York City, on May 23, for the purpose of voting upon an increase of the capital stock from $6,250,000, divided into $2,750,000 preferred stock and $3,500,000 common stock, to $11,000,000, divided into $5,000,000 preferred stock and $6,000,000 common stock. Baltimore Electric Co.—Consolidation.—The shareholders of the Baltimore Electric Power Co. and its subsidiary, the Maryland Telephone & Telegraph Co., on May 4 voted to consolidate the two companies under the name of the Baltimore Electric Co. (Compare V. 84, p. 1054.)

The bonds of the merging companies have been deposited with the Baltimore Trust & Guarantee Co. of Baltimore and the Northern Trust Co. of Philadelphia, and it is understood will be exchanged, par for par, for new bonds of an issue of $7,500,000.

The authorized capital stock of the new company, it is understood, is $4,400,000, of which $1,000,000 is to be 5% cumulative preferred and $3,400,000 is to be common stock. Of the latter stock, issued dollar for dollar for the shares of the old companies, $900,000 goes into the treasury of the new corporation to represent a like amount of the stock of the Maryland Telephone & Telegraph Co., which for some time past has been owned by the Power Company; the outstanding common stock of the new company is, therefore, to be $2,500,000. The preferred stock $1,000,000, it is understood, will be sold at once to provide for payment of floating debt, &c.

(J. G.) Brill Co., Philadelphia.—Preferred Stock Offered.—Edward B. Smith & Co., New York and Philadelphia, are offering at par and accrued dividends, by advertisement on another page, the preferred shares of this leading builder of street railway cars. A circular says:

The company has a capacity for constructing 3,500 cars and 6,000 trucks per annum, having a valuation of $8,000,000. The company has a surplus of quick assets of more than $2,000,000. There are at present on its books orders amounting to more than $4,000,000. There is no bonded debt, except a mortgage for $400,000 on one plant. No bonded debt may be created without the consent of 75% of the preferred stock.

See full particulars in V. 84, p. 998, 869, 751.

The Brill business in Philadelphia was founded in 1869. The company has had an enviable history of uniform success, and has paid dividends from its foundation. The company's business is extensive, its cars being in use in the principal cities of this country and in Europe, South America, Philippine Islands, Africa, Japan, Australia and India. To broaden the scope of its work a plant has been acquired for construction of cars for steam roads to meet a growing demand arising from the electrification of steam railways.

Butte Central & Boston Copper Corp.—Reduction of Capital Stock.—The shareholders will meet in Portland, Me., May 22, to vote on reducing the capital stock from $15,000,000, consisting of $5,000,000 preferred and $10,000,000 common stock, to $6,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be 7% cumulative participating preferred and $4,000,000 common stock. About $1,000,000 each in preferred and common will remain in the treasury. The official notice says

When the capitalization was fixed at $15,000,000, it was intended that several large tracts of copper lands should be acquired and developed; investigation, however, proved the undesirability of acquiring those properties, as some of the property already acquired is proving so rich these are now unnecessary. The Ophir Mine alone gives indication of proving one of the richest mines in Butte. The reduced capitalization, we think, is amply sufficient for all purposes of the corporation, and assure, in our opinion, certain and permanent returns to the stockholders, while relieving the corporation from the burden of unissued capitalization and fees and taxes thereon.—V. 83, p. 1413.

(J. I.) Case Threshing Machine Co., Racine, Wis.—New Stock and Bonds.—The company on May 2 filed a certificate of increase of stock from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 and has made a mortgage to the First Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago as trustee to secure an issue of $3,500,000 first mortgage bonds.

Bonds Offered.—Peabody, Houghteling & Co., Chicago, are offering at prices to net the investor 5½% the entire issue of $3,500,000 first mortgage 5% serial gold bonds, dated May 1 1907, and due $300,000 yearly on Nov. 1 1908 to 1918, and $200,000 in 1919, but redeemable in the reverse of numerical order on May 1 1908, or on interest dates thereafter, at 102½ and interest. Denominations $1,000 and $500 c*; interest payable at the office of the trustee in Chicago and at the First National Bank of New York. "The average annual net earnings for the five fiscal years ending Dec. 31 1906 have been $887,900, being more than five times the maximum annual interest charge of $175,000 on this issue, and leaves available $712,900 for the annual payment on account of principal, $300,000.

Abstract of Letter from President Frank K. Bull, Dated Racine, May 4 1907

The business was started by the late Jerome I. Case in 1842; in 1880 the present company was incorporated, with a full-paid capital of $1,000,000. Since that time $3,100,000 has been paid in cash into capital and surplus account, all other additions to capital and surplus having come from the profits of the business. The company has never had an unprofitable year and has paid in dividends since 1880 an aggregate amount of $7,750,000, besides adding over $4,000,000 to its capital and surplus. The sales during the past nine years have more than quadrupled and the net earnings have grown from $238 000 in 1897 to over $1,100,000 in 1906. In addition to the large annual expenditure which is made out of earnings to maintain the high standard of the plant and its equipment, ample provision has been made annually for depreciation before arriving at these profits.

The business of the company is by far the largest of its kind in this country. The company has 35 branch houses in this and other countries, including houses at Minneapolis, Fargo, Spokane, Des Moines, Lincoln, Kansas City, Denver, Dallas, Syracuse, and many other cities, in addition to which it has over 6,000 local agencies, covering practically the entire grain-growing territory of this and other countries. Our line of manufacture includes farm engines, both portable and traction, and threshing machines.

This bond issue of $3,500,000 is made for the purpose of funding the floating debt, and, when issued, will constitute the entire debt of the corporation, excepting, of course, the usual operating accounts. Pledged as additional security for the bonds there are $5,250,000 notes received from the sale of threshing machinery, in every case secured by chattel mortgage on the machinery sold and in many cases by chattel mortgage on other property or by mortgage on farm lands or other real estate.

Approximate Condition (as of Jan. 1 1907) After Completion of Funding.

Accountants' Certificate, Chicago, May 4 1907.

We have examined the books of the company for the five years ending Dec. 31 1906 and we find:

Net Profits of the Business before Charging Interest on Borrowed Money.

The principal officers being the principal stockholders receive no salaries.

Incorporating in the balance sheet of Dec. 31 1906 (1) the $1,100,000 additional capital stock since issued and paid for at par and (2) the $3,500,000 first mortgage bonds, we find that the net assets over and above all current liabilities on that date would amount to $11,675,488, including patents at the book value of $250,000, but excluding any value for goodwill, and after making ample reserves for depreciation and bad and doubtful accounts, and for the cost of collection of notes and bills receivable.

The notes and bills receivable, taken by the company for the sale of its product, were liquidated during the eight years ending Dec. 31 1906 to an aggregate par value of $20,572,831, and realized in cash on account of the principal alone $19,841,806, the realizations thus amounting to 96.45% of the face value, without taking into account the interest of not less than 6% per annum accruing thereon, which has been more than sufficient to pay the costs of collection.—V. 83, p. 892; V. 78, p. 1169; V. 77, p. 2099.

The par value of these notes is $5,000 and $1,000 (see V. 84, p. 696). The Windsor Trust Co. of New York is trustee. Among the collateral is stock in the Northwestern Fuel Co. and first mortgage bonds of the Pittsburgh & Fairmont Fuel Co. and the Southern Coal & Iron Co. as shown n V. 84, p. 628.—V. 84, p. 696.

Federal Sugar Refining Co. (of New York).—New Parent Company—Payment of All Arrears of Preferred Dividends.—This company was incorporated at Albany on May 6 with $10,000,000 of authorized capital stock, of which $3,322,800 is to be 6% cumulative preferred stock and $6,677,200 common stock, to take over, dollar for dollar, the same amount of outstanding stock, common and preferred, respectively, of the Federal Sugar Refining Co. of New Jersey (see full statement to New York Stock Exchange in V. 84, p. 691, 870), which, in turn, owns the entire $100,000 stock of the Federal Sugar Refining Co. of Yonkers, the operating concern. President C. A. Spreckels, in a circular addressed to the stockholders of the New Jersey company, says:

The authorized capital stock of the newly organized New York company is $10,000,000, and of this amount $3,322,800 is preferred stock (the same amount as the outstanding preferred stock of your company) and the rights and privileges pertaining to the preferred stock are the same as those pertaining to the preferred stock which you now hold. The remainder of the capital stock of the New York company, namely, $6,677,200, is common stock (the same amount as the outstanding common stock of your company) and with the same rights and privileges.

The new company has offered to issue its common stock in exchange for the outstanding common stock of this company, share for share, and has also offered to issue its preferred stock in exchange for the outstanding preferred stock of this company, share for share, and at the same time to pay to the preferred shareholders of this company at the time of their making such exchange, the sum of $6 per share in cash, that being the amount of arrears of dividends on the preferred stock of this company; this offer to remain open for twenty days. Over two-thirds of the oustanding capital stock has already been turned in in exchange on the plan mentioned above. Steps will be taken to list the new shares on the New York Stock Exchange as soon as the transaction is completed. In addition to the above, you will receive a 3% dividend on your preferred shares on May 28 1907, being the dividend declared May 6 1907 to stockholders of record May 7 1907.

Upon your sending your certificates of stock to Abner H. Platt, President, care of First National Bank, Jersey City, endorsed in blank, the stock of the Federal Sugar Refining Co. (of New York) will be issued in exchange therefor and a check given at the rate of $6 per share for the preferred. Mr. Platt will be in attendance for that purpose from 12 to 1 o'clock each business day.—V. 84, p. 870, 691.

Gilbert (Wm. L.) Clock Co., Winsted, Conn.—New Stock.—President and Treasurer James G. Woodruff on May 4 wrote:

The new capital stock authorized ($1,500,000, viz., $500,000 to $2,000,000.—Ed.) may not be taken up for some time. The great increase in our business may call for more capital later on, but for the present there will be no change. (Bond issue, if any, not disclosed.—Ed.) Compare V. 84, p. 696.

Grand Rapids (Mich.) Hydraulic Co.—Decision.—Judge Willis B. Perkins in the Circuit Court at Grand Rapids on May 7 handed down a decision in the quo warranto proceedings brought by Attorney-General Bird sustaining the contention of the latter that the company has no longer any right to transact business, and also the Act of the Legislature forfeiting its charter passed last year. Compare V. 84, p. 934.

Hackensack Water Co., Weehawken, N. J.—New Stock.—The directors have decided to issue $1,000,000 new common stock and to give to each stockholder of record on May 1 1907 the right to subscribe at par on or before May 21 for such stock, at the rate of one share of new stock for every two shares of his present holdings, common or preferred.

Subscriptions must be paid at the office of Hudson Trust Co., Hoboken, 60% June 1, 20% June 30, and the remaining 20% Dec. 1 1907, when stock certificates will be delivered and interest paid at the rate of 6% on previous payments. Payment in full of all installments may be made on June 1 1907, in which case the new stock will be delivered and will carry dividends from that date. An extra cash dividend of 25% has been declared on all stock of record May 1 1907, payable June 1 1907, the same date at which the usual dividend of 3% will be paid.—V. 79, p. 2799.

Houston (Tex.) Oil Co.—Court Order Requires Kirby Lumber Co. to Pay $120,000 a Month.—Referring to the paragraph in our issue of April 13, page 870, it appears from the copy of the order of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of Texas given below that it was not merely in consequence of an agreement between the receivers of the Houston Oil Co. and the Kirby Lumber Co., but a direct order of the Court that compels the Kirby Lumber Co. to pay for 24,000,000 feet of timber at $5 per 1,000, aggregating $120,000 per month, whether they cut it or not, until Feb. 1908. The proceeds of the above 24,000,000 feet of timber per month are paid into Court to meet current operations of the Houston Oil Co. (under strict supervision of the court) and "timber certificate" payments; and the Court, it would seem, was influenced in making the order by the fact that about $120,000 per month is necessary in order to meet the principal and interest of timber certificates, before the expiration of the six months' limit which, under the mortgage, would constitute a default.

Abstract of Order of Circuit Court of the United States Filed Apr. 1 1907.

On this April 1st 1907 came on to be considered an agreement reached between the receiver of the Houston Oil Co. of Texas and the receivers of the Kirby Lumber Co. in relation to the cutting of timber and payments therefor from this date up to Feb. 1 1908; and it appearing to the Court that said agreement contemplates the payment by the receivers of the Kirby Lumber Co. to the receiver of the Houston Oil Co. for 24,000,000 feet of timber monthly, beginning with April 15 1907, whether that amount of stumpage is cut from the lands of the Houston Oil Co. or not, up to Feb. 1 1908; and it further appearing that said payments are necessary to enable the receiver of the Houston Oil Co. of Texas to meet current operations and timber certificate payments, and that, under existing conditions it may not be to the best interest of the Kirby Lumber Co. to actually cut said 24,000,000 feet of timber monthly, it is therefore ordered that the receivers of the Kirby Lumber Co. pay the receiver of the Houston Oil Co. of Texas for 24,000,000 feet of timber monthly, beginning April 15 1907 and ending Feb. 1 1908, and that the stumpage payment for January 1908, which would ordinarily be payable on Feb. 15, be made on Jan. 20 1908, if the receiver of the Houston Oil Co should require said payment; said payments when made to be credited to the receivers of the Kirby Lumber Co. upon the books of the Houston Oil Co. as for stumpage paid for at the rate of $5.00 per 1,000 feet.

This order is supplementary to the orders of this Court made and entered on April 16 1904 and on Jan. 5 1905, respectively, and is governed by said order of April 16 1904.—V. 84, p. 870, 696.

Hudson River Electric Power Co.—New Bond Issue.—This company has applied to the New York State Gas Commission for permission to issue "consolidated and refunding mortgage" bonds to the amount of $3,232,000, under a mortgage executed April 24 1907, securing a proposed issue of not to exceed $30,000,000. "Albany Argus" says:

The purpose of the proposed issue is to provide for the purchase of the flowage rights of a large reservoir on the Sacandaga River in the counties of Saratoga and Fulton, the construction of a dam and power house at Conklingville, N. Y., with the necessary transmission lines and sub stations, and other purposes. The company's capital stock is $10,000,000, of which there is now issued $5,777,300. The amount of bonds at present outstanding is $4,140,000, issued under a first mortgage dated Jan. 2 1904.—V. 83, p. 972.

Jamaica Water Supply Co.—Maturing Bonds—Option of Exchange.—President Charles A. Lockwood gives notice:

The first mortgage 6% bonds due June 1 1907 will be paid at maturity, principal and interest, on presentation at the People's Trust Co., 181 183 Montague Street, Brooklyn. Holders are offered the option of exchanging their present holdings for Jamaica Water Supply Co. unified first mortgage 5% gold bonds due July 1 1954 at 98 and accrued interest.

Journeay & Burnham, Brooklyn, N. Y.—Receivership.—At Brooklyn on April 9, by the request of the directors, Supreme Court Justice Thomas appointed President William E. Phillips as receiver of the property. Yesterday Supreme Court Justice Kelly in Brooklyn authorized the receiver to sell the merchandise, fixtures and delivery system to the highest bidder.

The company, it is stated, has a surplus of assets over liabilities, its floating debt, according to one account, consisting of about $23,000 in notes and some $75,000 in unpaid bills; but the directors believe that it is better to sell the business as a whole than to run the risk of continuing it on a losing basis. In 1901 the capital stock, originally $1,000,000 (of which $500,000 was cumulative 8% preferred) was reduced to $500,000, all of one class, of which $100,000 was held in the treasury at last advices. Compare V. 84, p. 573; V. 72, p. 1139, 778; V. 70, p. 1293.

Lehigh Portland Cement Co., Allentown, Pa.—New Stock.—The company on Jan. 30 1907 filed a certificate of increase of authorized capital stock from $4,000,000 to $7,500,000, The amount outstanding was recently increased from $3,794,850 to $7,731,750; par $50.

Incorporated in Pennsylvania Nov. 26 1897 with capital stock of $250,000, which in May 1899 was increased to $350,000; in April 1900 to $800,000; in January 1902 to $1,350,000; in February 1902 to $1,857,000; in July 1903 to $1,870,000; in February 1906 to $3,740,000; in June 1906 to $3,765,350, and in November 1906 to $3,794,850, these increased amounts being outstanding at the dates named. By election return filed Jan. 30 1907 the limit of issue was increased from $4,000,000 to $7,500,000. (Compare North American Portland Cement Co. in V. 83, p. 1416; V. 84, p. 163.)

An exchange says: "The company has acquired the entire property of the Mitchell Lime Co. at Mitchell, Ind., and will build a $1,500,000 Portland cement mill in the neighborhood of Mason City, Iowa, having recently purchased 500 acres of land for that purpose. Charles A. Matcham, General Manager, resigned Feb. 1."—V. 84, p. 163.

Maryland Telephone & Telegraph Co.—Consolidation.—See Baltimore Electric Co above.—V. 84, p. 999.

Merchants' & Miners' Transportation Co., Baltimore.—New Officers.—Charles S. Mellen, President of the New York New Haven & Hartford RR Co., and J. S. Hemingway, a director in the same company, have been elected to the board to succeed W. Kennedy Cromwell and E. P. Whitney, who has resigned. J. H. Robinette was made Secretary and Treasurer. Compare V. 84, p. 1056, 999.

Mexican Telegraph Co.—Text of Annual Report.—The earnings and balance sheet for the calendar year 1906 were given in our issue of Apr. 6, p. 801. In the printed report dated Mar. 26 1907 President Scrymser says:

The contract for making and laying the direct cable between New York and Colon, Isthmus of Panama, referred to in my last circular, has been awarded to the Telegraph Construction & Maintenance Co., Lim., of London, and there appears to be no doubt that it will be completed and in operation by about Aug. 1 next, as anticipated. It has been agreed that the cost of this cable shall be shared between the Mexican Telegraph Co. and the Central & South American Telegraph Co. in proportion to the mileage of the present cables in the Gulf of Mexico, i.e., 738 miles from New York will be owned by the Mexican Telegraph Co. and the remainder, estimated at 1,563 miles, including the stations at Guantanamo, Cuba and Colon, will be owned by the Central & South American Telegraph Co. The traffic accruing from the use of this cable will continue as now upon the same mileage basis. The three cables in the Gulf of Mexico owned by your company, also its land lines from Vera Cruz to Mexico, are in perfect working order. The rapid growth of your Mexican traffic would soon have required another Gulf cable to insure its prompt transmission during business hours; this, however, will be avoided by the establishment of the New York-Colon Cable to which the South American traffic will be largely diverted.—V. 84 p. 807 801.

Minnesota Thresher (Manufacturing) Co.—Assessment—Litigation.—Chief Justice Baldwin of the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors has granted Theodore R. Converse of Stillwater, Minn., as receiver, a writ of error for the removal to the United States Supreme Court of suits brought against the Aetna National Bank of Hartford and First National Bank of Suffield, Conn. to collect an assessment of $18 a share (36%) levied on the stockholders under the double-liability provision of the Minnesota law, to pay the claims of creditors.

The Supreme Court of Connecticut decided the cases adversely to the receiver. The assessment was levied under a ruling of the Supreme Court of Minnesota. An editorial article in our issue of March 3 1906, page 484, reviewed a decision of the United States Supreme Court holding the assessment invalid as against another bank. The Merchants' National Bank of St. Paul, a large creditor, has applied to the District Court at Stillwater for an order levying an additional Assessment of 64%, bringing the amount up to the full statutory (double) liability. The hearing on this petition is set for June 11. Compare V. 74, p. 481; V. 82, p. 484.

Municipal Gas Co., Albany, N. Y.—Reduction in Price of Gas.—Governor Hughes on April 26 signed the bill of Senator Grattan, reducing the price of gas in Albany from $1 30 to $1 per 1,000 cubic feet, with a prescribed minimum for illuminating power and gas pressure.—V. 82, p. 101.

The sales billed by your Company to its customers for the past year were nearly $17,000,000 more than for the previous year, showing an increase in shipments of about 40%.

The sales billed for the first two months of the present fiscal year are more than 50% greater than last year. Should this growth in business continue, additional capital will be required.

The Financial Report of the Treasurer and General Auditor is also submitted. Attention is called to the information given therein as to the recent increase in the share capital of the Company.

The certificate of Public Accountants is attached hereto.

There is also appended a Consolidated Balance Sheet of the Affiliated Companies.

By order of the Board.

C. A. COFFIN, President.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 1st 1907.

C. A. Coffin, Esq., President General Electric Company.

Sir:—I submit the following report for the fiscal year ending January 31st 1907:

SALES AND ORDERS.

Total sales (amount billed to customers)	$60,071,883
Total orders received	60,483,659

Comparison with previous years:

Year ending Jan. 31st—	Amount billed.	Orders received.
1902	$32,338,036	$34,350,840
1904	41,699,617	39,060,038
1905	39,231,328	35,094,807
1907	60,071,883	60,483,659

"Orders received" include only apparatus manufactured by the General Electric Company, and do not include such items as services of experts, labor of installation, freight and transportation, supply material, boilers, engines, etc., of outside manufacture, and bare copper wire. All these items are included in "Amount billed."

In the last ten years the amounts billed have increased from $12,540,994 in 1896 to $60,071,883 in 1906, an average increase of 17 per cent per year.

The very large increase in the business of the Company during the past year, together with the difficulty and delay in obtaining raw materials, have made it very difficult to meet the requirements of our customers as to deliveries.

CURTIS STEAM TURBINES.

During the past year turbo-generators of an aggregate capacity of more than 350,000 H. P. have been sold.

Thirty-seven Curtis turbines have been installed in Japan. We have also sold Curtis turbines for installation in England, Ireland, France, Germany, South Africa, Cuba, Mexico, Canada, Brazil, New Zealand, Siam, Peru, Algeria and Spain.

On January 29th 1907 an official test was made by the engineers of the Boston Edison Company of one of the 5,000 K. W. turbines in its station. Under the normal operating conditions the test showed a steam economy of 13.586 lbs. of steam per K. W. hour.

On Feb. 25 1907 one of four 8,000 K. W. turbines in operation at the Fiske Street Station of the Chicago Edison Co. was unofficially tested under the regular operating conditions and showed a steam economy of less than 13 lbs. of steam per K. W. hour. This test proves beyond question the preeminence of the Curtis turbine in respect of steam economy. This test, moreover, showed the remarkable result that from 5,000 K. W. output to 14,000 K. W. output the steam consumption varied less than 1.00 lb. per K. W. output.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT OF THE NEW YORK CENTRAL & HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD.

The New York Central & Hudson River RR. commenced the regular operation of many of its trains by electric power on December 11 1906. To-day (April 1 1907) there are 110 multiple unit electric trains and 30 electric locomotives in daily service. The total daily multiple unit train mileage is 1,250 miles. Sixty trains are handled each day by electric locomotives, the daily train mileage being 692 miles

The electric service is satisfactory in all respects. The delays in service are less than with steam, and the number of "dead" movements is greatly reduced as compared with steam.

All of the suburban service of the New York Central, and the majority of the long-distance trains are to-day operated in and out of the Grand Central Station by electric power.

ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT OF THE WEST JERSEY & SEASHORE RR. (PENNSYLVANIA SYSTEM).

This steam road from Camden to Atlantic City—a branch line of the Pennsylvania RR.—was equipped electrically with General Electric Company apparatus in the autumn of 1906.

This apparatus has operated with complete success. On March 31st of this year the 58 motor cars (every car in each train being a motor car) carried 17,000 people, without delay or accident.

SUPPLIES.

Sales of supplies and small apparatus, such as meters, transformers, direct and alternating motors, arc and incandescent lights, wiring devices, etc., etc., have increased 35% over the previous year. 40,365 stationary motors, aggregating 565,000 H. P., were sold during the year.

APPARATUS.

Sales of large apparatus have also increased, and show the same tendency as heretofore towards larger sized units. The maximum sizes in various lines are:

Units—	Nominal Rating.	Overload Capacity.
Turbo Alternators	9,000 K.W.	13,500 K.W.
Water Wheel Generators	7,500 K.W.	11,250 K.W.
Direct Current Generators	2,700 K.W.	4,000 K.W.
Induction Motors	6,000 K.W.	9,000 K.W.

INCANDESCENT LAMPS.

The consumption of incandescent lamps has been very large, and great difficulty has been experienced in supplying the demand. The situation is being met by large increases in factory facilities which will provide for a greatly increased output of incandescent lamps during the next winter season when the maximum demand occurs.

The production of metal and metalized carbon filaments is rapidly increasing.

FOREIGN BUSINESS.

The business of the Foreign Department has shown a gratifying increase over the previous year. This business is well distributed throughout the world.

DAILY SUPPLY ORDERS.

During the year we have received about 235,028 supply orders (not including contracts), an average of 783 per working day. The record of the past year, compared with some previous years, is as follows:

Average supply orders received per working day:

Year ending January 31 1900	473
" " " " 1906	694

ORGANIZATION.

The growth of the business of the Company has made it necessary to expand our organization. Mr. J. R. Lovejoy has been appointed General Sales Manager, Mr. J. G. Barry Manager of the Railway Department, Mr. C. D. Haskins Manager of the Lighting Department and Mr. D. R. Bullen Manager of the Supply Department.

I desire to express my appreciation of the loyal, efficient and hearty co-operation of all Department and Local Office Managers and Salesmen in the conduct of the selling business during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

EUGENE GRIFFIN, First Vice-President.

THIRD VICE-PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 15th 1907.

C. A. Coffin, Esq., President, General Electric Company.

Sir:—I submit the following report on manufacturing and engineering for the fiscal year ending January 31st 1907:

MANUFACTURING.

Expenditures aggregating $3,834,123 80 have been made during the year for real estate, erection of new factories, extensions to existing buildings, additional machinery, patterns, special tools, fixtures, etc.

The following table shows approximately the floor space and the number of factory employees during the last five years:

1903	3,000,000	18,000
1904	3,700,000	17,000
1905	4,100,000	18,000
1906	4,350,000	22,500
1907	4,770,000	28 000

The land area of all three plants is now about 445 acres.

The total book value of all the land and buildings (excluding machinery, etc.) of the Schenectady, Lynn and Harrison factory plants is $5,363,812 88, or about $1 12 per square foot of manufacturing floor space of the buildings.

Schenectady Works.—A building of 237,000 sq. ft. of floor area which will be used for the manufacture of large apparatus, and release space in other parts of the plant for switchboard and kindred work, is now nearing completion.

There are also under construction a Blacksmith and Boiler Shop aggregating 39,000 sq. ft. of floor space, an extension to the Power House of 18,000 sq. ft., buildings for a woodworking plant aggregating 80,000 sq. ft. and an addition of 26,000 sq. ft. for the manufacture of wire and cable.

Additional important extensions aggregating 370,000 sq. ft. have been authorized.

The Brass Foundry and other additions mentioned in my last report as under construction were completed during the year.

Lynn Works.—The completion of the buildings for the manufacture of railway and stationary motors, etc., of 170,000 sq. ft. of floor area, mentioned in my last report, has been delayed by the recent difficulties attending building operations, but these buildings will be finished and occupied at an early date.

The extension to the Turbine Building of 45,000 sq. ft. has been completed.

Buildings of 168,000 sq. ft., to provide increased facilities for the production of meters, instruments and other work, will be erected this year.

Harrison Works.—A building of 60,000 sq. ft. has just been completed for the manufacture of high efficiency metal filament lamps.

A four-story building of 120,000 sq. ft., to be located on land recently purchased at Ft. Wayne, Ind., and to be devoted to the production of incandescent lamps, has just been started.

Pittsfield Works.—The plant of the Stanley-G. I. Elec. Mfg. Co., at Pittsfield, Mass., has been used to a large extent for the manufacture of General Electric Company apparatus during the past year. It is now used wholly for this purpose, and will be operated hereafter as one of the General Electric Company's plants. The floor space at present available is 370,000 sq. ft., with about 1,700 employees.

There are now under construction extensions to this plant aggregating 178,000 sq. ft. which will be used for the manufacture of transformers, lightning arresters, switches and other apparatus.

ENGINEERING.

Engineering effort has continued to be largely devoted to the extension and improvement of our existing lines of apparatus, although a large amount of special apparatus has been designed to meet novel conditions.

Long-distance transmission of electricity is now thoroughly established in practice, and orders have been received for the equipment of a number of new and important installations of this kind during the year. The increase in the distance covered by such systems has involved the successful solution of many difficult problems connected with the generating, distributing and controlling apparatus.

The size and voltage of transformers for use in long-distance transmission work continues to increase. We are now building on order a number of transformers of 7,500 K. W. capacity, for operation at 104,000 volts.

Our high tension switching apparatus has been still further developed during the year; one notable instance has been the design and successful testing of a switching device for 100,000 volt operation.

Our line of steam turbine generators has been enlarged and improved. The first of our 8,000 K. W. turbine machines was started at the station of the Chicago Edison Company in September 1906, and has been in daily operation with loads at times reaching 14,000 K. W. Five of these great machines have since been placed in operation in Chicago and New York. The steam economies which have been realized in these and other of our large turbines are unprecedented. Such high economy, added to the simplicity, reliability and compactness already realized in our turbine units, places us in a position to furnish our customers a prime mover whose value is unequaled.

The operation of the single-phase alternating current railway equipments which we have installed has been entirely satisfactory, and we have received orders for a number of such equipments during the year.

Our engineers have completed the design of a line of direct current railway motors containing important novel features. Practical tests have shown these new motors to be superior to existing standards in economy, commutation and ability to operate at higher and more economical voltages.

An interesting and important application of electricity is found in the reduction of metals. During the present year we have sold to one customer for use therein twenty-eight machines of a total capacity of 74,000 K. W. These machines are the largest direct current generators in existence, were especially designed by us for the purpose, and those already completed have proved to be entirely successful.

The vertical shaft design which has proved so successful in our large turbines has been applied to the design of motor generators and rotary converters. This vertical arrangement effects a considerable saving of space and money, and is particularly desirable for use in sub-stations in large cities. We have sold a number of such vertical sets for operation in Chicago and other places.

Electric motors in industrial establishments continue to increase both in numbers and in variety of applications. An interesting case involving the use of very large motors of special design is that of driving rolling mills in the manufacture of steel. We have several contracts in which the motors for driving the mills average about ten thousand (10,000) H. P. capacity each.

Our Research Laboratory has developed a new process for making a metal filament lamp of great efficiency. The commercial introduction of such lamps will mark a great step in the advance of the electric-lighting industry.

A large number of Letters Patent covering new and important designs and devices has been applied for during the past year.

It is a pleasure to testify to the successful and original character of the work of our engineers, and to the effective and economical work of our factory managers.

Respectfully submitted,

E. W. RICE JR., Third Vice-President.

MERCHANDISE INVENTORIES.

These accounts represent actual inventories—counted and valued item by item—of raw materials and goods manufactured and in process of manufacture at the factories; of shipments in transit to store-rooms of local offices; of manufactured goods in store-rooms of local offices; of materials in local repair shops; of office furniture and fixtures, machinery, tools, instruments, etc., in the general and local offices, and in local repair shops, etc., and also of all goods on consignment.

Active selling finished and partly finished apparatus and supplies have been valued at estimated factory cost; inactive or slow selling apparatus and supplies at about 50% of estimated factory cost, and obsolete apparatus and supplies at scrap value.

To the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company, 44 Broad Street, New York City.

We have examined the books of the General Electric Company, in which are incorporated also the accounts of the Edison General Electric Company and the Thomson-Houston Electric Company; and we find that the Balance Sheet and the Profit and Loss Account below are correctly prepared therefrom.

We have also examined the books of the Affiliated Companies owned by the General Electric Company (except in the cases of Foreign Selling Companies, the accounts of which, as certified by Local Auditors, we have accepted), and find that the Consolidated Balance Sheet of these Companies below is correctly prepared therefrom.

We have satisfied ourselves that during the year only actual Additions, Extensions and Replacements have been charged to Capital, while ample provision has been made for Renewals and Depreciation; and that all expenditures in connection with Patents and Patent litigation have been charged against the Earnings of the year.

We are satisfied that the valuations of Materials and Supplies and Manufactured Products on Hand, and of Uncompleted Contracts as certified by the responsible Officials, have been carefully and accurately made at or below cost, proper provision having been made for those which are either obsolete or not readily salable.

Full provision has been made for Bad and Doubtful Notes and Accounts Receivable and for all ascertainable Liabilities.

We have verified the Cash, and Stocks and Bonds by actual inspection or by proper certificates and are of the opinion that the aggregate value placed on the Stocks and Bonds, the details and character of which are stated on page 20 (of pamphlet report.) is fair and conservative.

And we certify that the Accounts and Statements herein submitted, in our opinion, set forth the true financial condition of the Company on January 31st 1907, and that the statement of Profits for the year ending on that date are correct.

CHICAGO STREET RAILWAY ORDINANCE.

Chicago Railways Company.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT AND ORDINANCE.

The report of the Committee on Local Transportation to the City Council of Chicago, under date of Jan. 15 1907, regarding the ordinances which were adopted by vote of the people at the election last week, being the ordinances passed by the City Council Feb. 11 1907, respecting the Chicago City Railway Co. and the Chicago Railways Co., which is the proposed successor of the Chicago Union Traction Co. and subsidiaries, says, under date of Jan. 15 1907:

Your committee reports herewith an ordinance to the Chicago City Railway Co., covering the lines now operated by that company, and certain extensions thereof, and an ordinance to the Chicago Railways Co., covering the lines now operated by the receivers of the Chicago Union Traction Co., and certain extensions thereof.

These ordinances provide for the immediate rehabilitation of the said street railway systems and for the right of the city of Chicago or its licensee to purchase the same on Feb. 1 and on Aug. 1 of each and any year upon giving six months' previous notice, in writing, and upon definite terms fixed in the respective ordinances.

The following is a brief summary of the provisions of the ordinances:

The city and the companies respectively agree that the value of the present tangible and intangible property of the Union Traction system is $29,000,000 and of the City Railway system $21,000,000.

The companies agree that they will proceed at once to rehabilitate and re-equip their entire street railway systems and put the same in first class condition, in full compliance with specifications for such work and under the supervision of a Board of Supervising Engineers created under the ordinances.

The Board of Supervising Engineers is to consist of three persons, one selected by the companies and one selected by the city, and the third to be Bion J. Arnold, who has been the expert engineer representing the City of Chicago in traction negotiations during the past five years. Mr. Arnold is also selected as Chief Engineer in charge of the preparation of the plans and specifications for the entire work of rehabilitation and of the supervision of such work.

The city or any company authorized by it is given the right to purchase the entire property of the two systems, or either of them, upon the payment of the agreed price of the present property of each company, respectively, and the cost of rehabilitation and extensions, including fair allowances for construction, profit and brokerage.

If the street railways are to be so acquired for operation by a private corporation, for its own profit, the purchase price is to be increased 20%.

The companies are limited, during their operation, to an interest return of 5% upon the agreed value of their property, plus the cost of rehabilitation and extensions.

The net profits from the operation of the street railways are to be divided between the city and the companies in the ratio of 55% to the city and 45% to the companies.

The ordinances require the setting aside of 6% of the gross receipts for maintenance and repairs of the systems.

The ordinances further require the setting aside of an additional and separate fund of 8% of the gross receipts, to cover renewals and depreciation.

Whatever portion of the two funds above mentioned is not actually devoted to the purposes specified remains in the funds and passes to the city or its licensee upon purchase.

In case either of the above funds should in any event be insufficient for the proper maintenance, repair and renewal of the entire street railway system and its equipment, the companies are obligated to supply additional funds for these purposes.

The ordinances provide for a comprehensive system of transfers and through routes, by means of which passengers can ride over all connecting lines, within the city limits, covered by the Chicago Union Traction system, the Chicago City Railway system, the Chicago Consolidated system and the Chicago General Railway system, for a single fare, in any one general direction.

Twenty one through routes over the lines of those systems are specified in the ordinances, and provision is made for such additions thereto as the traffic may warrant or require at any time hereafter.

Numerous extensions of the existing lines are specifically provided for, and the companies agree to construct and equip additional extensions, amounting to 6 miles of double track or 12 miles of single track for the Union Traction system, and 4 miles of double track or 8 miles of single track for the City Railway system, in each year after the third year.

The companies also agree, under certain conditions named in the ordinances, to construct whatever additional extensions may be required by the City Council.

The companies agree, upon demand of the city and at the city's option, to furnish funds to the amount of $5,000,000 for the construction of a central subway, to be built and owned by the city, the plans for which are to be approved by the Board of Supervising Engineers.

The companies also agree to furnish to the city the funds for the construction of extensions to this subway on the terms stated in the ordinances.

The Chicago Railways Co. agrees to lower and reconstruct the tunnels under the Chicago River at Washington, La Salle and Van Buren streets.

The city is also authorized to require the installation of the underground trolley system in place of the overhead wires.

The capacity of the surface lines within the loop district will be largely increased by the through routes and re-arrangement of the existing terminals.

Within three years the Chicago City Railway Co. must have in operation on its lines at least 800 double-truck cars of modern type and design, to be approved by the Board of Supervising engineers, and the Chicago Railways Co. must have in operation on its system at least 1,200 such cars.

The city has full power to require whatever additional cars or other equipment may be necessary.

Within at least one year cars in trains can no longer be operated, and all cars must be operated singly.

The ordinances contain ample requirements for grooved rails and for the cleaning and sprinkling of streets and for the paving of the right of way.

The ordinances contain a complete reservation by the city of all of its police powers, including the right to make all regulations which may be necessary to secure adequate and sufficient street railway accommodations for the people and to insure their comfort and convenience.

The books and accounts of the companies are to be kept according to forms subject to the approval of the City Comptroller, and are subject to the inspection of the city's accountants at all times.

The companies are required to make sworn annual reports to the city, and there is provision for an annual audit of their books by public accountants.

The ordinances are the result of negotiations with the representatives of the companies involved, who have indicated their willingness to accept them if passed by the City Council.

CONDENSED EXTRACTS FROM CHICAGO RAILWAYS COMPANY ORDINANCE, PASSED BY CITY COUNCIL FEB. 11 1907.

Preamble.

Whereas, the city desires to provide for the reconstruction, re-equipment and extension of the street railway system and for the unified operation of said system, together with the street railway system now maintained and operated by the Chicago City Railway Co., and to determine the definite terms upon which the said city shall have the right to purchase.

Authority.

Sec. 1. In consideration of the acceptance by the company of this ordinance, authority is hereby granted to the company (until Feb. 1 1927. Sec. 23 below.—Ed.) to operate street railways along the streets and public ways in the City of Chicago, set out in the schedule marked "Exhibit A." To provide for the unified operation, an ordinance similar to this ordinance in general provisions and character, running to the Chicago City Railway Co. as grantee, has been presented (and adopted.—Ed.), covering its lines in the south division of the city.

Company Must Acquire Clear Title Within 120 Days or a Reorganization Plan Must Be Adopted Within 210 Days.

(a) Such authority shall wholly cease unless within 120 days after the passage of this ordinance the company shall acquire all the property constituting the system of the Chicago Union Traction Co., provided a clear title be tendered, free from liens, at a price not exceeding the price for which the city may buy the same under terms of Sec. 20.

(b) If such title be not tendered, the authority hereby granted shall cease, unless, within a period of 210 days after the passage of this ordinance, a plan of reorganization consistent with the terms of subdivision (c) of this Section shall have been approved, provided under said plan an opportunity shall be conferred upon each individual holder of a lien or claim to receive such stocks, securities or other benefits as said plan of reorganization may provide, and which opportunity shall remain open as to be specified in said plan, but not beyond Jan. 20 1908.

(c) The company shall not have the right to accept this ordinance unless there shall have been deposited with the Chicago Title & Trust Co., trustee, under an agreement substantially in the form of "Exhibit D," certificates of stock representing not less than the following amounts of capital stock, viz.: 3,126 shares of the Chicago West Division Ry. Co. and 1,251 shares of the capital stock of the North Chicago City Ry. Co. (being, respectively, more than a majority of the entire capital stock of said companies, other than that held by trustees under outstanding mortgages of deeds of trust); also 29,601 shares of the North Chicago Street RR. Co. and 49,946 shares of the West Chicago Street RR. Co. (being, respectively, more than a majority of the entire capital stock of said two companies last named, other than that held by the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank, as trustee, under a deed of trust); and also 80,001 shares of the preferred stock and 133,334 shares of the common stock of the Chicago Union Traction Co. (being more than two-thirds of each class of said capital stock); provided, that the city shall reserve the right to reduce the proportion of stock of any or all of said companies to be so deposited to such amount as to the city may seem proper.

Reconstruction, Extensions and Subways.

Sec. 2. The company shall proceed at once to put said entire street railway system and equipment in first-class condition, in compliance with the specifications in "Exhibit B."

Sec. 3. The company shall promptly construct and equip the extensions provided for in "Exhibit A," and also in Sec. 38 hereof, and at any time after three years from the acceptance of this ordinance such additional extensions as may be required by the city, provided, that the company shall not be obligated hereby to construct more than 6 miles of double-track railway or 12 miles of single track railway in any one calendar year.

Sec. 6. The company hereby gives to said city and said city reserves the power by ordinance to require the company to join with the Chicago City Railway Co. and with the said city in defraying the cost of the construction of a system of subways for downtown terminals, the legal title to said subways to be in said city; provided, that the companies shall not be required to contribute in excess of the pro rata cost of that part which is to be devoted to the use of said companies or either of them, and the total amount which the said companies shall be required to contribute therefor shall not exceed $5,000,000, exclusive of the cost of (1) reconstructing the present tunnels under the Chicago River, or (2) of converting said tunnels into a part of said system of subways. Three-fifths of that part of the cost of the said subways (exclusive of the tunnels under the Chicago River) payable by said companies shall be borne by the company and two-fifths of the said cost shall be borne by said Chicago City Railway.

After the expiration of five years from the acceptance of this ordinance the company (subject to Sec. 26 hereof) may be required by ordinance to join with the said Chicago City Railway Co. and with the said city in defraying the cost of the construction of extensions to such subway system.

City to Have Supervision of Rehabilitation.

Sec. 7. All of the construction, reconstruction, equipment, re-equipment, extensions and additions provided for by this ordinance, including underground trolleys, tunnel reconstruction, new lines, extensions and other additions (but not subways or extensions thereof) shall be done and acquired by the company under the supervision of the Board of Supervising Engineers, and the cost thereof shall be borne by the company. To the actual amount as expended shall be added 10% as a proper allowance to the company for conducting the said work and furnishing said equipment and 5% for its services in procuring funds therefor, including brokerage; except that no such percentages shall be allowed on reconstructing the Van Buren Street tunnel, as provided in Sec. 34, or of lowering and removing obstructions to navigation in the Chicago River under ordinance passed June 18 1906. The Board of Supervising Engineers shall each month report in writing to the City Comptroller the amount of money actually so expended with their approval, together with the aforesaid percentages, and all amounts contributed to the cost of the subway system, together with 5% of the amounts so contributed; and the interest provided in Sec. 25 hereof as a deduction from gross receipts shall begin to run upon the total amount of each such certificate from and after the date thereof.

Bond Issue for Extensions, Additions, &c.

The cost of such construction, reconstruction, equipment, re-equipment, extensions and additions, including said percentages, together with all amounts contributed by the company to the city for the construction of subways or extensions thereof, with 5% of said last named amounts added thereto, may be represented by mortgage bonds or obligations to be held, negotiated or sold by the company, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 5% per annum, payable semi-annually on Feb. 1 and Aug. 1 in each year, maturing not earlier than 20 years after the passage of this ordinance, in denominations not less than $500 each, redeemable at par and accrued interest after published notice, on any interest day. The company shall not create any lien superior to that securing said bonds and obligations. Provided, however, that the company shall not issue said bonds or obligations to an aggregate exceeding the amount certified by the Board of Supervising Engineers, nor shall the city be bound to recognize any of said bonds or obligations as having been authorized by this ordinance unless and until there shall be endorsed thereon by the City Comptroller or other officer or agent of the city designated by ordinance, a certificate to the effect that such bond or obligation is one of those by this section authorized.

Renewals and Maintenance During Three Years of "Immediate Rehabilitation."

The Board of Supervising Engineers shall have the power to determine what work shall be paid for by the company out of capital funds and what shall be treated as maintenance, repairs and renewals, to be paid for out of the gross receipts from operation. But during the three year period of "Immediate rehabilitation" 70% of the gross receipts shall be used so far as required in defraying operating expenses, including maintenance and repairs, and the residue of said 70% shall be applied to the cost of renewals and no part of the cost of any renewal paid for out of such 70% shall be charged to additional capital, and all expenditures for renewals during said three years in excess of such residue of said 70% shall be charged to capital.

Service Regulations—Cars, &c.

Sec. 10. The company hereby agrees to comply with all reasonable regulations of the service which may be prescribed from time to time by the City Council, and the approval of any such regulation by the Board of Supervising Engineers shall be binding as to the reasonableness thereof.

All passenger cars hereafter built or purchased shall be of the most approved style, have centre aisles, be without running footboards along the sides and equipped with motor capacity. Cross seats facing forward shall be used, but longitudinal seats each seating not more than four passengers may be used at the ends of the car. All closed cars shall be vestibuled, and at least 225 cars of such description shall be acquired within one year from the passage of this ordinance. All cars operated shall be supplied with electric bells and push buttons.

Rates of Fare.

Sec. 11. The company shall be entitled to charge passengers: For a continuous trip in one general direction, within the present or future limits of the city, over its street railways covered by this ordinance and all extensions thereof (whether owned, leased or operated by it) the sum of 5 cents for each passenger 12 years of age or over and 3 cents for each passenger under 12 years of age; provided, that children under 7 years of age accompanied by a person paying fare shall be permitted to ride free. (Then follow provisions for universal transfers to enable one to travel in one general direction for a single fare.—Ed.)

Street Sprinkling and Cleaning—Paving.

Sec. 14. The company shall sprinkle, sweep, keep clean and free from snow that portion of each of the streets occupied by its right of way, as provided in "Exhibit B," and if it shall be found practicable to have the streets occupied by its tracks swept and sprinkled their entire width by the company, or to have street sweepings, garbage or other refuse removed by means of street cars at night, the company shall perform said service when so ordered by the Mayor and Commissioner of Public Works, and it shall receive for such service reasonable compensation.

Sec. 15. The company shall at its own expense fill, grade, pave and keep in repair that portion of the streets occupied by it, as more specifically provided for in said "Exhibit B." All new tracks shall be of the grooved pattern described in "Exhibit B."

Maintenance, Renewals and Depreciation after Reconstruction Period.

Sec. 16. After the expiration of the 3-year period of reconstruction—

(1) The company shall expend for maintenance and repairs each year at least 6% of the gross receipts for the particular year, and if the said amount is not so expended, then at the end of such year the unexpended portion thereof shall be deposited in a fund with one or more banks or trust companies for use whenever necessary for such maintenance and repairs. The said depositaries shall make payment out of said fund upon the order of the company, countersigned by the said Board of Supervising Engineers.

(2) On or before the 5th day of each month the company shall deposit with said depositaries a sum equal to 8% of the gross receipts for the preceding month, which shall constitute a reserve fund for taking care of renewals and depreciation. No payments shall be made out of said fund except on the written certificate of the Board of Supervising Engineers, for renewals of the principal part of said street railways or of their equipment; and the Board of Supervising Engineers shall determine from time to time what particular items shall be considered as renewals and what as maintenance and repairs.

The company, however, must expend whatever sums may be necessary to keep the said system in first class condition in every respect.

The amounts expended or deposited respectively as reserve funds, under the foregoing provisions of this section, shall be considered a part of the operating expenses of the system.

Payment of Damage Claims.

Sec. 18. The company shall pay as part of the operating expenses all damages to persons or properties accruing subsequent to Jan. 31 1907, and may set aside such percentage of the gross receipts as the Board of Supervising Engineers shall from time to time determine as a reserve against such claims.

Right of City to Purchase at Any Time.

Sec. 20. The company by the acceptance of this ordinance shall and does grant to the said city, and the said city hereby reserves to itself the right, upon Feb. 1 or Aug. 1 of any year, upon giving at least six months' previous notice in writing of its intention so to do, to purchase and take over (but only for municipal operation in case of purchase prior to Feb. 1 1927) the entire street railway system of the company within the said city, and also all extensions of and additions to said street railways made under the provisions of this ordinance.

Price to Be Paid by City.

In case the said city shall purchase the system, it shall pay the aggregate of the following items:

(1) The value of the property described in the appraisal inventory as of June 30 1906, filed Feb. 4 1907, and the value of all the franchises and rights to operate in the city now belonging to the Chicago West Division Railway Co., the West Chicago Street RR. Co., the West Chicago Street RR. Tunnel Co., the Chicago Passenger Railway Co., the North Chicago City Railway Co., the North Chicago Street RR. Co., the Chicago Union Traction Co. (excepting the rights of the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co., hereinafter referred to), which said value is hereby fixed (for the purpose of such purchase) at $29,000,000.

(2) The value of all additions acquired as a part of said street railway system, including tunnel reconstruction between June 30 1906 and Feb. 1 1907, such value to be determined by the Board of Supervising Engineers.

If, at the time of such purchase, the title of the company shall not be free from any lien or encumbrance (other than such as are herein expressly authorized to be created), that portion of the purchase price specified in subdivisions 1 and 2 of this section, or so much thereof as the city shall deem necessary, shall be deposited with one or more of said depositaries to perfect such title and to remove liens and encumbrances therefrom, and to indemnify the city against the expenses of such proceedings

(3) The cost of reconstruction and re-equipment and of the construction of new lines, extensions, underground trolleys, tunnel reconstruction and other additions paid by the company and certified by the Board of Supervising Engineers, and all amounts contributed to the city for the construction of subways or extensions thereof, together with 5% of said last-named amounts a hereinbefore provided. "Provided, that the city may at its option, to be declared by ordinance, either pay or deposit in cash to the order of the company the portion of the purchase price specified in this subdivision (3) as in this section provided, or in lieu thereof take over the property purchased by it subject to whatever lien may then exist under and in accordance with the provisions of Sec. 7 of this ordinance, for the security of the bonds or obligations thereby authorized, and for the security of the company in respect of such part of said portion of the purchase price so certified as may not be represented by such bonds or obligations."

The city shall also have the right to purchase the property at any time prior to Feb. 1 1927 free from any restriction as to the operation thereof, upon payment o a sum 20% greater than the amount provided above to be paid in case of municipal operation. (Provision is also made for the purchase of the property by any person or corporation designated by the city at the aforesaid price, but in case such person or corporation shall contract to turn over to the city all the net profits in excess of 5% on the investment, the extra 20% above mentioned need not be paid.—Ed.)

Rights of Company in Case City Does Not Purchase for Twenty Years.

Sec. 23. In case the said railways are not purchased by the city or its licensee as above prior to Feb. 1 1927 (and nothing in this ordinance contained shall be construed as being in any event a grant to the company extending beyond Feb. 1 1927), the said city shall have the right to designate a licensee, to purchase the said property at or after Feb. 1 1927, upon the same terms that the city could then purchase, and in case such reserved right of purchase be not exercised by the said city or its licensee, and the city shall grant a right to another company to operate a street railway in the streets and parts of streets constituting the said street railway system of the company, such new company shall be required to and shall purchase and take over the said street railways, property and rights of the company at or after Feb. 1 1927 upon the same terms upon which the said city might then purchase and take them over.

Relations with Chicago Consolidated Traction Company.

Sec. 24. "The company shall forthwith, upon the acceptance of this ordinance, secure at its own cost and not out of the receipts of said street railways, and shall during the life of this grant in like manner maintain the right and privilege to the company and to the city, and for the benefit of the public, of using all and any of the street railway lines and tracks forming part of the through routes, or any of them, mentioned and described in "Exhibit C," so far as such routes involve the use of the lines and tracks of the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co., and, in case of the establishment of new through routes, as in this ordinance provided, which shall be laid out in part over the lines and tracks of said Chicago Consolidated Traction Co., the company shall secure the right and privilege of using such lines and tracks covered by said new through routes.

"The company may in its discretion permit the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co., its successors and assigns, to make such use of the lines of railway hereby authorized as the so-called operating agreement, dated Dec. 1 1899, between the Chicago Union Traction Co. of the first part, and the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co. of the second part as modified by the agreement between the same parties dated June 9 1900 (certified copies of both of which agreements have been filed with the Comptroller of said city), purports to permit and authorize: Provided, that as one of the considerations for the passage of this ordinance the company agrees that it will at any time during the life of this grant, within six months after being required to do so by ordinance of the city, procure cancellation and termination of any or all of the agreements which affect or by their terms purport to affect in any manner the right of operation or maintenance of any of the lines of street railway the right to maintain or operate which is granted by this ordinance to the company, and to which said agreements the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co. or any of the corporations from or through which the said Chicago Consolidated Traction Co. has derived any of its property or rights within the corporate limits of the City of Chicago, is a party."

The company agrees that it will pay annually to the city and save the city harmless against the loss or damage, if any, which may arise to the city (as determined by the Board of Supervising Engineers) by reason of any diminution of the net receipts payable to the city under the provisions of Sec. 25 of this ordinance occasioned by the said agreements or any of them remaining in effect or by reason of the operation of the street railways under the terms of such agreements or any other operating agreements to which the city has not consented. In determining the amount of loss, damage or diminution the said board shall take into consideration the value of such use of any lines of railway of the Chicago Consolidated Traction Co. as has been enjoyed by the company for the period of such accounting.

Interest Return on Capital Investment.

Sec. 25. On and before April 10 in each year the company shall settle with the city as of Jan. 31 last preceding upon the following basis:

From the gross receipts of the property from all sources for the year ending on said Jan. 31 there shall be deducted for such year—

First: (1) All expenses of operation, including maintenance, repairs and renewals; (2) all amounts contributed during said year and then held in reserve under the provisions of Sections 16 and 18 hereof; (3) all amounts paid out for taxes and assessments levied or imposed upon the real and personal property, including all capital stock or franchise taxes levied or assessed after the year 1906, but not including sums paid to the city for city license fees, if any, exacted from the company or its employees; (4) all salaries and expenses of the Board of Supervising Engineers by this ordinance authorized, after the period of "Immediate Rehabilitation"; and Second: A sum equivalent to 5% per annum for said preceding year upon the amount of the cash purchase price which the said city would then be obligated to pay on account of the items specified in subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 of Sec. 20 hereof, if it were purchasing the property for municipal operation on Jan. 31. In case in any year the gross receipts shall not be sufficient to pay in full the items in the "first" and "second" paragraphs of this section mentioned, then the deficit shall be paid out of the gross receipts of subsequent years.

Division of Remaining Net Receipts.

After the deduction from the gross receipts of the items hereinbefore in this section provided, the amount remaining shall be considered as the net receipts for such year arising from the operation of the street railway system hereby authorized, and shall be divided between the company and the said city in the following proportions: 45% to be retained by the company and 55% to be paid forthwith to the city, crediting thereon all amounts paid out during the preceding year by the company for license fees, if any, exacted from the company or its employees.

Commutation of Fares.

The city reserves the right at any time to commute a sum not exceeding the city's share of the net receipts for the previous year into a reduction of the rates of fare.

City to Establish Sinking Fund for Municipal Purchase.

Subject to the action of the City Council, the city shall deposit the amount so paid to the said city to the credit of a separate fund to be kept for the purchase and construction of street railways by said city.

Capital Investment Limitation.

Sec. 26. The company shall not be required on account of any extensions of subways or on account of underground trolleys, or on account of any extensions of its street railways (other than the extensions provided for in "Exhibit A," and in Section 38 of this ordinance, and 6 miles of double or 12 miles of single track per annum, as in Sec. 3 hereof provided), to increase its total capital investment to such an extent that the return thereon over and above the interest charge of 5% thereon by this ordinance authorized would be reduced to an unreasonably small amount.

Annual Reports.

Sec. 30. The company, so long as it continues to operate any of the said street railways under this ordinance, and on or before the 10th day of April in each year shall prepare and file with the City Comptroller of said city annual reports for the preceding year ending on Jan. 31.

Forfeiture for Non-Compliance.

With some exceptions, failure by the company for a period of three months to comply with the covenants of the lease, after written notice by the city, the contract may be declared forfeited; "provided, however, that should the company, for its corporate purposes, pledge or mortgage its street railway property or any of the rights secured to it by this ordinance, or any security representing the said property or rights, for the security of the payment of its notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness maturing not later than Feb. 1 1927, the amount thereof not being in excess of the value of all the property and rights of the company, as defined in Sec. 20 hereof, such right of forfeiture of this grant by reason of any violation by the company of the provisions of this ordinance shall not be asserted or exist against such pledgee or pledgees, mortgagee or mortgagees, or any of them, and shall not impair or affect the right of such pledgee or pledgees, mortgagee or mortgagees, to recover by foreclosure or other legal process against all the property of the company, including the rights and privileges hereby granted, the face value of said notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness," to an amount, however, not in excess of the sum for which the city would then have the right, under the terms of this ordinance, to purchase the said street railway property for municipal operation.

The city shall have the right to bid and become the purchaser at any such foreclosure or other sale.

Waiver of Rights.

Sec. 33. The company, in consideration of the grant made by this ordinance, agrees to waive all rights and claims in respect to the location, maintenance, operation or exclusion of street railways in the streets of the said city now or hereafter vested or claimed to be vested in the Chicago West Division Ry. Co., the Chicago Passenger Ry. Co., the West Chicago Street RR., the West Chicago Street RR. Tunnel Co., the North Chicago City Ry. Co., the North Chicago Street RR. Co. and the Chicago Union Traction Co., or in the receivers of any of said companies.

Tunnel Reconstruction.

Sec. 34. The company shall diligently proceed to complete the work of lowering and reconstructing the tunnel under the south branch of the Chicago River at or near Van Buren St.

Comprehensive Reconstruction and Unified Operation Assured.

In case the said Chicago City Railway Co. fails to accept its ordinance, the company hereby obligates itself to extend its street railway system over the streets covered by said ordinance to the extent that the rights of the company or companies now operating upon such streets expire by limitation or otherwise and as rapidly as the city is able to confer the lawful authority, and also to make the contribution for the construction of subways.

No mortgage or other instrument given by the company shall impose any lien upon the said property and rights without the same being made specifically subject to all the provisions of this ordinance, including the right of the city or its licensee to acquire the property, and in the event of such purchase the mortgage and all other liens shall be discharged from said property and rights and shall attach to the proceeds of sale thereof, except in a case in which it is expressly provided by this ordinance that the purchase may be made subject to such lien or encumbrance and in which the city or its licensee has elected to purchase subject thereto.

EXHIBIT B.—CONDENSED EXTRACTS REGARDING REHABILITATION.

Immediately upon the acceptance of this ordinance by the company, it shall proceed to reconstruct its street railway system and equipment and to secure the necessary supply of electric power to comply with the provisions of this ordinance and under the following specifications:

The company shall proceed immediately, (1) to remove from the streets all of its present cable tracks, slots and conduits and substitute therefor electric tracks; (2) to rebuild at least 90 miles (single track) of the present electric track with track of the character and type hereinafter described; (3) to construct and equip the necessary system of distribution and sub stations; (4) to rebuild and re-equip the car houses; (5) to increase as rapidly as possible the number of double truck cars until there shall be in operation at least 1,200 such cars, and (6) to reconstruct the Van Buren St. and Washington St. tunnels and to reconstruct the tunnel at La Salle St., &c., &c.

All rail used in the tunnels and on their approaches, and in the subways and on their approaches, may be "T" rail weighing not less than 80 lbs. per yard.

EXHIBIT D.—EXTRACTS REGARDING PROPOSED REORGANIZATION PLAN.

No plan or any modification thereof shall be operative unless and until the allotment of securities of the Railways Company, or other benefits, to the depositors, as well as any other provisions of said plan (or modification thereof) affecting said depositors shall be approved by Peter S. Grosscup and by John C. Gray, as being based on the legal rights of said depositors as of the date of the passage of said ordinance under the respective leases to and from said companies and as being fair and just to each class of depositors relatively to the treatment accorded to every other class of stocks, securities and evidences of indebtedness. In case of a disagreement between said Peter S. Grosscup and said John C. Gray as to said plan, or any part thereof, then the said Peter S. Grosscup and John C. Gray shall submit the question in disagreement to a third person to be selected by them. In case they fail to agree on such third person, then such third person shall be selected by George W. The company has for some years paid quarterly 1½% dividend on its capital stock—an annual 6% dividend, and from time to time, when the earnings warranted, declared an extra dividend as well towards the close of the year. In December 1905 the company declared an extra 5% dividend, which was paid early in 1906 out of a part of the 1905 earnings. In December 1906 there was an extra dividend of 9%, and the company is paying the customary 1½% quarterly for 1907. The capital stock is $4,000,000; par $25; with no bonds or mortgages. President, Frank G. Ryan; Vice-President, D. C. Whitney; Secretary & General Manager, Ernest G. Swift; Treasurer, Geo. Hargreaves. The statement published in this column last week slipped into print prematurely.—V. 84, p. 1056.

Business men who have been paying $48 a year for service since the company was organized are now asked to pay $72. The franchise granted by the Pittsburgh Councils sets $48 as the limit for business service and $36 for house service. The rate for house service now charged by the company is $58 a year.—V. 76, p. 1252, 1196.

United States Express Co.—Circular in Reply to President Platt.—The committee, headed by A. L. Bancker and Samuel S. Hatt, which has been endeavoring to force an increase in the dividend rate, has sent a circular replying to the letter of President Platt (V. 84, p. 1058), in part as follows:

No statement has been issued to shareholders, so far as we know, except the one contained in the letter dated April 26 1907. The report of the management shows that net earnings have been from 11% to 18%, annually for the past five years. We believe they have been much larger. Dividends in that time have not exceeded 4%. The real estate, securities and other assets have an actual cash value conservatively estimated at $15,000,000. The total assets are believed to be worth from $16,000,000 to $20,000,000. Shareholders of other large express companies are receiving annually 10% and upwards, and an increase by this company to 7%, cannot properly cause hostile legislation.

The net earnings for the ensuing year are estimated at 15%. The capital stock has been increased from $500,000 to $10,000,000 and the assets from a few hundred thousand dollars to at least $15,000,000, and no shareholder has ever had to pay $1 on account of his personal liability.

Some of the leading shareholders, among them W. A. Read & Co. and the Metropolitan Life Insurance interests, are independently seeking additional information in order to satisfy themselves as to the ability of the company to make a larger return on its stock.—V. 84, p. 1057.

The Commercial Times.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, May 10 1907.

Although trade has suffered more or less by reason of a backward season, the aggregate business has continued large and the feeling throughout the country is still very generally confident. Money has been comparatively easy and manufactures active. Warmer weather is needed for the crops. Speculation is still for the most part quiet, though in grain and cotton it has increased somewhat.

LARD on the spot has advanced, owing to the rise in the futures market at the West and the strength of the grain markets. Trade has been somewhat more active at the advance. City 8½@8⅝c. and Western 9@9.12½c. Refined lard has advanced. Trade has been more active, partly for export, and offerings have been light. Refined Continent 9.50c., South America 10.25c. and Brazil in kegs 11.25c. The market for lard futures has advanced, with the trading more active. The principal stimulating factor has been the strength and activity of the grain markets, though some increase in the spot trade has also had a bracing effect. Packers have given support at times.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has continued on a rather larger scale than recently, and prices have advanced, mainly because of excessive rains and cold weather, principally in the Mississippi Valley. Some Texas and Alabama reports however have also been unfavorable. Cloudbursts have occurred in Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, flood warnings have been issued in regard to tributaries of the Mississippi, and what the whole cotton-belt seems to need is hot, dry weather. This it has certainly not been getting. The reports which have been received of late from many different parts of the belt give rise to fears among some that the next crop may not be adequate to meet the demands of a large world's consumption. It has been largely a weather market, however, and it is a very general conviction that should warm, dry conditions set in and last for a sufficient length of time, the crop outlook would be very greatly improved. Meantime a more or less aggressive bull speculation is going on, especially in the July option, which has latterly risen to a premium of 2 points over October, after selling at times during the week at considerably under that month. The near months in fact have been the strongest of any, not only here but also in New Orleans and Liverpool. At the same time there has been a somewhat larger outside public speculation which has shown a disposition to purchase the new-crop months on the strength of the unfavorable weather and crop reports. New Orleans, Southern and Liverpool interests as well as spot houses have also been buying on a sufficiently large scale to attract attention. A factor which also favored the bulls was the withdrawal of the injunction proceedings, leaving the matters in dispute between Mr. Theodore H. Price and the New York Cotton Exchange to the decision of a referee. Moreover the Liverpool market has been strong, with a good spot business, and the spot quotations at the South have been universally firm, with every appearance of a persistent demand, especially for the better grades. Reports about the dry goods trade have also been of an encouraging kind. Wall Street houses and not a few local operators who were recently inclined to the bear side have been buyers, and also, it would appear, the West to some extent. Though the speculation is much smaller than in the active times of the past, it has broadened somewhat, and unless the weather improves very materially the tendency will be towards still larger transactions. To-day an early decline was due to disappointing Liverpool advices, rather better weather and liquidation, with selling to some extent by New Orleans and Liverpool. Lateron however, came a rally which left July slightly higher for the day and other months about where they started. This was due to heavy rains in Texas and Louisiana, bad crop reports, covering, and a lessened pressure from profit-taking. Spot cotton has been more active and firmer. Middling closed at 11.90c., an advance for the week of 35 points.

The rates on and off middling, as established Nov. 21 1906 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Our reports received by telegraph from the South this evening are, on the whole, of an unfavorable tenor. Rain has fallen in most localities during the week, being rather excessive at points in the Southwest. Planting operations have been delayed as a result, and there are also complaints of too low temperature. It is likewise claimed that much replanting is necessary.

Galveston, Texas.—Excessive precipitation and cold waves have further delayed planting in Texas and injured stands in many localities. Considerable replanting will be required and altogether it looks as if crops will have an unusual start for this State. There has been rain on three days of the week, the precipitation reaching one inch and ninety-one hundredths. Average thermometer 60, highest 78 and lowest 49.

Abilene, Texas.—We have had rain on three days during the week, the rainfall being one inch and sixty hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 59, the highest being 84 and the lowest 34.

FALL RIVER WAGE AGREEMENT ACCEPTED.—The textile unions of Fall River, representing about 30,000 operatives, at a meeting on Wednesday night voted to accept the new wage proposition. The new agreement will go into effect May 27 and means an advance of 10%. The agreement is as follows:

Clause I. That 21.78 cents per cut shall be the recognized standard price for a margin of 95 points, based on the cost of eight pounds of middling upland cotton and the selling value of 45 yards of 28-inch 64x64 print cloth and 33.11 yards of 38½-inch 64x64. Quotations from the "New York Journal of Commerce" shall be considered authority.

Clause II. Wage agreement shall be binding for six months, beginning the last Monday in May and November of each year, based on the average margin for the previous six months.

Prices for weaving should be as follows: "With a margin of 115, 23.96c.; 105, 22.87c.; 95, 21.78c.; 85, 20.69c.; 80, 19.66c.; 75, 18.68c.; 72½, 18c." Wages in all departments other than weaving shall be adjusted on the same basis; 23.96c., with a margin of 115, shall be the maximum, and 18c. per cut, with a margin of 72¼, shall be the minimum rate paid for weaving.

Clause III. If at any time either party to the agreement shall desire to make a change, at least three months' notice shall be given by the party desiring the change prior to the expiration of the existing six months' contract.

The new agreement is based upon the average margin during a period a little short of six months ending with April 30, and the average having been found to be slightly over 115, the rate of pay for weaving will be 23.96 cents per cut of print cloth—about 46 yards of 28-inch 64x64s. To arrive at the margin it is assumed, and we are assured by Mr. Clinton V. S. Remington of Fall River that the assumption is practically correct, that 8 lbs. of cotton will make 45 yards of 28-inch 64x64 print cloths, or 33.11 yards of 38½-inch 64x64 print cloths. The joint average price of the cloths divided by 2 gives one side, the average cost of 8 lbs. of cotton; the other, the difference, being the margin. Thus, 45 yards of 28-inch at 4½ cents per yard and 33.11 yards of 38½-inch at 7 cents gives a total of $4.343, or an average of $2.176, and 8 lbs. of cotton at 12¾ cents is $1.02, the margin being $1.156. The agreement of Nov. 26 last, which this supersedes, was based upon a margin of 95 points, making the wage per cut 21.78 cents.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The demand for jute bagging has been dull during the week under review, and prices are as last quoted at 9⅛c. for 2 lbs., standard grades. Jute butts dull at 3@4c. for bagging quality.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, May 10 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have been advanced on most grades, owing mainly to the rise in wheat quotations and the persistent report of serious damage to the crop in the Southwest and of the probability of a material reduction in the spring-wheat area. The trading, however, has come almost to a standstill, buyers refusing to follow the advance, and the higher quotations have been mainly nominal. Export business has continued stagnant. Rye flour has been dull and steady. Corn meal has been quiet and firm.

Wheat has advanced, owing to continued unfavorable weather and crop reports from the Northwest, the West and the Southwest, higher foreign markets and some increase in the export demand. A very sharp rise at Buda Pesth—that is, a rise of over 10 cents per bushel in our money in a few days—was due, it appears, to an unfavorable outlook for the crop in Hungary. Supplies in France and Germany are stated to be small. It is officially reported that some 10 to 25% of the Hungarian and Roumanian winter-wheat acreage has been re-plowed, and in Bulgaria 20 to 40% winter killed. In other words, crop reports, both in this country and abroad, have been of a rather adverse kind, and on both sides of the Atlantic prices have risen. Realizing of profits, however, has latterly caused some reaction in most of the world's markets, New York and Chicago by no means excepted. Still, what with winter killing in the winter-wheat belt and delay in seeding in both the American and the Canadian Northwest, quite a large bull speculation has recently sprung up in this country, and at times prices have risen sharply. Some reports are to the effect that the damage by bugs in the Southwest has been exaggerated, and that the yield of wheat in that section will be larger than is generally expected. Moreover, there is still time to plant a large acreage in spring wheat at the Northwest. It would be idle to disguise the fact, however, that the markets are very sensitive to weather and crop news, and even to all sorts of rumors concerning the probable yield, and also that the weather for some time past over much of the Western grain section of this country has been far from favorable. Latterly there has been some disposition to proceed more cautiously, awaiting the Government report of conditions as they existed on May 1. This appeared today, and stated the condition of winter wheat at 82.9% on May 1, against 89.9 on April 1, 91% on May 1 last year, 92.5 in 1905 and 85.5% the average on May 1 for 10 years. This is taken as indicating a crop of winter wheat of 405,101,000 bushels, against a crop of 492,888,005 last year. The acreage reported abandoned is 11.2%, leaving the total area 28,132,000 acres. The effect was to cause a sharp advance in prices, with the trading active and excited. The buying was general and came from all quarters. Bulls contend that since May 1, the date on which the Government figures were compiled, there has been a further material decline in the condition. New high-record prices for the season were established.

Indian corn futures have been firmer, though the trading has been on a comparatively restricted sale. Strengthening factors, however, have been the rise in wheat, cold weather at the West and a disinclination to sell for short account, owing to the fear of bull manipulation. A large area has been prepared for planting, but the weather has continued too cold for seeding. The cash market has been firm with a moderate demand. The receipts have been light and are expected to continue small. The upward tendency of futures, however, has been checked by scattered liquidation. Cash interests have sold at times. To-day prices advanced owing to the rise in wheat, covering of shorts, light offerings, commission-house buying and reports of an increased export demand at the West.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have been firmer and new high records have been established. The principal bullish factors have been the cold weather, reports of damage to the crop and the strength of wheat. There has been a good shipping demand at the West at firm prices. The receipts have been light and contract stocks continue relatively small. Prominent Chicago bulls have given support. At times, however, reactions have occurred, owing mainly to liquidation in the May option and selling by cash interests. To-day prices advanced, owing to sympathy with the sharp rise in wheat, covering of shorts and commission-house buying, but considerable liquidation occurred, checking the advance.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Division of the United States Weather Bureau, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the weather in the various States for the week ending May 6, summarizing them as follows:

In the South Atlantic and east Gulf States and in most of the Pacific Coast region the temperature during the week ending May 6 was normal, or above, and generally favorable. In the Rocky Mountain region, west Gulf States, central valleys and Lake region the weather was abnormally cold and decidedly unfavorable. Temperatures much below freezing occurred throughout the central and northern Rocky Mountain region, in the Missouri and upper Mississippi valleys and in the Lake region and northern New England, a minimum of 6 degrees occurring at Devils Lake, N. D., on the 2d. Heavy frosts were general in the northern districts and light to heavy frosts occurred as far south as northwestern Texas, Oklahoma, northern Arkansas, Tennessee and the Middle Atlantic States. Ample moisture exists in all districts, except in southern Florida and portions of northern Iowa and South Dakota, excessive and damaging rains having fallen in the lower Mississippi Valley and central Gulf Districts. Heavy snow occurred in portions of the central valleys and Lake region on the 3d and 4th. There was much cloudiness, especially in the Atlantic Coast and Gulf States.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT REPORT ON CEREALS, &c.—The report of the Department of Agriculture, showing the condition of the cereal crops on May 1, was issued on the 10th inst., and is as follows:

The Crop Reporting Board of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture from the reports of the correspondents and agents of the Bureau finds the area under winter wheat remaining in cultivation on May 1 to have been about 28,132,000 acres. This is 11.2%, or about 3,533,000 acres less than the area sown last fall, and 5%, or about 1,468,000 acres less than the area of winter wheat reported as harvested last year.

The average condition of the growing winter wheat crop on May 1 was 82.9, as compared with 89.9 on April 1, 1907 90.9 on May 1 1906 and 92.5 on May 1 1905, and 95.5 the mean of the May averages for the last ten years.

The following table shows for the 11 principal winter wheat States the percentage of the acreage sown last fall that is now reported as abandoned; the acreage remaining under cultivation; also the averages of condition on May 1 and April 1 1907 and on May 1 1906 and 1905, and the mean of the May averages of the last 10 years:

Of the total acreage of spring plowing contemplated, 71.5% is reported as actually done up to May 1, as compared with 63.9% at the corresponding date last year and a 10-year average on May 1 of 65.0%.

Of spring planting 47% is reported as having been completed on May 1, as compared with 53% on May 1 1906.

New York, Friday Night, May 10, 1907.

The weather during the past week has again been of a decidedly unseasonable character and complaints from retailers in this and other distributing centres of unsatisfactory trade are increasing. So far as first-hand sellers and jobbers are concerned, weather influences have not, up to the present time, played any great part. It is nevertheless to be expected that conditions with retailers will later on assert themselves in the primary market, and a period of slow business is by many being looked forward to. As matters stand, this is not regarded by manufacturers and their agents as altogether a disadvantage. Stocks in first hands are insignificant in any direction; mills, as a rule, are heavily under orders for forward production and an opportunity to overtake in some degree present commitments will be welcome rather than otherwise in the cotton goods division. The course of the market for raw material this week has tended to perplex manufacturers, who in the present state of uncertainty regarding early conditions of the 1907-8 crop, are unable to decide how for the rising tendency in cotton is justifiable or due to strong speculative support. Meanwhile, the tone of the goods market continues generally strong, with most prices well maintained, and an advancing tendency still noticeable in some. There has been no improvement during the week in the woolen goods division, business continuing disappointing in the aggregate, and indications on new spring lines rather against manufacturers. The new season for carpets opened this week with moderate average advance in prices.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending May 4 were 5,892 packages, valued at $351,676, their destination being to the points specified in the table below:

New York to May 4.	1907 Week	1907 Since Jan. 1	1906 Week.	1906 Since Jan. 1

Other countries	134	13,219	450	5,640

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $5,188,869 in 1907, against $6,380,470 in 1906.

The general demand from the home trade has been this week of quite moderate dimensions. Filling-in orders have been less numerous than recently, and there has been some slackening off in the desire to order ahead. Heavy brown sheetings and drills in export grades are without improvement, continuing irregular, and reports are current that there are offers in the market to reship goods of this description from China at or somewhat below quotations current here. Bleached muslins are extremely well held, and the tendency of prices is against buyers, who find some difficulty in placing orders for near delivery. The general run of coarse, colored cottons also rules firm and for quick delivery premiums are, in some instances, being paid. Dometts and other napped colored fabrics are without change. Printed calicoes in both staple and fancy lines are in steady request at firm prices, with business for export still an encouraging feature in this division. Kid-finished cambrics and other converted lining goods generally tend against buyers but the current demand for these is moderate only. All grades of ginghams are moving out freely on existing orders with a quiet current business at previous prices. In print cloths, scarcity of supplies restricts current business and the market is very firm on the basis of 4 9-16c. for regulars. Wide goods are in steady request at full prices.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The effect of the prolonged unseasonable weather is more noticeable in this division than upon cotton goods. The week's business has been of quite moderate dimensions in all departments and the re-orders for woolen and worsted trouserings and suitings in fall lines have again fallen short of what sellers had hoped for. In the most staple varieties of the medium and lower grades of all-wool goods and of most descriptions of fancy woolens, prices have ruled steady, but there is some irregularity in the worsted lines. Little has been added to the new lines put upon the market for this spring, but such goods as have been opened, mainly low-grade fabrics, tend to encourage buyers to look for somewhat lower prices than at first appeared probable, and this in spite of the fact of continued firmness in the market for raw material Indications point to considerable manipulation of products in order to overcome the inconsistency between high-priced wool and low-priced goods. Overcoatings continue slow and practically devoid of any feature of moment. In woolen and worsted dress goods the demand is mainly for plain colors, the business doing outiside of these being of restricted dimensions. Up to the present time there has been very little done for next spring, and such contracts as have been put through are booked on private terms. A large business is reported to have been done in carpets for the new season with prices, as already noted, against buyers.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—In imported woolen and worsted dress goods and men's wear fabrics, the week's transactions have been limited and without feature, so far as set prices are concerned. Business in silks and ribbons also shows no change of importance. The demand for linens has fallen off and is apparently affected by the continued bad weather. Burlaps, as they arrive, are regularly sold at full prices.

STATE AND CITY DEPARTMENT.

MUNICIPAL BOND SALES IN APRIL.

The April aggregate of municipal bond disposals proves to be, with one exception, of larger proportions than that of any April since 1892. According to our records, $19,284,125 of such bonds were placed. These figures, of course, do not include temporary loans amounting to $21,591,000 nor $1,000,000 bonds of Porto Rico. Among the larger sales which took place during April may be mentioned $5,000,000 by New York State, $3,283,000 by the State of Massachusetts and $1,165,500 by the City of Newark, N. J.

The number of municipalities emitting bonds and the number of separate issues made during April 1907 were 198 and 333 respectively. This contrasts with 199 and 245 for March 1907 and with 190 and 234 for April 1906.

For comparative purposes we add the following table showing the aggregates for April and the four months for a series of years:

	Month of April.	For the Four Mos.		Month of April.	For the Four Mos.

News Items.

South Carolina.—Blue Ridge Bond Scrip Litigation.—A case concerning old Blue Ridge bond scrip of this State came up for argument before the United States Supreme Court on April 25. The facts in the suit are very interesting and we therefore publish the following resume taken from the Charleston "News and Courier":

The case came to the United States Supreme Court on a writ of error from the Supreme Court of South Carolina, the essential facts in the case being as follows:

A petition was originally filed in the Supreme Court of South Carolina asking the Court to enjoin the defendant in error, the Treasurer of the State, from writing $37,000 of certain State bonds off the books in his office and no longer carrying said bonds on the books as a debt of the State.

The State Bank was originally chartered by the General Assembly of South Carolina in 1802. Its charter was renewed from time to time and finally expired in 1874.

In 1854 the General Assembly authorized the issuance, in aid of the Blue Ridge Railroad, and for the purpose of purchasing shares of its capital stock, of State bonds to the amount of $1,000,000, payable in five installments of $200,000 each, the first installment payable after the expiration of twenty years and the remaining $800,000 in four equal annual installments thereafter.

The State Bank became the owner of 100 of these bonds (numbered from 801 to 900, each of the denomination of $1,000) and all of them, with other assets of the bank, were taken from its agents by soldiers in Gen. Sherman's army when it passed through South Carolina in 1865. Nineteen of these bonds were recovered by the bank before a receiver for it was appointed.

Under an Act of the General Assembly of 1869, providing for the placing in liquidation of the banks which had issued bills of credit and had failed to pay them, a receiver was appointed early in 1870 for the State Bank, to take charge of its property and assets and finally settle its affairs.

April 20 1870 the Court passed an order in the cause enjoining the State Treasurer from paying either the principal or interest on any of the eighty-one bonds remaining outstanding to any person except to the receiver. The order, while it enjoined the payment of the bonds, did not enjoin the funding of them under the Conversion Act of 1869 or the consolidation of them under the Consolidation Act of 1873, and in 1876 it was discovered that several of the bonds had been funded and were thus lost to the receiver. The Court passed a second order February 4, 1876, enjoining the Treasurer from funding or consolidating any of the bonds remaining outstanding.

A number of the bonds were recovered from time to time and funded by the receiver under orders from the Court. An order was passed June 29 1894, referring the case to one of the Masters of the Court to report which of the bonds in question were still outstanding unpaid and unfunded. The Master reported that thirty-eight of the bonds were still outstanding and unpaid and that the said bonds are the property of the late corporation known as the president, directors and company of the State Bank, and that the receiver of said corporation is the only person entitled to fund and collect the same from the Treasurer of the State.

This report was confirmed by the Court. The thirty-eight bonds out standing matured on the first day of July 1879.

By an Act of the General Assembly of South Carolina, approved Feb. 25 1896, it was provided that, "after the approval of this Act, no coupon bond of this State payable to bearer, nor any coupon thereof shall be consolidated, converted, funded or paid by the State Treasurer after the expiration of twenty years from the date of maturity of such bonds."

After the first day of July, 1899, the outstanding bonds were carried on the books of the State Treasurer as "old bonds not fundable, Blue Ridge Railroad bonds, $37,000."

The General Assembly passed a joint resolution providing as follows:

"That the State Treasurer be authorized to write the bonds off his books." The General Assembly adjourned on the same day this resolution was passed. A new General Assembly convened, and the next day the resolution was sent to the Senate by the Governor unsigned and unapproved.

The Senate then passed the resolution over the Governor's veto.

Various grounds are set up declaring the resolution to be null and void. The petitioner prayed that an "injunction be issued perpetually enjoining and restraining the State Treasurer, the respondent herein, from writing the said $37,000 of State bonds off of the books in his office and no longer carrying said bonds on the books as a debt of the State, and for general relief."

A temporary restraining order was passed in accordance with the prayer of the petition, and a rule to show cause issued against the State Treasurer, who made return to it April 21 1903, by demurring to the petition.

The case was heard by the Supreme Court of South Carolina May 4 1903, and on September 10 1903 the Court handed down its decision, refusing the injunction prayed for, dissolving the temporary restraining order, and dismissing the petition.

A writ of error from this Court was allowed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina Aug. 14 1905.

The full details for the week covered by the above will be given next Saturday. We cannot furnish them to-day, clearings being made up by the clearing houses at noon on Saturday, and hence in the above the last day of the week has to be in all cases estimated, as we go to press Friday night.

We present below our usual detailed figures for the previous week, covering the returns for the period ending with Saturday noon, May 11, and the results for the corresponding week in 1906, 1905 and 1904 are also given. Contrasted with the week of 1906 the total for the whole country shows a loss of 5.3%. Outside of New York the increase over 1906 is 14.4%.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

There has been comparatively little consideration given on Wall Street to any subject since our last issue except short crops. The dollar mark for wheat has for years been the signal for the setting in of a feverish speculation in that commodity. In that particular this season has run a like course. Not only has that charmed figure been reached and passed the current week, and been followed by an excited wheat market, but other conditions—including a similarly backward state of crops in Europe, and indeed wherever producers of wheat in considerable numbers are found—appear at the moment favorable for a continuance of a high price for that cereal. Still it is not wise as yet to build too much as to future results on that fact alone and stand out too long for too high prices.

It is not an assured fact even now that the world is going to have phenomenally short crops the current season. A wonderfully unique fact of this year's weather conditions is that they have been cold, bleak and wintry down to a late date, not only in the United States but everywhere among the growers of wheat ever since the new year came in. That is a circumstance worth noting; for nature is a system of compensations. Even while we are writing, do we not at this centre seem to have struck a new wave of conditions—higher temperature and reviving showers? The trees are now full of leaves and birds and fruit blossoms, and our gardens promise good results, though ten days ago just the opposite was the outlook. It would be not at all marvelous if the coming four and a half months were to be the counterpart of, or perhaps better a recoil, from the last four and a half months.

There is still another consideration of large possibilities not to be overlooked. Abnormally high prices coming at the planting period is a very vigorous stimulant applied to each and every farmer at the very nick of time to put every available acre he has, in whatever country he resides, capable of raising wheat, down to the stimulated product; and where is a country to be found which cannot produce many an idle acre open to that cereal? We do not mean that this is the planting season everywhere. But over large sections of the world it is a fact, and the whole area now available for wheat is larger than ever before, including all climates and all soils. Consider for a moment if the weather should from to-day reverse itself in this country alone from being abnormally unfavorable to being abnormally favorable; then apply the same change to every other wheat-growing land. What possibilities would be opened up in the whole world of countries with this stimulating force animating every farm hand and giving new life to every labor-saving device which was inert only two weeks ago. Moreover, it has always been found in this country that early prognostications, made in the midst of degenerating influences in progress, invariably incline towards an exaggerated unhopeful state of affairs. As the year is unique in the damage being of a somewhat similar character in all parts of Europe as well as America, the estimates of damage are in some measure liable to be in the same way everywhere faulty or overestimated, and to a greater aggregate than at the moment believed possible. This does not mean that winter wheat in the United States and elsewhere is going to be a full crop. It has been damaged; of that there can be no doubt. But with wheat ruling at over one dollar a bushel the stimulant for spring planting will be a temptation hard to resist to any one having acres idle. And this is obviously a truth applicable to farmers the world over.

Cotton stands in a different situation. We wish that the current season were a normal season and that the crop promised a healthy new growth. Consumption of the raw material is so very active and increasing that it is unfortunate to have any setback or hindrance to the development in the consumption of cotton goods resulting from a further rise in the value of the staple. As we are just now engaged in getting in our facts for our annual acreage report to be issued about the first of June, we omit making further remarks regarding the present condition of the plant. Of course, the very high prices ruling this week will stimulate replanting.

Another important influence affecting business adversely at the Stock Exchange has been the reported action of the Inter-State Commerce Commission summarizing the results reached under its recent labors in the investigation of the Harriman system of roads. It afterwards turned out that the published statements were not conclusions of the Inter-State Commerce Commission but recommendations of its counsel. Assuming this last statement to be correct, it is by no means certain that the conclusions will be adopted by the Commission. If they are adopted and are as stated, the finding will not only be against the Southern Pacific control but against an alleged suppression of competition claimed to be done by many other roads brought about through their holdings of stocks of other companies. From the foregoing it was concluded on the Street that the report would be in favor of a prohibition of all purchases of stocks in other lines. Of course these statements may be far from the truth; all that is at the moment of importance about them is that the interpretation traders gave the rumors was the chief cause for the stagnation in business and decline in market values on Wednesday.

One other adverse forecast has been a fear of a disturbance in money in the near future. Indeed, a firmer tone has been noticeable the current week for short fixed periods; this perturbation was partly due to expectations based upon rumors from Washington that Secretary Cortelyou would, before the end of the fiscal year, withdraw a part or the whole of the $30,000,000 deposits placed in the banks by Ex-Secretary Shaw at the period of the acute monetary stringency last September. Mr. Cortelyou was reported to have stated last week that he would withdraw no portion of that amount at present. Notwithstanding this announcement, the opinion has prevailed that deposits would be withdrawn from the banks early in June for the purpose of augmenting the balance in the Sub-Treasury with which to pay the bonds when they fall due. This appears to be a needless piece of routine work, disturbing money rates, when it all could be avoided by paying for the balance of the 4% bonds on the first of July by checking directly on the depositary banks instead of on the Sub-Treasury. It is a little odd that although the direction of the inflow of customs dues was some weeks ago turned from the Sub-Treasury to the depositary banks, until 17½ million dollars had passed into the banks, not one dollar of that money has ever been checked out. There is nothing in the law which directed the inflow, that makes any special provision for an outflow.

This tone for time money is also claimed to have been in some measure influenced by the feeling that the subscriptions for the Southern Pacific stock and Union Pacific bonds, the first installments of which will be paid on July 10th, will create friction. We can see no likelihood of more than a very temporary monetary disturbance on that account. The installments on the subscriptions as they are paid will be immediately returned to the banks through the redeposits in those institutions. On previous occasions when similarly large negotiations have been conducted, like caution has been adopted by the managers with entire success. There have been other derangements in progress of more consequence. First, no improvement in conditions at any of the European centres has taken place. Furthermore, on Wednesday there was a more active exchange market here, a comparatively important rise in rates coupled with a special paucity of bills. On the following day a more urgent inquiry caused an advance in sight sterling to the best figures of the year. A further fact was that the price of gold bars had on Monday risen in the London bullion market to 77 shillings 10 pence per ounce on account of the competition of the Bank of France and Bank of England for the African gold then offered. Although the gold-export point at New York on London was about 25 points lower for sight sterling than the normal, there was no suggestion of gold shipments from New York or even to Paris as an arbitration operation, possibly because bankers regarded the gold situation as not yet such as to encourage shipment. The Bank of France, however, is still accumulating gold, as is evident from the fact that it took on Monday $1,250,000 of the South African consignment at the above-named price: that more is needed is seen by the further fact of its purchase of $1,390,000 in sovereigns on Thursday. The Bank of England, though, was somewhat relieved through the release by the India Council of $2,100,000 ear-marked gold. It may be, if conditions abroad shall not improve and if our supplies of exchange shall not be sufficient to meet the demand for remittance, gold may have to be shipped to London or to Paris soon. This conclusion is sustained by the fact that on Friday there was a further sharp rise in all classes of sterling exchange of more than 40 points, which made an entirely new record for the year. On the basis of the rate for sight sterling, it would appear that a rise of one cent per pound would enable gold to be profitably shipped to London; on the basis of sight francs on Paris it is probable that gold could be exported to that centre at even a smaller advance in such exchange rates.

Governor Hughes this week signed the amended Recording-Tax Law under which a recording tax of one-half of one per cent is levied upon real estate mortgages, which thereupon become exempt from annual taxes by the State, and also by counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts and other local subdivisions of the State. The law imposing this recording tax in lieu of all other taxes on real estate mortgages was originally passed last year and the present amendments consist mainly in giving mortgages made prior to July 1 1906 the right of availing of its provisions and thereby enjoying the same privileges and immunities as new mortgages. Extending the operation of the old law in this way is but simple justice. There seems no good reason for distinguishing between old mortgages and new mortgages so long as both pay, or are willing to pay, the same tax. It can readily be seen, too, that the distinction which the 1906 law made worked great hardship to the holders of the old mortgages. They remained subject to the local tax of 1 or 2 or 3% annually, as the case might be, whereas the holders of new mortgages were freed from all personal property taxes whatever, the State having granted exemption from such taxes in consideration of the payment of the recording tax of ½ of 1%.

The 1906 law worked hardship in still another way. In those cases where the loan secured by the mortgage had fallen due, but the mortgage had been allowed to run on, awaiting the convenience of mortgagor and mortgagee—such mortgages being very numerous and representing in the aggregate an enormous sum—the borrowers have been in constant fear since the enactment of last year that the loans would be called upon short notice and they be obliged to procure other loans. Even if the lender was willing to agree to a new mortgage, there was the expense involved in such a transaction—an item of no inconsiderable importance. Moreover, there are numerous cases where, for one reason or another, it was absolutely incumbent upon the mortgagor that the old mortgage should be allowed to continue. In such cases the borrower was absolutely without means of relief. It does not lessen the force of the argument to say that in many instances holders of mortgages have been able to escape taxation altogether. The fact remains that these old mortgages remained liable to taxation and that at any moment the tax authorities might swoop down upon them and enforce the claim for taxes. The uncertainty as to the ftuure of the money market also rendered it desirable that the distinction between old and new mortgages should be removed. So long as the distinction remained, it was possible for the holders of overdue mortgages to call their principal at any moment, and if any considerable number of them should take fright at the same time and require payment of the money due them, the consequences to the money market might have been serious. Altogether, therefore, there are many reasons for feeling gratified that the law has been amended in the particular named.

The amendments referred to, however, also involve some other very important changes. To these no reference whatever appears yet to have been made in the public prints as far as our knowledge goes. The recording tax of course applies to corporation mortgages as well as to mortgages by individuals. These corporation mortgages in the tax law are known as trust mortgages. In carrying out the idea of extending to old mortgages the privileges and immunities enjoyed by new mortgages, the section of the law relating to these so-called trust mortgages has been altered in very material respects. Some of these alterations are far-reaching in their effects. This section of the law is not changed so far as making payment of the recording tax compulsory only on new issues of bonds under the mortgage, but now severe penalties are imposed for failure to pay the tax on such new issues and stringent means provided for enforcing the payment. Here, for instance, is some of the new matter added.

If such additional tax is not paid as required by this section, the trust mortgagee shall not certify any bond or other obligation issued on account thereof, and the District Attorney of the county in which such mortgage has been, or is, first recorded may maintain an action against the corporation making such mortgage to recover the amount of such tax, with interest at the rate of 1% a month from the date when the same became due. . . . The corporation making such mortgage, or the owner of the property which secures the mortgage debt, shall annually within thirty days after July 1st, until the maximum amount of principal indebtedness secured by such mortgage has been advanced, has accrued or become secured, and the tax thereon paid, file in the offices of the Board of Tax Commissioners and the recording officer where such mortgage has been or is first recorded a statement verified by the Secretary, Treasurer, or other proper officer of said corporation, of the total amount of principal indebtedness that has been advanced or has accrued on such mortgage, or has become secured thereby, prior to the first day of July preceding the filing of such statement. A failure to file any statement required by this section within the time required shall subject the corporation making such mortgage to a penalty of $100 per day for each day such failure continues, recoverable by the District Attorney of the county in which such mortgage has been or is first recorded.

It will be seen that the provision in this respect is very drastic—the penalty being $100 a day and interest of 1% a month. In Section 301, which relates to the tax on prior advanced mortgages, there are also some very striking new provisions. This section provides that, in the case of any trust mortgage, only the portion of the indebtedness secured thereby upon which the tax imposed is paid shall be exempt from annual taxes. Furthermore, that any corporation shall have the privilege of an optional payment of the recording tax upon all bonds issued by it prior to July 1 1906, if it elects to avail itself of the privileges of the law in that respect. Finally, upon new issues of bonds it is made the duty of the tax recording officer "to endorse upon each of said bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness so presented to him a statement signed by him to the effect that the tax imposed by this article on that portion of the principal indebtedness secured by said mortgage represented by said bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness has been paid and said statement shall be conclusive proof of such payment." Under the law of 1906 it was necessary for the recording tax officer to give only a receipt evidencing the payment of the tax. It is easy to see that the new provision requiring endorsement of the payment upon the bond itself may become very valuable to railroad corporations putting out additional issues of bonds under old mortgages. Obviously the bonds will command a better price carrying an official statement saying that the bond is free from all annual personal property taxes. Eventually, we suppose, all the mortgage bonds of New York corporations will be exempt from personal property taxes under the Recording Tax Law, but in the meantime it may readily happen that there will be two kinds of bonds under the same mortgage—one tax exempt by reason of the payment of the recording tax and the other subject to personal property taxes the same as in the past.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission has rendered a decision this week in a matter involving relative rates of freight on shipments of cotton goods from New England and from the South. The decision appears to be in accord with right principles. The case was that of the Enterprise Manufacturing Company et al against the Georgia Railroad Company et al. It appeared from the evidence that the carriers' rates on cotton goods from Georgia and South Carolina points to San Francisco and the Pacific Coast are $1 15 per 100 lbs. when the goods are shipped in carload lots and $1 65 when shipped in less than carload lots. On the other hand, the rates on cotton goods from New York and Boston to the same Pacific Coast points are $1 00 in carload lots and $1 50 in less than carload lots. It will be seen that the New England manufacturer has an advantage of 15c. per 100 lbs. over the Southern manufacturer. The latter complained of the unreasonableness of his rates by reason of this difference. The Commission holds, however, that the rates are not unreasonable. It says the fact that freight tariffs on these goods from the Southeastern States are higher than those obtaining from the New England States does not in and of itself establish the unreasonableness of the higher rates, as the conditions existing at the two localities are dissimilar. The New England mills, which suffer from the competition of the more favorably situated Southern mills and their nearness to the supply of raw material, are entitled to such advantage in rates as they have from being situated at points where cheap water competition has been established to Pacific Coast points. At the hearing before the Commission the point was made that somewhat lower rates from the South than those now charged had prevailed at one time in 1896. But the Commission says as to this that the existence of a lower rate in the somewhat remote past does not necessarily prove anything of value in ascertaining the reasonableness of a rate existing to-day—which is both sound logic and sound sense.

Contrary to expectation the movement of immigrants into the United States in April fell materially below the total for the same month of 1906. The near approach of the time when the new Federal law will become operative it was thought would hasten the movement in the arrivals. Even at New York the total number admitted—118,834—is only 169 more than April a year ago, and at every other port, with but one or two unimportant exceptions, a falling off is shown. Through all the ports of entry the number of immigrants admitted in April 1907 was 145,256, which compares with 150,397 in 1906 and 137,094 in 1905. Going over the details of the statement for April, we find that the decrease this year is due to a decided drop in the emigration from Russia, the number arriving from that country this April having been but 19,241 against 30,806 a year ago. On the other hand, the number arriving from Southern Europe (Italians, Austrians, Hungarians, &c.) is about 5,000 ahead of 1906. Whether this decided falling off is merely a check in the efflux from the Russian empire, future months will determine.

A city contemporary has been inquired of as to what authority exists for a demurrage charge of a dollar per day on railroad cars which are not unloaded and freed by consignees at the expiration of the time limit. The inquirer wishes to know if such charge is justified under any statute. It is inferable that he is one of those who resent being required to pay such a charge, and his question illustrates the growing habit of failure to recognize that corporations, especially common carriers, have any rights which are entitled to respect. The obligation of railroads to furnish cars amply and promptly would not be questioned anywhere; that is part of the service for which they exist, and there is some disposition to deny them the excuse of inability. Thus the main point in the protest by the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, on which we commented lately, was that the railroads confessedly cannot meet the demands of existing traffic, and this was cited as sufficient evidence, without consideration of any other facts, why they are not entitled to any increase in rates. But while a consignee must have some reasonable time to unload and free a car, the persons who object to demurrage do not remember that a car detained unnecessarily by their neglect or for their convenience is withheld from serving somebody else. If A detains a car, B must wait for the car, and B complains; but the man who complains of demurrage to-day and inquires what law authorizes it, is liable to complain of delay next week, for human nature is such that a day or two which incommodes us looms large in importance, while a day or two for our convenience seems a trifle. But all rules should work both ways, and a thing is wrong or right without reference to the way in which it affects ourselves just at the time. In the present disposition to hold railroads very strictly accountable, and even to go beyond reason in drawing lines up to which they must measure, we are bound all the more to remember and concede necessary and unquestionable rights to them.

Philadelphia has been this week the scene of two important national textile conventions and attendant exhibits of machinery. The first of these conventions, that of the National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers, began its third annual session in the Continental Hotel on Monday, continuing its deliberations on Tuesday and Wednesday. Over 300 delegates were in attendance and many subjects of interest were brought up for discussion and decision. The proposed changes in the German tariff laws, however, engaged especial attention, as many present seemed to find in them a menace to American hosiery interests. Prices of finished products were also the subject of animated discussion, it being asserted that the increased cost of the raw material and labor militated against the hosiery industry last year. It was therefore agreed to increase prices of manufactured products to meet the advanced cost, which was said to be about 15%.

Chief interest, however, attached to the eleventh annual convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, which held its session in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. In contradistinction to the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, with membership largely in the North, the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association particularly represents Southern interests. And Mr. Arthur H. Lowe, the president, in his opening address, strongly endorsed the suggestion of an amalgamation of the two organizations, as advanced by President MacColl, of the National Association, at the recent convention in Boston. The American convention brought out a vast body of delegates, more than 3,000, representing all branches of the industry, being in attendance. Moreover, in the scope of the addresses and subjects discussed, it was a most important conclave. The paper of Mr. E. J. Watson, Commissioner of Immigration of South Carolina, on "The Need of Immigration, particularly at the South," was the most important of those offered the first day. He pointed out that, owing to the shortage of labor, the building of manufacturing plants at the South had practically ceased and referred to his efforts to develop a plan to induce immigration and at the same time comply with the letter of the new Federal law. Referring to the labor situation abroad, which he has recently been investigating, Mr. Watson said he found a spirit of satisfaction among textile works and that many of the new mills in England are being built with capital largely provided by the operatives themselves. In conclusion he remarked that intelligently directed work to secure selected immigration, in lieu of the indiscriminate supply of to-day, should be encouraged by national and State governments as well as by the people. Mr. Theo. H. Price, of New York, delivered an address on "The Future Contract, Its Uses and Abuses," in which he set forth at length his views on the subject. The remainder of Wednesday's session was taken up with addresses on subjects more or less technical or academic. An address by Mr. W. W. Finley, President of the Southern Ry., was the feature of Thursday's proceedings. He called the attention of his audience to the benefits all sections had derived through the railroads, and stated that rates were fixed by the operations of economic and commercial laws, and limited by the competition of water routes, &c. Mr. Finley further remarked that any legislation which threatened the ability of the roads to maintain earning capacity had the effect of injuring their credit, thus crippling their power to furnish additional facilities so urgently needed; and stated that the railways had found it necessary to apply to the courts to test the validity of some recent enactments. Friday was given over to an inspection of exhibits of machinery and to sight-seeing.

An incident of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Convention, but not directly connected with it, was a conference on the classification of cotton. At the invitation of the Association, representatives of the New York Cotton Exchange, of cotton spinners, and of the Cotton Growers' Association met on Wednesday and discussed the wants of spinners with reference to the classification of cotton. But in view of the absence of any representative from the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and the lack of time, it was considered impossible to reach any conclusion. The appointment of a new committee was therefore recommended, its report to be presented at the next annual meeting. This put off the matter of a national grading of cotton until next year.

The striking feature of the statement of the New York Associated Banks last week was a contraction of $14,096,700 in loans following an expansion of $16,902,700 in the previous week. The surplus reserve was augmented $1,661,600 to $8,486,225 as the result of a reduction of $4,045,200 in reserve requirements, less a loss of $2,383,600 cash; deposits decreased $16,180,800. There have been no special Sub-Treasury operations this week to affect the bank statement. Redemptions of 4s of 1907 now amount to $24,714,400, according to the records at Washington, and refunding operations have resulted in the exchange of $47,281,750 of the 4% bonds of 1907 for 2% consols. Deposits of public funds in the banks continue to be made; these now amount to 172 millions, an increase since March 4 of 33 millions.

While money on call has been easier this week, largely as the result of the limited inquiry by commission houses and also of the offerings of their unemployed balances, time money, especially for the shorter dates of maturity, has been firm because, among other reasons above referred to, of a desire by borrowers to tide over the period of possible activity incident to preparations for the July disbursements of interest and dividends.

Day-to-day money, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 3% and at 2%, averaging about 2½%; banks and trust companies quoted 2% as the minimum. On Monday loans were at 3% and at 2% with the bulk of the business at 2¾%. On Tuesday transactions were at 2¾% and at 2% with the majority at 2½%. On Wednesday loans were at 2½% and at 2% with the bulk of the business at 2½%. On Thursday transactions were at 2½% and at 2% with the majority at 2¼%. On Friday loans were at 2½% and at 2¼% with the bulk of the business at 2½%. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral are 3¾@4% for sixty days, 4% for ninety days, 4½@4¾% for four to six months and 5¼% for nine to twelve months. There did not appear to be any pressure of offerings; capitalists and institutions having money to lend seemingly feel confident that they will be able to place it on corporation notes at better rates than those quoted for stock collateral, and, moreover, out of the abundance of such notes on the market they can make quite satisfactory selections. Commercial paper was in moderate demand at 5½% for sixty to ninety-day endorsed bills receivable, 5½% for prime and 5½@6% for good four to six months' single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 4%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety-day bank bills in London 3¼%. The open market rate at Paris is 3⅜% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4⅝@4¾%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £636,201 bullion during the week and held £34,948,891 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to the heavy movement to the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £314,000 (of which £8,000 from Australia, £6,000 U. S. coin, £31,000 from various countries and £269,000 bought in the open market); exports, £331,000 (of which £251,000 to Paris, £50,000 to America and £30,000 to various countries), and shipments of £619,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was almost featureless, except for a firm tone, until Wednesday, when there was a comparatively important advance, due to purchases for remittance by the next day's mail. On Thursday there was good buying for Saturday's steamer, which caused a rise to the best rates for the week, and sight exchange sold at the highest price for the year. The strong tone then was due chiefly to meagre offerings, there being very few bankers' bills and almost an entire absence of drafts against cotton and grain. On Friday the demand for exchange was quite urgent, partly because of covering by speculators who had overrated the market on the previous day. Rates for all classes of sterling advanced sharply and by the close of the day a rise of about 40 points all around had been recorded. At the rate for sight sterling exchange ruling at the close, it appeared that a rise of one cent per pound more would permit of gold being exported to London; francs were even nearer than was sterling to the gold-exporting point to Paris. It was reported that an engagement of $1,500,000 had been made for shipment, but this was denied. The inquiry for remittance found the market insufficiently supplied. Bankers throughout the week were apparently indisposed to draw, except in cases where drawing was necessary, because of the uncertainty regarding the situation abroad. There were no bills resulting from operations in securities; on the contrary, arbitrage transactions caused a balance of sales of stocks for which remittance was required. The London settlement disclosed a small account in Americans, indicating a light business during the fortnight. There was some selling of Paris cables early in the week, supposed to be against the remainder of the installment of the corporation note that was drawn for through sterling last week; these cables were, however, comparatively small in amount and they had little influence upon French exchange.

Nominal quotations for sterling are 4 84½ for sixty-day and 4 87½ for sight. On Saturday of last week the market was strong, especially for short, because of a rise in London discounts, and, compared with rates at the close of the previous day, short rose 10 points to 4 8625@4 8635 and cables 10 points to 4 8660@4 8670; long was unchanged. On Monday the market was dull and, though with a firm undertone, there was a recession by the close of 10 points for long to 4 8330@4 8335, of 5 points for short to 4 8620@4 8625, and of 10 points for cables to 4 8655@4 8660. On Tuesday the market rose 5 points all around—long to 4 8335@4 8340, short to 4 8625@4 8630 and cables to 4 8660@4 8665. On Wednesday the tone was strong at an advance of 10 points for short to 4 8635@4 8640 and of 10 points for cables to 4 8670@4 8675; long was unchanged. Thursday the market was active and higher and long rose 30 points to 4 8360@4 8370, short 20 points to 4 8655@4 8660, and cables 25 points to 4 8685@4 8695. The market was very strong on Friday and, as above noted, 40 points higher all around.

NEW VIEWS OF CURRENCY REFORM.

Mr. George E. Roberts, director of the United States Mint, has an article in the "North American Review" which deserves notice in connection with the recurrent discussion of our currency situation. Attacking the question of "needed financial legislation," Mr. Roberts takes up the situation as presented by the various more or less important changes introduced by the Aldrich bill, and from that branch of the subject proceeds to discuss the question of a central bank. With Mr. Roberts's criticism of the existing situation we are in entire agreement. He points out that "the provisions of law under which the Secretary is obliged to act (in keeping Government money on the market) are so vague and imperfect as to impose most undesirable responsibilities upon him, while barely permitting of successful administration." Our system of red tape in the enlargement of circulation, he correctly states, is too clumsy and unresponsive to be of any great value in a financial emergency. That the issue of notes upon bond security "does not ordinarily increase a bank's supply of cash" is a fact recognized by all critics.

Equally important, and in some respects of increasing difficulty and complexity, is the problem created by the provision of the Aldrich bill instructing the Secretary to distribute Government deposits "equitably, as far as possible, between the different States and sections." Mr. Roberts, perhaps, does not sufficiently recognize the fact that "equitably" and "equally" are not synonymous terms. To distribute among all the country's national banks a given surplus derived, for instance, from New York operations alone, and withdrawn wholly from the New York money market, would doubtless be "equal" distribution, but it would be very far from "equitable." We have reason to believe that Secretary Cortelyou takes this view of the matter, and, indeed, it is difficult to see how any other could be fairly taken. Nevertheless, Mr. Roberts is right in his description of the real and annoying embarrassment of the Treasury under this very proviso. "It is just getting to be known," he says, "that public deposits are to be had by energetic solicitation, and Senators and Congressmen in all parts of the country are under pressure to help secure these favors." In other words, the tendency is not only to harass the Treasury in the proper administration of its duties, but to create the constant possibility of an unwise and demoralizing diversion of funds.

Mr. Roberts finds the one remedy for this situation in the plan of a central bank of issue. In general, he adopts the recommendations regarding such a bank set forth by the Chamber of Commerce Currency Committee last October. He holds that the central bank should be a bank for bankers only, the stock to be held by national and State banks; that it should maintain a branch office at every important centre; that it should perform the general functions of the Sub-Treasuries, including the handling of Government receipts and disbursements; that its lending operations ought to be confined to re-discounts of short-time paper for its own stockholders; that the Treasury should control its general policy, the Government's finance officers constituting a majority of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Roberts outlines his plan with much enthusiasm. He does away with the argument—never of any serious weight—that a central bank is suited for a monarchy but not for a republic, and he points out with much ingenuity the possibilities of such an institution. We are compelled to doubt, however, whether he foresees all the objections surrounding consideration of his plan. It may be asked, why was it that the Chamber of Commerce Committee itself expressed doubt as to the practicability of such a scheme, and why did the Chairman of the Committee, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce, state that he did not regard it as feasible? In part this attitude is to be explained by the unpleasant tradition surrounding the old Bank of the United States—a tradition which, we may add, grasps rather imperfectly the facts which culminated in the somewhat discreditable downfall of that institution in 1841. It is not our purpose here to go into the question whether Jackson's attack on the United States Bank was justified politically or financially. But there are certain other phases in the situation which must be considered, not only in discussing the public attitude toward the plan, but in weighing its actual practicability.

The first serious objection which occurs to us is a political consideration; it is the fact that our Government has not yet proved its capacity for keeping petty politics out of great public affairs—of which our Post Office Department is still an evidence—and that the introduction of such methods and practices into an institution with the power and prestige of a central bank of issue would be vastly more dangerous than it by any possibility could be in the Post Office. Indeed, we may go further, and say that the objections raised to recently-mooted plans of extended government ownership or municipal control of public utilities have at least some bearing on this proposition. Mr. Roberts, like the Chamber of Commerce Committee, is careful to safeguard the bank against selfish private mismanagement by placing control in the hands of the Government. He would "create an executive board of, say, five, of which the Secretary of the Treasury, the Comptroller of the Currency and the Treasurer of the United States would be three, the other two to be chosed by the directors, the executive board to determine the general policy of the bank." In so far as concerns the maintaining of a paramount voice by the Government, this plan should be adequate. But who is to guarantee that these three Government officers will themselves be competent for the new and complex responsibilities which such management would impose upon them? Pressure for political favors, through appointments or through use of powers arising from the institution's own operations, would certainly be great; in the existing Civil Service it has been irresistible. And if these officers were able to shake themselves free from such influences, there would still remain the question of their financial capacity. Even competent Secretaries of the Treasury might grossly mismanage a bank.

In short, we can see grave objection in the very features of the plan which Mr. Roberts—properly enough from his own point of view—regard as its chief safeguard. In this appointment of already overworked Government officers to such new duties, the project would by no means follow the example of the great European banks of issue; which, though in some cases retaining supervision by the Government, place the active management wholly in the hands of banking experts. On the other hand, if the plan of active Government control were for such reasons to be abandoned, we should at once be confronted by the very objection which the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Roberts had foreseen—namely, the fact that very great powers, partly of a governmental nature, would thus be enjoyed by a body of men who conceivably might, wilfully or ignorantly, misuse them.

For ourselves, we see no escape from one or the other of these two alternatives, and we believe that the practical common sense of the community has pronounced the plan of a central bank impracticable because it understands exactly these elements in the situation. If, indeed, there were no alternative between a proposition of this sort and continuance of the present clumsy and dangerous currency system, that fact would of itself be an overwhelming argument for the plan. But this is not the case; the Chamber of Commerce Committee itself argued with much greater force and, it seems to us, with much greater conviction, in behalf of its alternative plan for the adding of elasticity to note issues of national banks which are already allowed to put out circulation. We have never believed that there was any intrinsic danger or unsoundness in the plan of note issues by separate banks; on the contrary, it is our feeling that such separate institutions are best qualified to judge the needs of their own particular localities. The trouble has been that, starting with a proper conception of the nature of the issue system, we have proceeded to shackle it by such restrictions as to all but deprive it of practical utility. Perhaps we might add that our most serious objection to the campaign for a central bank of issue is that, by advocating a confessedly impracticable expedient, it obstructs the way to that rational consideration of reform under the present system which we believe to be imperative.

THE NEW TEXAS INVESTMENT LAW AND SOME SUGGESTIONS THEREFROM.

The Texas bill to compel life insurance companies to place 75% of the reserve on policies hereafter written in Texas in securities within that State was signed and became a law on April 24. This suggests a glance backward to see what change has occurred in the mode of dealing with life insurance investments on part of statute. The original incorporation law of this State, more than a half century ago, provided thus:

"It shall be lawful for any company organized under this Act to invest any of its funds and accumulations in bonds and mortgages on unincumbered real estate within the State of New York (and also on unincumbered real estate outside of said State and within fifty miles of the city of New York) worth 50% more than the sum so loaned thereon; or in stocks of the United States, stocks of this State, or of any incorporated city of this State, if at or above par, and any stocks created under the laws of this State that shall be, at the time of such investment, at a market value in the city of New York at or above par."

In 1853 there was no West as we now know it, for California had not long been a State and Kansas had not even been erected into a Territory. Only a few companies had been organized in this State, and life insurance itself was young. Therefore it is not very strange that provincial notions prevailed and that investment of funds was confined to the State of New York. The limiting of mortgage investments to a circle of fifty miles radius about this city was very little broader in vision, and for many years the companies of New Jersey, New England and the West were able to net a little larger interest rates under statutory permission, and had a point of competitive advantage in that fact.

But while mortgage loans were thus made very strictly safe, as was imagined, the italicized clause above was strikingly loose. The test was not placed on the earning of interest, as in the savings bank law, but solely on market value; therefore any speculative stock which might for an hour be pushed to par here became a lawful investment. Not much bad investing was done under this permission, nor is the probability or improbability that any would be done worth discussing now; the point is that the management of the trust has been abler and more conservative than the law's remission, and when the law is viewed (as of course it must be) as setting up bounds of safety for the purpose of keeping discretion within prudence, the clause seems absurd. We have in this forgotten provision another example of the fact that life insurance has not needed to be guided by the State and that the business sense of managers is sounder than any instructions which statute is likely to give them.

The Armstrong laws, under which life insurance is now trying to live and thrive, peremptorily forbade any more purchasing of stocks or even of loaning upon them, and peremptorily ordered the sale by the end of 1911 of all stocks owned, and progressive sales annually meanwhile. Having pointed out at the time of this enactment how utterly non-conservative and unwise it is, we need not discuss it again now; yet we cannot refrain from contrasting the position of the stocks which are banned (because they were popularly imagined to be dangerous as representing "Wall Street") with that of the bonds which are assumed to be, theoretically and practically, the highest conceivable investment safety. The New York Life had voluntarily sold its stockholdings before the disturbances of 1905-06 began. The Mutual, one year ago, had 45 stock items, of which all but two bore a premium, the list footing up 33 millions at par and 73½ millions at market. Of the 184 bond items (some of which were evidently bought from reasons of policy rather than strict investment reasons) 52 were under par, the totals standing $169,606,572 at par and $169,939,792 at market. Seventeen items of stocks footed up about 16¾ millions at par and 43½ millions at market; bank and trust company stocks stood at an average of 400, and all the "financial" stocks in the company's possession footed up a little over 10 millions at par and a little over 36¾ millions at market.

This was one year ago. At the close of 1906 the company's 208 items of bonds owned, footing up about 219½ millions at par, were a little over 214 millions at market, being $5,614,071 below par. On the other hand, the 41 stock items, footing up a little under 30 millions at par, were worth 68¼ millions in the market, showing a premium of a little over 38¼ millions, against a shortage of 5½ millions on the bonds. When book instead of par value is used, the bonds at cost were $1,562,564 above market value and the cost value of the stocks was $20,246,574 under market value. The contrast in the second comparison is a little less unfavorable for the bonds, but either one throws a strong light on the unwisdom of legislative intervention which commands the most solid and gilt-edged securities to be disposed of, in obedience to a whimsical imagination.

One consideration more might be mentioned just here. Not counting the insurance outstanding in outside companies doing business here (all of which are more or less unfavorably affected by the Armstrong laws), the insurance outstanding in the companies of this State at the end of 1905 was over six billions, represented by a little over three million policies. Of this, not much over one-seventh of the policies and less than one-sixth of their amount belongs to citizens of this State. Therefore, the New York Legislature assumed to not only intervene forcibly in the investment handling but to seriously alter the general managing of a vast interest of which more than five-sixths belongs outside its jurisdiction, some of it being on the other side of the globe. More moderation would surely seem to have been appropriate.

As the law in this State now stands, the companies may invest in "any duly authorized bonds or evidences of debt of any city, county, town, village, school district, municipality or other civil division of any State, and may loan upon the security of improved unincumbered real property in any State worth 50% more than the amount so loaned thereon." That is, may make mortgage loans anywhere and may buy issues of any political division within any State. "Duly authorized" is a wide phrase, and municipal bonds have been contested in the past on the ground of illegality; they may be contested again. Nor is the line drawn at bonds, for "evidences of debt" may include some forms whose validity may be more questionable or be more likely to be put in question. There is no requirement that these bonds shall have been interest-paying—they may be bought fresh from the press: nor that they shall be at or above par—they may stand anywhere in the market, the only condition being that they shall be "duly authorized."

It is outside the point to urge that company administrations are not likely to make any bad investments under this permission. The point is that the same law which proceeds on the theory that any kind of stocks is dangerous and the discretion of company managers must be restricted, and which therefore undertakes to apply restriction by forbidding stock purchases and peremptorily ordering all stocks to be sold, throws open the gate so widely that if the discretion that is thus discredited were not really sound the time might come when life insurance would be loaded up with bad investments.

The Governor of Texas was informed that the New York Life, for one, would be compelled to leave the State if he signed the bill, to which he is said to have replied that any company which thought Texas investments not good enough was at liberty to go. That, however, was not the whole case, and a few companies have already as much invested there as the new law requires. The law requires the securities to be deposited with the State, and then imposes on them a 2½% tax; this tax, piled on the 2¼% already levied on gross premiums, is clearly confiscatory of the income upon which life insurance is based. Although Texas ranks fifth in order of importance to the New York Life, the company promptly gave notice that it will retire on the day the law takes effect, and the Mutual Benefit followed suit. The point is raised (and seems well taken) that the law is unconstitutional in embracing subjects not mentioned in the title, and also in delegating to a State official the power to suspend its enforcement; but unless this defect causes them to delay, it is expected that a score of other companies will retire, and it is estimated that Texas may experience retribution in losing some $200,000 tax receipts annually. In order to meet this, however, amendments have already been proposed, reducing to 1% the 2¼ premium tax for companies that stay, and raising it to 3% for those that go!

Of course, there is another consideration involved. Remembering the influence of a bad example, it must be expected that State after State may enact similar laws, in which case assets would be split up, the various laws might be conflicting, the power of control in a most important matter would be taken away, and a fatal blow would be struck at the foundation of life insurance. Yet five States which have considered this particular proposition have declined to adopt it at present, and there is reason to believe that a brief trial will cause Texas to abandon it, as Arkansas has just abandoned a bad law of hers which related to insurance business in another phase.

Laws relating to investments by insurance and banking corporations and savings banks have been definitive and permissive, restricting discretion within certain lines; they have set forth what might be done or have named some things which might not be—they have not been mandatory. But we have come a long way from the provision of 1853 above quoted to the mandate of 1906, and now to the Texas mandate of 1907. Can any reflecting man doubt that this last piece of legislation, enacted in a season which has been marked by perhaps unprecedented radicalism, is the direct and natural result of the bad example set by New York in the Armstrong laws? And is it not a strong admonition that we should set our intellectual houses more in order and begin to cool and correct our reasoning?

THE RELATIONS OF LABOR AND CAPITAL.

The Macmillan Company has brought out a neat little book entitled "Labor and Capital," by Goldwin Smith. The book is an amplification of a letter written by the author a short time ago and which appeared under the title of "Progress or Revolution?" The book contains only thirty-eight pages, but, as in the case of all of Goldwin Smith's works and writings, there is a tremendous amount of meat in it, and it is replete with evidences of clear thinking and of close and analytical reasoning.

Professor Smith is sympathetic in his treatment of the labor question. He allows that there are some causes for discontent. But whatever the defects of the existing system, no other has yet been suggested which seems likely to be an improvement. Socialism certainly would not be a change for the better. On the contrary, it would give rise to new ills a great deal worse than any of those from which the wage-earner is seeking to escape. The letter is in the nature of kindly advice to the laboring man, whom indeed he addresses as "My Labor Friend," and he seeks to show that radical means and radical methods can only work harm and mischief—that anything savoring of confiscation or disregard of the rights of property must result in ruin and general chaos, in which the wage-earner would suffer no less disastrously than the moneyed classes. He therefore counsels moderation. In a word, better conditions must be sought and developed through progress, not by revolution.

The author displays great felicity in the way he defines capital and labor and the intimate relation existing between the two. Besides the natural forces, he says, there are two factors in production: Capital and Labor. All that is not labor is capital. The laborer's outfit is capital. The fruits of money laid out in preparation for any skilled calling, as in training for a profession, are capital, and entitled to share under that head. Capital specialized and spelled with a large letter has been erected into an industrial tyrant, the mortal enemy of labor. If capital could be killed or scared away, in what condition can we suppose that labor would be left? Put labor without any capital, with nothing but its bare sinews, on the most fertile land or amidst the richest mines, and see what will be the result. The union of the two elements in production is as necessary as that of oxygen and hydrogen in the composition of water. Without capital we should be living in caves and grubbing up roots with our nails. Such in fact was the state of primitive man. The man who first stored up some roots was the first capitalist; and the man who first loaned some of his roots on condition of future repayment with addition was the first investor. Labor, we are told, adds the value to the raw material. Undoubtedly it does, and it receives the price of the value added, in the form of wages, which are distributed by the equitable hand of nature along the whole line of laborers, from the miner, say, to the artisan of the metal works, and from the grower of cotton to the spinner—not excluding in either case the master by whom the works have been set up and by whose labor, as manager and the distributer of their products, they are carried on. He pertinently asks: Are all the inventions due to manual labor? Did manual labor discover America?

The capitalist, besides the money which he risks, contributes labor of an indispensable kind as organizer and director, and is entitled to payment for that labor as well as to the interest on his capital. The labor contributed by the employer in the shape of direction cannot be dispensed with. Lack of direction appears to have been the cause of the ill-success of co-operative works fully as much as the lack of funds for their support while they are waiting on the market.

Labor is entitled to such wage as the capitalist, allowing for his risk, can afford to give. A strike is a legitimate engine for enforcing the concession of such a wage, though not for any exaction beyond. Further exaction must break the trade. The capital which the employer puts into the trade is not a thing alien to labor, but its accumulated fruit. The author thinks there is nothing strange or invidious in treating labor as a commodity, the value, and consequently the wages, of which must be regulated by the market. This is the case with all labor; that of the statesman, the man of science, the writer, as well as that of the artisan, though all these may draw their wages in a different form. The right of an artisan to a living wage cannot be asserted unless value in labor can be given for the wage. Nor can the right to employment be asserted, when no employment offers, in the case of an artisan any more than in that of a lawyer for whom there are no clients or a physician for whom there are no patients. Another market must be sought. This is the common lot. Furthermore, it is important to observe that the capitalist, though the organizer, director and paymaster, is not the real employer. The real employer is the purchaser of the goods, who cannot be forced by any strike or pressure to give more for the goods than he chooses and can afford. Carried beyond a certain point, therefore, pressure for an increased wage must either fail or break the trade.

Discussing the growth of labor unions, the author points out that power newly won and flushed with victory seldom stops exactly at the line of right. From enabling the wage-earner to treat on fair terms with the employer, unions seem now to be going on to create for themselves a monopoly of labor. To this the community never has submitted and never can submit. Freedom of labor is the rightful inheritance of every man and the vital interest of all. The defensive forces of the community are slow in gathering to resist usurpation, but they will gather at last and when they do the end is certain. Professor Smith cannot resist a dig at Protection, saying that we must not forget that the protectionist manufacturer is as truly a monopolist in his way as the artisan who tries to confine the right of labor to his union.

The habit of giving the question of employer and employed the aspect of a war between classes, and representing the artisan as "a slave" ground down by the tyranny of the class above him, is strongly deprecated. The author argues that no one in his cooler moments can believe that a man who is perfectly at liberty to dispose of his own labor and has full political rights is a slave. The State is constantly invoked as a sort of Supreme Being with paternal duties and a fund of its own for their fulfilment, while in reality it is either a mere abstraction or nothing but the government of the day, without any fund for its paternal bounty but that which it draws by taxation from the community and on which no class can have a special claim.

It is pointed out that in industrial and commercial communities there is no such sharp division of classes as to give one class a pretense for making war upon the other. Of the millionaires who are the special objects of hostility it would probably be found that far the greater number, in the United States at least, had sprung from that which fancies itself the despoiled and down-trodden class. Many of the people classed as "rich" by the spokesmen of labor, because they are not mechanics, are, considering the necessities of their social position, in reality poor. The municipal demagogue who promises to take the taxes off the poor and put them on the rich is undertaking to lay fresh burdens on many people who are already struggling with want. There is no reason in applying to a whole class epithets of abuse which only the worst members of it can deserve. There is no sense and little justice in saying that any set of men have been "stealing from another set their right to health, home and happiness." The author urges that that is not the road to reform. It is the road to class hatred. It is the road to social strife. It is the road, if an attempt is made to despoil and destroy a powerful class, to civil war. No one will attempt to gainsay the author's statement that proposals to forfeit to the State fortunes immorally made require for their safe application an infallible test of morality. The attempt would otherwise result in sweeping confiscation and the end would be general insecurity of property, with the inevitable consequences to enterprise and production. If gains are to be forfeited, losses must be made good, or investment will cease. That wealth is in itself an evil, let cynics or poets say what they may, will hardly be asserted by any one who asks himself how without wealth there could have been any great undertaking—it might almost be said, beyond mere self-sustenance, any undertaking at all.

Accordingly, the conclusion is reached that there is something to be said for acquiescing, provisionally at least, in our present industrial system, based as it is on the general relation between capital and labor, and trying to continue the improvement of that relation in a peaceful way, without class war and havoc. Progress in a word seems more hopeful than revolution. When the Socialist ideal, perfect brotherhood, is realized, there may be social happiness compared with which the highest pleasure attainable in this world of inequality, strife and self-interest would be mean; but all the attempts to rush into that state have proved failures, some of them much worse, and there is no leaping into the millennium.

PERPLEXITY OF MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Municipal ownership of public utilities, which some communities regard as most desirable, has hardly proved to be an unmixed blessing to the city of Philadelphia, which owns its water works and its gas works. The water works are operated by the city, which has been expending many millions of dollars for the purpose of providing filtered water, but the benefits so far derived are very slight. Whatever is wrong with Philadelphia politically had its inception, many persons think, at the time when the city operated the gas works through a board of gas trustees.

Municipal operation of the gas works in Philadelphia was regarded as a failure ten years ago, and that the community might escape from the ills which had sprung up around the gas system, the entire plant was leased to a private corporation. But the gas question, like the proverbial ghost, will not down. Periodically it becomes the political storm-centre. Two years ago the city was in the greatest turmoil because of a proposition to cancel the present lease, the longest possible term of which is 30 years from its beginning, and enter into a new lease for seventy-five years. In 1905 City Councils passed an ordinance terminating the lease and entering into a new agreement with the same lessee for a period of 75 years. The Mayor vetoed the ordinance, and the Councils passed the ordinance over the Mayor's veto, but public indignation was so strong that the ordinance was repealed, leaving the original lease unchanged.

Once again the city of Philadelphia is face to face with the same old problem, with a clash of private interests and political factions. The lease of the gas works which was executed in 1898 gave the city of Philadelphia the right to terminate the agreement in ten years upon giving six months' notice to the lessee, the United Gas Improvement Company. The question which must be settled before July 1 is whether or not it is best to abrogate the lease with the hope of entering into a new agreement with the present lessee or with some other company on terms more favorable to the city.

Under the present lease gas has been supplied to consumers at $1 per 1,000 cubic feet. After collecting this amount the company has retained 90 cents per 1,000 and turned into the City Treasury 10 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. It has been within the power of City Councils at any time to make the maximum charge to consumers 90 cents by relinquishing the right of the city to its share of the profits. The necessities of the city, however, have induced the city authorities to retain the entire portion of the profits to which the municipality is entitled. An ordinance to reduce the price of gas to consumers to 90 cents was once passed, but vetoed by Mayor Weaver. If the lease is permitted to run 20 years longer the lessee is to supply gas at 85 cents for five years beginning with Jan. 1 1908, at 80 cents for the following five years and at 75 cents for the remaining ten years of the lease. It remains entirely with Councils and the Mayor whether the price of gas to consumers is reduced or not, as the company reduces from time to time the net cost of gas to the city. If the city elects to continue the lease and to retain 15 cents per 1,000 by keeping the price of gas to consumers at $1, it is estimated that the city's share of the profits next year will be $1,200,000. Had the city pursued the policy of relinquishing its share of the profits by making the price of gas to consumers 90 cents per 1,000 and 85 cents for the period of five years beginning with January 1 next, there would probably be no demand for a new lease now, and it would seem, therefore, as if the batteries of public indignation ought to be directed against the members of Councils and the Mayor rather than against the lessee.

That there are features in the present lease quite favorable to the city is evidenced by the fact that two years ago the lessee attempted to have the lease annulled and a new agreement entered into for a term of 75 years, and providing that 80 cents instead of 75 cents should be the minimum price of gas. On the other hand, the lease under the present terms is also advantageous to the United Gas Improvement Company by reason of the yearly profit it is making out of the same.

The lease provides that if the city now elects to abrogate the lease it must reimburse the lessee for the expenditures made for improvements and extensions during the past ten years, and the lessee claims that these expenditures now amount to about $18,000,000. This is the greatest obstacle in the way of cancellation, and it serves a double purpose for the lessee. First, it operates to promote a continuance of the lease; and, secondly, if by any arrangement with a possible competitor the large sum required to redeem the gas works may be supplied, its payment will give to the United Gas Improvement Company a large amount of capital available for reinvestment in other plants. The lease also provides that if it is permitted to run until 1927 the gas works must at the end of that year be turned over to the city without any reimbursement by it for expenditures made by the lessee. This provision afforded another reason why the lessee wanted to terminate the lease and enter into a new agreement.

The contest of two years ago helped to clear the atmosphere so that the city must do either one of two things now. It must either terminate the lease or it must continue it for 20 years. The lessee has no right to terminate the lease. It must simply abide by the decision of the city.

In some respects the United Gas Improvement Company is the greatest illuminating proposition in this country. Aside from the interest which it has by lease in the gas works of Philadelphia, it is interested in gas and electric-light plants in 30 other cities and towns scattered over 17 States. It earned last year 13.49% upon its average capitalization, the capital having been increased during the year from $36,720,200 to $45,884,850. Concerning the possibility of a termination of the Philadelphia lease, President Dolan said in his report under date of May 6, as given in our Railroad Department last week: "The prosperity of this company is not dependent upon the Philadelphia gas lease, but upon the many interests which it possesses situate outside of Philadelphia, where the moneys payable to us upon such termination can be at least as profitably employed as in Philadelphia. Even though these sums should be temporarily tied up by litigation, in my opinion the dividends upon your stock will not be diminished. If the Philadelphia lease should be terminated, we would think it more to our advantage to invest the moneys we would receive elsewhere than to make a new bid for a lease of the Philadelphia gas works."

Par of United Gas Improvement shares is $50. Dividends have been paid quarterly for many years at the rate of 8% per annum, or $4 per year. The normal market value of the stock may be said to be about $90 per share, but at times when there is a probability of "rights" accruing through an increase of the stock issued at par, the market value has been as high as $126 per share, at which it sold in 1902, and in 1905 the top price was $125. After his experience in 1905 President Dolan is probably sincere when he takes an attitude of indifference as to what course Councils of Philadelphia may adopt regarding a continuance of the lease. At the same time the lawyers of the lessee are openly opposing the incorporation of gas companies which may possibly become competitors by seeking to obtain control of the Philadelphia gas works.

If the lease is continued, and the probabilities are that it will be, notwithstanding the opposition of some citizens, the effect upon United Gas Improvement stock will undoubtedly be favorable, as the necessity of reinvesting capital which is already bringing a satisfactory return will be obviated. The continuance of the lease will add to the prospect of a stability of dividends rather than to a likelihood of an increase in the rate. At the end of twenty years the lessee will lose all the money expended by it upon the Philadelphia gas works. This makes necessary the creation of a sinking fund to reimburse the company for the capital of which it will thus be deprived. The officers of the United Gas Improvement Company are far-sighted and conservative, and provision to that effect exists already, as by arrangement with the Equitable Illuminating Gas Light Co. of Philadelphia (the corporation through which the lease is held) the United Gas Improvement Co. has agreed, beginning with 1908, to establish such a sinking fund.

TAXING UNITED STATES BONDS IN THE HANDS OF BANKS.

The decision recently handed down by the United States Supreme Court regarding the taxation of United States bonds in the hands of banks, and which has attracted a rather unusual amount of attention, announces no new doctrine. It is simply a re-affirmation of the well-known principle that the States cannot tax the obligations of the United States in any circumstances. The Federal Constitution has conferred upon the National Government the power to borrow money on the credit of the United States, and that power, it has been repeatedly held, cannot be burdened or impeded or in any way affected by the action of any State. The principle was established in one of the very earliest cases that reached the Supreme Court, long antedating the Civil War, when in defense of the integrity of the Union it became necessary for the Government to create a public debt of immense magnitude. Prior to that time it had not been deemed necessary to express the Constitutional prohibition in an Act of Congress, though, as just stated, the Supreme Court had upheld the immunity of national securities from State taxation, even without the presence of any statutory declaration upon the subject. But on the occasion of the issue of Treasury notes in 1862 (Act of February 25 1862, now embodied in Section 3701 of the Revised Statutes), it was distinctly provided that "all stocks, bonds and other securities of the United States held by individuals, corporations or associations within the United States shall be exempt from taxation by or under State authority."

It will thus be seen that there has never within recent generations been reason to doubt that Government bonds could not be taxed, and obviously in view of that fact no State, municipality or other civil division would attempt to levy a tax directly upon the public debt in any form, since the effort would be so plainly futile. It is even questioned in the present opinion of the Supreme Court whether Congress itself would possess power to confer upon the States the right to tax obligations of the United States if so disposed. Hence the matter only comes up where the point is made that some species or mode of assessment of persons or corporations is in effect taxing the obligations of the United States. That was precisely the point presented for consideration in the cases which have just found final adjudication in the Supreme Court. There were several separate actions brought by different savings banks in Iowa—Home Savings Bank vs. City of Des Moines, &c., &c. The banks were incorporated under State laws. Upon each institution a tax had been levied under the laws of Iowa. These laws provide that "shares of stock of State and savings banks and loan and trust companies shall be assessed to such banks and loan and trust companies and not to individual stockholders." The banks all owned at the time of the assessment United States bonds, the value of which they insisted should be deducted from the valuation of the property assessed to them. The taxing authorities refused to make the deduction, and their action was sustained by the Supreme Court of the State, but the United States Supreme Court now declares them to have been in error and accordingly reverses the judgment.

As we proceed it will be perceived that the present cases possess much less significance than generally supposed, and are of rather limited application, the method of assessment in Iowa being quite different from that in most States. Moreover, in the determination of the issue, the Court lays down no new rule of law, but merely applies past rulings. It should be noted that the plaintiff banks were corporations created by the State itself. In imposing burdens upon them, their property, or their shares, the State does not, as in the case of national banks, require any authority from the United States. Its own governmental power is sufficient for the imposition of such taxes, assessed by such methods and under such standards of valuation as it may choose, unless something is done which violates some provision of the Federal Constitution, or of a Federal law which by that Constitution is made supreme. The only claim of violation of Federal rights which was raised was that bonds of the United States had been taxed.

The opinion was by Justice Moody and he points out that a superficial reading of the Iowa law would lead to the conclusion that the tax authorized by it is a tax upon the shares of stock. The assessment is expressed to be upon "shares of stock of State and savings banks and loan and trust companies." But this single phrase cannot be accepted as conclusive. According to previous rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court, shares of a corporation are property distinct from that owned by the corporation, and a tax upon such shares, without an allowance of the exemption due to the property of the corporation itself, has been repeatedly upheld. It is this theory upon which bank shares are assessed in this State and in many other States. To collect such a tax upon the shares it is not an uncommon and, as Justice Moody says, it is an entirely legitimate method of collecting taxes to require a corporation, as the agent of its shareholders, to pay in the first instance the taxes upon shares, as the property of their owners, and look to the shareholders for reimbursement. In fact, Iowa itself does this as far as national banks are concerned. By Section 1322 of the Iowa Code national bank shares are assessed to the stockholders, and by Section 1325 the corporations are made liable to pay the tax and are secured by a lien on the stock and dividends, which may be enforced by sale.

But what is the situation of the State banks under the Iowa Code? We have seen that the assessment is stated to be upon the shares of stock of such institutions, but examining further into the law it appears that the shares are to be "assessed to such banks . . . and not to the individual stockholders." Thus the taxes are not to be paid by the banks as agents of their stockholders, but as their own debt. Justice Moody shows, too, that State banking corporations, unlike the national banks, are given no right of reimbursement from the shareholders for the taxes paid. Moreover, the section of the law referred to closes with the words "and the property of such corporation shall not be otherwise assessed," which plainly implies that the assessment already provided for is in substance an assessment upon the property of the corporation. That the law was administered upon that theory is signally illustrated by the proceedings followed in these cases. "The valuation was first made on the exact figures of the capital, surplus and undivided earnings, deducting the holdings of United States securities. Then, upon being advised that the deduction was erroneous, the assessor corrected the valuation by adding the value of the securities deducted." Justice Moody therefore concludes that the substantial effect of the law is to require taxation upon the property of the banks and that the value of the shares, ascertained in a manner appropriate to determine the value of the assets, is only the standard or measure by which the taxable valuation of that property is determined.

It is by reason of the fact that the tax is a tax upon the property of the banks and not upon their shares that allowance must be made for that portion of the property which consists of United States bonds, since United States bonds, as we have shown, cannot be taxed in any form. It is this distinction, therefore, that must be borne in mind. A tax upon the shares as the personal property of the individual will be sustained without reference to the fact whether the bank has any portion of its property invested in Government obligations or not. That the corporation itself cannot be taxed upon its holdings of United States bonds was definitely settled over forty years ago. The Bank of Commerce, incorporated under the laws of New York, had invested all its capital, except its investment in real estate, in United States bonds. Under the authority of a law requiring that the capital stock should be assessed at its actual value, a tax was levied. The Court of Appeals of this State sustained the tax so far as it applied to securities issued before the Act of 1862, to which we have referred above, and which expressly exempts all obligations of the United States from taxation, and annulled the tax so far as it applied to securities thereafter issued. But the U. S. Supreme Court held the tax invalid on all securities, basing its decision entirely upon the Constitutional inability of a State to affect by taxation the exercise of the sovereign power of the nation in borrowing money on its credit. The State of New York then amended its law, and enacted that banks should be "liable to taxation on a valuation equal to the amount of capital stock paid in, or secured to be paid in, and their surplus earnings." But the U. S. Supreme Court refused its sanction to this tax also, saying that the amendment simply changed the method of fixing the amount of capital, and that the tax was still upon the capital, which so far as invested in national securities was beyond the power of the State.

Where the Iowa courts erred was in failing to note the distinction between taxing the shares of a banking corporation to the shareholders and assessing the corporation itself. Although the States may not in any form levy a tax upon United States securities, they may, as already stated, tax, as the property of their owners, the shares of banks and other corporations whose assets consist in whole or in part of such securities, and in valuing the shares for the purposes of taxation it is not necessary to deduct the value of the national securities held by the corporation whose shares are taxed. The right of such taxation rests upon the theory that shares in corporations are property entirely distinct and independent from the property of the corporation. The tax on an individual in respect to his shares in the corporation is not regarded as a tax upon the corporation itself. Justice Moody shows that the distinction appears to have been first made the basis of a decision in Van Allen vs. The Assessors, 3 Wall, 573. The National Bank Act as amended in 1864 (R. S. Sec. 5219) permitted the States to include in the valuation of personal property for taxation the shares of national banks "held by any person or body corporate" under certain conditions. Acting under the authority of this law the State of New York assessed the shares of Van Allen in the First National Bank of Albany. At that time all the capital of the bank was invested in United States securities, and it was asserted that a tax upon the individual in respect to the shares he held in the bank was, unless the holdings in United States securities were deducted, a tax upon the securities themselves. But a majority of the Court held otherwise, saying that the tax on the shares is not a tax on the capital of the bank. The corporation is the legal owner of all the property of the bank, real and personal; and, within the powers conferred upon it by its charter and for the purposes for which it was created, can deal with the corporate property as absolutely as a private individual can deal with his own. The interest of the shareholder entitles him to participate in the net profits earned by the bank in the employment of its capital, during the existence of its charter, in proportion to the number of his shares; and upon its dissolution or termination to his proportion of the property that may remain of the corporation after the payment of its debts. This is a distinct independent interest or property, held by the shareholder like any other property that may belong to him, and as such may be taxed.

Since the Van Allen case taxes upon the owners of shares of stock in corporations have been uniformly sustained by the U. S. Supreme Court, whether levied upon the shares of national banks by virtue of Congressional permission or upon shares of State corporations by virtue of the power inherent in the State to tax the shares of such corporations. Justice Moody says that the distinction established in that case has always been observed by the Court and that although taxes by States have been permitted which might indirectly affect United States securities, they have never been permitted in any case except where the taxation has been levied upon property which is entirely distinct and independent from these securities. On the other hand, whenever, as in the present case, the tax has been upon the property of the corporation, so far as that property has consisted of such securities it has been held void.

In the arguments it had been urged that where a tax is levied upon a corporation measured by the value of the shares in it, it is equivalent in its effect to a tax (clearly valid) upon the shareholders in respect of their shares, because, being paid by the bank, the burden falls eventually upon the shareholders in proportion to their holdings. But the two kinds of taxes, declares Justice Moody, are not equivalent in law, because the State has the power to levy one and has not the power to levy the other. The question is one of power and not of economics. If the State has not the power to levy the tax the Court will not inquire whether another tax which it might lawfully impose would have the same ultimate incidence.

After expressing regret that the U. S. Supreme Court is constrained to differ with the Supreme Court of Iowa on a question relating to its law, Justice Moody concludes with these words: "Holding the opinion that the law directly taxes national securities, our duty is clear. If by the simple device of adopting the value of corporation shares as the measure of the taxation of the property of the corporation, that property loses the immunities which the supreme law gives to it, then national securities may easily be taxed, whenever they are owned by a corporation, and the national credit has no defense against a serious wound."

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR APRIL.

Our early compilation of the gross earnings of United States railroads for the month of April (covering, of course, only such roads as furnish approximate figures soon after the close of the month, and comprising somewhat less than half the mileage of the country) shows a decided improvement in results over those of any of the preceding months of the current calendar year. In fact the gain is of quite large magnitude, reaching $11,044,527 or 16.12%. For March, it may be recalled, our early statement, comprising substantially the same roads, showed only $5,644,198 gain or 7.85%. For February the increase had been but $1,317,809 or 2.06%, and for January, $1,544,739 or 2.23%.

Thus it will be seen there has been a very decided change for the better. The change is evidence that some of the influences operative in checking the growth in earnings in previous months were ephemeral in their nature, a fact, of course, manifestly true as far as weather conditions were concerned; such as severe cold, or snow and ice, or floods and excessive rain. These latter retarding impediments were, in great part, absent in April. But there is still another circumstance to take into account in considering the extent of the improvement for April. Comparison is with the period of the coal strike last year. In the anthracite regions mining was completely suspended in April 1906; in addition, no work was done over extensive portions of the bituminous fields in different parts of the country. Many different roads suffered severely from that cause last year and sustained a great loss in their coal traffic, though the fact was not, in most instances, reflected in an actual loss in gross earnings, since gains in other items of traffic over-balanced the decrease from the coal business. Distinctively coal-carrying lines, like the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburgh and the Wheeling & Lake Erie, were not able to make good the shrinkage in coal by an expansion in other traffic, and hence recorded considerable losses in the totals of their gross earnings. Other systems, however, were also adversely affected by the difficulties at the mines. The New York Central is a good illustration. It recorded only a small gain in April 1906—$131,972—whereas, except for the cutting off of so much coal tonnage, the gain must have been very large. The present year, as a consequence, with a restoration of the coal business, the Central records for April an improvement in the large sum of $1,352,176. In brief, then, the fact that comparison is with earnings last year that had been unfavorably affected by the circumstance mentioned has played no unimportant part in producing an improvement of such large dimensions the present season.

But there is still another and a very important circumstance to bear in mind. April last year contained five Sundays. This year it had only four. It follows that there was one more working day in the month in 1907 than there was in 1906. This alone is a factor that would be good for a gain of 3 or 4% in the earnings.

Western roads also had the advantage of a larger grain movement, and in some instances likewise of a larger live-stock movement. On the other hand, Southern roads did not have the benefits from a larger cotton movement that existed in other recent months.

Notwithstanding the adverse influences experienced in 1906 by reason of the stoppage of coal mining, our statement of earnings for April last year—treating the roads as a whole—made a very satisfactory exhibit. The improvement then amounted to $5,463,693 or 11.64%. This increase, too, followed gains in the corresponding month of most of the preceding years. The gain now of $11,044,527 for April 1907 comes on top of all these previous gains. In the following we furnish a comparison of the monthly totals back to 1897

Note.—We do not include the Mexican roads in any of the years.

It is needless to say that in the case of the separate roads we have this time a long list of gains, most of them, too, for large amounts. We have already referred to the increase of $1,352,176 by the New York Central. The Northern Pacific comes next with an addition of $1,158,701 and the Canadian Pacific has $846,000 increase and the Great Northern $750,641 increase. In the Southwest the Missouri Pacific shows an improvement of $647,000 and the Missouri Kansas & Texas of $486,256. In the South the Louisville & Nashville has $465,641 increase and the Southern Railway $311,367 increase. In the Middle West the Illinois Central has added $440,980 to its total. And this enumeration of the roads distinguished for good earnings might be continued almost indefinitely. In the table we now give we show all changes for amounts in excess of $30,000, whether increases or decreases. As a matter of fact, there are no decreases for that sum and only five decreases altogether for smaller amounts out of the whole 65 roads reporting.

We have referred above to the expansion in the Western grain movement. This extended to all the leading cereals, but was particularly marked in the case of wheat, corn and oats. Of wheat the receipts at the Western primary markets were 18,080,926 bushels for the four weeks ending April 27 this year, against only 8,539,440 bushels in the corresponding four weeks of 1906. The bulk of the gain here, however, was at the Northwestern spring-wheat markets, namely Duluth and Minneapolis. Of corn the receipts for the four weeks were 14,210,362 bushels, against 9,465,070 bushels, and of oats 17,138,811 bushels, against 14,808,341 bushels. Adding barley and rye, the total for the five cereals for the four weeks of this year is found to have been 54,559,119 bushels, as against only 36,331,458 bushels, giving, therefore, a gain of over 18 million bushels. It is hence plain that the advantage to Western roads from the larger grain movement was a very substantial one. The details of the Western grain receipts in our usual form are set out in the following.

With reference to the live-stock movement, this also ran very much ahead of 1906. Of cattle the arrivals at the five Western markets, Kansas City, Chicago, Omaha, St. Louis and St. Joseph combined, were 734,189 head in April 1907, against 608,443 head in April 1906; of hogs the deliveries were 1,290,399, against 1,144,550 head, and of sheep 766,232 head, against 755,027.

The cotton movement in the South did not equal that of April 1906 in the receipts at the Southern ports, but ran ahead of that last year in the shipments overland. These latter aggregated 128,798 bales, as against 100,156 bales. The receipts at the ports were 382,385 bales, against 395,426 bales. Some of the ports sustained very heavy losses, in particular Savannah and New Orleans, but these losses were offset in very great part by large gains at the Texas ports. In the table we now introduce we show the figures for each of the different ports.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—The auction sales of bank stocks this week aggregate 190 shares. No sales were made at the Stock Exchange. Only one lot of fifteen shares of trust company stock was sold. A lot of 149 shares of stock of the New Amsterdam National was sold at 191. In comparing this price with that paid at the last previous public sale, made in May 1906 at 400, it should be noted that the bank's capital stock was increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000 in June 1906.

—A higher rate of interest for the use of New York State funds will be demanded after July 1 from banking institutions desiring to continue as State depositories. Announcement to this effect has been made by State Treasurer Hauser, who has decided that instead of the present rate of 2%, which has been paid to the State for some years, from 2½% to 3% must be paid for the use of its funds.

—At the annual election of officers of the New York Stock Exchange on Monday, R. H. Thomas was chosen President to succeed H. K. Pomroy.

—On April 1 1908 a bill will become operative in Minnesota prohibiting the use of the word "bank" by any person, firm or corporation which refuses to submit to the supervision of the State Bank Examiner. The measure, designed to abolish private banking, was passed at the recent session of the Legislature and signed by Governor Johnson last month. It was introduced by Senator L. O. Thorpe and is known as S. F. No. 512. As will be seen from the text given herewith, the bill does not apply to corporations organized under the trust company laws of the State.

AN ACT TO DEFINE "BANK" AND "SAVINGS BANK" AND TO LIMIT THE RIGHT TO USE THE SAME AS A BUSINESS NAME.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

Section 1. A "bank" is an institution having a place of business in this State, where credits are opened by the deposit of money or currency or the collection of the same, subject to be paid or remitted on draft, check or order; and where money is loaned or advanced on stocks, bonds, bullion, bills of exchange or promissory notes, and where the same are received for discount or sale. A "savings bank" is a corporation managed by disinterested trustees, solely authorized to receive and safely invest the savings of small depositors.

Every "bank" or "savings bank" in this State shall at all times be under the supervision and subject to the control of the Public Examiner, as provided by Section 2968 of the Revised Laws relating to financial corporations, and when so conducted said business shall be known as "banking."

Sec. 2. Any person, firm or corporation carrying on in this State the business, or any part thereof, defined as "banking" in the preceding section who refuses to permit the Public Examiner to inspect and superintend said business, and to see that the same is carried on in accordance with the banking laws of this State, shall not be permitted to use the word "bank" as the whole or any part of the business name of the place where said business is carried on, nor shall the word "bank" be used on any stationery or in any advertisement of said business, as the whole or any part of the name or description of said business.

Sec. 3. Whoever violates the provisions of this Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. None of the provisions of this Act shall apply to corporations organized under the trust company laws of this State.

Sec. 5. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after April 1 1908.

Approved April 5 1907.

It was also voted to enlarge the board to thirty members. Sometime previous to this meeting John D. Crimmins resigned from the directorate of the institution. He was prominent in both business and banking circles of the borough and was universally liked. Before going with the People's Trust Company, Mr. Johnson was connected with the Nassau National Bank for twenty years and with the Empire City Trust Company for two years. At the time of his death he was also Treasurer of the Trust Companies Association, which includes all the trust companies in Greater New York, a trustee of the Citizens' Savings Bank, a director of the Brooklyn & Rockaway Beach Railroad, Treasurer of the Prison Ship Martyrs' Monument Association, and a member of the Brooklyn, Montauk and Crescent Athletic clubs.

Wheeler to accept an offer of $40,000 made by Arthur E. Appleyard, and $20,000 made by directors John P. Diehl, Jacob Dold and Robert F. Schelling and the Machwirth estate. The $20,000 offer relieves Messrs. Schelling, Dold, Diehl and the Machwirth estate from all liability as stockholders and directors, except Mr. Dold, who is still liable for about $6,000 as a stockholder. Mr. Appleyard's offer was made in settlement of the claims on his paper which came into the receiver's hands, and the total of which amounts to about $400,000. The money for this offer will come from Mrs. Elizabeth B. Seaborne, Mr. Appleyard's mother-in-law, who, it is stated, is seeking to place him on his feet again. Receiver Wheeler also received authority this week to accept an offer of $26,250 for bonds of the Chippewa Valley Electric Railway Company of a face value of $50,000. The depositors of the institution have thus far received 66 2-3%. The bank suspended in December 1904.

—The stockholders of the Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia on the 11th inst. approved a proposition to reduce the capital from $5,000,000 to not less than $4,500,000. In March the capital was reduced by stockholders' vote from $5,300,000 to $5,000,000. The Metropolitan Bank & Trust expects to begin business in July at 534 Walnut Street.

—Application for permission to increase its capital from $50,000 to $100,000 has been made to the State authorities by the Columbia Bank & Savings Company of Cincinnati. The intention to enlarge the capital was announced some months ago. One-half of the additional stock will be offered to present shareholders at $200 per share and the balance to outsiders at $300 per share. The company changed its name on January 1 from the Helvetia Savings & Banking Company.

—A third dividend of 20%, making in all 60%, has been paid to the depositors of the Canton State Bank of Canton, Ohio, which suspended in May 1905. An amount equal to that paid on all undisputed claims has been set aside by the receivers to be applied on claims now in dispute.

—It is reported that the increase in the capital of the Commercial Savings Bank Company of Toledo, contemplated a year ago, has been made. The addition is $100,000, raising the capital to $200,000. —The American Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, has issued a booklet relating to its new and rapidly growing fraternal department. This separate department offers unique facilities for handling the accounts of fraternal or confederated organizations such as lodges, clubs, churches, guilds, brotherhoods, trade associations, charity boards, &c. It will take over the custody of the treasurers' books of lodge, society or club, collect the income from its various sources—dues, assessments, donations, rents, interests, &c., properly receipt for same, and pay the approved obligations of these organizations, keep the accounts, make up the treasurers' statements and certify such statements if necessary. This work on the part of the bank does not contemplate the discharge of society officials, but is merely auxiliary to their services and a method of verifying and auditing their accounts. Interest of 3% on time and savings deposits and 2% on checking accounts is paid. The Manager of the Fraternal Department is C. F. Hatfield, an expert accountant, who is a member of many fraternities.

—Edwin Reynolds resigned recently as President of the German-American Bank of Milwaukee, Wis., on acount of ill-health. He is succeeded by J. B. Whitnall, President of the Pennsylvania Coal & Supply Company.

—The Commercial National Bank of Kansas City, Mo., in ten years has grown to an institution with $250,000 capital, $125,000 surplus and $3,000,000 deposits. The bank commenced business on May 1 1897 as the Commercial State Bank, with $25,000 capital; on July 1 1902, it was changed to a national institution with a capital of $200,000; on March 17 1905 it acquired the business of the Merchants' Bank, and in May of the same year increased its capital to $250,000. Associated with it in the same building are the Kansas Trust Company and the Citizens' State Savings Bank.

—The capital of the German-American Bank of St. Louis is to be increased from $150,000 to $1,000,000. It is the intention to declare the fixed surplus of $850,000 as a stock dividend, adding it to the present capital of $150,000; when this is done there will still be a surplus of $300,000. The shareholders have agreed to surrender to the bank 10% of their holdings, representing 1,000 shares, and these are to be disposed of by three trustees at not less than $200 per share, the proceeds to be placed to surplus account, which will then be $500,000. Action in the matter will be taken by the shareholders on June 27, the increased capital becoming effective on July 1.

—The stockholders of the Mercantile Bank of Norfolk, Va., on the 8th inst ratified a proposition to increase the capital of the institution from $50,000 to $100,000.

—The Hibernia Bank of Savannah, Ga., which began business on May 1 1906, at the end of its first year reports deposits of $702,976 and total resources of $1,081,482. The bank started with a capital of $200,000 and surplus of $50,000. In addition to paying a dividend of 2½% on Jan. 1 ($5,000), it has accumulated undivided profits of $28,506. N. A. O'Byrne is President.

—The Central Trust Company of Mobile, Ala., lately moved to new offices at the northeast corner of St. Francis and St. Joseph streets. The company has a long lease on this property, and began last November the work of thoroughly overhauling the entire ground floor of the building, making it one large office. The various departments of the institution are located on this floor. An examination made of the company's affairs on April 22 by the State Banking Examiner showed capital and surplus of $325,000, undivided profits of $7,565; deposits of $594,333, and total resources of $926,898. The officers of the institution are A. C. Danner, President; G. B. Thames, Vice-President; F. C. Horton, Secretary and Trust Officer; S. A. Tonsmeire, Assistant Secretary; C. L. The accused was sentenced to six years imprisonment. The charges were preferred last August.

—The Mississippi Bankers' Association closed its nineteenth annual session at Gulfport, Miss., on the 9th inst. One of the features of the program was an address by State Auditor T. M. Henry on "The Duties of Directors: Their Moral and Leading Responsibilities." Mr. Henry stated that "with proper care on the part of directors, and a reasonable exercise of their share of the responsibility with that of the president and cashier, bank failures would well-nigh be a thing of the past, if not entirely so. The laws enacted by the last Legislature advanced a step in the direction of requiring a closer knowledge by the directors of the bank's inner workings, by providing that they shall hold at least three regular meetings each year for the purpose of making a full and careful investigation and inquiry into the conditions and affairs of the bank, and particularly of its accounts and securities. No penalty, however," he added "is attached for failure to hold the meetings and no report is required to be made to any one as to whether they have been held." S. S. Carter, President of the First National Bank of Jackson, Miss., also made an address at the meeting; he spoke in favor of bank supervision and said that inasmuch as the next Legislature would be certain to consider bank supervision, he thought it advisable for the members of the association to pool any differences of opinion and submit a plan which would be just to all. B. W. Griffith, President of the First National Bank of Vicksburg, has been re-elected Secretary and Treasurer of the Association.

—A consolidation was recently effected between the Capital City Bank & Trust Company and the Merchants' Bank & Trust Company of Jackson, Miss. The first-named institution has retired from the field, having transferred its books and accounts to the Merchants' Bank & Trust; the officers of the latter continue without change as follows: W. M. Anderson, President; George F. Baner, Active Vice-President; T. B. Gadd's, Vice-President; W. A. Montgomery, Cashier; C. H. Spengler, Assistant Cashier, and C. M. Williamson, Attorney. The Capital City Bank & Trust Company began business in September 1905; its authorized capital, it is understood, was $200,000. The Merchants' Bank & Trust, on April 19 1907, reported capital of $250,000, surplus of $62,500, and deposits of $788,088; the consolidation of the two institutions, according to local authority, means a larger capitalization, over a million dollars in deposits, and a combined surplus of over $100,000. The absorbed company is to have representation on the board of directors.

—The Lumberman's National Bank, Houston's (Texas) newest financial institution, commenced business on the 1st inst. at Franklin Avenue and Fannin Street. It has a capital of $400,000 and a surplus of $100,000. The management is made up of S. F. Carter, President; Jesse H. Jones, J. P. Carter, Guy M. Bryan and W. E. Richards, Vice-Presidents; and A. S. Vandervoort, Cashier.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, May 4, 1907.

Business upon the Stock Exchange continues stagnant. It is almost equally so in Paris and Berlin. The stagnation is due, of course, to many causes: The long liquidation that occurred in the first quarter of the present year; the temper of the German People, breaking out every now and then into unreasonable suspicions and accusations against the British, French and Italian governments; the uncertainty respecting Russia; and the unfavorable impression made by the attacks of all kinds upon American railroad companies.

Prince Bulow's speech on Tuesday has made a favorable impression, particularly in Paris. Apparently, there was a fear there that the German Chancellor had encouraged the speeches, and the newspaper articles which had excited so much apprehension, and that he would emphasize this and possibly make an unfriendly reference to France. The tone of his speech, calm and statesmanlike, hence occasioned much satisfaction, and prices generally were put up, especially the prices of copper and diamond shares. Moreover, May Day had passed over without serious disturbance. That also helped to bring about an improvement. Lastly, the Russian Duma voted the military contingent required by the Government and then adjourned until the 13th of May. This was hailed in Paris as evidence that an understanding existed between the Prime Minister and the leader of the Constitutional Democrats, and that consequently a dissolution of the Duma was not to be feared. As a result, there was a general advance in Russian securities.

The improvement in copper and diamond shares was followed very soon by arelapse, which again has been followed by another recovery. On the other hand, Russian bonds have continued steadily to improve.

In Germany the stock markets are utterly stagnant. It is said by well-informed observers that not even after the crisis a few years ago was business more quiet than it is at present. There is no doubt that the belief is general in Germany that a coalition has been formed by King Edward and that practically Germany is isolated. There is absolutely no foundation for the belief. King Edward desires only to maintain the peace of the world, and all his efforts are directed not to isolate Germany but to ensure that there shall be no breach of the peace from any quarter. However, the belief does exist in Germany, and it accounts largely for the stagnation in business. Besides this, speculation in Germany has been rampant for some years. All sorts of new companies have been created, and unwise accomodation has been given by the banks with the result that an immense amount of stock is now being carried on borrowed money, and that the banks as a result have locked up too much of their funds. Still, there seems no reason to fear any serious trouble. Probably there will be a prolonged period of quiet during which the stocks now carried upon borrowed money will gradually be placed.

Here at home, credit is sound, but business is almost as stagnant as it is abroad. The public naturally is unable to understand this and all sorts of explanations are being offered. Among the rest, is is said that the issues of high-class securities are too numerous and will continue too numerous. A week ago the London County Council borrorwed £5,000,000; this week the Indian Government is borrowing 3½ millions sterling. Next week, it is expected that there will be a large issue of Irish Land Stock. It is complained that all these issues interfere with the market for Consols, depress the national credit, and therefore prevent a recovery on the Stock Exchange. It is forgotton, however, that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is providing a large sinking fund which will set free very considerable sums now locked up in Government securities, and thus enable the market to pay for the new stocks being offered.

Neither the Bank of England nor the Bank of France nor the Imperial Bank of Germany this week made any change in their rates of discount. The Bank of England apparently desires to do nothing that would encourage the sending away of capital. About a million and a half or two millions sterling is still due to the Bank of France on bills taken by that institution some months ago. Debt is being repaid rapidly, and the Bank of England evidently wishes to do nothing that would lead to withdrawals by the French banks of capital employed here. The Bank of France also desires to prevent large investments in American railroad notes and other similar securities. It likewise desires to prevent very large financing of Germany. It was feared that the French applications for the German Imperial loan just brought out would be large. They have not been so, and the Bank of France wishes to discourage similar operations. Nevertheless, the impression is general that there will be a further reduction of the Bank rate here before long, and that as soon at the Bank of England puts down its rate the Bank of France will follow suit. The Imperial Bank of Germany is not likely to cut its rate soon, for at the end of April there was again so large a demand for banking accomodation that the note circulation exceeded the legal maximum by about 2½ millions sterling. The notes will, no doubt, flow back rapidly now. Still, the reserve of the Bank is so small that is is by no means probable that the rate will be put down until the reserve is materially increased.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 50 lacs of its bills, applications exceeded 492¾ lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4 1-16d. to 1s. 4 1/8d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4 1-16d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 3-32d. per rupee were allotted about 6% of the amounts applied for.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of May 2

GOLD.—Paris was a competitor for the bar gold that arrived this week, and secured about £200,000. The Bank of England advanced its price to 77s. 9½d., and bought about £800,000, the balance being taken by India and the trade. The check is now firmer at 25.16, and the demand for Paris is, therefore, less keen. Next week we expect £211,000 from the Cape. Since last week the Bank has received £310,000, of which £319,000 is in bars, while £170,000 has been withdrawn, £100.000 of which is for Constantinople. Arrivals—Cape, £1.060,000; Australia, £248,000; West Africa, £98,000; New Zealand, £56,000; Brazil, £12,000; West Indies, £15.000; China, £3,000; total, £1,492,000. Shipments—Bombay, £111,950; Calcutta, £17,500; Madras, £13,750; total, £143,200.

SILVER.—After rising to 30½d., on some extensive covering orders for India and a good Bazaar inquiry, we have since re-acted to 30 3-16d. on a slackening of the demand, and close quiet, with only a small business. The demand has chiefly been for forward silver, and the premium on spot has varied from 1-16d. to ⅛d. The price in India is Rs. 77¼ per 100 Tolahs. Arrivals—New York, £277,000; China, £156,000; West Indies, £10,000; total, £443,000. Shipments—Bombay, £55,550; Straits (coins), £56,000; total, £111,550.

MEXICAN DOLLARS.—There has again been some business in dollars at their melting value. Arrivals—New York, $104,000; China, £58.000, total. £162,000 Shipments—Nil.

Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending May 11. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

Wall Street, Friday Night, May 17 1907.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Operations in Wall Street have been very much overshadowed this week by the enormous bull movement in wheat which has been rampant on the Chicago Board of Trade. The latter recalls the palmy days of ("Long") John Wentworth and other noted plungers of earlier times, and has rarely been exceeded. This movement Wall Street has regarded with a degree of indifference or complacency quite unusual in such cases.

As to the matter of volume, business at the Stock Exchange the current week rivals that of the week ending April 20, when it was the smallest of the year, and yet prices have not yielded, as they sometimes do under similar circumstances. The security markets have been more or less adversely affected by rumors of an impending report by the Inter-State Commerce Commission as to its recent investigation of railway affairs and also by crop reports. The latter, as every one knows, become of more importance as the season advances, and the fact that snow has fallen during the week over a considerable portion of the spring-wheat belt is generally regarded as a discouraging feature. As such, however, it is quite likely to have been overestimated. It should be remembered that excellent harvests have resulted from wheat sown late and that, so far as this crop is concerned, weather conditions in August are usually of much more importance than those in May.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 2 to 3%. To-day's rates on call were 2¼@2½%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5½% for endorsements and 5½% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £636,201, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.97, against 46.70 last week.

The discount rate remains as fixed April 25 at 4%. The Bank of France shows an increase of 8,575,000 francs in gold and 1,750,000 francs in silver.

Note.—Returns of separate banks appear on the preceding page.

Foreign Exchange.—The market was dull though firm until Wednesday, and thereafter it was more active and stronger, because of a demand for remittance and a scarcity of bills. On Friday exchange sold at the highest price of the year and the market was strong at the close of the week.

If there should be a further rise of about one cent per pound in sight sterling gold would probably be exported to London; a slight advance in francs might permit shipments of gold to Paris.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal rates for sterling exchange were 4 84½ for sixty day and 4 87½ for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 84@4 8410 for long, 4 8690@4 87 for short and 4 8730@4 8735 for cables. Commercial on banks 4 8365@4 8375 and documents for payment 4 83@4 84. Cotton for payment 4 83@4 83¼, cotton for acceptance 4 8365@4 8375 and grain for payment 4 83¾@4 84.

To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for Paris bankers' francs were 5 18¾*h*@5 18¾*a* for long and 5 16¼*a*@5 16¼*d* for short. Germany bankers' marks were 94⅝@94 11-16*d* for long and 95¼*d*@95¼ for short. Amsterdam bankers' guilders were 40 36@40 38 for short.

Exchange at Paris on London to-day 25f. 15c.; week's range 25f. 15c. high and 25f. 14c. low.

The week's range for exchange rates follows:

	Long	Short	Cables

Amsterdam Bankers' Guilders
High		40 38 @ 40 39
Low		40 36-37 @ 40 36

The following were the rates for domestic exchange on New York at the undermentioned cities to-day: Savannah buying, 50c. per $1,000 discount; selling, 75c. per $1,000 premium. Charleston, buying, $1 per $1,000 premium. New Orleans bank, 15c. per $1,000 discount; commercial, 50c. per $1,000 discount. Chicago, 15c. per $1,000 premium. St. Louis 35c. per $1,000 premium. San Francisco, par.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $10,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 20 and $2,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 95½.

The general characteristics of the market for railway and industrial bonds are unchanged. Daily transactions have averaged less than $1,000,000 par value and are, therefore, at or near the smallest of the year.

Following the shares market convertible issues are generally lower, Delaware & Hudson leading with a decline of nearly 3 points. Wabash refunding and extension 4s, which have been among the relatively active issues of late, have lost a part of their recent advance, and Atchison, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Burlington & Quincy and Northern Pacifics are down a point or more.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $40,000 4s coup. 1925 at 129¾ and $1,000 4s reg. 1907 at 101½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—As noted above, the stock market has been exceptionally dull. A few issues have been active and fluctuated rather widely, but the market as a whole has shown a tendency to inertness and net changes are, for the most part, unimportant. Some slight recovery from the depression noted last week took place on Monday and Tuesday, when the best prices of this week were recorded; but the tendency was reversed on Wednesday and has so continued, with the result mentioned. Of a list of 16 of the most active issues, 9 close lower and 7 higher than last week.

Among the exceptional features is Delaware & Hudson, which declined 6½ points on rumors of a note issue. Union Pacific covered a range of 6 points and Great Northern and Reading nearly 4.

Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron has been a strong feature of the industrial list, closing with a substantial net gain. General Electric, on the other hand, is off over 3 points and Colorado Fuel & Iron 2½ points. The United States Steel issues are fractionally lower.

For daily volume of business see page 1173.

Outside Market.—Trading in the market for unlisted securities this week, outside the new issue of railroad bonds, has been practically at a standstill. Price changes, except in a few instances, have been insignificant. Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe deb. 5s on heavy transactions sold down from 103 to 101⅛. Record-breaking sales of Union Pacific conv. 4s were also reported, the price moving down from 92 to 90 and up finally to 90⅛. The "rights" to the new bonds were also freely traded in, Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, at from ¼ down to ⅛ and Union Pacific from 7-16 to ⅛. Southern Pacific "rights" after being traded in from 1 3-16 to 1⅛ were transferred to the Stock Exchange. Initial transactions in the "rights" to the new issue of General Electric debenture 5s were made at from 1 to 2½. Chicago Subway, after moving up from 17⅜ to 18, broke to 16, recovering finally to 17. Standard Oil advanced from 519 to 530. A dividend of $9 per share was declared this week. Manhattan Transit ran off a point to 6½ but sold up subsequently to 6½. Electric Boat common sold up from 35½ to 38, then down to 35. The preferred advanced from 82 to 89. Waterbury Company common sank from 11½ to 10¾, advancing finally to 11. N. Y. & Cuba Mail S.S. opened the week up two points from last Friday's close at 30, declined to 27¼ and to-day recovered to 28. Houston Oil common gained half a point to 8. Trading in copper shares was quiet. Boston Consolidated Copper rose from 28¾ to 30 but sank back to 29. Cumberland Ely dropped from 10 to 9. United Copper common moved down from 62½ to 61½. Nipissing was weak, losing 1⅛ points to 12.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT CO.—Owing to the reclassification of the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system and the cancellation of the lease of the Brooklyn Elevated RR. to the Brooklyn Heights RR., and also the leases of some of the other roads, the results for the elevated road are now reported separately and likewise those of the South Brooklyn Ry. and the Sea Beach Ry. This obviously makes the comparison with last year for the Brooklyn Heights RR. defective. The new arrangement has been in effect since March 1 1907. The returns of the different roads for the March quarter have been filed at Albany this week. In the following we show the figures for the Brooklyn Elevated, of the South Brooklyn Ry. and the Sea Beach Ry. for the month of March; of the Brooklyn Heights RR. for the March quarter (including the elevated and the other roads for January and February, but not for March); and finally the figures for all the roads combined. In this last instance we add the comparison with last year:

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Vandalia Railroad Company.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President Joseph Wood, under date of Pittsburgh, March 18 1907, says in substance:

Funded Debt.—There were issued during the year 1906 $3,000,000 consol. mortgage, series "A," 4% bonds as follows: To recoup treasury for retirement of consol. 2d M. 5% bonds of Terre Haute & Indianapolis RR. Co. Jan. 1 1906, $600,000; for purchase of real estate, additional freight cars and for construction of second track, &c., $2,400,000. The remaining $388,000 consol. 2d M. 5% bonds of the Terre Haute & Indianapolis RR. Co., dated July 1 1892, called for redemption on and after Jan 1 1906 at 105% and interest, as stated in the report for last year, were redeemed and canceled during 1906.

Renewals.—There were 6,112 tons of new steel rails and 293,677 crossties used in renewals by the Vandalia RR. Co. during the year.

Extraordinary Expenditures, &c.—There was expended and charged against extraordinary expenditure and renewal funds of the Vandalia RR. Co. during the year the following amounts: Excess cost of renewing freight cars in steel in place of wood, $89,137; account equipping all cars with air-brakes, $5,923; revision of grades on St. Louis and Vincennes divisions, construction of yard and side-tracks, &c., $305,872; total, $400,932.

General Remarks.—Your lines shared in the general prosperity which continued uninterrupted during the past year, and the volume of freight and passenger traffic exceeded that of the year 1905. The total tonnage moved over all lines for the year shows an increase over 1905 of 349,699 tons, with an increase in ton mileage of 148,246,425 miles, or 20.87%. The aggregate tonnage moved in 1906 was 8,267,444 tons, as compared with 7,917,745 tons in 1905. The average rate received per ton per mile was 7 mills, or 3-10 mill less than the average rate received during 1905. The number of passengers carried on all lines increased 7.64% and the passenger mileage increased 8,209,458 miles, or 9.31%. The average rate received per passenger per mile was 2.20 cents, as compared with 2.07 cents for the year 1905.

The general income account shows that after providing for all charges for the year, the net income was sufficient to pay an increased dividend, set aside $400,000 in the extraordinary expenditure fund and leave a balance of $13,543, which was transferred to credit of profit and loss.

Capital Expenditures.—These were as follows: Purchase of real estate for new freight house at Indianapolis, $192,773; track elevation, Indianapolis, $187,008; account construction of second track between Indianapolis and Farrington, $421,486; additional passing, yard and side tracks, &c., $178,923; balance of cost of 1,000 additional steel gondola cars received in 1905, $23,880; 500 steel gondola cars added to the freight car equipment in 1906, $538,062; total, $1,542,133. The elevation of your tracks in Indianapolis has progressed satisfactorily.

In order to provide for the constantly growing traffic on your St. Louis Division, the board has authorized the construction of double track on a portion of the line between Indianapolis and Farrington aggregating 21 miles, including the revision of alignment at sundry points to avoid heavy grades and bad curvature. Considerable grading and masonry work was done during the past year, and it is expected that the new track will be completed and ready for use before the close of this year.

The rapid development of the coal-fields in Greene Sullivan and Knox counties, Ind., has largely increased the traffic on the Vincennes Division. A considerable expenditure was made for passing sidings yard and side-tracks and for the reduction of heavy grades between Rushrod and Gosport to properly and economically handle this growing traffic, and further additional expenditures will be required therefor.

The coal-fields in the Brazil and Collinsville Districts on the St. Louis Division, and at Rosedale on the Michigan Division, are being further developed, and there was a large increase in the tonnage hauled from the mines in those districts.

In order to meet the further demands upon your lines for additional equipment, the board authorized the purchase of 900 steel gondola cars and 8 locomotives, of which 500 steel gondolas were received during the year and the remainder of the equipment cannot be obtained before the early summer, owing to the crowded condition of the car and locomotive manufactories.

Increase in Wages.—Taking effect Dec. 1 1906 a general advance of 10% was made in the salaries and wages of employees permanently in the service and receiving less than $200 per month. This advance was made in consideration of the increased cost of living and in order that the employees might share in the prosperity of your company.

American Cities Railway & Light Co.

(First Annual Report to the Stockholders for the Six Months ending Dec. 31 1906.)

President A. H. Ford, under date March 5, says in substance:

Acquisitions.—In accordance with the proposition dated June 20 1906 (V. 83, p. 35) the company has proceeded to acquire a majority of the common and preferred stocks of the Birmingham Railway, Light & Power Co. the Memphis Street Railway Co, Little Rock Railway & Electric Co. Knoxville Railway & Light Co., and Houston Lighting & Power Co., 1905, upon the basis of the purchase price set forth in that proposition. The offer to purchase the stocks of the Nashville Railway & Light Co. was withdrawn, and no stocks of that company have been purchased. (V. 83, p. 322). On Aug. 23 1906, sufficient stocks of the five local companies first above mentioned had been deposited to warrant the directors in declaring the plan operative, which action was taken. The company has since acquired additional shares of the same companies, so that as of Dec. 31 1906 it owns 64,910 shares out of 77,500 shares of preferred stock of the five local companies, and 84,357 shares out of 94,919 shares of common stock, equivalent to 83.7 % and 88.8 % of the total respective issues.

Income Account.—The income account of the company for the six months period ending Dec. 31 1906 is shown below. The undivided surplus net earnings of the local companies are not taken into account in this statement, which includes only the dividends actually paid; as a matter of fact, dividends were paid on the common stocks of the Birmingham, the Little Rock and the Houston companies only. For the year ending Dec. 31 1906, had the entire surplus earnings of the five local companies, less sinking funds, been declared as dividends, after payment of preferred dividends in full, the amount of the common stock now held by the American Cities Railway & Light Co. would have been entitled to $477,635, which is equivalent to earnings of 4.14 % upon the common stock outstanding Dec. 31 1906. The surplus earnings, however, have been invested in betterments and new property, which new construction, together with that obtained from the sale of the securities of the local companies, is showing its value by the large increases which are being obtained in both gross and net earnings.

Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company.

Chairman John A. Topping says in substance:

Change in Accounting.—The income account for 1906 reflects a radical change in the accounting policy, both in providing more liberally than heretofore for provisional funds, the necessary replacements and depreciation to plant and machinery, depletion of mineral lands, and by direct charges to costs for repairs and maintenance. Under these headings, the net income has absorbed the following increased charges, as compared with the year 1905: fire and casualty fund, $52,253; maintenance and repairs, $266,122, depreciation to machinery and replacement accounts, $145,587; total, $463,962.

Exclusive of this amount, income was charged with $770,677 for depreciation and renewals.

General Results.—After making these liberal provisions for strengthening the properties, the gross income shows an increase of $269,020; the net income was $59,053 in excess of the preceding year; and the total income was the greatest in the history of the company, except for the year 1903, when present earnings were exceeded by $156,797—differences in accounting methods not considered.

After providing for all necessary funds, the payment of all fixed charges and setting aside 8 % on the preferred and 4 % on the common capital stock, the net amount carried to surplus for the year was $126,881. The demand during the year for all products was very satisfactory, with prices (except during the first half of the year) well sustained. While a substantial growth of business is shown, a larger volume would have resulted under more favorable shipping conditions; but our present manufacturing and mining facilities are not sufficient for the most favorable results. The extensive improvements now under way will, when completed, greatly strengthen our operations.

Improvements.—The executive committee, recognizing the inadequacy of present facilities, has authorized substantial expenditures to increase the volume of business and income, but further expenditures could be advantageously made.

The construction has been authorized of a modern steel works and rail-mill, which are expected to double our steel output and rail capacity, and radically reduce the cost of production. The benefits expected from these additions to plant will not be operative until the last half of 1907. The work of re-constructing the entire Ensley group of furnaces, along modern lines, was authorized, and by July 1 1907 we shall have three modern furnaces in operation, viz.: Nos. 4, 5 and 6 Ensley. On completion of this work, re-construction methods will be applied to the remaining stacks of this group. On completion of the work, Ensley's pig iron capacity will be substantially doubled.

To meet the increased demands of the blast furnaces, liberal expenditures were authorized for the opening up of new iron ore slopes on Red Mountain, the construction of a large number of tenement houses, &c. The "Potter property," heretofore under joint lease to the company and the Republic Iron & Steel Co., was during the year acquired by joint purchase with the Republic Co., (V. 83, p. 1417). Mineral experts estimate this property as adding 40,000,000 tons of high-grade red ore to our extensive mineral holdings. Appropriations have been authorized for the construction of seven modern coal washers, and within a few months our entire coal requirements for coking will be properly washed. New coal mines are also being opened.

Unfilled Orders.—The unfilled orders now on your books represent the largest tonnage in the history of the company, and, being well distributed, suggest no sign of business recession. Unfilled orders as of Jan. 1 1907: manufactured iron and steel products, 467,114 tons; coal, 1,200,000 tons; coke, 201,700 tons.

Purchase of Birmingham Southern RR.—The executive committee, recognizing the importance of controlling our terminals and internal traffic, to insure continuity of mining and manufacturing operations, on July 1 purchased the Birmingham Southern RR., owning 105 miles of track, rolling stock, &c. New locomotives and steel cars have since been purchased and a six-mile extension is under construction to open new mines in our Pratt coal field, (V. 83, p. 42, 973).

Lands Owned by the Company and its Proprietary Companies Dec. 31 1906.—The knowledge that your executive committee has acquired as to the iron ore, coal and limestone owned in fee simple by your company satisfies them that, in wealth of raw materials, your company ranks as second to only one in the world, and is far in advance of any other iron or steel producer in cost of assembling its raw materials for manufacture. Our reserves are estimated to be 700,000,000 tons of iron ore and 2,000,000,000 tons of coal. Approximately one-half of the coal supply is of a superior coking quality, and the iron ore is largely of a self-fluxing character, analyzing approximately 38 % metallic iron, and well suited to the manufacture of high-grade foundry pig iron and also of basic pig iron for making basic open-hearth steel.

Ownership of Lands (Acres).

United States Realty & Improvement Co.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending April 30 1907.)

President H. S. Black, under date of New York, May 11, 1907, says in substance:

Sub-Companies.—The companies included in the consolidated statements hereto appended are (besides the parent company, the United States Realty & Improvement Co.), the United States Realty & Construction Co., Interstate Mortgage & Debenture Co., New York Realty Corporation, George A. Fuller Co., Island Realty Co., Cedar Street Co., Realty Deposit Co. and Number One Hundred & Eleven Broadway.

All the capital stock of the United States Realty & Construction Co. is owned by this company, with the exception of 4 149 shares of the preferred and 4,478 shares of the common, and the United States Realty & Construction Co. owns all the stock of the Island Realty Co., and, directly or through its subsidiary companies, owns the entire capital stock of the other subsidiary companies.

Statement of Condition.—The condition of the company and its subsidiary companies on April 30 1907 is shown by the following consolidated statement of the assets and liabilities, as prepared from the audited accounts, no account being taken of good-will.

Real estate and bldgs.	$13,924,296	Bills receivable	$365,720
Stocks and bonds	8,456,205	Misc. accts. receivable	453,082
Bldg., plant & office furn.	149,233	Cash	1,195,030
			$29,931,594
Accounts and bills payable		$1,944,963
Bonds of this company and outstanding stock of subsidiary companies, valued at par		14,146,700	16,091,663
			$13,839,931

Reserves.—The reserves, which amount to $700,898, are to cover possible losses on account of doubtful debts, building accidents, and for depreciation of buildings. The cost of carrying the unproductive properties is charged to income, but in order to show on the books the amount which the respective properties have cost the company, it is also added to the property and credited to a reserve account.

A conservative reserve for depreciation has been set aside from profits.

Mortgages Receivable.—Nearly all of these are on New York City real estate, the exceptions being those on the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia; the Baltimore American Building, Baltimore; the Rector Building, Chicago, and the Hotel Raleigh in Washington.

Construction Department.—The ensuing fiscal year promises large profits in the building department. A year ago the company had construction work under contract aggregating $22,601,570. At the date of this report the contracts aggregate $27,521,357, with negotiations for other construction work so far advanced as to indicate a very large increase in the immediate future over the amount above stated. Nearly all the work undertaken is on a basis of cost and net percentage, thus assuring that such contracts will be profitable to the company.

Regular Income.—The income derived from real estate and investments owned is now so stable that the interest for the debenture bonds is amply secured on a permanent investment basis. The surplus therefrom, and the profits to be derived from the construction and real estate operating departments are applicable to dividends on the stock.

Real Estate.—No changes have been made in the book valuations of the properties carried over from last year, and those acquired since then are carried at cost. As indicated in last year's report, the regular income from the real estate owned has largely increased, amounting this year to $1,128,010, as against $993,301 for the previous fiscal year. The present income from this source will be further increased by the enlargement of the Trinity Building and the erection of the United States Realty Building upon the Boreel site, both of which have just been completed. No income has been derived from this source as yet.

The office buildings known as the Trinity Building and the United States Realty Building have been completed, and are occupied by tenants of the highest class. These two buildings are the most modern and desirable business structures in New York. This property is believed to be an investment of increasing value. The location can never be duplicated. These buildings are owned by No. 111 Broadway Co.

The Plaza Hotel, which is approaching completion, will be opened on or before Oct. 1 1907. The site of this hotel is, no doubt, the unique hotel location in America, and the hotel building and its appurtenances will be superior to any other hotel in the world. The hotel is owned by the Plaza Operating Co., in which company the Cedar St. Co. holds a majority stock interest. The operation of the Plaza Hotel should yield a very large profit to its stockholders.

The Fuller Building, generally known as the Flatiron Building, was completed several years ago and is fully rented. It is owned by the Island Realty Co.

The Broad Exchange Building is the largest office building now in operation in the world. It is fully rented and produces a very large income. It was one of the first buildings erected by the George A. Fuller Co. in New York City. It is owned by the Broad Exchange Co., in which the Cedar St. Co. has a very large interest.

The land at 67 and 69 Wall St. comprises about 9,600 square feet running through to Beaver St. The location is highly desirable and the site is suitable for the erection of a modern building. The premises, however, are now occupied by buildings of such a substantial nature that it has been deemed best to allow them to remain as they are. This is owned by the Island Realty Co.

The Mercantile Building, at the southwest corner of 23d St. and 4th Av., is a high type of modern store, office and loft building. It is fully rented and is owned by the Island Realty Co.

The Hotel Breslin, at the southeast corner of Broadway and 29th St., has been rented for a period of years to a responsible tenant. It is one of the leading hotels of the city and very successful. It is owned by the Island Realty Co.

The land upon which the Hippodrome Building stands comprises nearly twenty city lots, is owned by the Island Realty Co. and is leased for a term of years upon a ground rental to the New York Hippodrome, which has erected the present structure. The Island Realty Co. receives its revenue from the rental of the land. This is one of the best locations uptown, and is a very important piece of real estate, constantly improving in value.

The buildings at 62d St. and Broadway were completed about two years ago and were then leased for a period of ten years. The land and buildings are owned by the Island Realty Co. and have increased in value.

The O'Neill Store, on the west side of 6th Av., between 20th and 21st streets, is owned by the Island Realty Co. and has been leased for a term of years at a net rental which makes it a very desirable investment.

The Whitehall Building, on Battery Place, is owned by the Battery Place Realty Co. Its location is unsurpassed for light, air and convenience to transit facilities. It is fully occupied and has proved to be a very desirable investment. The interest of the company is through stock of the Century Co., which it controls.

The Childs Building, on 34th St., immediately adjoining the Saks Store, and located practically upon Herald Square, has been rented for a term of years at a net rental. It is located in the heart of a district where the great terminal improvements of the Pennsylvania RR. and Hudson & Manhattan (Tunnels) Co. are adding greatly to the values of property.

The Vletor Building, at the corner of Spring & Mercer streets, is a modern fireproof building, and is leased to Vletor & Achells, who have occupied the same as their principal location for a number of years.

The pictures and diagrams which follow (in pamphlet report) show a few of the principal properties which the United States Realty & Improvement Co., through its subsidiary companies, owns, controls or is interested in, viz:

American Beet Sugar Co., New York.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending March 31 1907.)

President Robert Oxnard, under date of May 14, says:

The year of operations under review has been marked by the largest production in the history of the company, but the increased cost of raw material, labor and all principal supplies, together with the increased rates of interest and other carrying charges, has resulted in higher cost of production by 10c. per 100 lbs. over the preceding year, and the average return for refined product has been 14c. per 100 lbs. less. The large increase in production of American beet sugar, which was not confined to your company, coming as it does at the period of least consumption, has resulted in the carrying over into the succeeding year of a much larger proportion of our output than has been the case in the past, and these sugars, being inventoried at cost instead of at market value, bring to the closing campaign a much smaller credit than would have been the case if the less conservative valuation had been used.

The above briefly recapitulates the reasons why the annexed report of the Auditor shows only a net surplus from operations, after paying all fixed charges, interest and the regular dividend on your preferred stock, of $151,482, which, under all the circumstances, your directors think should be considered fairly satisfactory. The great grocery staples, of which sugar is the principal one, are about the only commodities that have not yet responded in their selling values to the increased demand and cost of production which has marked up the price of almost all the products of industry. It is but logical to expect for your enterprise an improvement along this line during the ensuing year.

Your directors are pleased to announce that the Arkansas Valley RR., which your company had undertaken to build in the Arkansas Valley of Colorado, as announced in last year's report, has been turned over at cost to the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co., thus assuring to your company all the benefits that were contemplated without the burden of an enterprise foreign to its regular business, and only undertaken from the necessity of preventing competitors occupying that territory, which is an important feeder to your factories at Rocky Ford and Lamar.

In the place of this investment, it has been decided to build another sugar factory at Las Animas, a junction of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe and Arkansas Valley railroads, occupying a favorable and strategic point in this valley, an exceptional locality for the development of your industry. The advance of the beet sugar industry in America is progressing steadily, and 16 States and Territories are now interested in its future.

With a backward agricultural season throughout the country, it is too early to speak of next year's prospects; there is reason, however, to expect an average season from the agricultural standpoint.

The land holdings of the company in the vicinity of its factories, which aggregate over 20,000 acres in Colorado and California, have been carefully brought up toward a state of the highest cultivation. A conservative appraisement shows their value to be many fold greater than their original cost. It is contemplated to place these upon the market whenever the time may appear favorable, and thus realize this large profit, to be devoted to the expansion of the company's business.

"Out of the year's surplus there has been appropriated the sum of $40,692 for improvements and additions to the company's factories, which sum has been charged against the profit and loss account."

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Augusta Winthrop & Gardiner (Electric) Ry.—Sale.—See Lewiston Augusta & Waterville Street Ry. below.—V. 83, p. 1522.

Bennington & North Adams Street Ry.—Mortgage.—The New York State Board of Railroad Commissioners had authorized the company to make a mortgage for $150,000 on condition that the outstanding bonds of the Bennington & Hoosick Valley Ry. ($182,000), recently merged with it, shall be canceled. See item under caption of Bennington & Hoosick Valley Ry. in V. 84, p. 101.

Boston & Maine RR.—Possible Merger or Amalgamation.—For several weeks past reports have been in circulation and constantly becoming more definite to the effect that steps are being taken by certain interests to bring about an amalgamation of this system with the New York New Haven & Hartford and possibly other companies as well. No official action has been taken respecting the matter, but it is commonly believed that a merger plan of some kind is under consideration and is likely to be made public some time in the future, probably on the basis of an exchange of stock, directly or through the medium of a holding company. Among those in consultation on the subject are said to have been a member of the firm of Kidder, Peabody & Co. and Henry M. Whitney, a director of the Boston & Maine and of the American Express Co., which holds a block of Boston & Maine stock.—V. 84, p. 930, 101.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.—"Rehabilitation."—The "Railroad Gazette" of this city in its issues of May 10 and 17 has illustrated articles regarding the important improvements which this company has had in progress for several years past and is still carrying on.

New Securities by Controlled Properties.—The New York State Railroad Commission on May 15 granted permission to the company's controlled lines as below stated. The mortgages named (no bonds will be issued thereunder) will be deposited as collateral for certificates of indebtedness, as stated, the latter to be in turn deposited for the benefit of the bondholders under the refunding mortgage of 1902.

The South Brooklyn Ry. may increase its stock from $150,000 (all owned by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co.) to $500,000 and make a mortgage for $4 000,000.

The Canarsie RR. may make a mortgage for $2,000,000.

The Sea Beach Ry. may make a mortgage for $2,000,000. (The company now has $650,000 each of stock and bonds outstanding, the former all held by the Rapid Transit Co.)

The Rapid Transit Co. has agreed to furnish within the next ten years such moneys as shall be required for extensions, additions and improvements and take in exchange therefor certificates of indebtedness of the companies named, payable on demand, on condition that not only the certificates of indebtedness thus to be issued to the Rapid Transit Co., but also those heretofore issued, shall be secured by the mortgages as collateral security.—V. 84, p. 569, 101.

Canadian Northern Ry.—Acquisition.—See Quebec & Lake St. John Ry. below.—V. 84, p. 506, 449.

Carolina & Tennessee Southern Ry.—Bond Issue.—This company, whose $60,000 capital stock, except directors' shares, is all owned by the Southern Railway Co., has made a mortgage to the Standard Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, to secure an issue of $2,500,000 first mortgage 4% gold bonds, dated Jan. 1 1907 and due Jan. 1 1957, interest payable July 1 and Jan. 1 in New York. Of these bonds $500,000 are issuable at once, $492,000 being now outstanding, and the remainder is reserved, to be issued for additional mileage, improvements, rolling stock, &c.; but the amount outstanding must at no time exceed an average of $40,000 per mile of main and branch lines standard-gauge railroad (excluding second track and sidings) at the time actually constructed and in operation, or under contract to be constructed. The company has 26 miles of road under construction, extending from the North Carolina boundary in Swain County, N. C., along the valley of the Little Tennessee River to Franklin, in Macon County, N. C. Compare Tennessee & Carolina Southern Ry. in V. 83, p. 1591.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co.—Merger.—The shareholders will vote May 21 on a proposition to consolidate the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. of Virginia (the parent company) with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. of Kentucky (V. 82, p. 1322) and to pledge the rights, privileges, franchises and property of the latter if and when purchased under the general mortgage of the Chesapeake & Ohio. This action is thought to foreshadow the authorization of new securities to provide for the company's capital requirements.—V. 84, p. 1113, 995.

Chicago Cincinnati & Louisville Ry.—Change of Office.—The general offices have been moved from Cincinnati to Chicago.—V. 84, p. 693, 507.

Chicago Consolidated Traction Co.—Status Under Chicago Union Traction Co. Reorganization.—See Chicago Railways Co. under "Reports and Documents" in V. 84, p. 1123.—V. 82, p. 1210.

Chicago Great Western Railway Co.—Application to List.—The New York Stock Exchange has been requested to list $2,000,000 4% debenture stock, making the total listed $28,127,000.—V. 84, p. 930, 748.

Chicago & Eastern Illinois RR.—Proposed New Line.—Henry I. Miller, President of this company, is quoted as confirming the report that surveys are being made for a line to connect this road, by way of Evansville and Joppa, with the Mobile Jackson & Kansas City RR. This would give a short route between Chicago and New Orleans and Chicago and Mobile.—V. 83, p. 1469.

Chicago Indiana & Eastern RR.—Status.—The following is authoritative:

After clearing up the indebtedness of this company, which has been operated for some time by a receiver, the Pennsylvania Co. secured all the stocks and bonds of the road and has made it a part of the Logansport division of the Pittsburgh Cincinnati Chicago & St. Louis RR. (the Panhandle), thereby providing for the Pennsylvania System a second entrance into Muncie, Indiana, an important shipping centre. The Chicago Indiana & Eastern is 43 miles long, running from Converse on the P. C. C. & St. L., to Muncie. It taps many small towns, and because of its little equipment, which totaled only 9 engines and 28 cars, was unable to handle the business of the district. It is now planned greatly to improve the service. The recent payment by the Pennsylvania of the back taxes of the C. I. & E. to the Treasurer of Grant County practically completed the transfer of the control of the road and its operation by the P. C. C. & St. L. has just been begun. The new officers are: Edward B. Taylor, President; J. J. Turner, Vice-President; S. B. Liggett, Secretary, and T. B. McKnight, Treasurer. —V. 84, p. 930, 569.

Chicago Terminal Transfer RR.—Sale Asked For.—The Baltimore & Ohio RR., which recently paid off the company's first mortgage 5s, has applied to Judge Kohlsaat at Chicago for a judicial sale of the property. Efforts to settle the contest for control out of court are understood to have failed. The Hill-Morgan interests are supposed to represent a majority of the capital stock.—V. 84, p. 930, 867.

Chicago Union Traction Co.—Terms of Ordinance.—See Chicago Railways under "Reports and Documents" in V. 84, p. 1123, for ordinance approved at city election April 20.

More than Two-thirds Deposited—Further Deposits Till May 22.—The Wallace committee announces that more than two-thirds of each class of the company's stock has been deposited with the Central Trust Co., New York, preparatory to reorganization under terms of the notice in V. 84, p. 930, and the ordinance mentioned above. Further deposits will be received to and including May. 22.

In addition it is stated that the required amounts of the stock of the North and West Chicago street railroad companies have been deposited with the Chicago committee. —V. 84, p. 1052, 995.

Cincinnati Bluffton & Chicago RR.—Earnings.—This company, whose bonds are being handled by W. J. Hayes & Co. (V. 84, p. 449), writes under date of May 10 in part:

The 30 miles now in operation is the middle section, which was started as matter of convenience in order to reach the gravel banks. Financial arrangements were made with the Trust Co. of the Republic, New York, for the construction of the entire 75 miles, and when the trust company went into receiver's hands, we caused a friendly receivership. New construction work was stopped and the roadbed, being in an unfinished condition, afforded no opportunity for a satisfactory showing. It is not surprising, therefore, that 1905 showed a deficit.

The receiver was discharged in May 1906 and all claims satisfied, but owing to the increased expenses of a receivership, and also to the fact that the gravel business was not in a condition to be pushed, no adequate facilities being provided, the year 1906 should not be taken as an example of what the railroad can do, but nevertheless the year 1906 showed a deficit of only $1,700, or a gain over 1905 of over $21,000.

The year 1907 will show a large surplus for the following reasons: (1) The gravel business is for the first time in a condition to be pushed, a large volume of orders being on hand, and a new and complete steam-shovel plant with all necessary cars having been installed. (2) The present section of 30 miles is now in first-class condition. (3) The northern extension from Bluffton to Huntington will be in operation by Aug. 1, connecting three county seats, and giving direct connection with Chicago, and soon thereafter the southern extension from Portland to Union City will be in operation, giving direct connection with Cincinnati, and opening up a large and prosperous country. (4) New factories, lumber mills, elevators, &c., have been located on our line during the past year.

Results for the First Four Months of 1907.

Gross earnings	$20,351	Interest on bonds	$10,000
Operating expenses	7,306	Taxes	767
Net earnings	$13,045	Surplus earnings	$2,273

Business during this period was cut down on account of car shortage, and cessation of gravel business during the winter months. The net earnings for May show that this month's earnings will be $3,000 net after allowing for interest charge, and the balance of 1907 will bring the average up to $4,000 per month net on the section now in operation. Compare V. 84, p. 507, 449.

Connecticut Valley Street Ry., Northampton, Mass.—Called Bonds.—First mortgage bonds Nos. 21 and 22 of the Greenfield & Turners Falls Street Railway Co., due June 1916, have been called for redemption on June 1 1907 at the Beacon Trust Co., Boston, at 103 and interest.—V. 83, p. 1037.

Delaware & Eastern RR.—Lease Approved.—The shareholders have ratified the lease of the road to the Schenectady & Margaretville RR. and the last-named company has been merged with the Hancock & East Branch as the Delaware & Eastern Railway Co., thereby making effective the amalgamation plan described in V. 84, p. 931.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—Annual Meeting.—At the annual meeting held on Tuesday J. Rogers Maxwell and Frank E. Smith were elected to the board of managers to succeed Frederick Cromwell and Alexander E. Orr, who resigned. Mr. Smith is a member of the law firm of Conway, Weed & Smith and has been local counsel for the company. William S. Opdyke also resumes his place on the board.

The agreement modifying the lease of the Chateaugay & Lake Placid Ry. was passed. The change provides for the payment of dividends of 4% per annum on the $1,000,000 additional preferred stock recently issued, making $3,000,000 of the preferred now out, all owned by the D. & H.

The company's requirements for new capital in connection with its acquisition of extensive tracts of coal lands south of Wilkes-Barre and its purchase of the trolley lines of the Hudson Valley RR. Co. were discussed at considerable length. President Loree stated that he had investigated carefully these acquistions and believed that they were wise and necessary. The company, he stated, is not at the moment deriving income from the new coal properties, but he believes that their purchase will be fully justified within the next eighteen months. When asked regarding the probable amount of new capital required by the company, Mr. Loree replied that he had not made up his mind how much money the management would need in the near future, but that at a subsequent meeting of the stockholders, of which ample notice would be given, the matter would be gone into, the requirements of the company plainly stated, and the purposes of the management thoroughly explained.

Equipment Trust.—The directors have authorized the issue of $10,000,000 equipment trust bonds, but the details, such as interest rate, etc., are not ready for announcement.—V. 84, p. 1113, 1052.

Detroit Plymouth & Northville (Electric) Ry.—Sale.—See Jackson Ann Arbor & Detroit Ry.—V. 76, p. 971.

Interborough-Metropolitan Co., New York.—Report.—For years ending March 31:

Fiscal Year—	Gross Earnings.	Net Earnings.	Other Income.	First Charges.	Pref. 5% Dividend.	Balance, Deficit.
	$	$	$	$	$	$
1906-07	43 353,841	21,511,957	1,187,464	21,772,920	2,273,990	1,347,489
1905-06	40,693,371	19,649,155	1,215,781	23,206,814	- - - - -	2,341,878

The "first charges" in 1905-06 include dividends ($2,800,000) on Interborough Rapid Transit stock (now represented by bonds of the holding company); also Metropolitan Street Railway guaranteed dividends to a total of $3,639,888, contrasting with $666,368 in 1906-07, most of the Street Railway stock having come into the merger. The special franchise taxes, being in litigation, are omitted (Compare circular of Ex. Norton & Co., New York, noticed under "Miscellaneous News" on p. 1186. V. 84, p. 868, 570.

Interborough Rapid Transit, New York.—Termination of Voting Trust.—The voting trustees, under date of May 15, give the following notice:

Pursuant to the provisions of the voting trust agreement dated May 14 1902, holders of stock trust certificates issued thereunder, upon presentation of the same duly endorsed at the office of August Belmont & Co., 23 Nassau St., New York, will be entitled to receive certificates for the capital stock of Interborough Rapid Transit Co. [The Interborough-Metropolitan Co. in October last owned $33,902,800 of the $35,000,000 stock trust certificates.—Ed.].—V. 84, p. 1052, 572.

Jackson (Mich.) Consolidated Traction Co.—Change in Control.—See Michigan United Railways below.—V. 82, p. 1212.

Kanawha & Michigan Ry.—Refunding Plan.—The stockholders will vote June 4 on a proposition to authorize $2,500,000 second mortgage 20-year 5% bonds, redeemable at par on any interest day at par and interest, the proceeds to be used mainly to pay off $2,241,000 of floating debt, representing payments made on equipment issues and advances by the Hocking Valley for improvements and additions. Steps are being taken to form a syndicate to purchase about $1,250,000 of these bonds, the balance to be taken by the Hocking Valley Ry., which holds the greater part of the notes payable. The issue of the bonds will clear the way for the payment of dividends on the stock, which, it is hoped, may begin July 1 with a semi-annual distribution of 1%.—V. 84, p. 1114, 508.

Kansas City Southern Railway.—Official Statement.—At the annual meeting on May 15, President J. A. Edson, it is reported, said:

Notwithstanding an increase of 7% in gross earnings for the ten months ending April 30 1906 over the previous year (1905), the gross earnings for the ten months ending April 30 1907 show an increase over corresponding period of last year of 20%, with a decrease in operating expenses of 4.2%, making an increase in net earnings of 99%. Your company has handled an increased business of $1,197 868, with $207,000 less expenditures for operation. In other words, all of the increased gross earnings, with $207,000 added, are net. The percentage of operating expenses has been reduced from 74.01 for ten months ending April 30 1906 to 58.63 for the corresponding period of 1907.

Passenger earnings have increased from $746,273 in 1906 to $1,114,431 in 1907 for the ten months' period ending April 30, or 49.33%.

By reason of better service the character of your traffic has improved and the tonnage has become diversified so that the road is not so entirely dependent upon any one class of traffic, such as forest products, which constitutes the bulk of your company's tonnage. While the lumber movement during this year to date has increased some 50,000 tons, the percentage of this commodity to the total movement has decreased, and the movement of manufactured articles and other high-class commodities taking higher rates has assumed greater proportions. There is every prospect for the continuation of an increased volume of business. The country traversed by your line is advancing rapidly in settlement and development, bringing its increased local tonnage, and with proper development in the way of remunerative feeders and Gulf outlets, the export traffic should increase constantly.—V. 84, p.804.

La Crosse City (Wis.) Ry.—New Stock.—This company has increased its limit of capital stock from $242,000 to $500,000 (all of one class) in order to provide for improvements. An officer writes:

The amount outstanding remains same as last year, $242,000. Do not know when the new stock will be issued—probably 5 or 10% soon; balance as needed. (Compare statement on page 51 of "Street Railway Section.") —Ed.

Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Ry.—Bonds Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed the outstanding $35,000,000 of 4% 25-year coupon bonds due 1931. Compare V. 84, p. 996, 753, 744.

Lewiston Augusta & Waterville Street Ry.—Consolidation.—Under this title there were recently consolidated the Lewiston Brunswick & Bath Street Railway (V. 84, p. 390) and the Augusta Winthrop & Gardiner Railway (V. 83, p. 1522). No details are available at present regarding the securities of the consolidated company, except that it assumes all the liabilities of the old companies. The new corporation has lines under construction from Lewiston to Augusta and from Augusta to Waterville, a distance of about 50 miles, and also from Lewiston to Mechanic Falls, a distance of about 9 miles. The officers are: John R. Graham, Bangor, President; Frank Silliman Jr., Scranton, Vice-President; D. S. Hahn, of Lewiston, Treasurer.

Lewiston Brunswick & Bath Street Ry.—Sale.—See Lewiston Augusta & Waterville Ry. above.—V. 84, p. 390.

In March last the local trolley line was reported as sold to W. R. Schott of Chicago for $150,000. (Compare Lincoln Water & Light Co., V. 75, p. 613, 796.)

Louisville Traction Co.—New Stock.—Regarding the report that the company will offer at par $600,000 of common stock to holders of record, an official writes: "Directors have not yet ordered the stock to be offered. Will probably be offered on or before July 1."—V. 84, p. 931, 804.

Mexican Central Ry.—Vice-President Nickerson Retires.—H. R. Nickerson, Vice-President of the company, has resigned. Steps, it is understood, are being taken to organize the proposed United National Railways of Mexico.—V. 84, p. 570, 271.

Michigan United Railways, Lansing, Mich.—Acquisition.—This company, operating 155 miles of trolley lines in Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Lansing, and connecting Lansing, St. Johns, Jackson, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo, has arranged to acquire, through W. N. Coler & Co., at a cost, it is understood, of about $1,250,000, practically the entire capital stock of the Jackson Consolidated Traction Co., including the holdings of W. A. Boland, and will purchase the minority shares on the same basis. The Jackson company owns and operates 30 miles of track in Jackson and vicinity, including interurban lines to Grass Lake, Wolf Lake, Michigan Center and Vandercook, and has outstanding $1,000,000 capital stock and $712,000 of an issue of $1,000,000 first mortgage 5% bonds due May 1 1934. The two companies are to be merged under name of Michigan United Railways. Compare statements for each in "Street Railway" section, pages 48 and 51 and V. 79, p. 1704; V. 82, p. 1212.

Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co.—New Mortgage for Subsidiary.—See Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Co. below.—V. 84, p. 508, 339.

Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Co.—New Mortgage.—This company, whose capital stock is all owned by the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., has filed a "refunding and extension" mortgage to the Metropolitan Trust Co. of New York and Randolph Rodman, as trustees, to secure an issue of $30,000,000 5% gold bonds of $1,000 each, dated April 1 1907 and due June 1 1937, but subject to call on any interest day at 110. Interest payable June 1 and Dec. 1 at office of trustee.

Of the authorized amount, $7,500,000 is immediately available, but none thereof, it is stated, is likely to be sold in the immediate future; $5,500,000 is held to retire the $5,000,000 first mortgage bonds, which are subject to call at 110.—V. 84, p. 102.

Mortgage Taxation in New York.—Amendments to Recording Tax Law.—See "New York State" in "State and City" department and editorial article on a preceding page.—V. 82, p. 1215.

Nashville (Tenn.) Railway & Light Co.—Mortgage Filed.—The company has filed its new "refunding and improvement" mortgage to the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York as trustee to secure $15,000,000 5% gold bonds dated July 2 1906.

These bonds are due July 1 1956. Denomination $1,000. Interest payable Jan. 1 and July 1 at office of trustee. Of the authorized amount, $2,000,000 is issuable for corporate purposes. $6,000,000 is reserved and can only be issued upon retirement of like amounts of underlying bonds, and $7,000,000 is reserved to be issued at the rate of $1,000 for each $1,250 expended for future improvements and equipments.—V. 83, p. 1229, 1098.

An advertisement was accordingly published in the "New York Times" of May 15 announcing an application to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for authority to make the proposed changes, which are fully described in the official notice.—V. 84, p. 52.

INDUSTRIAL, GAS AND MISCELLANEOUS.

American Ice Co.—Authorized.—The shareholders on May 13, by a vote of 258,000 to 6,000 shares, adopted the amendment to the certificate of incorporation extending the scope of the company's business, in order that during the winter when the ice business is slack the company may be able to manufacture brick and deal in building material, coal, wood, &c.

President Wesley M. Oler is quoted as saying that the reason for the charter amendment permitting the directors, as individuals, to do business with themselves as directors was that the company desired to merge into itself subsidiary companies. Directors of the parent company are directors in the subsidiaries and it is necessary to have the amendment in order to validate their acts in the transfer of securities. The American Ice Co., it is understood, will succeed the American Ice Securities Co. as the dominant concern.—V. 83, p. 1588.

Has for a number of years been selling hydraulic power, the development consisting of a masonry dam from which have been operated woolen mills, pumping stations, &c. Extensive improvements were commenced in 1905, consisting of the largest hydro-electric plant in Maine. A concrete dam, 1,100 feet long and 20 feet high, has been constructed at Oldtown, and one about 400 feet long and 20 feet high across the Stillwater River at Gilman's Falls, Maine; the latter dam serves to regulate the flow of water and may be used to generate additional power. Homestake Mining Co.—Dividends Temporarily Discontinued.—A circular signed by President J. B. Haggin and Secretary Fred. Clark has been sent out from the office of

Lounsbery & Co., Transfer Agents, 15 Broad St., New York, under date of May 8 1907, saying:

For the first time in over twenty-eight years it is deemed advisable to temporarily discontinue the payment of the monthly dividend. A fire in the mine prevents operations under ground and the mills are hung up in order to allow the water ordinarily used in them to go into the mine to extinguish the fire.

Fire was discovered between the 500 and 600 foot levels on Mar. 25. It was finally determined that the best interests of the property required the flooding of the mine; and, on Apr. 22, approximately 1,000 cubic feet, or 7,500 gallons per minute, were turned into the mine through various channels. It is proposed to fill the mine from the 1,550 foot level to the 300 foot level. The mine openings between these levels amount to 68,393,621 cubic feet of air space. At this date the water has risen to the floor of the 600 foot level. It is expected that the fire will be submerged on or about June 1, when the water now going into the mine will be available for milling purposes again, and as many stamps (probably 500 to 600) will be started as can be furnished with ore from the surface openings. Nothing serious occurring to prevent, the mine will be unwatered to the 500 level about the middle of July, when underground operations to that depth will be resumed and the remainder of the 1,000 stamps started. Operations below the 500 level will follow as each level is relieved of its water contents.

When the fire was discovered, the mine was in excellent physical condition. No material impairment is looked for from water contact. The unwatering will not be expensive. The treasury will take care of that. We have twenty years' ore in sight, and owe nothing. Our slime plant is practically finished, and the property generally in good order and condition. However, pending the resumption of operations, the management deemed it best to maintain the present strong financial position of the company by temporarily discontinuing dividends. Compare V. 83, p. 1170; V. 84, p. 274.

The company since its organization in 1877 has distributed on its stock 102.35% in dividends. Of the stock authorized, ($22,000,000), $21,840,000 is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.—V. 84, p. 274.

Home Telephone Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—Dividend Increased.—This company recently paid a semi-annual dividend of 2½% on its $250,000 of common stock. The previous dividends were 2% in April and 2% in October. There is also outstanding $260,000 6% cumulative preferred stock. Par of shares $50. The authorized issue of capital stock is limited to $600,000.

Bond Issue.—A mortgage has been made to the Trio-State Loan & Trust Co. of Fort Wayne, Ind., as trustee to secure an issue of $250,000 6% gold bonds dated Jan. 1 1907.

(The) New York & Cuba Mail Steamship Co.—Status.—Hornblower & Weeks, N. Y. and Boston, in a circular, says

The company commenced to run steamers between New York City and Havana and New York City and the South Side of Cuba in 1881. It was then known as the Ward Line. The business increased rapidly, until the net earnings for the years 1901 to 1906 averaged $965,556 per annum.

In February last the property was bought by Charles W. Morse and associates who formed the New York & Cuba Mail Steamship Co., under the laws of Maine. The new company is capitalized for $10,000,000 of first mortgage 5% 25-year bonds and $20,000,000 of stock of par value of $100 per share. The interest charge will therefore amount to $500,000 per year. Taking $1,300,000 as a fair estimate of the net earnings for the year 1907, there remains a balance, after the payment of fixed charges, of $800,000, which is equivalent to $4 per share on the capital stock.

The gross earnings for the five years ending Aug. 1 1906 were $22,257,423 an average per year of $4,451,485. The net earnings for the same period were $4,827,780, an average per year of $965,556. The net earnings for the twelve months ending Jan. 31 1907, those previous to the change in management, were as follows:

Net earnings	$257,794	$206,139	$261,376	$246,787	$972,096

All charges for depreciation, taxes, and insurance are deducted from gross earnings before figuring the net earnings. The Ward Line in the future will be operated by the same general management as the Mallory and Clyde steamship companies which run from New York to Southern ports, and many economies will result from the consolidation.

The company runs four different routes: (1) New York to Havana, Cuba; (2) New York to Nassau, Florida and Santiago, Cuba; (3) New York to Havana, Cuba and then to Vera Cruz, Progresso and Tampico, Mexico; and (4) New York direct to Tampico, Mexico. The fleet comprises 18 steamships, 11 of which carry first class passengers as well as freight, and 10 of which have been built since 1900. Two of the largest boats were built in 1906 and two more are still under construction. The combined tonnage of the fleet is 73,250 tons. Following are the names and gross tonnage of the steamships: Havana, 6,500; Saratoga, 6,500; Merida, 6,207; Mexico, 6,207, Morro Castle, 6,004; Esperanza, 4,702; Monterey, 4,702, Vigilancia, 4,115; Seguranca, 4,115; Seneca, 2,729; City of Washington, 2,883; Matanzas, 3,094; Bavamo, 3,296, Antilla, 3,398; Camaguey, 3,398 Manzanillo, 1,841 Yumuri, 1,836, Cienfuegos, 1,749 total, 73,250 tons. The appraised value of the steamers alone approximates $12,000,000 or $2,000,000 more than the total bonded debt. The company also owns securities to the value of $1,500,000 in the Havana Lighterage Co., in Mexican Coastwise Steamship Lines, and in foreign tramp steamers. Insurance is carried to the amount of this bonded debt. The company holds under lease piers 13 and 14 on the East River in New York and piers 16, 17 and 18 Prentiss's Stores, Brooklyn. Piers and wharfs are not used at Cuban and Mexican ports, where they depend on lighters. Plans have already been formulated looking toward improvements at Havana with regard to wharf and shipping facilities.

Revere Sugar Refinery, Cambridge, Mass.—Incorporated.—This company was incorporated on May 8 under the laws of Maine with an authorized capital stock of $1,750,000, of which $1,000,000 is common and $750,000 is preferred stock, 7% cumulative, with preference both as to assets and dividends. Preferred dividends are payable quarterly July 15, etc. There have been issued $800,000 common and $500,000 preferred. A small amount of the preferred stock, it is understood, has been sold to Lee, Higginson & Co. and F. S. Moseley & Co. We have been favored with the following:

The corporation was formed to succeed the firm of Nash, Spaulding & Co., owning the "Revere sugar refinery," which was started in Cambridge, Mass., in 1871 and has been in continuous and successful operation since that time, refining and selling the highest quality of sugar and syrups. The plant is located on the shore of the Miller River, with a depth of water at its wharf of 14½ feet. The buildings are of brick, protected against fire by an automatic sprinkling system, and are in excellent condition. The capacity of the plant is rated at about 1,150 barrels of 300 lbs. each of refined sugar per day, but for conservative reasons the daily capacity is placed at 1,000 barrels, or 100,000,000 lbs. per annum. The average net earnings for the last three years have been over $200,000, and the average for the past ten years has been over $136,000, being equal to 7.7% on the outstanding preferred stock, 10% on the common stock, and leaving $21,000 to be carried to the surplus account.

Standard Table Oil Cloth Co., New York.—Reduction of Capital Stock.—The shareholders will vote May 24 on reducing the outstanding capital stock from $8,000,000, divided into $4,000,000 each of common and 7% cumulative preferred, to $6,000,000, divided into $3,000,000 each of common and 6% cumulative preferred. The old stock is to be exchanged on a basis of $70 of new preferred and a like amount of new common for each $100 of present preferred stock, and $5 of new preferred stock and a like amount of new common for each $100 of the present common stock. The terms of exchange of the preferred stock provide for the wiping out of an accumulation of dividends amounting to $575,000, or about 14½%. President H. M. Garlick and Secretary Alvin Hunsicker in a circular say:

At the organization of the company some of the plants were not of modern construction and equipment, and lacked adequate facilities for the economical manufacture of goods. The growth of the business has necessitated the construction of a new mill in the West, as well as a large addition to one of the Eastern plants now about finished. A large loss by fire was also sustained in the destruction of a new addition to the plant at Athenia,

N. J., necessitating the rebuilding of the addition. Raw material warehouses have also been constructed at four of the plants. These improvements have cost approximately $650,000. The growth of the business requires additions to the active working capital. To care for these demands without unduly increasing the liabilities, it was thought wise to appropriate the earnings above 4% per annum upon the preferred stock, and this resulted in an accumulation of deferred dividends, which now amount to about $575,000. Further additions to the working capital must be made to meet the increased business, and from time to time additional new construction will be required, so that for some time to come deferred dividends upon the present preferred stock will be accumulating at the rate of $120,000 per annum.

The company claims to have an Arizona charter, and in December last was offering by advertisement (see "New York Sun" of Dec. 5) its $1 shares at 15%; 60% of the authorized issue of $17,000,000, it was then stated, had been subscribed for. In March last a mortgage was filed to B. F. Billingsby to secure an issue of $5,000,000 bonds which were offered for sale in Canada The company's assets including refineries, said to have been built or partly built at Cherryvale, Atchison and Tulsa, oil leases, &c., were valued by the company at $1,469,000, but it has been questioned whether the property would bring more than a small fraction of this amount. The officers were: James Ingersoll, President; J. H. Ritchie, Vice-President; H. H. Tucker Jr., Secretary and Treasurer. The last named was arrested on April 9 charged with using the United States mails to defraud in the conduct of the company's business.

Moreover, arrangements for making payments aggregating some $450,000, due within sixty days, were closed yesterday. Bonds were sold and part of the money borrowed to meet these obligations. The first note, due O. C. Barber, will be paid next month, and the last of these obligations, amounting to $200,000, will be paid in January. Vermont Power & Lighting Co.—Offering of Guaranteed Water Power Bonds.—Spitzer & Co., New York & Toledo, are offering at 101 and interest $400,000 of the total authorized issue of $500,000 first mortgage guaranteed sinking fund 20-year 5% gold bonds, dated March 1 1907, due March 1 1927, without option of prior payment. Denomination $1,000 c*. Interest March 1 and Sept. 1, payable in gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness at the Trust Company of America, trustee of mortgage, New York City. A circular says in substance:

Capital stock, $1,000,000. First mortgage bonds, present issue, $400,000; the remaining $100,000 are held in escrow and can be issued only with the consent of Spitzer & Co. for not over 80% of actual cost of future extensions and enlargements when the net earnings are over 2½ times the interest on the total $500,000 bond issue. Total authorized issue limited to $500,000. The Vermont Power & Lighting Co earned last year over double the interest charge on this issue of bonds, and has been leased for 25 years to the Consolidated Lighting Co. of Vermont, which guarantees these bonds, principal and interest. As the latter company earned last year about 2½ times its interest charge, the total net earnings applicable to the interest on this issue were for the 12 months ending Mar. 1st 1907 about four times the interest charge, viz.: Actual net earnings, $78,947; interest charge, $20,000. An annual sinking fund of 2% of the par value of the outstanding bonds commences in 1908, to be applied to the purchase of bonds of this issue at a price not to exceed a 4% basis, if obtainable, otherwise in New York savings banks bonds; or, with the consent of Spitzer & Co., for extensions, improvements and enlargements.

Abstract of Letter from J. E. Davidson, General Manager of Vermont Power & Lighting Co. and Consolidated Lighting Co. under date Apr. 22 1907.

The Vermont Power & Lighting Co. has been leased to the Consolidated Lighting Co. for 25 years and they guarantee absolutely, principal and interest, the Vermont Power & Lighting Co. first mortgage, 20 year 5% bonds. These two well established companies are now under one control and management, and they furnish all the electric light and power used in Montpelier, and seven other cities and towns nearby. The single management will result in many economies.

The Vermont Power & Lighting Co. has broad and perpetual franchises, and electricity is transmitted to the market over perpetual private rights of way 50 feet wide. Land has been purchased at the water power and perpetual flowage rights acquired wherever it was deemed necessary. The property consist of a water power plant most advantageously located six miles from Montpelier, with electric generators, steam auxiliary and all necessary buildings and equipments. The inventory value of the property exclusive of rights and franchises is $674,000. The dam is built into the solid rock and has 50 feet head and ample spillway. Drainage area some 500 square miles. Within six weeks over 753 H. P. new output of electricity has been contracted for. By installing additional machinery the capacity of the plant can be increased to about 4,000 H. P., which, with the 7,500 H. P. which the Consolidated Lighting Co. now has will give the community which we serve a total of about 11,500 H. P to draw from.

I am confident that for the year commencing May 1 1907 the results from operation will be approximately as follows:

	Gross.	Net	Bond Int.	Bal Sur.	Com.b.Sur.
Vermont Power & L. Co	$75,000	$52,500	$20,000	$32,500	$95,000
Consol Lighting Co	130,000	90,000	27 500	62,500

—The Title Guarantee & Trust Company, of 176 Broadway, New York, and 175 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, has ready for distribution upon application copies of the new law signed by Governor Hughes this week amending the real estate mortgage recording-tax law. The amendment provides that all mortgages executed before July 1 1906 may pay the recording tax and hereafter be free of personal taxation. Copies of this law as amended, with explanations, can also be had at the company's offices at 350 Fulton Street, Jamaica, L. I., or 67 Jackson Avenue, Long Island City.

—Bond & Goodwin, head office 35 Congress Street, Boston, members of the Boston Stock Exchange, have moved their New York offices to a larger suite of banking rooms on the 11th floor of the Trinity Building, 111 Broadway. The firm formerly had quarters on the fourth floor of the same building, but its increased business in corporation and collateral loans, commercial paper and high-grade investment securities, has made it necessary to engage more commodious offices. The Chicago office is located in the First National Bank Building.

—The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York has prepared a circular presenting facts bearing on the safety of well selected railroad bonds. An analysis of a number of railroads shows that in no case is the entire bonded debt as much as 60% of the total value of the property, while in three cases two-thirds of the present market value of the property could be erased before the lien of the bonds would be impaired. The circular makes a strong argument as to the advantage of purchasing railroad bonds under present conditions.

—Ex. Norton & Co., 52 Exchange Place, have issued a pamphlet "prepared for the purpose of showing in a clear and concise manner what comprises the Interborough-Metropolitan Co., what was given in exchange for the securities of the properties of which it is made up, its capitalization and earning power." The firm recommends the 4½% bonds of the company and expects "in time to see a very comfortable surplus earned" over and above the dividend on the preferred stock.

—The R. L. Bernier Co. of Chicago has opened a general Exchange on Dearborn Street, adjoining the Commercial National Bank, where they will keep posted the daily quotations from all the principal Stock Exchanges in the country—New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, &c., including mining quotations from Denver, Colorado Springs, Goldfield, &c. The firm will do a brokerage business in stocks and bonds.

—Day, Adams & Co., successors to Gwynne & Day (established 1854), are to-day issuing a special circular descriptive of a first mortgage 5% gold bond, due 1945. This bond is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and is secured upon an elevator property in the heart of one of our largest cities. All interested can obtain this circular at the firm's offices at 45 Wall Street.

—The Corporation of the Berkeley School announces an informal reception to be tendered to the retiring headmaster, Mr. Edward C. Durfee, and the headmaster-elect, Dr. Adolph W. Callisen, on Wednesday afternoon, May 22, from 4 to 6 o'clock, 72d St. and West End Av. The school building will be open for inspection.

—R. W. Speir, Manager of the Bond Department of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, has resigned to take a similar position with Messrs. Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne. He has been succeeded by Lewis B. Franklin, formerly with Messrs. Spencer Trask & Co.

—Lewis B. Franklin has become Manager of the bond department of the Guaranty Trust Co. of this city, succeeding R. W. Speir, who resigned to take a similar position with Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been more active than for a long period, and prices have advanced. This was due largely to bad weather and adverse crop reports. Latterly, it is true, the weather has improved in most sections of the belt, but a stream of bad crop reports coming to New York and other speculative centres of the cotton world has undoubtedly produced a bullish sentiment in spite of enormous liquidation, especially in July, which was credited largely to leading bull interests. This, too, in the face of better weather conditions in the last few days, the reason being that it is claimed that great damage was done by about a month of bad weather. Some of the reports from Texas have been rather favorable and there is an impression that bad reports from some other sections of the belt have been somewhat exaggerated. This, however, does not alter the fact that there has been a substantial unanimity on the question of more or less damage in most sections and as to the necessity of much replanting. Some reports state that replanting has had to be done two or three times. It would thus appear that the season may be somewhat late. At any rate this is the view taken by the great majority of the reports, and the effect has been to greatly increase speculation, partly among outsiders, who have taken the ground that cotton, in a speculative sense at least, was in much the same position as wheat. Wall Street, the South and Europe have been good buyers, and, for the first time in years, the West also. In other words, the outside public has shown a greater interest in the speculation. Moreover, large spot interests have been buying July, and at one time that month showed a good premium over October, though this subsequently disappeared under very heavy July liquidation and a discount on July took its place. There has been heavy buying of the new-crop months, however, partly, it is said, by those who have sold out their July cotton. The strength of the Liverpool market at times has been a factor. Southern spot markets have been strong and rumors have been rife here at times of quite a good inquiry for actual cotton at New York, with a possibility of rather large shipments in the near future to New England and Europe. To-day there was a further advance in spite of better weather, conditions being generally clear and warm. This was because of the persistent bad crop reports. Moreover, the Liverpool market was higher, large spot interests were again buying and there was a good deal of covering of shorts. Commission houses generally were buying for local, Southern and Western account. Spot cotton has been officially reported quiet and firmer. Middling uplands closed at 12.15c., an advance for the week of 25 points.

RUSSIAN COTTON CROP.—The "Official Gazette" of St. Petersburg has recently published details of the last cotton crop of Russia, as follows:

The most important cotton zone of Russia lies in the Ferghana district of Central Asia, where the area under seed in 1906 was 471,965 acres, against 450,365 in 1905. There were produced last season 233,754 tons (of 2,240-lb.) of seed cotton, yielding 75,244 tons of lint, the latter an increase of 8,060 tons over 1905. In the Syr-Darla district 73,632 acres were under seed, yielding 32,242 tons of seed cotton, or 14,509 tons of lint. The 42,174 acres in the Samarkand district produced 16,121 tons of seed cotton, or 5,642 tons of lint. The Trans-Caspian district produced 9,673 tons of lint from 67,500 acres. In Bokhara the area was reduced by nearly 1,000 acres; 32,242 tons of lint was collected in Bokhara, Khiva and the district adjoining Persia. In the Caucasus approximately 8,060 tons of lint was collected. The foregoing figures show that the total cotton crop yielded approximately 142,679 tons of lint, which is 34% more than in any previous year. About 570,000 bales of 500 lbs. net each in 1906 against 425,000 bales of like weight in 1905.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, May 17 1907.

Prices for wheat flour have shown some irregularity, but in the main the tone has been firmer, owing to the sharp rise in wheat quotations and the unfavorable reports in regard to the crop outlook. Trading, however, has been at a standstill much of the time. Buyers have refused to pay the higher prices asked, and the sales have been confined to small lots. Reports regarding the situation at the large milling centres of the Northwest and the Southwest have been unfavorable. Export business has been stagnant. Corn meal and rye flour have been quiet and steady.

Wheat has had an extraordinary week, prices advancing at times by leaps and bounds, owing to bad crop reports from the winter-wheat belt, particularly from Kansas and Nebraska and further to the Southwest, as well as to cold, stormy conditions in the American and Canadian Northwest, whereby spring-wheat seeding has been greatly retarded. The excitement has been something without a parallel for several years past, or since the famous Leiter deal, and there is no doubt that the flame has been fanned by bad crop reports from Europe also. The outlook is said to be poor in Southern and Western Russia and also in Roumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Germany. There has been a popular craze here and at the West to buy wheat on the idea that the crop of winter wheat alone is to fall some 100,000,000 bushels below that of last year and that the European yield will also show a considerable decrease. It is also considered possible at least that there may be some falling off in the yield of spring wheat, owing to the lateness of the season. At any rate, this has been a factor and no unimportant one in the rise, especially as rumor of late has attributed not a little of the excited buying in Chicago to Northwestern "shorts," particularly those in Minneapolis. A rumor, too, that a bullish crop report may shortly be issued in Minneapolis by interests hitherto bearish must be mentioned as one of the reasons for Thursday's advance of 7 cents in July at Chicago. In a word, the crop outlook on both sides of the water is considered for the time being as at least problematical, if not distinctly threatening, while there is no doubt that the speculation has been greatly increased by reports of an evidently lurid and sensational character. Meantime, although European markets have also shown a good deal of strength, they have not advanced with the same rapidity as those in this country, and the consequence is that American prices are above a parity with those of Europe and export business has latterly been out of the question. To-day a further advance occurred. Though there was nothing really new in the general news, it continued to be of an unfavorable character regarding the crop outlook. The weather of late has been somewhat better, but the bulls insist that much irreparable damage has already been done. There can be no doubt that the injury to the crop is being exaggerated for obvious reasons, but it is worth while to remember that in the last Government report the figures indicated a yield of winter wheat some 88,000,000 bushels smaller than that of last year.

Indian corn futures have advanced, owing to the sharp rise in wheat, bull support, commission-house buying and covering of shorts. The cash market has been strong with a fairly active demand. The weather has been too cold at times for planting. The receipts at Chicago have been light and are not expected to increase materially in the near future. There have been reactions at times, owing to heavy realizing. There has also been more or less short selling, though in view of the big rise in wheat, short selling of corn has not been extensive. To-day prices advanced, owing to the strength of wheat, covering of shorts and buying by commission houses.

Oats have advanced with the trading active and excited. New high records have been established under the stimulus of bad weather and crop reports. Insect damage has been reported in important sections. Commission house buying has been on a large scale and leading Chicago traders have bought and bid the market up. The principal selling has been to realize profits, and this has not had any very great effect, owing to the persistent buying. The cash market has been firm with a good shipping demand at the West. To-day prices advanced on reports of crop damage, notably in Iowa, and general buying.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climate and Crop Division of the United States Weather Bureau, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the weather in the various States for the week ending May 13, summarizing them as follows:

While the temperature conditions in the Southern States were more seasonable than in preceding weeks, excessive rains proved generally unfavorable. The northern and central portions of the country have continued to experience abnormally low temperatures, but the deficiency has been less marked than for several weeks. Light to heavy frosts were general in the upper Missouri, upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Lake region and Middle Atlantic States. The absence of rain in the upper Missouri Valley is beginning to be felt, while the droughty conditions in Oregon have been wholly or partially relieved. Damaging hailstorms occurred in portions of the west Gulf and South Atlantic States during the fore part of the week. There was much cloudiness in the Atlantic Coast and Gulf districts until the latter part of the week, but in the central valleys and Western States the sunshine was generally ample. While generally cloudy weather prevailed on the Pacific Coast during the latter part of the week, the conditions in that region as a whole, were favorable.

The statement of the movement of breadstuffs to market as indicated below are prepared by us from figures collected by the New York Produce Exchange. The receipts at Western lake and river ports for the week ending last Saturday and since Aug. 1 for each of the last three years, have been:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, May 17 1907.

The weather this week has, on the whole, again been adverse to the distribution of seasonable merchandise by retailers and complaints are numerous of stocks remaining on hand which ought, under ordinary conditions, to have passed into consumption by this time. There are also complaints here of collections not being altogether satisfactory, a condition explained by the state of the current retail trade. In the primary market, however, there is no change to note. The demand coming forward in the cotton goods division appears to be of fair extent, but is probably magnified by the continued scarcity of ready supplies and the indifference of manufacturers to book orders for forward delivery entailing much "shopping" on the part of would-be purchasers. The course of the market for raw material adds to the reserve of manufacturers, as, although the prevailing level of prices for cotton goods is a generally profitable one, the possibilities of a pronounced advance in the price of cotton entails caution in making further commitments ahead. The tone of the market is strong and recent regularities in yarns and heavy brown cottons have practically disappeared. The woolen goods division continues dull, and, on the whole, is showing to a considerable degree the effects of an abnormally late spring.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending May 11 were 2,197 packages, valued at $193,540, their destinationbeing to the points specified in the tables below:

Other countries	406	13,625	255	5,895
Total	2,197	84,566	1,878	115,356

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $5,382,409 in 1907, against $6,512,227 in 1906.

Business in heavy brown sheetings and drills has been of limited extent, but prices are firmer in sympathy with the rise in raw material. There are no signs of a reviving demand from the Far East, and purchases for other foreign markets are on a restricted scale. Light-weight sheetings are in steady request for moderate quantities at full prices. Bleached cottons in all grades are decidedly against the buyer, and occasional advances in standard grades of ¼c. per yard are noted, and buyers look for a general rise in the near future. Coarse, colored cottons are well sold and difficult to secure, with agents asking higher prices for denims and tickings in some instances. Cotton flannels and other napped goods easily bring full quotations. Printed calicoes, ginghams and other cotton dress fabrics are moving out in considerable volume on existing orders, with a steady demand still coming forward. No change has been made in prices this week, but the market tends against buyers. Linings show a strong tone throughout. Regular print cloths are quoted at 4 9-16 cts., but this quotation is nominal in the absence of business thereat, and to effect purchases buyers would probably have to pay 4⅝c. Wide goods are very firm on the basis of 7 cts. for 38½-inch 64 squares.

WOOLEN GOODS.—Re-orders in men's lines of woolens and worsteds have been on a small scale and the developments in connection with spring openings are slow. Reports from various distributing centres show that retailers are still carrying large stocks of made-up spring garments, and this condition is reflected in the indifference shown towards spring fabrics for 1908. Manufacturers appreciating this are not pushing matters at the present time. They are facing a high and well-sustained market for raw material, with no indications of such a business coming forward as will enable them to secure a commensurate return on their products. Up to the present time serges and low grades of light wool fabrics have had chief attention paid to them. The demand for overcoatings is irregular and restricted in the aggregate. Some improvement in the demand for wool and worsted dress goods is noted this week with re-orders from the cloak and suit trade a feature. New lines of finer grade plain colored fabrics have been opened for fall with fair orders reported.

IMPORTED DRY GOODS.—Stocks of fine grades of imported wool and worsted dress goods are quite moderate, the demand is improving and prices are firm. Business in silks is maintained, and some good orders are reported for ribbons. Linens continue quite scarce with deliveries decidedly backward. Burlaps are firm, the demand still taking care of such supplies as are available.

News Items.

Arkansas.—Legislature Adjourns.—The Legislature of this State adjourned May 14 after a session of one hundred and twenty days.

Minnesota.—Mortgage Tax Law.—The Legislature of 1907 enacted a law, which became effective Apr. 30, very much like the law taxing real estate mortgages in this State. By Section 2 of this measure a tax of 50 cents is imposed upon each hundred dollars of the principal debt, secured by any mortgage of real property located within the State, recorded or registered on or after Apr. 30 1907. By Section 3 mortgages upon which this tax has been paid are made exempt from all other taxes, except the laws relating to the taxation of gifts or inheritances, &c. By Section 8 holders of mortgages recorded or registered prior to April 30 may pay the tax imposed by this law and secure like exemption. The bill in full is as follows:

SECTION 1.—The words "real property," "real estate" and "lands," as used in this Act, in addition to the definition thereof contained in the Revised Laws, 1905, shall include all property a conveyance whereof may be recorded or registered by a register of deeds under existing laws; and the word "mortgage," as so used, shall mean any instrument creating or evidencing a lien of any kind upon such property given or taken as security for a debt notwithstanding such debt may also be secured in part by a lien upon personalty. An executory contract for the sale of land, under which the vendee is entitled to or does take possession thereof, shall be deemed, for the purpose of this Act, a mortgage of said land for the unpaid balance of the purchase price. No instrument relating to real estate shall be valid as security for any debt unless the fact that it is so intended and the amount of such debt are expressed therein. By mortgage given to correct a misdescription of the mortgaged property, or to include additional security for the same indebtedness, shall not be subject to the tax imposed by this Act; nor shall a mortgage securing the same and other indebtedness, additional to that upon which such tax has been paid, be taxable hereunder except for such added sum.

Sec. 2.—A tax of fifty cents is hereby imposed upon each hundred dollars, or major fraction thereof, of the principal debt or obligation which is, or in any contingency may be, secured by any mortgage of real property situate within the State, which mortgage is recorded or registered on or after April 30 1907. Provided, that if any such mortgage shall describe any real estate situate outside of the State, such tax shall be imposed upon such proportion of the whole debt secured thereby as the value of the real estate therein described situate in this State bears to the value of the whole of the real estate described therein, as such value shall be determined by the State Auditor upon application of the mortgagee.

Sec. 3.—All mortgages upon which such tax has been paid, with the debts or obligations secured thereby, and the papers evidencing the same, shall be exempt from all other taxes; but nothing herein shall exempt such property from the operation of the laws relating to the taxation of gifts and inheritances, or those governing the taxation of banks, savings-banks or trust companies. Provided that this Act shall not apply to mortgages taken in good faith by the persons or corporations whose personal property is expressly exempted from taxation by the law, or is taxed upon the basis of gross earnings, or other methods of commutation in lieu of all other taxes.

Sec. 4.—If a mortgage is made to a mortgagee in trust, to secure the payment of bonds or other obligations to be issued thereafter, a statement may be incorporated therein of the amount of such obligations already issued or to be issued forthwith, and the tax to be paid on filing such mortgage for record or registration shall be computed upon the amount so stated. Such statement shall be binding and conclusive upon all persons claiming through or under the mortgage, and no such obligation issued in excess of the aggregate so fixed shall be valid for any purpose unless the additional tax thereon be paid and the receipt of the proper county treasurer therefor be endorsed thereon.

Sec. 5.—The tax imposed by this Act shall be paid to the treasurer of the county in which the mortgaged land or some part thereof is situated, at or before the time of filing the mortgage for record or registration. The treasurer shall endorse his receipt on the mortgage, countersigned by the county auditor, who shall charge the amount to the treasurer, and such receipt shall be recorded with the mortgage, and such receipt or the record thereof shall be conclusive proof that the tax has been paid to the amount therein stated, and shall authorize any register of deeds to record the mortgage. Its form in substance shall be "Registration tax hereon of..... dollars paid." If the mortgage be exempt from taxation the endorsement shall be "Exempt from registration tax" to be signed in either case by the treasurer as such, and in case of payment, to be countersigned by the auditor. In case the treasurer shall be unable to determine whether a claim of exemption should be allowed, the tax shall be paid to the Clerk of the District Court of the County, to abide the order of such court made upon motion of the county attorney or of the claimant upon notice as required by the court. When any such mortgage covers real property situate in more than one county in this State, the whole of such tax shall be paid to the county treasurer of the county where the mortgage is first presented for record or registration, and the payment shall be receipted and countersigned as above provided, and such tax shall be divided and paid over by the county treasurer receiving the same on or before the 10th day of each month after the receipt thereof to the county or counties entitled thereto in the ratio which the assessed value of the real property covered by the mortgage in each county bears to the assessed value of all the property described in the mortgage. In making such division and payments the county treasurer shall send therewith a statement giving the description of the property described in the mortgage and the assessed value of the part thereof situate in each county. And for the purpose aforesaid the county treasurer of any county may require the county treasurer of any other county to certify to him the assessed valuation of any tract of land in any such mortgage.

Sec. 6.—When any real estate situate in this State and described in any such mortgage is not taxed by direct tax upon the assessed valuation thereof, then the tax herein provided shall be paid to the State Treasurer and credited to the general revenue fund. The receipt thereof shall be endorsed upon the mortgage by the State Treasurer and countersigned by the State Auditor, who shall charge the Treasurer therewith, and thereupon such mortgage shall be recorded or registered, as to such real estate in any office in this State and thereupon such mortgage may be recorded or registered, but as to all real property described in any mortgage taxed upon an assessed valuation the registry tax shall be paid as provided in Section 5 hereof.

Sec. 7.—No such mortgage, or papers relating to its foreclosure nor any assignment nor satisfaction thereof shall be recorded or registered after April 30 1907, unless said tax shall have been paid; nor shall any such document, or any record thereof, be received in evidence in any court or have any validity as notice or otherwise.

Sec. 8.—All mortgages of real estate recorded or registered prior to April 30 1907 shall be taxable as provided by law under the provisions of law relating thereto prior to the enactment hereof. Provided that the holder of any such mortgage may pay to the treasurer of the proper county, or the State Treasurer, or both, the tax herein prescribed upon the amount of the debt secured by such mortgage at the time of such payment, as stated by the affidavit of the owner of such mortgage, to be filed with the county treasurer, and have the treasurer's receipt countersigned by the auditor endorsed thereon. The Register of Deeds or Secretary of State, as the case may be, on presentation of such receipt, shall note on the margin of the mortgage record the date and amount of such payment. Thereafter such mortgage debt shall not be otherwise taxable.

Sec. 9.—All taxes paid to the county treasurer under the provisions of this Act shall be apportioned and distributed in the same manner as real estate taxes paid upon the real estate described in the mortgage.

Sec. 10.—This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after April 30 1907.

Under the law of 1906 only those mortgages recorded on or after July 1 1906 were exempt from taxation. The present amendments also make important alterations in the provisions concerning the payment of the recording tax on corporation mortgages, this feature will be found discussed in our article on the Financial Situation to-day.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The Utilities Bill, after being fixed to suit Governor Hughes's views, has been accepted without amendment by an obedient Senate and Assembly, who at the same time swallowed their independent opinions so recently and bravely expressed. In its shape as the measure passed the legislative ordeal Mr. Hughes is given the arbitrary power to appoint and remove any Commissioner after having served copy of charges and filed the record with the Secretary of State. Injustices, if there be any such, are left without any court review or other redress, except, if so inclined, each sufferer has the privilege of indulging in a fit of sulks. This bit of one-man power is given as illustration of the dictatorship, in spirit and in letter, which runs all through the Act. Had a Tammany Senate and House enacted such a law, the whole city and State would be aflame over the outrage. In vindication of the statute as it stands, it is claimed that a full court review runs with every statute. We take exception to that statement. Without occupying time and space to discuss the point, we would simply ask if that be true—why was the Governor so insistent in his purpose of keeping out any such provision? He would not yield in the least degree, although he could have passed his bill without contest had he been a trifle less determined to keep the law from beginning to end in its autocratic shape. Perhaps the claim that a full court review runs with every statute is held as a matter of faith on the supposition that "Heaven will not suffer honest men to perish."

Another incident of a much more agreeable character has been the report of the Special Master, Mr. Masten, appointed by the United States Circuit Court to take evidence and to report his conclusions both as to facts and law in the controversy covering the constitutionality of the measure which is the support for the 80-cent gas requirement. In his report Mr. Masten sustains in every important particular the contention of the Consolidated Gas Company. He appears to show quite conclusively that to enforce the price of gas at 80 cents would be confiscatory of the company's business. The report is not complete as yet, and after it is completed it is subject to review by the court to which it is made, and after that it no doubt will be appealed to the higher court. But it is well to note that Mr. Masten was appointed not only to take evidence as a basis for conclusions by the court; he was delegated to make all the needed computations, and to make return of his facts and conclusions. As set out by the Master, these seem to be unanswerable. Of course the majority of consumers of gas will except. Every utility stands a poor chance before a jury made up out of every-day users. In fact, demagogues base their claims that public opinion favors their schemes, assuming that few men would object to having their gas bills cut down 20%, especially if they have no stock in the concern which has gas to sell. But fortunately for maker and consumer, the constitutional provision comes in and holds both parties in check; it says that no utility can be forced to sell a product it makes at a less price than will insure to the producer a fair return on his investment. That is fortunate for the consumer as well as the producer, because if it were not the case, the misled consumer might be left to face the short days and dark nights of some winter season with only an exhausted gas company and no light.

Our Governor is apparently attempting to make himself conspicuous above all others for his radicalism. Ever since President Roosevelt in his kind and fatherly way attempted to lend him assistance in the contest he was having with his legislative opponents, he has been acting as if his purpose was not only to resent the helping hand, but to do it in such a notorious way as to prove that he was the superior of the President. No doubt in the Utilities legislation he has shown himself an expert. To-day he has both the Senate and the Assembly on the run, having made them give him the widest sort of authority over State organizations and more money for the execution of the law than any other of our Governors has had thrown at his feet. Braced up by this great success, the Governor demanded the passage of the uniform two-cent-per mile passenger bill. Why he made it two cents per mile and not more or less was due not to any knowledge or examination he had made as to the ability of the roads to adopt either rate—nothing of that kind was before the Governor. He wanted it done and it was done. We notice that a similar law passed in Pennsylvania has been productive of a notice published on Thursday of this week by the Reading Railroad which says that, beginning next Saturday it would increase fare to all suburban points about 40%. This raising of the fares will affect thousands of commuters.

Governor Hughes has also sent a special message to the Senate urging passage of the bill providing for a recount of the vote at the Mayoralty election in 1905. He recommends that final adjournment be postponed until this bill has become law. This veiled hint that the bill must be passed is emphasized by the declaration of some of the newspapers that the Legislature will not be permitted to escape until it is passed. "The doubt that exists as to the result of that election (says Governor Hughes) should be dispelled, and the demands of justice with reference to a matter of fundamental importance should be satisfied"; he further says that this is "to provide the means for settling a matter which all should desire to place beyond controversy."

There have been no elections in many years which have been free from the suspicion and the charge of fraud. That is almost always raised by the loser, who assumes that the work of his opponents has been crooked and his own has been straight—or, if not quite in those terms, he assumes that their tricky work has been enough greater in amount or shrewder in manner to account for the result. He therefore professes virtue for his own side and denounces the other side. In case of the Mayoralty election, the protest of the loser goes so far as to demand a recount.

In this case there is much less than ordinary reason to suppose that a recount will develop the truth. Our readers, no doubt, will remember that directly after the election Mr. Hearst obtained an order f r re-examination, and this order was g anted nd e cuted in the night. If there ever was an order which should have been carried out in broad daylight, it was one affecting the handling of boxes covering the evidence of the truth or untruth of the fraud charged, yet without notice to Mayor McClellan or any other person in his interest the ballot boxes were removed to the Bureau of Elections in the small hours of the night. From midnight of Wednesday until 5 p. m. on Thursday (according to the newspapers of that date) the ballot boxes stood in the street, either piled on the curb or loaded in wagons. They were in no really unpartisan and responsible charge. The Hearst party were present, having had advance knowledge. There was also abundant opportunity for abstracting or inserting ballots, and it was reported by the newspapers that some boxes were broken and their contents spilled. After such loose handling, is it not absurd to say that a recount of these ballots, thus discredited, can honestly settle doubts and determine the true result? On the contrary, there is only one sane conclusion; that is, it is now humanly impossible to get any information which will dispel what Governor Hughes calls "the doubt that exists."

The most important business, from an industrial standpoint, that engaged the attention of the National Association of Manufacturers at their convention this week in this city, had to do with the labor question. The Association took a decided stand in favor of the "open shop," adopting resolutions on that line and practically pledging itself to contribute $500,000 per annum for three years to be used in fighting illegal and improper tactics or methods of labor unions. In advocating the "open shop," Mr. D. M. Parry, a former President of the Association, pointed out that it means liberty: liberty to attend to one's own business in one's own way, but not to meddle with the business of another. It does not abridge the right of contract, conflict with joint voluntary agreements or stand in the way of conciliation or arbitration. But it does mean that neither employer nor employee should be forced or coerced into agreement or arbitration. Mr. Parry also enunciated the right of every man to work where, when and for whom he pleases, and be protected in that right, and the employers' right to run his own business and employ whom he pleases and be upheld as long as he does not infringe upon the rights of others.

This stand openly taken by the National Association of Manufacturers cannot be questioned.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission has just rendered a decision on a subject of wide interest. In effect the decision is a construction of its powers on the point raised in this particular controversy, and we are glad to see that the Commission shows unwillingness to assume functions that do not properly belong to it even under the extensive powers delegated to it under the Hepburn Law. The complaint in this case was against the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Co., and the particular object of complaint was that the railroad had moved its station at Chase, I. T., three and a half miles west to a junction point with another line also called Chase. The complainants sought the restoration of station facilities at Chase and demanded reparation on account of damages alleged to have been sustained by them by reason of the abandonment of the station at the old point. The Commission says that the obligation to provide station facilities at a given point along the line of a railroad may arise under the terms of the charter of a company or may be imposed by statute, and some authorities assert that the duty exists also at common law. However, the conclusion is that the Commission is not the proper forum to which to appeal for the enforcement either of a charter, statutory or common-law obligation, as it has no authority to issue the writ of mandamus and posesses no common-law jurisdiction.

The opinion was by Commissioner Harlan, and he reasons that the contention that the Commission has power under the Inter-State Commerce Law to require a common carrier to locate or re-locate and maintain a station at a given point is open to doubt. Without, however, undertaking to decide this question, he thinks the Commission should not exercise such power unless the facts and conditions clearly indicate that the interests of the general public in the locality involved are materially impaired by the lack of such facilities. In the estimation of the Commission the record does not show that the interests of the general public have been materially impaired by the removal of the station to the new point. Under the circumstances the complainants are not entitled to an order requiring defendant to re-erect and maintain a station at old Chase. Furthermore, the railroad company, having the lawful right in the public interest as well as in its own interest, to move its station to the new point, it cannot be held liable for damages alleged to have been sustained as a consequence of such action.

The collision on Tuesday night of this week on the Bath Beach division of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. between a trolley car and an electric train is an illustration going to show that excessive zeal often leads to the very thing which it is intended to prevent. The collision occurred at Bay 19th Street and 86th Street. The crossing is not a particularly dangerous one except so far as any crossing at grade is dangerous. The trolley cars pass through 86th Street and the train passes through Bay 19th Street. The two tracks cross at right angles and both are perfectly level and straight. There is no curve in this part of the line and the motorman and conductor of the trolley car when they reach the crossing at Bay 19th Street can plainly see the Van Pelt Manor station of the electric line on one side, not over 500 feet away, and can also plainly see the Bath Beach station on the other side, about 1,700 feet away. The trains never attain what would be called a very high rate of speed—say not over eight or nine miles an hour, but of course this is high enough, particularly on a street level, to suggest the taking of proper precautions and the providing of all available safeguards. The crossing had existed nearly sixteen years and during all that time, until the present week, such accidents as occurred were comparatively trifling. During all that time, too, until a short while ago, no flagman was stationed at this point. In other words, there was freedom from accident of a serious nature without the presence of a man specially delegated to warn approaching cars. A few months ago a trolley car collided with a train, at which four or five persons were slightly hurt, and as public sentiment in Brooklyn is strongly adverse to the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., and even bitter against it, and as there was a demand to have a flagman stationed at this point, the company has since had the crossing guarded.

The previous practice had been to compel the trolley car to come to a complete stop when it reached this point. The conductor of the car would then run ahead and after looking up and down the track of the electric road and seeing that the track was clear (the view being wholly unobstructed in either direction, as already pointed out), he would motion to the motorman and the car would then pass on while he himself would again get on board. This insured perfect protection, or at least as nearly perfect as anything can be that is dependent upon human fallibility and human hands and brains. Certainly the freedom from accidents enjoyed over a period of sixteen years demonstrates that it was no mean system. But with the stationing of a flagman or signalman at this point, the whole situation changed. Every one now depended on the signalman. The conductor on the trolley car no longer got out and ran ahead to see if the track was clear; the motorman likewise depended upon the flagman and so did the train hands. The trains, though not running at a very high speed as already stated, used to slow up when they reached the crossing. With the advent of the flagman they deemed it unnecessary to take this precaution. If anything was wrong at this point, why, the flagman would know of it and give warning. Thus every one relaxed his vigilance—the conductor and motorman on the trolley car and the conductor and motorman on the train. Every one depended wholly and absolutely upon this new human agent who had been installed there to see that nothing went wrong. But flagmen are not of a very high order of intelligence—certainly much lower in intelligence than conductors or motormen. The average man is not content with a position which requires nothing more than the swinging of a flag or a lantern all day long. He wants something better to do. Therefore the railroads have to put up with the material they can find for this class of work.

In the present case the signalman, according to all reports, failed. One sensational statement says that he stayed in the shelter house and allowed a small boy to set the danger lights. But this has been denied. At all events the light was placed alongside of the track instead of midway between the two rails. The motorman on the trolley car, without looking around for himself, took this as permission to go ahead, and before he fairly got on the crossing the train came along and smashed the car to smithereens and injured between forty and fifty passengers, some of them very seriously. We venture to say that this deplorable accident would not have happened, could not have happened, if there had been no signalman at this point. It is inexplicable how it could have happened anyway except on the theory that nobody felt it his business to make the slightest observations for himself, but all relied on this one weak, human mortal. The accident occurred at night and the electric trains carry big electric headlights which throw their rays on the track and their glare can be seen for a long distance. The motorman could not have failed to observe them even before the train started from the Bath Beach station on its way to the crossing, and this huge light was constantly coming nearer as the train got closer to the crossing. Except that he felt that the signal lantern authorized him to go ahead he would not have attempted to cross with the train and the lights constantly coming nearer; and even with the signal set in his favor it is difficult to see why he should have failed to disregard the evidence before his eyes and deliberately run into danger. Local public sentiment will probably never tolerate the withdrawal of the flagman at this crossing, but this week's most serious accident shows conclusively that the crossing would be better protected if no man were stationed there.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week unofficial or open market rates were ¼ of 1% higher at London and steady at Paris and at Berlin. The foreign discount markets were somewhat deranged this week because of selling of securities by French bankers in London, by labor troubles in Germany and, indirectly, by the American crop and the securities situation.

The feature of the statement of the New York Associated banks last week was the increase of $2,986,450 in surplus reserve, to $11,472,675, as the result of a gain of $3,406,900 in cash less an increase of $420,450 in reserve requirements. Loans decreased $1,414,900 and deposits increased $1,681,800. The bank statement of this week should reflect, among other items, the transfer through the Sub-Treasury of $700,000 to San Francisco and the shipment of $400,000 gold to Canada.

Somewhat violent declines in the stock market this week caused the failure of a brokerage house, resulted in quite general selling of securities during the greater part of the week, and also in the abstention of operations by outside traders or investors. Consequently there was little demand for money on call for Stock Exchange purposes and the small amount that was required was supplied chiefly through offerings by commission houses of their unemployed balances. The outlook for a revival of stock speculation was not encouraging and therefore traders seemed inclined to rely upon the call-loan branch of the money market instead of borrowing for short fixed periods, even at the low rates at which these loans were offered. Business in such maturities was consequently small and no special demand was noticed for periods less than three months. For longer maturities, while the inquiry was good and stimulated by prospects for activity, offerings were comparatively light. Lenders were indisposed to accept the market rates quoted for loans on Stock Exchange collateral because they could obtain more advantageous terms for corporation notes, the volume of which is constantly increasing. For similar reasons commercial paper was in small request and mercantile borrowers resorted to their banks for discounts.

Money on call, representing bankers' balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 2½% and at 1½%, averaging about 2¼%; banks and trust companies quoted 2% as the minimum. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were 3@3½% for thirty, 3¾@4% for sixty and 4@4¼% for ninety days; 4¼% for four, 4½@4¾% for five to six, 5¼@5½% for eight and 5¼% for ten to twelve months. Commercial paper was quoted at 5½% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, 5½% for prime and 5½@6% for good four to six months single names.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 4%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London, 3½%. The open market rate at Paris is 3⅜% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4⅜%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £192,836 bullion during the week and held £35,141,727 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the loss was due to large imports and quite full purchases in the open market. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports, £738,000 (of which £420,000 from India, £8,000 from Australia and £310,000 bought in the open market); exports, £432,000 (of which £392,000 to Paris and £40,000 to South America), and shipments of £113,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was heavy this week, influenced chiefly by expectations of dearer money as the result of probable withdrawals by the Secretary of the Treasury from depository banks of public funds. Speculative selling contributed to the decline in rates, but the uncertainty regarding the intentions of Mr. Cortelyou in the matter of recalls of Government deposits, and the underlying strength of the market due to the small supply of bills, induced speculators in exchange to operate with much caution. The decline in checks at Paris on London on Saturday of last week to 25 francs 13 centimes seemed to indicate some urgency in the French demand for gold, and it was reported on Monday that negotiations were pending for an export hence of $1,500,000 to Paris, presumably as an arbitration operation, which might be facilitated by advances on the metal while it was in transit. The fall in rates for sight sterling on that day and a partial recovery in exchange at Paris on London seemed to encourage speculative sales, and the quite positive statement, though without authority, that Mr. Cortelyou would withdraw deposits from the banks, and thus cause higher rates for money, had a depressing effect upon exchange on Tuesday, when the fall was so great as to make exports of gold impracticable, at least for the moment. Continued selling by speculators and persistent reports of intended withdrawals of public funds from the banks contributed to a further decline in sterling and the tone was heavy thereafter. Francs, however, did not sympathize with the movement in sterling, and, influenced by lower rates for checks at Paris on London, they rose by Friday to figures within a fraction of the gold-exporting point. There appeared to be some tension at Paris, as was indicated by dearer discounts, and this was reflected at London, where open market rates were firmer, probably as the result of a movement of about £500,000 gold to Paris, including that which was bought out of the South African consignment on Tuesday.

Nominal rates for sterling exchange are 4 84½ for sixty-day and 4 87½ for sight. The market was firm for sight on Saturday of last week at an advance, compared with the previous day, of 5 points, to 4 8695 @4 87; long was easier at a decline of 10 points to 4 8385@4 8390 and cables were 10 points lower at 4 8720@4 8725. On Monday long rose 10 points to 4 84@4 8410 and cables 5 points to 4 8725@4 8730; short fell 5 points to 4 8690@4 87. On Tuesday the market was 10 points lower all around—long at 4 8395@4 84, short at 4 8680@4 8685 and cables at 4 8715@4 8720. On Wednesday long fell 35 points to 4 8360@4 8365, short 20 points to 4 8660@4 8665 and cables 30 points to 4 8685@4 8690. On Thursday long declined 10 points to 4 8345@4 8355, short advanced 10 points to 4 8665@4 8675 and cables 20 points to 4 8705@4 8710. THE CAUSE OF RECENT FINANCIAL DISTURBANCES.

The "Journal" of the London Institute of Bankers contains the report of a notable discussion of the present international money situation, and since the points there touched upon are similar to problems just now overhanging our financial markets, we think the report is well worth reviewing. The discussion was conducted through a paper read by Mr. Cornelis Rozenraad, a well-known expert on international finance and banking. Mr. Rozenraad addressed himself first to the question, what is the fundamental meaning of the extraordinary rise in the price obtained for use of capital throughout the world? He does not make the mistake, common in such discussions, of assuming that the phenomenon is peculiar to any one country. People whose vision is wider than the bounds of a single market are quite aware that the same peculiar strain, manifested in the main in the same way, has been as apparent during the past year or two in England and Germany as in the United States, and that within the past few months France has come to feel the stress of the movement almost equally with its fellow nations.

Nor does Mr. Rozenraad fall into the error, always dangerous in controversial writing, of ascribing the whole situation to a single salient cause. He gives full recognition to the fact that American trade activity and American stock speculation had much to do with the peculiar phenomena of last year, but his facts show conclusively that they were only one of many contributing causes. First of all, he notices the extraordinary expansion of the world's commerce and manufacture. "We see," he says on this point, "how, especially since the Treaty of Portsmouth, which put an end to the war between Russia and Japan, was signed on August 23 1905 the spirit of enterprise has everywhere increased; how, especially in the Far East, in South and Central America, and in other parts of the globe, many commercial and manufacturing companies strove to stimulate their trade and to acquire in exchange for their goods raw materials in vast quantities and at low prices. Besides, in order to facilitate and expand their trade, the principal nations of the world established in those countries numerous companies, banks, &c., built harbors, laid telegraphs, and vied with each other in the construction of railways, building of new ships, &c."

The effect of the world-wide movement thus described Mr. Rozenraad shows in a comprehensive table of the exports and imports of great nations during 1906. It appears from these figures that the merchandise imports of the nine leading commercial States increased last year $795,000,000 over 1905, while exports increased $705,000,000. How great a ratio of increase this embodied may be judged from the fact that the exports of Great Britain expanded nearly 14%, those of Spain 16%, of Belgium 11%, of the United States 10%, of Russia 10%, and of other nations referred to 3 to 7%. Naturally, this enormous increase called for proportionately greater facilities of capital. "Not only," Mr. Rozenraad continues, "did the price of raw materials, wages, &c., begin to rise, but there was also a greater demand for money, larger credits were required, the issuing banks had to discount more bills and to issue more notes."

The case as to increased demand on capital is clear so far as concerns the ordinary operations of banks. But the paper goes on to a still more interesting question, namely the movement of actual reserve money brought about by this or other causes. Comparison of the gold holdings and foreign bills on hand at the great European banks shows in the aggregate a moderate increase at the end of 1906 as compared with the end of 1905. This might have been expected as a result of the huge gold production, and it should have come in spite of the enormous absorption of gold into general circulation. But notwithstanding this net increase of something like $75,000,000 in the gold reserve of all the European banks, Mr. Rozenraad points out that the banks of France and Germany had lost nearly $35,000,000 gold apiece during the year, that loss falling upon institutions whose gold reserve was in active use; whereas, the principal offsetting gains were $25,000,000 by the Bank of Italy, whose gold is largely held idle in preparation for full specie resumption, and one still larger by the Bank of Russia, which for its own purposes—chiefly in order to restore confidence in its currency and finances—has added $100,000,000 in the year to its gold reserve, without expanding either note circulation or loans. That is to say, enormous sums of gold, while not disappearing from sight, have been transferred from active to virtually idle reserves. To this is added the fact that Argentina and Brazil have during this period of commercial prosperity drawn heavily from European stocks of gold to strengthen their own "conversion offices." Argentina has accumulated $108,000,000 for this account and Brazil $12,000,000, with an apparent further requirement on the part of the Brazilian office of $87,000,000. Both of these nations are pursuing the plan of resuming gold payments on the basis of an arbitrary ratio of exchange of Government paper for gold.

The strain imposed upon London by these various demands is clearly pointed out; what Mr. Rozenraad says on this head is well worth quoting, because of the very confused notions on the subject which prevail in many minds. Referring to the drawing of other countries on the gold reserve of the Bank of England, he remarks: "When these withdrawals of gold take place, many people imagine that Great Britain is largely indebted to the country for whose account the withdrawal is made; whereas, as a matter of fact, the Bank of England, acting as the Clearing House of the nations, is merely liquidating liabilities of other nations. Such was the case with the credit operations of America, who, by arrangement with other countries, availed herself of the balances held here at their disposal, and withdrew gold when the rate of exchange in New York on London fell to a point at which the import of gold from England became possible." And he adds: "There is no doubt that the stringency in the money market would never have been so acute if Europe had not given excessive credits to America, who not only placed large amounts of finance bills in London, Paris, Berlin, &c., but began already in the second half of the year to place her railway debentures and railway notes on the principal European markets."

Such is Mr. Rozenraad's view of the general situation. The points raised by him regarding 1906 were supplemented, in the discussion which followed, by Sir Felix Schuster's argument that the San Francisco disaster had most material influence on the money market, because "the amount of cash which had to be remitted to San Francisco, the disturbance of trade, and the sales of first-class investments which had to be effected both in the United States and here, had a very marked effect on the money market and insurance offices." That situation Sir Felix declares to be "quite unique in our experience;" and not to be underestimated in any summary of causes of the recent financial disturbances.

Taking these undisputed facts as a basis for broader judgment of the situation, one may ask what is the end of it to be? At the moment there is little indication of a slackening in general trade; even in the United States, though the export balance on merchandise account has decreased for the past ten months $54,178,000 from the preceding year, the sum total of exports and imports has increased by no less a sum than $294,324,000, and of this increase something like $146,000,000 has occurred since the opening of 1907, April's record showing no diminution in the ratio. The demand on capital for this purpose has evidently not slackened; for even if the increase had been chiefly caused by higher prices for the commodities exchanged, the effect on the money market would be the same. Furthermore, the gold movements referred to by Mr. Rozenraad, particularly to South America, do not yet appear to have reached an end; even the Imperial Bank of Russia shows by its current weekly reports that it is still taking into its home reserve $500,000 to $1,000,000 per week.

The answer must frankly be made that continuance of all the recent demands on credit and capital can hardly be expected indefinitely. The pace has been too fast. Last January, it will be recalled, a number of careful observers, commenting on the situation and inferring that there would be no slackening, came to the conclusion that the breaking point might presently be reached. In one sense their conclusion was correct; in Wall Street's speculation, which had absorbed to itself amounts of capital greater than most people imagine, the breaking point came two months ago, and the movement of affairs ever since has suggested continued, though judicious, liquidation rather than any resumption of speculation for the rise. This has had an effect which must be taken into calculations of the immediate future. The course of the money markets since the opening of the year—their relatively low rates as compared even with a year ago—gives ground for believing that, for the time at any rate, relaxation of strain in that direction has restored something like equilibrium.

While this process is at work on the one hand, gold production goes on at its former rate, and so does accumulation of real capital. It is, perhaps, not unfair to say that the liquidation in home and foreign security markets is the price which the financial world has had to pay for continuance of industrial activity. Recent events in the markets prove that this penalty, if it may so be called, has been paid by outright speculators. The fall in high-grade securities —notably instanced by this week's decline in British consols almost to the low price of the year, a price not reached since 1886—is typical. The exceedingly interesting problem of the more distant future is to what extent this halt in security markets will enable the process of expansion elsewhere to go on unchecked, and what is to be the course of the security markets themselves in the completion of the process.

THE GOVERNMENT REPORT ON THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY.

The report which the Commissioner of Corporations, Herbert Knox Smith, has just submitted to the President on the petroleum industry, and particularly the Standard Oil Company's share in the same, deals with some matters of wide interest. Of still wider moment however, are the Commissioner's recommendations. These propose some novel rules and principles. It is important to every man to know, therefore, whether the proposals are founded in equity and justice and would be in accordance with that spirit of fair dealing under which enterprise in trade and industry has so long flourished in this country.

We are not concerned to defend the Standard Oil Company. This much-criticized corporation apparently has no friends, and to the student of affairs it often seems as if it did not desire any. What is more, it does not appear to suffer much from the lack of friends. Despite the attacks made upon it and which have emanated from every quarter, its business continues to thrive and prosper. The secret of this is well understood by all those who have watched its rise and progress. Its unrivaled business methods are at the bottom of it all.

The report of the Commissioner of Corporations, which is based on the investigation made by Commissioner Garfield, sweepingly condemns the company, and yet in the main is a tribute to the keenness of its business methods—all the more striking inasmuch as the Commissioner furnishes this tribute and testimony unwittingly. The popular supposition no doubt has been that the company held a monopoly of the oil lands in the United States. Not so. The report tells us that out of a total production of crude oil in the United States in 1905 of approximately 135,000,000 bbls, not over one-sixth came from wells owned by the Standard Company or affiliated concerns; furthermore, that in no one of the great fields did it produce over 50% of the total. Nevertheless, it is stated that in 1904 it "refined over 84% of the crude oil run through refineries; produced more than 86% of the country's total output of illuminating oil; maintained a similar proportion of the export trade in illuminating oil and transported through pipe lines nearly nine-tenths of the crude oil of the older fields and 98% of the crude of the mid-continent or Kansas Territory field."

To what, then, does it owe its supremacy and success? Commissioner Smith says "that its growth and present power rest primarily on the control of the transportation facilities." What are its transportation advantages? Until within the last twelve or fifteen months, the average man, basing his opinion upon the statements appearing in the newspapers and made in legislative halls, would doubtless have asserted that these advantages consisted of secret rebates and concessions in rates, which were withheld from its competitors. The Commissioner's report charges it with having been the recipient of railroad favoritism in the past, but assigns its present advantage to control of the pipe-line facilities. The pipe lines are declared to be the only effective means of marketing most of the oil, so that these give as complete a control of crude production as by direct title to the fields, with the result that the Standard is almost the sole purchaser and its daily quotations for oil are the "official price" in most of these fields.

The fact should be carefully noted that according to this official document, the company's advantage comes, not from its influence or control over the railroads, which are in every way public agencies, but comes from its pipe lines, which are solely a private investment incident to the development of its business. In other words, it is its own private agencies, built up and developed with much skill and foresight, which it is using and which are giving it such a great advantage. The report observes that the Standard's pipe line system in 1899 was stated by leading representatives of the company to comprise 35,000 miles of pipe of different sizes and to represent an investment of $50,000,000. This, it is remarked, was probably an over-statemen as to investment. Since then the addition to the mileage and to the actual investment, it is declared, has been probably not less than 30%. Thorugh this immense pipe line system oil is actually piped the full distance is added that the lines are so connected from Indian Territory to the Atlantic Ocean. It that any refinery of the Standard from Kansas to the seaboard can be supplied, if desired, with oil from any one of the four great fields. Only one competitor of the Standard has attained any importance in trunk-line transportation in any of the four fields, many the Pure Oil Company, and its length of trunk line system of pipe lines is given as less than 550 miles.

The other charges and allegations against the Standard Company are of much the same nature and bear further testimony to its unexcelled business methods. Thus the company has taken advantage of the oportunity offered by its pipe-line system to select favorable refining localities. Whereas most of its competitors, because of their inability to construct or maintain similar pipe-line service or to use the Standard's pipe lines, are compelled to locate their refineries near the oil-fields, and then ship their refined oil long distances by rail at heavy cost, the Standard Oil Company on the other hand has refineries at "numerous strategic points." These last give it a very advantageous position for the distribution of its refined product to markets, not only in this country but abroad as well. "By means of its pipe-line system it is able to get crude oil to its refineries at comparatively small cost, while the distribution of its refining plants greatly reduces the average length of the rail haul for its refined products, with consequent reduction in freight expense."

Another expedient, it seems, of which the company avails itself is the tank system whereby it is enabled to handle its oil in bulk from the refinery to the small dealer. Tank wagons, it is asserted, were used by it in 81% of the towns and by the independents in only 38.6%. There latively greater use of the bulk system of delivery by the Standard than by independent concerns has an important bearing, it is declared, on the degree of monopoly power enjoyed by the Standard Oil Company. In the first place, the shipper of oil in barrels or other small packages pays freight on the weight of the container as well as on the contents, whereas a tank-car shipper pays only on the weight of the oil. Again, freight must be paid on the empty barrel when returned, or, if sold without returning, there is often some loss. Furthermore, the cost of teaming oil in barrels or other packages after it has been delivered at railroad stations is often greater than the corresponding cost of local delivery in bulk. Finally, the bulk system is greatly preferred by retail dealers as being cleaner and safer.

It furthermore appears that the Standard makes direct sales to retail dealers, and this, in conjunction with the advantage of bulk delivery, favors, it is argued, the practice of price discrimination so destructive of competition. If the Standard Oil Company sold its oil through jobbers, the report says, it would have to charge substantially the same net price for all parts of its product, as the logical result of a large wholesale business is to equalize prices after allowing for cost of delivery. But we may be permitted to ask is the Standard Oil Company the only enterprise that is seeking to eliminate the jobber or middleman and thus get goods cheaper to the consumer?

But what remedy is suggested for this condition of things? Nothing less than depriving the company of the fruits of its skill and enterprise. Commissioner Smith would go even further than Congress has gone in the attempt to regulate the matter. By the Hepburn Rate Bill of last year, it will be recalled, the pipe lines are brought under the provisions of the Inter-State Commerce Law and made subject to the power and dominion of the Inter-State Commerce Commission Commissioner Smith's suggestion goes beyond this. He would not only make the Standard's pipe lines available to all producers and shippers, but he would compel it to fix rates which would allow little more than a bare return on its investment. Here is what he has to say on this point:

"The bureau estimates that the operating cost of transporting crude oil from the several originating points of the trunk pipe lines in the Appalachian field to the several tidewater termini—New York Harbor, Philadelphia, Marcus Hook and Baltimore—averages about 31-3 cents per barrel of 42 gallons .Adding an allowance for depreciation of 5% on the cost of reproducing the lines (which is sufficient, with compound interest, to replace the entire plant in fourteen years), the total cost of transportation becomes a little less than 6 cents per barrel. A return of 10% on the estimated cost of reproducing the lines would amount to about 5 cents per barrel transported, which, added to the cost of transportation, gives a total of about 11 cents per barrel. The trunk line rate from these points in the Appalachian field to Philadelphia is 39 cents.

"The operating expense of transporting crude oil from Lima, Ohio—the centre of the Lima-Indiana field—through trunk lines to the seaboard is estimated at about 5 1-3 cents per barrel; adding an allowance for depreciation at 5%, the cost of transportation becomes about 10 cents per barrel. Interest on the estimated cost of reproduction at 10% would be about the same amount, so that a pipe-line charge of 20 cents per barrel from Lima to the seaboard would cover the cost of transportation and give a return of about 10% on the necessary investment. The pipe-line rate is 53½ cents from Lima to Philadelphia."

The "New York Times" in an editorial article on Monday pointed out that this announces a new principle in transportation charges. Mr. Smith proposes to base the rates on the cost of the service. The "Times" well says the rule with carrying corporations has been to establish "the rate that will move the traffic"—that is to say, a rate based upon the market worth of the service, not upon its cost. That is the law of trade the world over. But to our mind this is by no means the only or even the main objection to Mr. Smith's proposal. The project if carried out in the way indicated would be an appropriation of private property to general use and the matter would be made worse by fixing the compensation for such use at an absurdly low figure. There are many persons who question whether Congress did not exceed its power when it undertook to bring the pipe lines within the provisions of the Inter-State Commerce Law. But, waiving the Constitutional question, there can be no two opinions of the injustice of an act that would compute compensation on any such basis as that outlined in the foregoing extract.

Except in the fact that the pipe lines constitute continuous arteries for the carrying of a product, they have nothing in common with the railways. The latter manifestly should be open to all. They are highways for the transportation of goods and passengers, much in the same sense as the ordinary highways exist for the benfit of common vehicles and for pedestrians. Then also the railroads are not limited to the transportation of any single product or commodity, but perform a general transportation business. Moreover, for the purpose of carrying on their function as transportation agencies they have been endowed with certain special powers which make it appropriate that they should be available to all without preference or favor. They are endowed, for instance, with the power of eminent domain. Mr. Smith, in speaking of the advisability of the independent refineries constructing their own pipe lines, says that in certain of the States which would naturally be crossed by independent pipe lines no law now exists giving the right of eminent domain to pipe-line companies. It thus appears that the Standard's pipe lines have not been built up to any extent, if at all, through the exercise of the power of eminent domain. Another point of distinction between the railroad and the pipe line is that the former requires an enormous amount of capital, the latter very little capital. The 224,000 miles of railroad in the United States represent a capital investment of over 14,000 million dollars. We have already seen that Mr. Smith thinks $50,000,000 was probably an over-statement of the cost of the 35,000 miles of pipe line which existed in 1899. As a matter of fact the pipe lines simply consist of 6 or 8-inch pipe and the cost does not average much more than $1,200 to $1,500 a mile. Finally the pipes do not require any special bed or place in which to rest. They can be laid anywhere, since the oil is pumped through them.

The matter, therefore, comes to this. Special facilities in a single department of industry have been created through the intelligence and the foresight of the managers of the enterprise. In the whole history of the modern industrial world this has always been held as entitling those creating such facilities to the advantages and profits attending their operation. Is it not a most obnoxious doctrine to maintain that after these special devices have been in existence twenty-five or thirty years and their indispensableness and profitableness incontrovertibly demonstrated and established, the State should step in and say that competitors and rivals must be allowed to share in their benefits and offer a mere pittance by way of compensation? Note the effect. The creator of these special agencies is to be allowed no special reward for its enterprise. All its labors are to count for nothing. The fruits of its skill and energy are to be shared on equal terms with the outsider who put no capital at risk, but who is now to enjoy the fruits as if they were the result of his own energy. Is this fair? Is it right? If an entering wedge for such a doctrine is once provided how long will it be before property rights everywhere will be subjected to a similar scheme of spoliation? And what difference is there between taking possession of property in this way for common distribution and the Socialist scheme of Government?

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION BILL.

As both branches of the State Legislature have now passed the Public Service Commissions bill, and the measure has gone to Mayor McClellan for his approval or disapproval, it will be useful to furnish a brief outline of its scope and purpose. In its way, this bill is as remarkable as the Hepburn Rate law enacted by Congress last year and, indeed, many sections of the bill are modeled on that law—the language in some instances being identical. Moreover, the bodies created by this Public Service Commissions bill are endowed with quite as extraordinary powers and responsibilities as those conferred upon the Inter-State Commerce Commission by the Hepburn Law. The demagogic spirit at present dominating political affairs is well illustrated in the fact that both the Senate and the Assembly passed the bill with practical unanimity, the Assembly in fact with absolute unanimity, not a vote being cast against it, while 140 were cast in favor; in the Senate the vote was 41 against 6. It is expected that Mayor McClellan will refuse his sanction, but the Legislature stands ready to pass it again over his veto by an equally overwhelming vote.

The bill creates two Public Service districts, to be known as the first district and the second district. The first district is to include the counties of New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond. The second district is to include all the other counties in the State. There is to be a Public Service Commission of five members in each district and the members are to be appointed by the Governor with the consent of the Senate. Each commissioner must be a resident of the district for which he is appointed. The Governor is to have the absolute power of removal of any Commissioner "for inefficiency, neglect of duty or misconduct in office;" a provision against which much deserved objection has been made. He must furnish a copy of the charges made to the member accused, and must also afford him an opportunity of being publicly heard in person or by counsel in his own defence upon not less than ten days' notice. Otherwise there is no limit to the arbitrary and despotic powers conferred upon the Governor in this respect.

The terms of the first set of Commissioners in each district are to run, respectively, until February 1 1909, 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913, but thereafter the term of each Commissioner is to be five years from the 1st of February; vacancies to be filled by appointment for the unexpired term. Each of the Commissioners is to get a salary of $15,000 a year, making $150,000 altogether, and each Commission is to have a counsel at a salary of $10,000 a year, and each Commission is to have a Secretary at an annual salary of $6,000. Moreover, each Commission has absolutely unlimited power "to employ, during its pleasure, such officers, clerks, inspectors, experts and employees as it may deem to be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act, or to perform the duties and exercise the powers conferred by law upon the Commission." By Section 13 it is provided that "all officers, clerks, inspectors, experts and employees of a commission and all persons appointed by the counsel to a commission shall receive the compensation fixed by the Commission."

All salaries and expenses of the Commission in the Second District are to be audited and allowed by the State Comptroller and so are the salaries of the Commissioners, the counsel to the Commission and the Secretary to the Commission in the First District ,but a wholly different method is provided for meeting all other salaries and expenses of the Commission of the First District. In this last instance the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York or other body vested with the power of making appropriations is required, on requisition by the Public Service Commission, to appropriate such sums of money as it may be called upon, and Section 14 of the bill says that "such appropriation shall be made forthwith upon presentation of a requisition from the said Commission." It is added that "for the purpose of providing funds with which to pay the said sums, the Comptroller or other chief financial officer of said city, is hereby authorized and directed to issue and sell revenue bonds of such city in anticipation of receipt of taxes and out of the proceeds of such bonds to make the payments in this Section required to be made." The amount necessary to pay the principal and interest of such bonds is to be made a part of the city tax budget of the next year.

Quite an unusual requirement is that contained in Section 10. Sub-division 2 of this Section says that the offices of each Commission shall be open for business between the hours of eight o'clock in the morning and eleven o'clock at night every day in the year, and one or more responsible persons to be designated by the Commission, or by the Secretary, under the direction of the Commission, shall be on duty at all times in immediate charge thereof. This will doubtless afford opportunity for the installation of a double shift of men. The principal office of the Commission of the First District is to be in the Borough of Manhattan, in the Second District in the City of Albany.

The jurisdiction of the Commission is to extend to railroads and street railroads and to common carriers generally, which last is defined to include not only railroad corporations and street railroads, but "express companies, car companies, sleeping-car companies, freight companies, freight-line companies, and all persons and associations of persons, whether incorporated or not, operating such agencies for public use in the conveyance of persons or property within this State." The jurisdiction of the Commission is also to extend "to the manufacture, sale or distribution of gas and electricity for light, heat and power in said district and to the persons or corporations owning, leasing, operating or controlling the same." In addition, the Commission in the first district is to have the powers heretofore exercised by the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, and this Board is abolished, as is also the State Board of Railroad Commissioners, the Commission of Gas and Electricity and the Inspector of Gas Meters.

Every common carrier is required to file with the Commission sworn copies of every contract, agreement or arrangement with any other common carrier relating in any way to the transportation of passengers, property or freight. Every carrier engaged in the transportation of freight is also required upon reasonable notice to furnish to all persons and corporations who may apply therefor and offer freight for transportation sufficient and suitable cars for the transportation of such freight in car-load lots. It is declared that "every railroad corporation and street railroad corporation shall have sufficient cars and motive power to meet all requirements for the transportation of passengers and property which may reasonably be anticipated unless relieved therefrom by order of the Commission." The Commission is given power to make regulations for the furnishing and distribution of freight cars to shippers, for the switching of the same, for the loading and unloading thereof, for demurrage charges in respect thereto, and for the weighing of cars and freight offered for shipment or transported by any common carrier. In any action to recover for damages sustained by delay in transit, the burden of proof is to be upon the defendant to show that such delay was not due to negligence.

Section 27 requires that "a railroad corporation, upon the application of any shipper tendering traffic for transportation, shall construct, maintain and operate upon reasonable terms a switch connection or connections with a lateral line of railroad or private side-track owned, operated or controlled by such shipper, and shall, upon the application of any shipper, provide upon its own property a side-track and switch connection with its line of railroad whenever such side track and switch connection is reasonably practicable, can be put in with safety, and the business therefor is sufficient to justify the same." The Commission is given power to determine whether such a connection is practicable. Free transportation for passengers and property is prohibited, but there are scores of exceptions to the rule, and evidently as a sop to the newspapers which get free transportation in exchange for advertisements, it is distinctly provided that nothing in the Act "shall prevent the issuance of passenger transportation in exchange for advertising space in newspapers at full rates."

The Commission is to determine upon complaint what rates, fares and charges are to be observed by any common carrier. "And whenever it shall be of opinion, after a hearing, had upon its own motion or upon complaint, that the regulations, practices, equipment, appliances, or service of any common carrier, railroad corporation or street railroad corporation in respect to transportation of persons, freight or property within the State are unjust, unreasonable, unsafe, improper or inadequate, the Commission shall determine the just, reasonable, safe, adequate and proper regulations, practices, equipment, appliances and service thereafter to be in force and to be observed in respect to such transportation of persons, freight and property and so fix and prescribe the same by order." And the Commission is also given power to require the construction and maintenance of switch connections and to establish through routes and joint rates. It may also order "repairs or improvements to or changes in any tracks, switches, terminals or other terminal facilities, motive power, or any other property or device used by any common carrier, railroad corporation or street railroad corporation in or in connection with the transportation of passengers, freight or property."

Still further extensive powers are conferred by Section 51. This grants authority to order changes in time schedules, and the running of additional cars and trains. Section 51 reads as follows:

"If in the judgment of the Commission having jurisdiction, any railroad corporation or street railroad corporation does not run trains enough or cars enough or possess or operate motive power enough, reasonably to accommodate the traffic, passengers and freight, transported by or offered for transporation to it, or does not run its trains or cars with sufficient frequency, or at a reasonable or proper time, having regard to safety, or does not run any train or trains, car or cars, upon a reasonable time schedule for the run, the Commission shall, after a hearing, either on its own motion or after complaint, have power to make an order directing any such railroad corporation or street railroad corporation to increase the number of its trains or of its cars, or its motive power, or to change the time for starting its trains or cars, or to change the time schedule for the run of any train or car, or make any other suitable order that the Commission may determine reasonably necessary to accommodate and transport the traffic, passenger or freight, transported or offered for transportation."

The penalties for infraction of the law or disobedience of the orders of the Commission are very stringent. Section 56 says: "Any common carrier, railroad corporation or street railroad corporation which shall violate any provision of this Act, or which fails, omits or neglects to obey, observe or comply with any order or any direction or requirement of the Commission shall forfeit to the people of the State of New York not to exceed the sum of $5,000 for each and every offense; every violation of any such order or direction or requirement, or of this Act, shall be a separate and distinct offense, and, in case of a continuing violation, every day's continuance thereof shall be and be deemed to be a separate and distinct offense." The language of this Section has been changed somewhat from the form in which it was originally cast, and furthermore Section 59 modifies somewhat its force and sweep, at least where a carrier seeks the protection of the courts. Section 59 says that if in an action brought in the name of the State to recover for a penalty or forfeiture under the Act the defendant "shall prove that during any portion of the time for which it is sought to recover penalties or forfeitures for a violation of an order of the Commission, the defendant was actually and in good faith prosecuting a suit, action or proceeding in the courts to set aside such order the court shall remit the penalties or forfeitures incurred during the pendency of such suit, action or proceeding." By Section 20 the Commission is relieved in all investigations from the obligation to conform or be bound by technical rules and evidence. By Section 21 all actions and proceedings under the Act are to be preferred "over all other civil causes, except election causes, in all courts of the State of New York, and shall be heard and determined in preference to all other civil business pending therein, excepting election causes, irrespective of position on the calendar."

Each Commission is to prescribe the form of annual reports required; and the contents of such report and the form thereof shall conform as near as may be to that required by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Monthly reports of earnings and expenses may also be required. The annual report must be filed by September 30 in each year, unless the Commission extend the time, but such extension is not to exceed sixty days. Failure to make the report within the time specified, or failure to give a specific answer to any question, or failure to make the monthly reports when required by the Commission within thirty days from the time required is to be visited by a fine of $100 for each and every day of default. The Commission may also establish a uniform system of accounts to be used by railroads and street corporations or other common carriers and may prescribe the manner in which such accounts shall be kept. The system and the form of accounts, records and memoranda prescribed by it are to conform as closely as possible to those established and prescribed from time to time by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. As in the latter case, too, it is made unlawful for the corporation "to keep any other accounts, records or memoranda than those so prescribed or those prescribed by or under authority of the United States."

In addition to all its other powers, the Commission is to pass upon all issues of stock, bonds and other forms of indebtedness and to say whether or not franchises shall be exercised. Section 53 says that "no railroad corporation, street railroad corporation or common carrier shall begin the construction of a railroad, or any extension thereof, nor shall it exercise any franchise or right under any provision of the Railroad Law, or of any other law not heretofore lawfully exercised, without first having obtained the permission and approval of the proper Commission." Section 54 goes still further and says that "no franchise nor any right to, or under, any franchise to own or operate a railroad or street railroad shall be assigned, transferred or leased, nor shall any contract or agreement with reference to or affecting any such franchise, or right, be valid or of any force or effect whatsoever unless the assignment, transfer, lease, contract, or agreement shall have been approved by the proper Commission." The same section declares that "no railroad corporation or street railroad corporation, domestic or foreign, shall hereafter purchase or acquire, take or hold, any part of the capital stock of any railroad corporation or street railroad corporation, or other common carrier, organized or existing, under or by virtue of the laws of this State, unless authorized so to do by the Commission."

It is also provided that "save where stock shall be transferred or held for the purpose of collateral security only with the consent of the Commission empowered by this Act to give such consent, no stock corporation of any description, domestic or foreign, other than a railroad corporation or street railroad corporation shall purchase or acquire, take or hold more than 10 per centum of the total capital stock issued by any railroad corporation or street railroad corporation or other common carrier organized or existing under or by virtue of the laws of this State." It will be observed that the provision referred to is aimed at the holding corporation, but it is provided that the Act is not to be construed to prevent the holding of stock heretofore lawfully acquired. In the part of the Act giving the Commission authority to sanction new stock and bond issues, the reservation is made that the Commission shall have no power to authorize the capitalization of any franchise to be a corporation. Nor may a consolidated company issue stock in excess of the share capital of the companies combined plus any additional sum paid in cash.

The provisions with reference to gas and electric corporations are much the same and confer similar powers. The language in many cases is changed only to adapt it to this class of corporations. This has reference to the fixing of prices for gas and electricity, the prescribing of uniform methods of keeping accounts, the requiring of annual reports, the approval of incorporation and franchises, the requirement of its sanction to the issue of stock and bonds, &c., &c. In addition there are some sections especially applicable to this class of corporations. The Commission is to appoint inspectors of gas and electric meters and is given power to fix the standard of illuminating power and purity of gas as well as the price. By Section 75 it is provided that if it be alleged and established in an action brought in any court for the collection of any charge for gas or electricity that a price has been demanded in excess of that fixed by the Commission or by statute in the municipality where the action arose, no recovery shall be had therein, but the fact that such excessive charges have been made shall be a complete defense to such action. Any corporation which fails or neglects to obey or comply with an order of the Commission or any provision of the Act is to forfeit not to exceed the sum of $1,000 for each offense, and in case of a continuing violation each day is to be deemed a separate offense. But there is the same reservation of exemption where the matter is taken to the courts as in the case of carrying corporations.

It will thus be seen that an Herculean task has been assigned to these two new Commissions. If the members shall perform their duties acceptably, they will well deserve the $15,000 a year which each is to get as his salary.

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR MARCH.

Last week we submitted a preliminary statement of gross earnings of United States railroads for the month of April and found that the showing was very satisfactory. To-day we present a compilation covering both gross and net for the month of March and find that the exhibit is not at all satisfactory. The gain in the gross is as striking as in the other case, but augmented expenses have almost completely wiped out the advantage of such improvement, so that practically none of it appears in the net. It is apparent therefore that in any consideration of railroad conditions it is to the net results and not the gross results that we must look.

In the gross our tables show gain of $12,980,393, or over 10%. In the net the increase is but $63,814, or only a fraction of 1%, showing that the augmentation in the expenses reached almost $13,000,000. It is true that the month contained one less working day than the same month last year, but this is a factor that affected gross as well as net and may therefore be disregarded. It is likewise true that the extraordinary floods experienced in the month the present year at Pittsburgh and other points in the Middle West played an important part in swelling the expense accounts, and yet is an incontrovertible fact that even outside the flood districts expenses have been increasing very heavily, thus making it apparent that there is some general and common cause at work affecting all the railroads alike. This common cause is obviously found in the increases in wages and the high price of materials, fuel, supplies and everything else entering into the operating accounts of the roads.

The remark above applies with equal force to the results for the months preceding. Snowstorms and extreme cold were influences tending to make the augmentation in expenses in January and February greater than it otherwise would have been, and yet the primary cause of the increase in expenses has been everywhere the same and is ascribable to the circumstances already mentioned. The best proof of the truth of this statement is furnished in the fact that our figures for the three months ending with March and covering a larger body of roads than the statement for March (since it includes roads furnishing quarterly reports, but not monthly reports), shows no less than $33,443,976 gain in gross and yet is attended by a loss in the net of $2,337,934, thus indicating an enlargement of the expense accounts in the sum of 35¾ millions dollars. In the following we give the totals for March and the three months for a long series of years past. This furnishes comfort, inasmuch as it brings out the fact that the present shrinkage in the net follows very substantial gains in the years preceding.

Neither the Mexican roads nor the coal-mining operations of the anthracite coal roads are included in any of these totals.

The contrast between the showing as to gross and as to net is strongly brought out in the case of the returns of the separate roads. Here we have a very long list of gains in gross and a comparatively unimportant number of losses, these last coming mainly from roads which suffered interruption of their traffic through the floods. On the other hand, in the net the list of losses is a long one and many of these are for quite considerable amounts. To emphasize this feature we have brought together all changes for amounts in excess of $30,000, whether increases or decreases, and both in gross and in net:.

CURRENCY REFORM AND A CENTRAL BANK.

We gladly make room for the following letter from Mr. Roberts, the Director of the Mint, replying to our comments of last week on his proposition for the creation of a central bank.

Treasury Department.
Office of Director of the Mint.
Washington, May 22 1907.

To the Editor of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle
New York City.

Dear Sir.—I have read with much interest your comments upon my article in the "North American Review" on the subject of a central bank. The disagreement between us is over the means to accomplish a common purpose, as we agree in dissatisfaction with the present system of bank-note issues and the present relations of the Treasury to the business world. I believe with you that a plan could be worked out under which the national banks of our present system would be safely authorized to issue notes without depositing special security; but I wonder where anybody gets the idea that this is more easily accomplished than the establishment of a central bank. I have been an observer of efforts to that end, and have given aid as I could, but it is my judgment that the so-called "Baltimore plan," presented, if I remember correctly, at a meeting of the American Bankers' Association in Baltimore in 1894, had a more friendly reception than any effort since. In other words, I think the proposal to allow national banks to issue notes without depositing special security is no nearer fruition now than it was thirteen years ago. If anything, I believe it is less seriously considered in Congress now than when this first effort in its behalf was made. The agitation has only demonstrated that there is a deep-seated, almost unreasoning, prejudice against such issues. Our education for fifty years, together with previous experience with "wild-cat" issues, has created this prejudice. There is a large element in the country opposed to all banks of issue, and when this is reinforced by those who doubt the wisdom of allowing thousands of scattered banks to issue notes without special security, you have an opposition against which no headway has yet been made. Taking the measure of these elements, I must differ with you as to which policy of reform is most feasible.

Furthermore, the policy of liberalizing the conditions of note issue for the existing banks does not in itself meet all the needs of the case. It would leave the relations of the Treasury to the banks just where they are, although they are fast becoming unendurable. There is no way of managing the Government's heavy collections and disbursements that approaches in simplicity and efficiency a central bank which is a federation of all the banks. Moreover, if the conditions of note issue were to be liberalized, as you advocate, some system of securing easy and prompt redemption of the notes would be a first essential to safety, and no other agency could be devised so effective as a central bank with branches.

Permit me to take exception to your statement that the plan I have presented "would by no means follow the example of the great European banks of issue; which, though in some case retaining supervision by the Government, place the actual management wholly in the hands of banking experts." On the contrary, I explicitly provided that "the details of management, the placing of loans, the selection of employees, &c., should be in the hands of officials representing the stockholders." Of course any plan now outlined is offered only to indicate a general scheme and to invite suggestions. My suggestion is that only State and national banks shall be stockholders, and they only in proportion to their capital; that they shall elect directors by territorial districts, and that these directors as a board and through committees shall have the immediate control and management of the bank. No Government official should have anything to say about a proposed loan. The placing of the funds is a detail for practical bankers, and one of the urgent necessities for the bank is to relieve the Secretary of the Treasury from the disagreeable responsibilities he already has in making deposits.

In order to secure Government supervision over the general policy of the bank, I have suggested an executive board, which perhaps might better be called a board of control, in which should be vested ample authority to safeguard the public interests. The whole scheme contemplates, as already said, a division of authority between practical bankers associated with the existing institutions, who will have the interest of owners, and public officials who will have the responsibilities of a great trust.

It must be evident upon a moment's consideration that such an institution would be so unlike the old Bank of the United States that none of the objections raised against it could logically be made to this. It was a comparatively close corporation, with some of the stock held in Europe, and what was going on in its inner councils might easily be a subject of suspicion. The proposed organization for the new bank would practically exclude politics from it. The competition of the old bank with other banking institutions engender criticism and opposition; the proposed bank would be a bond of union between existing institutions. The profits of the old bank and its character as a private institution enjoying great advantages from the public Treasury made it an object of attack, while the new one would be made distinctively an institution of public service and public responsibilities by its organization and by a division of profits with the Treasury.

Careful observation in Washington for a number of years has convinced me that the argument for a central bank is stronger with the average man than the argument for scattered issues without deposited security.

Respectfully,
GEO. E. ROBERTS.

FALL RIVER MILL DIVIDENDS FOR FIRST HALF OF 1907.

Thirty-two of the thirty-four cotton-manufacturing corporations located in Fall River which furnish reports of operations have declared dividends during the second quarter of the year. The total amount paid out is much greater than for the corresponding period of 1906, and exhibits an even larger increase over the similar quarter of 1905 or 1904. The aggregate of the amount distributed has been $528,525, or an average of 2.21% on the capital. Two mills declared no dividends and twelve merely maintained last year's percentage. In 1906 twenty-nine mills disbursed $298,025, or 1.32% on the capital. In 1905 only nineteen mills made distributions, and the aggregate was $166,750, or 0.78%. In 1904 twenty-seven mills paid out $247,150, or an average of 1.15%. In 1903 thirty-two mills paid out an average of 1.42%; in 1902 the average rate was 2.14%. In 1901 the average percentage was 1.43 and in 1900 the average rate of distribution was 2%. In 1899 the average dividend was 1.31%, in 1898 it was 0.50%, in 1897 it was 0.91%, in 1896 it was 1.57%, in 1895 it was 1.58% and in 1894 it reached 1.52%. The current year's rate is, therefore, exceptionally favorable.

—Under an amendment to the New York State tax law passed by the Senate on the 15th inst., savings banks, trust companies and insurance companies holding any 3% bonds of the State are to receive a credit of 1% per annum on the par value of their holdings of such bonds, this credit to be applied on any amounts due from them for certain of their taxes. The bill was introduced by Senator Hill, and is tantamount to raising the rate of interest, as far as these institutions are concerned, to 4%. It is sought in this way to make it an inducement for these institutions to buy and hold the 3% canal bonds, of which a large amount remain to be issued. The State recently offered $5,000,000 of these bonds and received bids for an aggregate of only $300,000, the State Comptroller taking the remainder as an investment for State funds. The text is as follows:

AN ACT TO AMEND THE TAX LAW RELATIVE TO INVESTMENT IN STATE BONDS BY SAVINGS BANKS, TRUST COMPANIES AND INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:—

Section 1. Chapter 908 of the Laws of 1896 entitled "An Act in relation to taxation, constituting Chapter 24 of the General Laws," as amended by Chapter 494 of the Laws of 1897 and by Chapter 117 of the Laws of 1901, and by Chapter 118 of the Laws of 1901, and by Chapter 132 of the Laws of 1901, and by Chapter 535 of the Laws of 1901, and by Chapter 94 of the Laws of 1905, is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section, after Section 187-b, to be Section 187-c thereof, to read as follows:

Section 187-c. Purchase of State Bonds, Credit to be Given.—Every corporation, company or association required by Section 187, 187-a or 187-b of this chapter to pay to the State an annual tax equal to a percentage of its gross premiums, capital stock, surplus, undivided profits or undivided earnings, or one or more, for the privilege of exercising its corporate franchise or carrying on its business in such corporate or organized capacity, which shall own any of the bonds of the State of New York, shall have credited to it annually to apply upon or in lieu of the payment of such tax an amount equal to one per centum of the par value of all such bonds of the State, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding three per centum per annum, owned and held by and registered in the name of such corporation, company or association on the 30th day of June prior to the date when such tax shall become due and payable; provided, however, that there shall in no case be credited to any such corporation, company or association an amount in excess of the amount due to the State from such corporation, company or association for taxes payable to the State under this chapter for the fiscal year for which such credit is given; and further provided that any such credit so allowed under this section shall not bear interest.

Section 2. This Act shall take effect immediately.

—With the listing of the stock of the Balaklala Copper Company on the New York Stock Exchange this week, trading in that security was discontinued on the New York Produce Exchange. As Stock Exchange members are forbidden to deal upon other local exchanges in securities listed or quoted on their own board, the action of the Produce Exchange in dropping this stock from its list is taken as an indication that it does not intend to antagonize the Stock Exchange.

—J. V. Loughlin, Assistant Cashier of the new Beaver National Bank at Beaver, Pearl and Wall streets, has been appointed Cashier of the institution.

—At the annual meeting on the 17th inst. of the Savings Banks' Association of the State of New York, held in this city at the Chamber of Commerce, President William B. Van Rensselaer of Albany drew attention to the fact that the question of computing the 25 per centum of assets of a bank, which may be loaned or invested in railroad bonds, had again been raised. Mr. Van Rensselaer stated that while the former Superintendent of Banks, Mr. Kilburn, had ruled that the 25 per centum must be computed on the basis of the cost of the bonds at the time of the purchase, the present Superintendent, Mr. Keep, has reversed that ruling. This opinion is given by Mr. Keep in a letter to Mr. Van Rensselaer, in which he says: "I think it tolerably clear that either market value should be the basis of computations under the last paragraph of Section 116, or at any rate that the principal of amortization should be taken into account, and the original investment of the bank in the bonds of a particular company should be considered as reduced year by year by the amount necessary to absorb the premium paid during the life of the bond. The matter is one that might well have the consideration of the Savings Bank Association with a view to reaching a definite understanding."

—The question as to whether it is necessary for private banks in Minnesota to incorporate in order to comply with the provisions of the new banking law in that State (the text of which appeared in last Saturday's Chronicle) has been decided in the negative by Assistant State Attorney General George T. Simpson. Mr. Simpson's opinion, given in reply to an inquiry made by the "Commercial West," was published in a recent issue of that paper, and is as follows:

I beg to advise that under the terms of the new banking Act, any person, firm or corporation may conduct a banking business in this State, and that it is not necessary to incorporate so to do. You will note that Section 1 of the Act defines a bank as "an institution" having a place of business in this State, and a savings bank is "a corporation managed by disinterested trustees." The second section of the Act, which you refer to, does not, in my opinion, impose upon such "institutions" the necessity of incorporation, but rather provides for their being placed under the Public Examiner by way of control.

—The New York Stock Exchange house of E. B. Havens & Co. of 10 Wall Street was forced to make an assignment on Wednesday. The assignee is Herbert L. Norton, Manager of the firm's branch office in Jamaica, L. I. The firm was organized in 1898, and was composed of E. B. Havens, the Stock Exchange member, and his sons, Charles S. Havens and F. J. Havens. The last mentioned is said to have retired in March. According to a statement made by him, the firm's losses were incurred principally more than two months ago, and were the result of the decline in the whole market rather than of a break in any particular stocks.

—The organization of the enlarged Trust Company of America, this city, was perfected at a meeting of the directors on Tuesday, when the following officers were elected: Oakleigh Thorne, President; John E. Borne, Chairman of the executive committee; William H. Leupp, James W. Tappin, Heman Dowd and Philip S. Babcock, Vice-Presidents; H. B. Fonda, Treasurer; Frank L. Hilton, Secretary; Edmund L. Judson, Assistant Treasurer; Carleton Bunce, Robert L. Smith and W. J. Eck, Assistant Secretaries; Joseph N. Babcock, Trust Officer; Frank W. Black, Auditor, and John G. Boston, Solicitor. At Tuesday's meeting, also, George R. Sheldon was elected to the board. Mr. Sheldon had been a member of the directorate, but his re-election was deferred last week pending an enlargement of the board (after consolidation) from twenty-eight to thirty members.

—At a meeting to be held June 18, the stockholders of the New York County National Bank, 79 Eighth Avenue, this city, will vote on a proposition to increase the capital from $200,000 to $500,000. The shareholders will also authorize the directors to declare, out of the surplus fund, a special equalizing dividend of 150% ($300,000), which is to be used in payment for the additional shares to be issued. During its fifty-two years of existence the bank has never passed a dividend, commencing with 4% in 1855 and steadily increasing the rate. Last year 75% was paid, and the previous year (1905) 100% was declared. Thus far the present year 25% has been paid. On May 11 last the bank showed a surplus of $841,600 and deposits of $6,282,700. The new building now being erected by it on its present site and adjoining property is expected to be finished by September.

—The Irving Trust Company, at Chambers and Hudson streets, this city, definitely assumed the name "Fidelity Trust Company" on Wednesday the 22d inst. As the Irving Trust Company, the institution (an amalgamation early this year of the interests in the proposed Irving and Atlas Trust companies) opened its doors on the 1st inst. In consolidating these interests, it was decided to relinquish both the names "Irving" and "Atlas" and to select a new title for the combined institution; hence the change to "Fidelity." The company has a capital and a surplus of $750,000 each. Its affairs are directed by Samuel S. Conover, President; William H. Barnard and John W. Nix, Vice-Presidents, and Andrew H. Mars, Secretary.

—The Mechanics' & Traders' Bank of this city has disposed of its Port Morris Branch, in 138th Street near Willis Avenue, to the Hamilton Bank. The Mechanics' & Traders', it will be recalled, took over the Union Bank of Brooklyn Borough in March.

—Olin G. Walbridge, Vice-President of the Pacific Bank of this city, and a director of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, died at his home in Brooklyn Borough on the 17th inst. He was eighty-one years of age.

—The Carnegie Trust Company of New York, Leslie M. Shaw, President, has been authorized by the banking department of Illinois to act as trustee, execute mortgages and guaranties in that State.

—Arthur King Wood, who has been Secretary of the Van Norden Trust Company of New York City since 1902, has been elected Vice-President and a director of the institution.

—The vacancies which occurred the past week in the board of the First National Bank, Broadway and Kent Avenue, Borough of Brooklyn, were filled temporarily at the regular meeting of the board yesterday by the election as directors of Edward T. Jenkins, John G. Jenkins Jr. and Frederick Jenkins. The new members are sons of President John G. Jenkins, who owns a controlling interest in the bank; they will serve only until such time as the bank succeeds in filling the places with influential men not identified with any other financial institution. George W. Field, who has been connected with this institution for nearly thirty years, has been elected Cashier in place of I. Hamburger, resigned. The new statement just issued for May 20 1907 shows a capital of $300,000, surplus and profits of $695,761 and deposits of $5,204,323.

—The Waterbury Trust Company has been organized in Waterbury, Conn., with a capital of $200,000. The election of officers occurred on the 15th inst., C. L. Holmes being chosen President, M. L. Sperry, Vice-President, and H. S. Seeley, Secretary and Treasurer. The board, which is to be increased later, now consists of M. L. Sperry, H. S. Rowland, H. H. Heminway, H. S. Seeley, C. L. Holmes and W. T. Woodruff. The institution will probably begin business June 15. President Holmes was formerly with C. L. Holmes & Co., of Waterbury, dealers in investments. Mr. Seeley, Secretary and Treasurer, was teller of the Colonial Trust Company of Waterbury for eleven years, prior to which he was with the First National Bank of Bridgeport.

—The State National Bank of Boston has taken over the safe deposit vaults formerly operated by the Adams Trust Company of Boston. A year ago all the business of the latter, except its safe deposit, transfer and registration departments, was consolidated with that of the American Loan & Trust Company—the departments mentioned being continued at the former location of the Adams' Trust, 48 Congress Street. As the State National Bank is located next door, at 50 Congress Street, the absorption of the safe deposit vaults by it seems natural. An entrance through the bank will connect the vaults with the institution.

—The directors of the National Deposit Bank of Philadelphia, at a meeting on Thursday, elected F. M. Peet President to succeed the late John F. Finney. Cashier William B. Vrooman was chosen a member of the board.

—The Holmesburg Trust Company, chartered last fall, began business on the 16th inst. at 8033 Frankford Avenue, Philadelphia. The institution will engage in a regular banking and trust business. It has a capital of $125,000 and surplus of $25,000. The officers are Warren T. Rawson, President; Joseph H. Brown, Vice-President, and William M. Rowland, Secretary and Treasurer.

—The Standard Title & Trust Company of Philadelphia, an institution which was organized several months ago but had not opened for business, was placed in the hands of Carroll R. Williams and Israel Hecht as receivers on Tuesday. Charges of fraud and insolvency, it is stated, have been made against the company; according to the "Philadelphia Ledger," in a bill of complaint, several of the stockholders allege that about $100,000 funds of the institution collected in assessments have been dissipated; that the officers, none of whom is a resident of Philadelphia, reported that they had purchased the bank building, whereas no money was paid, and that by other false statements stockholders were led to the payment of subscriptions. Reference to the institution was made in these columns February 16. The title, it had been understood, was to be the Standard Trust Company, and it was said it would operate under the charter of the Baltimore Title & Trust Company, which had been inactive since it was granted. The capital was to be $500,000 and the surplus $1,000,000.

—J. D. O'Neil has been elected President of the Union National Bank of McKeesport, Pa., succeeding the late A. B. Campbell.

—The Ohio Bankers' Association, which has arranged to hold its annual convention at Cincinnati on June 26 and 27, will have among its speakers for the occasion: Charles H. Treat, United States Treasurer; Milton E. Ailes, Vice-President of the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D. C.; Myron T. Herrick, ex-Governor of Ohio; Prof. E. S. Meade, of the University of Pennsylvania; ex-Lieutenant Governor Warren G. Harding, etc.

—Nearly all the Chicago banks, both national and State, in their statement of condition under the Comptroller's call for May 20, show considerable increase in deposits and resources over the amounts reported in the last previous statement two months ago. Nine out of sixteen of the national banks make new high records; these are the Continental, National Bank of the Republic, Bankers, Hamilton. First of Englewood, Monroe, Federal, Prairie and Oakland. Comparing the present national bank totals with those of June last year reveals increases of $24,000,000 each in loans and deposits and an addition of $4,000,000 to their cash resources. The deposit gains of the Continental National alone during the past twelve months has been almost one-half of the above increase, viz., $11,000,000; and it has been nearly $1,000,000 since the statement of March 22. The First National has gained over $3,000 000, and its auxiliary, the First Trust & Savings Bank, a substantial amount during the two months. The Commercial National shows increased deposits of three-quarters of a million; the Corn Exchange National nearly as much; the Hamilton National a half million, and the Fort Dearborn National, $370,000. The new National City Bank of Chicago, of which David R. Forgan is President, makes a very creditable showing of $5,144,243 deposits after but three months' existence.

—F. W. Ellsworth, of the First National Bank of Chicago, has been chosen President of the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Banking —The Comptroller of the Currency has approved an application to organize the Central National Bank of Denver, Col., capital $200,000. The organizers are identified with the Central Savings Bank of Denver.

—The Miners' Savings Bank & Trust Company of Butte, Mont., incorporated on Jan. 26 1907, opened its doors on Apr. 8, and, according to advices lately received, has already built up a gratifying business. The company was organized with a capital of $200,000, in shares of $100 each; the paid-up capital was reported on May 2 as $155,000, and the balance will likely be taken up very shortly. The officers of the company are David J. Charles, President; Louis Bernheim, Vice-President; Nesbit Rochester, Cashier, and Albert Rochester, Assistant Cashier.

—"Some comments on the operation of the Aldrich Law" was the subject of a paper delivered by United States Treasurer Charles H. Treat at the convention this week of the Missouri Bankers' Association, held at Kansas City.

—The fifteenth annual gathering of the Alabama Bankers' Association was held at Birmingham on the 17th and 18th inst. The feature of the program was an address on "The Railroad Problem" by Governor B. B. Comer. In common with several other State associations the Alabama bankers have adopted a resolution endorsing the action of the American Bankers Association with regard to uniform bills of lading. Another resolution was adopted in which it is declared to be "the sense of the association that for the benefit of its members it should employ counsel, adopt a cipher code, and go into fidelity and bonding insurance." To this end the newly elected President is authorized to perfect arrangements with some burglar and bonding insurance company whereby the Association will act as agent in the writing of such business for its members, the contract to become operative on or before September 1 1907. The officers of the association for the ensuing year are President E. J. Buck, President of the City Bank & Trust Company, Mobile, Vice-President, W. P. G. Harding, President of the First National Bank of Birmingham, and Secretary and Treasurer (re-elected), McLane Tilton, Cashier of the Bank of St. Clair County, Pell City.

—The New Farley National Bank of Montgomery, Ala., Louis B. Farley, President, reports deposits of $300,000, and aggregate resources of $575,000. The bank began business less than six months ago, on December 10th. It has a capital, fully paid, of $200,000, surplus of $20,000 and undivided profits of $6,000.

—An application to organize the Central National Bank of Los Angeles, presented by the officers of the Central Bank of that city, was approved at Washington on the 6th inst. The new bank will have a capital of $200,000.

—In view of the statements made by several financial papers that the name of the Merchants' Trust Company of Los Angeles, Cal., had been changed to the Columbia Trust Company, the officers take occasion to announce that there exists absolutely no foundation for this statement, and that the Merchants' Trust will continue to transact its business under its own name and in its own building.

—After a lapse of two years the California bankers came together last week in annual convention at Santa Barbara. There had been no meeting of the Association last year because of the calamity suffered by San Francisco in the fire and earthquake. President Irving F. Moulton (Cashier of the Bank of San Francisco, Cal.) in his annual address as President stated that never before in the history of the organization has business in all directions been of such magnitude and so profitable in California as during the past year, notwithstanding the enormous destruction of wealth by the fire. A resolution was adopted at the convention supporting the bill-of-lading amendment to the rate law proposed by the American Bankers' Association. George W. Peltier, of the California National Bank of Sacramento, is the new head of the California Association.

—The Portland Trust Company of Portland, Oregon, of which Benj. I. Cohen is President, now reports total resources of over $2,000,000. The company has capital, surplus and profits of $332,000.

—The Bankers' Trust Company, a new financial institution, opened for business on the 18th inst. in Tacoma. The company is located in its own building on Pacific Avenue, where it has well-equipped banking rooms. A general trust and banking business, including commercial and savings, will be conducted by the new concern, which will also issue circular letters of credit and travelers' checks. The institution has a capital of $300,000, and has as officers W. C. Wheeler, President; Jacob Furth and Calvin Philips, Vice-Presidents, and George B. Burke, Manager. Mr. Burke is chairman of the executive council of the Washington State Bankers' Association.

—Edwin T. Coman, of Colfax, Wash., has been elected a Vice-President of the Exchange National Bank of Spokane, Wash. The bank has another Vice-President in R. D. Miller, who replaced F. J. Finucane in the vice-presidency last January.

Monetary and Commercial English News

London, Saturday, May 11 1907.

Business on the Stock Exchange grows worse and worse, if possible, as the weeks pass. No doubt the chief cause is political. In Germany, the ententes that are being entered into so frequently between various countries are much resented, for they are regarded as directed against Germany. As she is not included, it is argued they are directed against her. In a sense, no doubt, they are directed against her, for she had aroused throughout the whole of Europe serious fear, and the understandings and arrangements now being included are entered into mainly for protection. But nowhere is there any intention to attack Germany. If Germany can be induced to keep quiet everybody else would respect her interests. However, in her present mood, there is a fear very general in Europe that she may do something to disturb the peace.

The fear is heightened by the anarchy into which Morocco is rapidly falling. The information from that country is very fragmentary and often even contradictory; but during the last few days it all goes to show that in the south the more important tribes have thrown off all allegiance to the Sultan and are exhibiting much hostility to Europeans, particularly to Frenchman. It is alleged, for example, that one of the most powerful of the tribes threatens to attack Marakesh, the southern capital, unless all Frenchmen are expelled within 14 days, and all persons arrested for the murder of Dr. Mauchamp are set at liberty. It seems clear if this information is correct that France will have to take further measures to restore order and naturally there are fears that Germany may object and that, in consequence, there may arise another period of uncertainty and apprehension.

The unrest in Egypt heightens this feeling and still more does the unrest in India. The disturbances at Rawal Pindi and Amritzar do not appear to have been very serious, but as symptoms of the state of feeling they excite much uneasiness.

In Paris business is nearly as slack as in London. There still continues speculation in copper and diamond shares, and there is a large investment in securities yielding from 4 to 5%. But, with the exception of copper and diamonds, speculation has died out. In Germany, business is quite as bad as it is in London. Trade in Germany continues wonderfully good. So far as can be judged up to the present, the long period of stringency has not really set trade back but it has almost entirely stopped speculation. The banks are blocked up with securities which they cannot sell. They have given undue accommodation to their customers. The customers are unwilling to part with their securities and the banks, in consequence, are carrying a very unwieldy load. As long as peace is maintained and nothing happens to check confidence this may cause little trouble; but anything untoward would compel the banks to call upon their clients to lessen their accounts and that might bring on a serious state of things. That there is a good deal of irritation in Germany because of the ententes that are being entered into, and that particularly the agreement between France and Japan not only irritates Germany but also causes apprehensions respecting Kiao-Chao is unquestionable. Still, it is in the highest degree improbable that there will be any serious dispute. War appears to be utterly out of the question. But while the present political condition lasts there can hardly be improvement on the Stock Exchange.

The Board of Trade returns for April are highly satisfactory. The value of the imports was £56,786,097, an increase over the corresponding period of last year of £9,726,787, or 20.7%. The value of the exports of British and Irish produce and manufactures was £34,416,866, an increase of £7,384,560, or 27.3%. The value of the re-exports was £9,669,898, an increase of £2,337,812, or 31.9%. For the first four months of the year the value of the imports shows an increase of £26,683,854, or 13.2%; the value of the exports of British and Irish produce and manufactures an increase of £18,054,450, or 15.3%; and the value of the re-exports an increase of £5,949,066, or 19.8%. In the exports, there is an increase under every head, especially in the class of articles wholly or mainly manufactured, in which the gain for the month amounts to the very large sum of £6,183,423. In the imports, enlarged values are recorded in all classes except one—miscellaneous articles, in which the deficiency is quite small. In raw materials, the increase is large; in cotton, for example, it is as much as £2,431,569 and in wool £1,482,668.

The Bank of England has not reduced its rate this week mainly because trade is wonderfully good and the trade demand, therefore, for accommodation is strong. But it is to be recollected that the exceptional demands for Scotland and Ireland for what are called "term" payments will soon be over now. In addition to this, shipments of gold to Paris are expected next week to the extent of about £400,000 to repay to the Bank of France. Probably in two or three weeks the Bank will put down its rate of discount. The Bank of France also maintains its rate, mainly, no doubt, owing to the political anxieties; although it is quite true that trade is rapidly improving in France and that the trade demand for money is good. In Berlin no change has been made, for at the end of April the Bank again had to issue notes largely in excess of the legal maximum, and during the first week of May the return of notes just sufficed to remove the liability to pay duty upon the excess notes. It is hoped that it may be possible in the course of this month to put down the rate to 5%. Even that, however, is doubtful, for the reserve of the Bank is very small.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 50 lacs of its bills, and the applications amounted to nearly 475¾ lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 4d. to 1s. 4 1-16d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 4d. and for telegraphic transfers at 1s. 4 1-16d. per rupee were allotted about 5% of the amounts applied for.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of May 9:

GOLD.—Paris again competed for the gold, though only for a small portion, but their demand had the effect of putting the price up ¼d. to 77s. 9¾d., at which the Bank took the largest share. The Bank has lost £220,000 this week, of which £100,000 has gone to Constantinople, and £771,000 has been received, mostly in bars. Next week we expect £627,000 from South Africa. For the week: Arrivals—Cape, £211,000; Bombay, £113,000; Australia, £33,000; total, £357,000. Shipments—Bombay, £175,000; Colombo, £5,000; Calcutta, £57,500; total, £237,500. For the month of April: Arrivals—Germany, £134,000; France, £303,000; Egypt, £502,000; Cape, £1,988,000; U. S. A., £6,000; India, £165,000. SILVER.—The market has shown a weaker tendency in spite of the large shipments to the Bazaars this week, and after being down to 29 15-16d. we are, to-day, 30d. for cash, with sellers at the price, a fall on the week of 3-16d. Cash has been very plentiful and, to-day, with some covering orders forward, spot and forward are the same price. The Indian price is Rs. 76 per 100 Tolahs. For the week: Arrivals—New York, £152,000; Australia, £11,000; total, £163,000. Shipments—Bombay, £130,000; Colombo, £5,000; Calcutta, £10,000; total, £145,000. Statement of New York City Clearing-House Banks.—The following statement shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks for the week ending May 18. It should be distinctly understood that as to all items except capital and surplus the figures are the averages of the daily results, not the totals at the end of the week. In other words, in reporting loans and deposits and holdings of specie and legal tenders, the practice is to take the aggregate of the amounts for the several days of the week and divide this aggregate by the number of days.

We omit two ciphers (00) in all cases.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Crop reports from all sources are decidedly more favorable than last week. Those most reliable mention nothing unpropitious except the backwardness of the season. In some sections of the spring-wheat belt seeding is practically completed under exceptionally favorable conditions, and doubtless the acreage will be considerably larger than last year.

Notwithstanding these facts the security markets have been very much unsettled throughout the week. Stocks of all classes have been aggressively and persistently offered in the absence of a demand for them until the prices of several of the prominent issues have been forced down from 8 to 12 points, some to a lower level than that reached during the remarkable decline in March. Various rumors have been circulated in regard to new railway loans and these have been used with more or less effect by the bear element.

Other than the foregoing, there is nothing new in the general situation to account for the weakness noted. The money markets at home and abroad continue easy.

The Bank of England and the Bank of France both issue more favorable statements than last week and local rates are about the lowest of the season.

The open market rates for call loans on the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1½ to 2%. To-day's rates on call were 1½@1¾%. Prime commercial paper quoted at 5½% for endorsements and 5½% for best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £192,836, and the percentage of reserve to liabilities was 46.83, against 46.97 last week.

The discount rate remains at 4% as fixed April 25. The Bank of France shows an increase of 20,125,000 francs in gold and 1,500,000 francs in silver.

Note.—Returns of separate banks appear on the preceding page.

Foreign Exchange.—The market was lower this week, influenced by speculative selling and also by expectations that Secretary Cortelyou will recall some of the public deposits from the banks, thereby leading to dearer rates for money, and possibly to a decline in exchange.

To-day's (Friday's) nominal rates for sterling exchange were 4 84½ for sixty day and 4 87½ for sight. To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for sterling exchange were 4 8355@4 8365 for long, 4 8675@4 8680 for short, and 4 8715@4 8720 for cables. Commercial on banks 4 8325@4 8335, and documents for payment 4 82⅝@4 83¾. Cotton for payment 4 82⅝@4 82¾, cotton for acceptance 4 8325@4 8335, and grain for payment 4 83⅝@4 83¾.

To-day's (Friday's) actual rates for Paris bankers' francs were 5 19¾@5 18¾*a* for long and 5 16¼@5 15⅝*h* for short. Germany bankers' marks were 94⅝*d*@94⅝ for long and 95¼*d*@95¼ for short. Amsterdam bankers' guilders were 40 28@40 30 for short.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board include $1,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 95½ and $25,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 20 to 23.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been somewhat more active than last week under conditions similar to those which have prevailed in the market for shares. The offerings have far exceeded the demand and prices have given way under the pressure to sell.

Consolidated Gas 6s, following the shares, have covered a wide range. U. S. Realty & Improvement 5s close 6 points lower than last week, Central Leather 5s 4½ points and many other issues are from 1 to 3 points lower.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board are limited to $6,000 4s, coup., 1907, at 101½ to 101⅝, and $1,000 2s, coup. 1930 at 101¾. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been more active. The transactions on Tuesday, amounting to nearly 1,350,000 shares, were the largest since the active period early in April. This increase in the volume of business resulted, as noted above, from a selling pressure which included practically all the active issues.

The downward tendency noted at the close last week continued without interruption until near the close on Tuesday, since which the market has been fitful and irregular. New York Central has been a notably weak feature, selling fractionally below 110, the lowest figure reached since 1898. Reading declined over 11 points, Northern Pacific and Union Pacific over 10, Great Northern 9 and other issues from 4 to 6. From the lowest figures of the week there has been a fairly substantial recovery in most cases.

In the industrial list there have been a few notably erratic features. Consolidated Gas, which sold at 137½ on Monday, closed below 122 to-day, and Smelting & Refining has covered a range of nearly 17 points. Colorado Fuel & Iron touched 27½, the lowest figure in several years. Steel common attracted attention because so freely offered. It declined over 4 points early in the week, a part of which it has recovered. The preferred is only 1¼ lower.

For daily volume of business see page 1235.
